- 7. W. J. Smith
- 8. R. J. Carroll

Simon B. Buckner Dead

In the death of Simon Boliver Buckner, which occurred Friday, Jan. 9th, at his home at Munfordville, Ky., the State mourns the passing of one of her greatest men, and a former Governor, serving the State from 1887 to 1891. He was born in Hart-co., Ky., April 1, 1823, and therefore was 91 years of age. In his military career, he was made Lieut. in 1846 and was active in the Mexican War; his regiment was first to enter upon Mexican soil. He resigned from the army 1852 and 8 years later was appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Kentucky State Guard, from which he soon resigned and at the outbreak of the Civil War was appointed Brigadier General by Jefferson Davis, and served thru out the war. Returning to this State after the war, was elected Governor in 1887.

Feud Leader Fatally Burned

Randall McCoy, aged eighty-six, a leader in the Hatfield-McCoy feud of thirty years ago, at the home of his grandson near Pikeville last week fell backward into an open fireplace, and being unable to remove himself on account of his enfeebled condition, was so badly burned before help could reach him that his injuries are thought fatal.

Farmers Should Feed the Quail

On account of the dry season food for quails is very scarce. If the weather follows severe cold and the ground covered with a blanket of snow, the birds would suffer for food and many die. During such weather the farmers should, and could with little trouble and practically no cost, scatter a few handfuls of small grain about in protected places, as briar thickets, fence rows or under thick underbrush where it is no snow. By such humane kindness many birds would be saved that otherwise would be lost.

Probable New Assessment Plan

Prof. Plehn, a tax expert, has been named a member of the State Tax Commission, and last week, in the Legislature told of his investigations in Kentucky and of the antiquated systems in vogue in the various Counties. In the course of his remarks he said "we are brought into the world by licensed physicians; are rolled in taxed blankets; first open our eyes under taxed roofs and look out upon the world to see streets and sidewalks built with money raised by taxation. Even the undertaker is licensed and after we are laid to rest we are not immune for the inheritance tax grabs a portion of that left behind".

He declared District instead of County assessors was the secret of reform, with trained assessors working under Civil Service rules and ridiculed the law prohibiting assessors succeeding themselves declaring it as silly as to expect the owner of a department store to go out each year and hire an absolutely green hand to invoice his stock and take charge of his store.

Prof. Plehn's idea of a proper method of assessment is through a state tax commission, and the aim of the Bill to be introduced by the Tax Commission will be eventually to assess all property at a fair cash value rather than the present method of assessing on a fifty to eighty per cent. valuation.

Examinations for Postmasterships

The Civil Service Commission has named dates in next month and fixed places for holding examinations for applicants for fourth-class postmasterships in Kentucky. From those successful in passing the examination the Postmaster-General will designate Postmasters for practically every fourth-class office in Kentucky which pays a salary of more than $180 a year.

- Following are places and dates of these examinations:
- February 7 - Salyersville
- February 9 - Grayson
- February 10 - Morehead
- February 12 - West Liberty
- February 14 - Ashland, Catlettsburg and Williamson (W. Va.)
- February 16 - Paintsville
- February 17 - Prestonsburg
- February 18 - Pikeville
- February 20 - Warfield
- February 21 - Hazard, Louisa and Vanceburg
- February 23 - Hindman
- February 25 - Whitesburg

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I begin to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. "Who Shall Be Able To Stand"

Taxes! Taxes!! How dreadful the sound to us all; not to be so understood, or taken from the viewpoint that Kentucky citizens abhor a demand for each of their portions toward the support of the land they may call their home—this Commonwealth.

A master burden is heaped upon their shoulders, labeled "taxation". The citizen, under oath, gives his valuation of his own, of which he, and he alone, should know the intrinsic and physical value, to the assessor, from which he feels and swears that a just and reasonable reckoning may be determined of his tribute portion to the benefit of his protector. The assessment is then placed in the hands of an equalization board, where the affirmation of the humble tax payer, is legally allowed to be considered as a matter of form, and the assessment probably "hiked" by the persistence of some one as strange to the valuation of such property as the mythical man in the moon.

