

RURAL SCHOOL OF COUNTY TO OPEN MONDAY

With plans complete for the opening of the rural schools of this county on Monday, July 18, and with an even larger enrollment expected than that of last year when a record was established in this county, the education of the Rowan county children will again swing into action. Mrs. Caudill with the assistance of the County Board of Education has completed plans for the conduct of the school work this year that includes extra-curricular activities that should have a tendency to increase the interest in the schools.

This year again the school authorities are planning again to hold a county wide school and agricultural fair as they did last year. Only this year, with the added impetus and the experience gained from last year, it is expected to be an even greater success than the first. One of the things gained from last year's experience is the need of starting the work earlier. This will be begun this year as soon as the schools are weel under way.

This year as last, it is planned to hold community meetings and district meetings. The experience of last year indicated that these district meetings were one of the greatest incentives to the development of school spirit and community interest in the schools that has been found.

Plans are also under way already to hold the regular annual spelling bee later in the winter. With the interest in this feature of school work never lessening, this year's contest should be the most interesting and beneficial ever held.

The records of the county show that the eighth grade graduating classes this year will be the largest ever graduated in this county. Last year for the first time in an eighth grade commencement was held in this county and attracted a large crowd.

The county Superintendent again wishes to ask the teachers to call at the office of the county Superintendent on Saturday of this week, July 16, to sign their contracts and to receive the necessary supplies and equipment.

The following is the list of teachers who will have charge of the rural schools of Rowan County for the next year.

Clerkfield No. 1: L. B. Porter; Golda Dillon; Lottie Amburgey; Lola Williams; Edith Caudill; Dry Creek No. 2: S. W. Caudill; Lowell Howard.

Wes Cox; Mrs. Sibbie Caskey; Gayhart; Gladys Gayhart; Craney; Clinton McGuire.

Zane Grey At Cozy Monday

When Zane Grey's "The Rainbow Trail" opens next Monday and Tuesday at the Cozy Theatre, patrons of that theatre will again see George O'Brien in his favorite black chaps, "Mike", the thorough-bred he has ridden in every Western picture he has ever made.

A Stallion, long and clean limbed, "Mike" was trained by the same man who put "Tex" the wild horse of the range through his paces, and given over to O'Brien's care when but a mere colt. The star has since trained to his own peculiar methods of riding until today a deep understanding exists between horse and rider, to such an extent that they work together with the precision of a highly geared machine.

"Mike" is the horse on which O'Brien made his daring leap of Devil's Gulch in "The Holy Terror" and halted the stampeding cattle herd in "The Riders of the Purple Sage." And in "The Rainbow Trail" which was filmed against the scenic background of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado the star is said to do some riding that will please even to the most tried minded fans. One of his many stunts is called a "winging W," in which he trips the horse so that both rider and steed describe flying somersaults through the air.

In the "Rainbow Trail" O'Brien has a new leading lady in the person of dainty blonds, Cecelia Parker. Other promising members of the cast are Minna Campbell, Roscoe Ates, James Kirkwood and J. M. Kerrigan. David Howard directed the production.

MAXINE CAUDILL MAKES RECOVERY

Homes Burned At Farmers

Two dwelling houses burned to the ground Saturday night and for a time the blaze threatened an entire block at Farmers. The incorporated village eight miles west of here.

The flame originated in the home of Burns Johnson, spread quickly to the home of Ben Mays but valiant work by the bucket brigade kept the fire from the general store of Bill Parker and several homes.

The fire caused considerable excitement and many persons from Morehead, Johnsonville, and surrounding vicinity motored to the scene. The burning building shot flames in the air over one hundred feet.

Most of the furniture was saved from the Johnson home. No insurance was carried on either building, it was reported.

Burton Tried In Elliott County

Harve Burton, 52, alleged killer of his wife in Elliott County two months ago, will be transferred next week to Elliott county to stand trial in circuit court, presided over by Judge Wolford of Grayson. Burton has been in the Rowan county jail for safe keeping and was brought here immediately after being taken into custody as Elliott officers feared mob violence.

Burton is charged with slaying his wife's throat. The prosecution is expected to ask for a death sentence on the trial.

The accused man has been on trial for murder before, receiving a fine of $50 on a guilty verdict in an Elliott court.

Since feeling is high in Sandy Hook and vicinity the defense may ask for a change of venue.

McKinney Is Taken To Lexington Jail

Morehead officers transferred Melvin McKinney, who broke jail here three weeks ago and is wanted by the National Rifle Association, to the Lexington jail yesterday for safekeeping.

