Morehead, Ky., Jan. 13--Dr. Madison E. Pryor, an assistant professor of biology at Morehead State College, was featured the "Personality of the Month" in the December issue of Science Digest, a national publication in the field.

In a two-page article entitled "Bird Man of Antarctica," Dr. Pryor is cited for his studies conducted for Ohio State University's Institute of Polar Studies in conjunction with his doctoral studies at the University of Tennessee.

For a year and a half, Dr. Pryor served on the polar project as the only American living with a small group of Russians and a large group of penguins at the Russian Antarctic base at Mirny.

He got the assignment as an exchange scientist and studied Russian at the Army Language School in Monterey, California.

As a member of the project, Dr. Pryor collected specimens and data for his study of the relationship between plants and animals and to determine factors in the geographical distribution of insects and similar invertebrates on the continent.

Dr. Pryor is quoted in the Science Digest as reporting, "Evidence of much greater glaciation in the past suggests that the present fauna--surprisingly abundant for such an inhospitable land--may have migrated to Antarctica in recent times from more temperate areas."

From his observations of the Emperor Penguin which inhabit the area in great numbers, Dr. Pryor found that the birds have made a remarkable adaptation to the forbidding climate. He also studied insects and mites and believes that some are survivors of species that existed before maximum glaciation.

"Schools in Colombia are private and the school year begins in February and ends in November. Mid-terms come in June with one week off.

Since she has been here, she has had an opportunity to travel and see other parts of the United States.

When asked what amazed her most, she replied that the vending machines and the snow were most amazing. Her favorite food is pecan pie and she is delighted that almost every restaurant carries it on their menus.

Morehead, Ky., Feb. 12 -- Lucien Rice, a 1956 graduate of Morehead State College, is featured in the February issue of Boys' Life, published by the Boy Scouts of America.

A three-page illustrated article entitled "Lucien Rice, Our Man In Cincinnati," discusses the activities of the 29-year-old scout executive who was named the outstanding professional scouter of 1964.

Rice was selected from among 3,800 men who are career Scouters because of his accomplishments as the executive of the Thundercloud District of northwest suburban Cincinnati and other Scouting achievements. Prior to his present position, he was district Scout executive from 1959-63 of the Bluegrass Council with headquarters in Lexington.

The Boys' Life article describes Rice as a practical man and not a visionary. "He lives Scouting," the article says, "and he can't imagine a world without Scouting. As long as we have men like Lucien Rice, we'll have Scouting that's guaranteed to make the difference in the lives of American youth, the men of tomorrow."

His career in Scouting dates back to 1943 when he was initiated as a Cub Scout at Morehead. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rice, have been active in Scouting for 20 years and their work in the organization inspired Lucien to achieve the rank of Eagle.

While attending Morehead State College where his father is Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds and his mother is a member of the faculty, Lucien continued his Scouting as assistant Cubmaster and Scoutmaster.

"My courses and extra-curricular activities at Morehead have been invaluable in my Scouting career," Lucien said, "because they helped me learn to live and work with people. I like people and Scouting is people."

Since graduating from Morehead, he has kept close ties with the College and is currently serving on the Executive Council of the Alumni Association and is Chairman of the Greater Cincinnati --- Northern Kentucky Alumni Club.

Lucien's work with Scouting has been continuous since he was nine. He says he has devoted so much of his time to Scouting because "it's a means to an end-- making better Americans, better God-loving men, better people-loving men."

"And besides, Scouting is a lot of fun," he said, "because variety of the job is limitless. I don't think I'll ever grow stagnant."

FOR RELEASE MONDAY MORNING, MAY 31, 11:30 a. m.

Morehead, Ky., May 31-- "If there is one thing America needs more than scientists today, it is men and women who can see what is happening in the world," the 398 graduating seniors were told at Morehead State College commencement exercises today.

Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, immediate past president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, told the audience of over 4,000 that it will take "men and women who can see life as a vital contribution to the world as a whole to determine what America will be."

She said that "Our constitutional, political and humane energies have not kept pace with the advancement of our economic, military and technological energies."

Mrs. Arnold, a New York native, challenged the graduating seniors to become more concerned with the developing countries around the world as she spoke in the Morehead fieldhouse.

"If we face the facts and accept a regular transfer of wealth--- perhaps one per cent of our national income which could be devoted to building up opportunities and skills in the developing nations," she said, "and if we encourage developing lands to join together for their common interest, we could repeat in world economy the creative transformations we have seen in our domestic society."

Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State College, presented bachelor of arts degrees to 264 candidates, bachelor of science degrees to 120 candidates and master of arts degrees to 14 candidates.

CIRCLES

June 8-10, 1965

APPROXIMATELY 25 CANDIDATES INTERVIEWED IN BUTTON AUDITORIUM FOR STATE AND NATIONAL OFFICES.

A very impressive Presentation of Colors was given by the Simon Kenton, Pendleton Memorial and Williamstown Chapters.

Welcome to Morehead! Mr. Ray Hornback, Assistant to the President for Public Affairs and Director of Public Relations made all 875 FHA'ers feel very welcome with his opening remark, "Women have many faults; but men have only two--Everything they say and everything they do." Mr. Hornback gave a very sincere and cordial welcome and stated that he was sure this State FHA meeting will be the best ever. Although President Doran was out of town he sent warm greetings for a successful meeting. Mr. Hornback commended the FHA Chapters in the work they are doing. He invited all FHA'ers to visit the entire campus. He also congratulated in advance, state degree and scholarship recipients.

Welcome to the meeting was given by Miss Jackie Phillips, 1964-65 Sandy Valley District President, who stated that success in anything is a challenge to youth. As FHA'ers, we are to realize the importance of citizenship. A very warm welcome indeed!

Response to the welcomes was given by Jane Ann Allgood, 1964-65 Elizabethtown District President.

An original poem presented by the Anderson High, Mercer County High and Western High Chapters was used for the Roll Call of Districts. A picturesque charm bracelet was filled with a charm symbolic of each district.

Is there a man in the house? Yes, a few among 875 FHA'ers at the opening session and were a delight to hear and see especially in the event of mechanical difficulties. Also Mr. Hornback may have to come up with 900 fellows after promising the girls anything they lacked.

A very novel skit entitled "Alice in Citizenship Land" was presented by the Bracken County High School Chapter and introduced the theme for the meeting.

Our poised and capable state officers gave us the theme of our meeting in "Circles of Citizenship", using beautiful, colorful and illustrative flower nosegays to represent each characteristic of citizenship. The ten characteristics given were honesty, concern, courage, cooperation, understanding, respect, responsibility, fairness and loyalty. Love was also stressed as a main characteristic. Four circles of flowers then represented the FHA Citizenship Circles; Home, Community, Nation and World.

Main speaker for the evening was Mr. David C. Ross, Minister, Mayo Memorial Methodist Church, Paintsville. Mr. Ross captivated his audience with a few amusing antidotes before he began his inspiring talk on "Citizenship Challenges You". He emphasized the importance of YOU in Citizenship. He presented a challenge to the group to answer the questions "Who Am I?" and "Who Are You?". He also stressed the importance of proving what you believe in.

An inspiring thought on citizenship was "Democracy cannot be inherited --- it must be reborn in each generation". Mr. Ross emphasized You should develop a sense of trust; a sense of autonomy; and a sense of integrity.

The Greta Bo Todd School of Dance presented a colorful repertoire of dance and entertainment after the Wednesday evening session. The audience was delighted by the eventful presentation.