Now, there has been fixed for the consideration of the present General Assembly, a Bill for the assessment of properties at their actual value, as determined by a district instead of a county assessor, under Civil Service rules, who in many instances will know as much about the "real worth" of private property as that same fellow in the moon. This real value assessment, with the tax rate unchanged, means a raise of from one-fifth to half more taxes to be shaken from the pockets of billers to cut down that two and a half million dollar indebtedness the State now has to its "creditor".

We have fire insurance companies lessening their risks by about one-third by having a State Department back of that through the authority of the State Fire Marshal, may compel certain precautions toward the lessening of the possibilities of fires, yet there is no like reductions in those companies' rate for carrying the risks from the schedule formerly authorized.

In all those systems of reforms wherein does the plain citizen benefit?

Tobacco Cos. Ousted

Congressman Owsley Stanley went after the Imperial Tobacco trust at Morganfield recently and succeeded in securing a verdict of guilty. Each concern, of Great Britain and Ireland, was fined $3,500 and the conviction carries with it a forfeiture of their Kentucky charter.

Short Sermons

For a Sunday half-hour is a new feature department that has just been added to the reading matter of this paper. At some expense we have arranged to run one of those sermons each week. It will be found on the last page, and we especially desire you to read each sermon and if you think it a good department tell us so and we will continue to publish them.

Hughy Boggs

Hughy Boggs, aged 36 years, died Saturday at 2 o'clock, p. m., of pneumonia. He was taken sick only about a week before he was overtaken by death. He was taken to Elliott Court, near Gimlet, for burial, where he was laid to rest Monday, in a graveyard near where he formerly had lived, and where he has a child buried. Deceased is a son of James Boggs, who now lives in Greenup County. A family of a wife, and three children, the eldest, 7, and the youngest, 1, are left.

Grahn

We are having real cool weather now as the new year passes by.

Ernest Counts of Pleasant Valley, called on the fair sex in this village Sunday afternoon.

Ardle Dickerson and family have moved to the property lately vacated by his brother John.

Jess Wilburn and family visited Uncle Phillips, the sick father of his wife, Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Dickerson is much better at present.

Walter Counts, of Lawton, was in our town this week. He and his father, Geo. W., are making preparations to go west, Geo. W. having sold his farm to his son-in-law, John Kiser.

Mrs. Clarence Phillips of this place, who has been sick for the past few weeks, is getting better.

Smoky Valley

Our protracted meeting has closed at the new church and another meeting will begin at Bethel Friday.

Baulsey Jordan has returned from the army and bought a fine span of mules of Claude Bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Stamper visited Ches. Stallard and family Sunday afternoon.

Winfield Stamper made a business trip to Olive Hill Monday.

Colds, lagrippe and pneumonia seem to be the order of the day.

Ben's Run

We are having some real cool weather again.

There is quite a few persons on the sick list this week.

Little Opal Ross has pneumonia at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Conley and two little daughters, Cathern and Alma-Crystal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wirt Ross Sunday last.

Jonah Wilburn and family who have been living at this place, have moved in the house with his father-in-law, Jas. Brammer.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Johnson and little daughter Leone were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt McClave Sunday.

Little Loucille McClave is on the sick list.

Mrs. Willis Johnson was visiting the sick and afflicted on the branck Friday last.

Little Ersel Johnson, who has been very sick, is fast improving.

Dr. Hillman has made several professional calls in our neighborhood the past week: quite a lot of sickness.

Little Theo. Ross is very ill of pneumonia.

Mrs. S. E. Tabor is suffering a severe attack of bronchitis, but we hope for her speedy recovery.

John Akers was calling on W. M. McClave's family Sunday.

Wirt Ross made a flying trip to Eddie Tabor's Sunday.

Joyce Ross has just recovered from a severe attack of croup.

Marion Littleton and family will start to Arkansas Tuesday where they expect to make their future home.

Miss Voda Moore was calling on Miss Cora Ross and children one day last week.