Fearing that McKinney might receive aid from outside and effect another escape, Circuit Judge H. R. Prewitt ordered the transfer. McKinney is known to have a number of friends here who are participants in a wave of crime that swept Rowan county during the past three months.

Josephine Myers, Farmers, who was taken into custody when McKinney was recaptured, is being held in the owan jail on two liquor charges. Bond of $2,100 has been offered her by the circuit court, but it has not been filled. It is believed that she smuggled the pistol into jail which allowed McKinney and her brother, Budge Myers, to hold up Deputy Jaffer Everett Whitrow, taking his gun and keys.

County officials questioned Miss Myers at length after her arrest. According to an affidavit filed in the county judge's office McKinney was told her that he had money and plunder hidden away worth $30,000. The veracity of this is doubted.

One hundred dollars reward money was paid to the Grayson officers by Sanford Bowling, Rowan

Reconstruction Farmers Road

Within the next two or three months those who have for years been cursing and discussing the road to Farmers will have to find some other topic of conversation unless they wish to bestow fulsome praise upon the now narrow and rough highway. For beginning this week the highway department of Kentucky is taking steps to make the present highway one of the best and smoothest in the state.

Under the direction of the Maintenance department of the Highway Commission, the road will be widened and resurfaced immediately. Every bridge of the road is to be widened under the supervision of a special construction foreman to at least 18 feet. That figure is not definite as the policy of the commission is to build bridge now, with a view to the future.

The highway itself will be retraced with first a coat of Black top similar to that on the highway from Morehead to Olive Hill. Over this surface it is planned to place further surface of rock asphalt. With these two surfaces placed over the top of the present surface, the road widened, and the bridges improved, the Farmers - Morehead highway should unquestionably be a model for future construction.

It is probable that the work will extend into the fall of the year. However the highway commission is exerting every means to complete it at the earliest possible moment. Three crews are to be engaged in the work. The present and permanent crew under the foremanship of Harve Mannin will have charge of materials and will keep the other two crews supplied. Another crew will have charge of the resurfacing while still another crew repaid and widen bridges.

BANK STATEMENTS PUBLISHED THIS WEEK

To the people of Rowan County and particularly of his immediate neighborhood that simple statement recalls much.

Mr. Phillips died at his home in Paragon on Monday of this week following a long illness. He was well known throughout the county as a leader in his community for years.

He was a staunch Democrat through his life. He is survived by seven children twelve grand children and one great-grand child.

The children are John H. Phillips, Mrs. Mary E. Brown, W. W. Phillips, Grover C. Phillips, Mrs. Eliza Ellington Clarence and Fred.

Burial was made in the home cemetery at Paragon on Tuesday of this week.

Summer Term Closes Friday

The first six weeks summer term at the Morehead State Teachers College will close next Friday and the final examinations will be taken by over 800 students on that day.

The second summer school opens the following Monday with about 500 students expected in residence. The summer graduating exercises will be held after the second summer session.

A maximum of seven college hours credit is possible for a student to make in each of the summer schools. This year's summer terms closes these schools at Morehead since the retrenchment program recently adopted by the Board of Regents abolished them. It was probably by seven years or more before others are held, school officials believe.

COUNTY JAILER MAKES ANSWER TO GRAND JURY

TO THE CITIZENS OF ROWAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY.

Some few days ago Melvin McKinney and Budge Myers effected their escape from the Rowan County Jail, by the use of a pistol which had by some unknown means been placed in to them by a party or parties unknown to me or my deputies.

Within a very few minutes after the jail-break was discovered I gathered together as many officers and good citizens as possible and started in pursuit of the escaped criminals. I offered a reward of $100.00 for the capture of Melvin McKinney, and $25.00 for the arrest and delivery of Budge Myers, also $50.00 for the information, arrest and conviction of the person or persons who aided in the jail-break by smuggling the pistol into the Rowan county jail. Since that time I have worked unceasingly to bring the fugitives to justice and have done everything in my power to apprehend them and have them apprehended, and by so doing I now have each and every one of them in jail. And Budge Myers will soon be captured I firmly believe.

Heretofore, I have permitted relatives and near friends to go into the jail to see and converse with their folk that were in jail believing that this was right and that because a person was under arrest and held in jail he should not be deprived of the right to see or to talk to his or her father or mother or other close relatives. But the Grand Jury of Rowan County at the June Term of the Rowan Circuit Court, 1932 cast many and sundry reflections upon my system of conducting the jail and recommended that I permit no one except by proper authority and then that I or my deputy hear all conversations and have each and every person entering the jail be searched. I am not in the least ashamed of my record as jailer of this county for I have done everything in my power to give the best service in every way known to me for the benefit of the people of Rowan County.

I dare say that there is not a jail in this state or any other state but what at some time or other there has been a jail break and prisoners escaped. They even escape from the state penitentiary where they have the very walls surrounded with guards. Also even where persons are serving life sentences in the penitentiary they are permitted to see and have visitors under prescribed regulations and rules of the institution.

Furthermore, it is my earnest conviction and belief that if my deputy, Everett Whitrow, had not given up the keys to McKinney and Myers that they would have killed me as instantly. The conduct of Everett Whitrow as deputy jailer is above censure or reproach from anyone.

He also requests that the telephone be used to call the advertisers who have made this service possible.

Under Frozen Skies

LeBlond nodded. "We don't want the police in the Mr. Stuart," he have only this Indians word against the word of Paradis. If you report said quietly, "It's a bad mess, but you this thing to the authorities, it will make no end of trouble. They will have us all down to the railroad and hold us there as witnesses."

"It certainly will be serious not only for Paradis but for the North West trading Company," agreed Jim, with a stiff smile, while wrinkles of amused satisfaction furrowed Omar's square face as he watched the apprehension in the eyes of LeBlond. "But I don't intend to have Indians bribed to fire on my people," he went on. "If he'd hit one of us, it would have put you out of business and you'd stand trial to boot."

"You don't believe I had any knowledge of this?" Protested LeBlond. "No, of course not."

"What do you want us to do Stuart asked MacLauren. "We regret this thing deeply. But there only this Indians word against that of Paradis."

"Paradis had a motive for injuring me; this Indian had none. I'm satisfied the story is straight. Now if you'll get rid of Paradis—send him out of this country and keep him out, I won't report this shooting."

"That's a bargain," quickly agreed MacLauren.

The ash-grey face of Paradis worked convulsively as he heard his sentence of banishment. Then he found his voice. "You writer of love letters," he stormed. "You tink you get her now Paul Paradis sees gone, eh, Ha, Ha! You are de beeg fool!"

From the side unnoticed by his head man the exasperated LeBlond struck Paradis full in to face with his open hand—then the trade-room door swung open wide and Aurora LeBlond stood in the doorway.

"Why, what's happening?" "What's the matter?" Eyes wide with surprise the girl glanced from the dazed face of Paradis and the furious face of LeBlond to the men from Sunset House.

"Mr. Stuart!" she gasped, her dark skin deepening with color. "You came here and they didn't tell me. Father, what has happened?"

Black brows contracted, she glanced inquiringly from her father annoyed look to the enchanted eyes of Stuart.

"This is no place for you; We are talking business," objected LeBlond. As he watched her, Jim wondered if Paradis had kept secret their meeting at the split rock—if she had made a rendezvous in the stolen note, to have him tell her then slowly over her expressive face broke the girl's infectious smile.

"It may be none of my business now, but as Mr. Stuart happened to fish your daughter out of the lake, your wayward child as the female head of the house insists on welcoming Mr. Stuart to Bonne Chance." The room was hushed with tension as she walked to him and gave him her hand.

"Welcome to our city Mr. Stuart," she said her dusky eyes aight with challenge. "Of course, to your momentous business, you'll have lunch with us." Then she dropped a low: "Paradis told me about the split rock."

He saw the pulse beating in her throat, the color deepening under her olive skin, while her hand for an instant pressed his. And the touch of her sent his heart off at a gallop.

"Thank you but we are starting at once," he answered and poignant as a knife thrust, came the realization that this amazing girl, to whose nervousness every nerve in his body was alive, would soon be but a memory.

"But why?" she demanded. Her candid gaze sought the impatient look of her father. "Why do you stand there as if you had no manners? Have you lost your voice? I am asking Mr. Stuart to lunch with us before he goes."

With a resigned shrug of the shoulders LeBlond answered his indomitable daughter. "You do not understand us as talking business very important business. Will you wait for us outside."

She glanced doubtfully at Stewart and the men standing beside him. "Looks more like war than business to me," she flung lightly over her shoulder as she left the room.

"It's agreed then," said LeBlond eagerly, that you make no report to the authorities if Paradis goes?"

"Yes, if you ship Paradis to your Nipigon posts out of this country."

"We'll shake hands on that, Mr. Stuart," said MacLauren, and the three men bound their compact. "Now will you take a meal with us before you start?"