John Akers bought a fine cow of Douglas Ross one day of last week.

William McClave is improving his dwelling by a new roof.

Earl Moore and Cass Kiser, accompanied by their best girls, attended church here Sunday.

Mrs. I. H. Moore was shopping in town Saturday.

Will the McGlone correspondent please be sure and come to Ben's Run next Sunday?

Monument for Jackson

A movement to build a million dollar monument in Nashville, Tenn., to the memory of General Andrew Jackson, hero in the battle of New Orleans, and seventh president of the United States, was launched in that city January 8, when, at daybreak ninety-nine years ago General Jackson and his troops defeated the most highly disciplined forces that England ever sent out. President Wilson has indicated that he would accept honorary presidency of the Memorial Association provided no appropriation is asked by Congress.

Masonic Officers

Dr. Goodman was down from Soldier Tuesday and reports quite a lot of sickness in that part. He attributes the numerous cases of pneumonia coming from the unusually sloppy weather we had during holiday.

POULTRY

KILLING POULTRY.

Some Safe and Sanitary ways of Killing the Work.

The first essential is that the fowl shall have absolutely no food for thirty-six hours, so that its crop, gizzard and intestines shall be empty. First-class dressing demands that the fowl be dry plucked—not scalded. This makes the French method of killing very essential. By this method the fowl is suspended by a loop around its legs to a hook on the wall. With a quick thrust through the roof of the mouth to the brain the operator kills the bird and severs the main arteries. At that instant he begins plucking the feathers. They pull easily then—a minute later they come hard, but in that one minute the worst of his task is done. The carcass is then cooled, formed in the forming trough, so as to pack nicely and is then ready for shipment. No incision is made in the skin of the fowl. None of the interior organs were removed. The moment the interior organs of the fowl are exposed to the air, decomposition sets in. Packed or handled as described, the fowl will keep perfectly for days, or if in cold storage for weeks or months.

The English method differs only in the killing. No knife is used, no bleeding is done. The vertebrae next to the skull is severed from the head by a strong quick jerk of the operator; this causes instant death and a loosening of the feathers as in the French method. The head is drawn out from the neck an inch or two, and in this space the blood drains and forms a clot as the bird hangs by its feet. This method admits of the air from the interior of the carcass even more effectually than does the French method.

A serious onslaught has been made on these methods of dressing poultry in several States recently, but it is hoped that they may not prevail but rather that they may grow in favor. They are safer for the consumer; they are simpler and better for the producer. T. T. Orr, in Bulletin Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

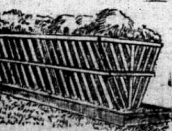

Toulouse Gander.
Few if any birds exhibited at poultry shows and fairs can present a record equal to that of the gander whose portrait is for New England Homestead here appears. For eight years he has maintained the right to his name, Madison Boy, by winning first premium at Madison

PRIZE GANDEE

Square Garden, New York, every season—eight first premiums at America's greatest poultry shows. Besides these prizes he has won first at other large shows and is pronounced by breeders and judges to be a remarkable bird. He was bred by Clarence W. King, president of the Water Fowl Club of America, and is a native of the Empire State.

Rack for Feeding Roughage.
A design of a cattle rack for feeding roughage is furnished by one of the fanners of The Prairie Farmer. A reasonably clear idea is given in the accompanying sketch.

RACK FOR FEEDING ROUGHAGE.
Posts are driven in the ground to form a center and extend about 4 feet clear of the surface. Cross pieces are nailed to these to which the net, work forming the rack is nailed. A platform is placed around the bottom as indicated to prevent unnecessary waste of feed.

Count the Eggs.
Are you keeping a strict count of the eggs you gather each year, and giving Biddy bill credit for all she lays at the prevailing market price? The only fair way is to count all eggs. If you gather and you are doing this I will wager that you will find out that hens pay and you will soon be eating fine young eggs.