"Yes," urged the relieved LeBlond "my daughter expects you."

An hour with her, even in the presence of her father and his party, would have been undelivered delight to the captivated Stuart, but the fierce protest, in the stormy face of Omar and the responsibility for the safety of Pierre forced him to refuse.

Outside in the clearing, Aurora was waiting. "You will allow us to make a small return of the hospitality you offered us? Will you stay?"

"I'm sorry, I can't," he said. "You mean you don't care to?" she was walking alone with him now ahead of the others.

"Care to?" He looked boldly into her pleading eyes. "Don't you know that I want to see you—talk to you? Can't you feel it?"

She turned to the lake and he saw the slow pulse of color sweep to the raven hair that rippled from her temple as she asked: "Then I am something more than an empty headed spoiled child to you, Mr. Jean Stuart?"

CLAYTON NEWS

Roscoe Mabry, fifteen year old son of Eli Mabry died, of hemorrhage of the lungs June 27, 1932. He was taken to rest in the family cemetery beside his mother who preceded him in death one year like one day. Roscoe was a fine boy. He was the pet of the family as well as of his school mates. The bereaved ones have our heartfelt sympathy in this their sad bereavement.

BOWLING STATEMENT

He did what any sensible person would have done under the circling stances.

As to the part of the report of the Grand Jury about the repairing of the roof etc., of the court house, and certain repairs to the jail, I have many months ago orally requested and then later by written notices served upon the Building committee requested that they have the necessary repair work done or authorize me to have it done, and it was all passed over without any action being taken on same.

The public is cordially invited to inspect the court house at any and all times, and the jail as often as possible to obtain the proper orders as requested by the report of the Grand Jury. I believe that the Rowan County Court House and the Rowan County Jail are in as clean and sanitary condition as any jail and court house in the state of Kentucky, taking into consideration the allowance made by the Fiscal Court for this purpose, personally.

I desire to preserve the people of Rowan county to the best of my ability and fidelity, and in conclusion, I still stand ready.

E. S. Bowling, Jailer of Rowan County, Kentucky.

7,000 FAMILIES BACK TO FARMS IN EASTERN COUNTIES
 A survey made by the county agricultural agents and summarized at the college of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, indicates that 7,000 families have returned to the land in 26 mountain counties in Kentucky in the last two years. They have gone back to the land principally from mining camps and industrial centers in other states where they migrated during times of high wages.

 Approximately 75 per cent. of these returned families have settled as tenants on any land they could find where buildings were available, the survey states. Twenty percent moved into homes with relatives and five percent returned to farms they owned when the left which they have recently purchased.
 Counties reporting a large number of families going back to the farm include Bell, Floyd, Pike, Harlan, Letcher, Knox, Knott, Morgan, Clay, Whitley, Pulaski, Johnson, Menifee, Wayne, Laurel, Magoffin and Breathitt.
 Those in charge of Agricultural extension work at the college of Agriculture said that this influx of families has added materially to the work of county farm agents. Many of the returning families have settled on unproductive land and many of them are poorly equipped to make a living from the soil. County agents and local relief agencies are receiving many calls for assistance.
 In south eastern coal counties there has been much discussion of the possibilities of rehabilitating families on the land, the farm agents reported, and committees have been appointed in some counties to consider this matter.

The Next Best Thing to Eating REAL Grapes

Ever visit a vineyard early in the morning, when the dew still lingered on the great clusters of purple grapes? Ever squeeze them between your lips and experience the genuine thrill of that first delicious wine-like flavor? Nowhere else have you seemed to quite match that tang—until the New NuGrape came.

This unusual new drink, by a process exclusively its own, has succeeded in imprisoning the elusive tang of the dew-wet grape, just as it is plucked from the vineyard in season—clear, tingling with life, and perfumed. Yes—you can catch the bouquet of it the moment the bottle is opened. For that vivid moment, you are "In a Grape Arbor."

Try this delicious carbonated beverage today. It's new on sale everywhere for 5c.

Diet Didn't Do This!

HAPPY little girl, just bursting with pep, and she has never tasted a "tummy."
 Every child's stomach, liver, and bowels need stimulating at times, but give children something you know all about.
 Follow the advice of that famous family physician who gave the world Syrup Pepsin. Stimulate the body's vital organs. Dr. Caldwell's prescription of pure pepsin, active serum, and fresh herbs is a mild stimulant that keeps the system from getting sluggish.
 If your youngsters don't do well at school, don't play as hard or eat as well as other children do, begin this evening with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This gentle stimulant will soon right things! The bowels will move with better regularity and thoroughness. There won't be so many sick spells or colds. You'll find it just as wonderful for adults, too, in larger spoonfuls!
 Get some Syrup Pepsin; protect your household from those bilious days, frequent headaches, and that sluggish, listless, "tummy" that means the bowels need stimulating. Keep this preparation in the home to use instead of harsh cathartics that cause chronic constipation if taken too often. You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store; they have it all ready in big bottles.

Boy Scouts Go On Trip

On Friday of last week the Boy Scouts of Morehead went to Mr. E. Patton's Camp on Licking river for an all night camp. The purpose of the camp was two fold: recreation and scouting. There were some tests that needed concentration on, so it was decided to go there for this work.

Asa Adkins finished his work for the First Class Scouting, Hillaire Hurt, Crawford Atkins and Lawrence Gray lack two more tests each being a Second Class Scout. Leo Oppenheimer, Jr. lacks two tests being a Second class scout. Several of the Scouts are near their second class rating, but will not likely make it this year. The only thing needed is some effort. We could at least make Four First Class Scouts' and six Second Class Scouts.

Next Thursday the Scout organization will go on its annual tour, provided enough cars can be donated for the trip. Thus far we have only four for sure and need 8. There are some cars thinking of making the trip. The scouts furnish gas and oil and food for the drivers and hotel rooms in case any ladies go along. To supplement the funds to help pay the expenses the following public spirited men have contributed $4.00 each to help with gas and oil etc.: Dr. H. Van Antwerp, Dr. A. W. Adkins, Dr. R. F. Terrell, Robert Bishop and A. H. Points. This is appreciated very much. The scout work reaches every church in town and reaches many of the homes. We have an enrollment of 45 Scouts and Cubs. We can use some additional donations if anyone feels they would like to make the investment of $4.00.

Old Citizen Dies Nicholas County

This article will be of interest to our readers in Elliot county.

George H. Bashaw was born in Richmond, Virginia, on May 29, 1851.

His father, Daniel Bashaw, was born in Ireland in 1823, and came to the United States about 1845 and located at Richmond, Virginia. George H. Bashaw's mother was Mary Frances Clemens and was born in Scotland in 1846 and located at Richmond, Virginia, where she met and married Daniel Bashaw. Daniel Bashaw was a stone mason by trade; he joined the Confederate Army when the Civil War broke out and lost his life in September, 1862, leaving George H. Bashaw, his only son aged 11 years.

The first work of George H. Bashaw was on the James River canal between Lynchburg and Richmond.

In 1874 he was employed by the Lexington division of the C. & O. railroad company and moved to Elliotville, Kentucky where he met Miss Mary A. Barnett and in 1886 they were married at Elliotville, Kentucky, by Rev. James Cauell.

Mr. Bashaw came to Nicholas County in 1896 with the late Senator H. G. Vencil and James Meggins in the lumber business in Farland, who at that time were un-Nicholas County.

Mr. Bashaw purchased property and has lived in Gilboa, Nicholas county since 1910. After severing his connections with the C. & O., for the last thirty-two years he has been a professional saw filer.

He lived to the ripe old age of 81 years and one day which denote care and favor in life. He belonged to a Baptist family and was devoted to the teachings and peoples of that faith. He was during his last years unable to be out from home while he never united with the church he was a firm believer in the Christ and his word. A good long time before his death he made a profession in his home and before his demise expressed his readiness to go, coming to the end patiently despite the suffering he was called on to undergo.

He leaves to survive him, his aged widow, Mary A. Bashaw, W. T. Bashaw of Summerville, J. R. Bashaw of Radner, Wayne County, Nellie Bell, wife of James C. Bell of Summerville, and Mary Sawyers wife of J. Q. Sawyers of Gilboa.

Mr. Bashaw lived in every district in Nicholas County and probably had as wide an acquaintance as any citizen in Nicholas county.

Mr. Bashaw died at Gilboa, West Virginia, on May 30, 1932 and the funeral was conducted by Rev. J. E. Nichols, attended by a great host of Mr. Bashaw's sorrowing friends.

He was buried at the Grose cemetery near the home of Frank Grose in Grant District in the presence of a large congregation of friends. Those attending the funeral from afar were his son J. R. Bashaw and daughter Mildred of Radner, John Grose and Mae Cowart also of Radner. Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McClung, Miss Blanch McClung and Paul McClung of Rupert, Mississippi and Samantha Shawver of Crawley.