Ross Chapel

The weather still continues cold and the clouds look like there was more snow for us soon. Raymond, little son of Eddie Tabor, has been very bad with pneumonia, but is improving. Mrs. E. M. Whitt was visiting Eddie Tabor's Sunday. Last Tuesday, Jan. 6th, while Mrs. G. E. Ross was sitting by the front window sewing for neighbors and friends slipped the back way and gave a big surprise, it being, to her surprise, she received quite a shock and all enjoyed a fine dinner of chicken, pie, chocolate cake and many other good things which each one prepared. After dinner all enjoyed a prayer and praise service. It was a day long to be remembered. Walker Ross was calling on his best girl at Limestone Sunday. Little Clarence Lowe has chicken-pox. Miss Voda Moore and brothers Earl, Thurman and Litton attended church at Tiek Ridge Sunday night. Wirt Ross visited Eddie Tabor Sunday. Mrs. E. M. Whitt, Mrs. D. J. Ross and daughter, Nellie were visiting the sick at Elijah Russell's Saturday afternoon. The 9-month-old child of Joe Gearheart near here died Friday of pneumonia and was buried at Carpenter cemetery Saturday afternoon. THEME: CHRISTIANITY'S CHALLENGE.

BY DR. JOHN H. WILLEY.

Text: 1 John xiv:11. "Believe me that I am in the Father; or believe me for the very work's sake."

This is the third spoken challenge of Jesus Christ to His own age. He is willing to risk His case here in all succeeding ages. He makes His appeal to the facts; the workman is to be judged by the work he casts. Apelles of Con drew a straight line across the wall of his neighbor's studio and said to an attendant, "Show this to your master; when he asks who has been here." The straight line of Christianity across the centuries could be drawn by the hand of One only.

Let us to-day meet this challenge of the Olden Time by showing a world without Christianity, and then a world with Christianity. Perhaps, if we believe not the words, we may be here for the work's sake.

Suppose the Christian faith should fail. Suppose we should make the tomorrow and find that the Bible had been put out of court, that the Christian religion had been voted a fabrication, and the world was allowed to abandon it—what would happen? It would be a dark day in history. After the first moments of bewilderment, the eyes would close, and when men began to get their bearings they would say let us set rid of the churches. They are expenses we even when considered necessary. What good are they now? The stars and the lecture platform can furnish better enlightenment than opera house will supply better music. And so take away the Bible with its sure words, destroy all confidence in its words of salvation from sin and sorrow, and who would care to waste his time in the church service? The word of the pupil is received as the word of God. Not in the eloquence of the speaker, nor in the beauty of the music, but in the authority of the message, lies the power of the Church.

And divine worship would cease. What a mighty voice for good would thus be stilled. Note the days when the city of Antioch was mad with revolution because the Emperor imposed unjust taxes, and the Emperor was eager for vengeance on account of the insults offered by the people.

Several ways are there for locating the ship at sea. By dead reckoning, for instance, when the captain merely judges by the speed of the ship and the direction sailed; by light-houses along the shore when not too far from land; or by the lead if the depth of the sea be not more than 100 fathoms. But when far out on the voyage and the only way marked is "observation of the heavens. The sextant for the altitude of the sun, the chronometer for Greenwich time, the nautical almanac for local time, so the chart is marked, and so the helmsman gets his orders. In the church and on the Sabbath day we make our observations. We are apt to drift through the week. We cannot always see the stars from the office windows. The sun cannot set down into the cold, rawling rain into which we have turned our city streets. But in the clear light of the morning service we get a glimpse of the old beams. The mists of self-interest are lifted, the steadily availing of the currents of compromise and policy may be heard and their power to swerve calculated, and when Monday morning comes we are hearing away again toward the seas that lie under the smiles of God.

But you say we should keep our morality even though we lose our faith. We have learned that two and two make four in straight business; that honesty pays; that our social credits are our social salvation. But our morality is the outgrowth of religion. Men in the Old Testament days made themselves clean that they might come before God? Then perhaps they had never been clean before, and they said among themselves: "This is fine; let's try to be clean on our own account and see how it feels." The Sabbath day was observed in deference to the wishes of God and found to be essential to the weal of man. What ground of morality is there except in the fact of God? Why should not the man who is stronger than other men take his own wages and so possess all? Your Emperor, your King, does he desire your farm or your vineyard; does he covet your wife or daughter; does he resent some soldier? Then let him do as pleases him. True, but there is a higher law, and its interpreter is Conscience and its hegman is Remorse, and all this comes back to the consciousness of God which lies deep and definite in the human heart.

Discredit the Christian religion and some other agent of faith will take its place. It is impossible to keep our human nature unrelated to the divine. We must keep our windows down even toward some unrelenting wind. We must find some staircase winding upward toward the stars, even though it be a broken one.

To all the readers of The Progressive we sure wish a happy and prosperous New Year.

Let us do all the good we can, for our lives are passing by, and if we obey our Savior's words, we'll reign with him in glory. If Jesus said when he was here, To those whom would be free, That if we were good to our fellow man "That didst it unto me." And we know that his words can't fail, In anything he said, But if we only trust him right, He's promised us our daily bread, And if we ask we shall receive; For such is our Savior's word, So we must believe what he has said, And he will be our Lord. —Chas. H. Compton.

McGlone

Too late for last week.

Prof. Arthur Jarvis closed his school at Corey branch Thursday.

Misses Daisy and Bess Jordan have been visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Spott.

James Walker has moved from our little village to Grahm.

Willie Gee spent the holidays with friends in Elliott-co.

Rev. Harland Murphy, who has been preaching in the East end of the county, stopped off and preached a few days on Corey Hill last week, then left here to hold a meeting at Rock Springs, assisted by M. S. Gee.

Miss Minnie Whitl was visiting Miss Ruby Jarvis Sunday afternoon. Ruby has been sick the past two weeks.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Wm. McKinney, who has been suffering with her side, is better.

Willis Moebee has moved his family from Ashland to Grahm.

Miss Carrie Jordan was in our little town Monday with her pleasant smiles.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reece Jarvis last week and left a fine boy.

We are sorry to learn that uncle Calvin Philipps is no better.

We are glad to see so many correspondents; we get to hear from all our old friends and acquaintances.

Fell Dead

Muses Mills, Jan. 2 — Uncle Bill Moore, aged 75, fell dead here late Saturday night with heart failure. Uncle Bill, who was an old soldier and drawing a pension of $30 per month, had been complaining for some time but had been able to go all the time. He got up about 11 o'clock and put a stick of wood on the fire and turning around he fell backward without any complaining at all, with his head in the fire. His wife, who was alone with him, jumped out of bed and rushed to his assistance and succeeded in pulling him out of the fire, but not until he was very badly burned about the face and head. He leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter to mourn his loss.

Thomas Matidic and daughter, Mrs. May Criswell, were up from the Valley Tuesday, when the Red Men order, made full settlement of the death benefit claim, due her on account of the death of her husband, Daniel, about 6 weeks ago. The order is complimentary for its prompt settlement.

THE LIFE and WORKS of FLAVIUS JOSEPHUS

Comprising the history and antiquity of the Jews, with a description of Jerusalem by the Romans, to which are added seven dissertations concerning Jesus Christ. John the Baptist, James the Just, God's Command to Abraham, etc., etc. Translated from the original Greek by William Whiston, A. M., Professor of Mathematics in the University of Cambridge. With an introductory essay by the Rev. H. A. Stirling, D. D. This edition contains also the life of Josephus, and an analytical index to the entire work. Also tables of texts of the Old Testament parallel to Josephus' writings.

Writers and critics have borne unanimous testimony to the high character of the writings of Josephus. They are of immense service in the elucidation of the history, geography and archaeology of Scripture. This volume comprises 1056 pages and nearly 100 illustrations. It is printed on extra quality book paper, bound in cloth, stamped in gold and ink, price $2.50; but cut out this advertisement, mail to this paper with $1.50 and we will send both the paper one year and the book, prepaid; or book sent free for 11 subscribers for 3 months each at 50c.
