COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Household.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my household work.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

Takes Pastorship Ind. Church

H. Clay Brown has given up his law practice here and accepted pastoral charge of the Christian church, Boone Grove, Ind., where he and his wife go the latter part of this week. We regret very much to lose Mr. and Mrs. Brown from among, and the Christian church here will find many, who can not take their place in church and Sunday School work. Best wishes for their own personal success, and for the success of their efforts, attend them both.

Judge M. M. Redwine

Issues a Card: A Few Words to the People of the 32nd Judicial District of Ky.

Having recently been called from the private walks of life to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Hannah, who has been elevated to the highest court in our commonwealth, I am at the work of holding your courts for short time. Yielding to what seems to be a decided majority favoring my election for one regular term, and having a natural desire to be once-elected, Circuit Judge of my native district and conscientiously believing that I can fill that important office to the letter of the law, and that if I am ever elected Judge, I must be now, I have decided to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination at the regular primary to be held in August 1915. I do not believe I should or will have any serious opposition, yet, if I do, I hope to have all democrats who believe that with my experience of over 30 years as a lawyer I can and will fill the place with credit to myself and to the good of all the people, to give me their support which I will ever appreciate and greatly remember.

I pledge to you my word and sacred honor that I will rigidly enforce the law and crush out the evil, which do so much to disturb the good order and peace of all communities.

Very sincerely yours,

M. M. REDWINE

Olive Hill People Interested

Articles of incorporation have been taken out by the Consolidated Grocery Co., a new wholesale grocery for Ashland, and among the incorporators are Senator N. R. Coburn and merchant Mose Qualls of our city. The venture is capitalized at $125,000, and expected to be ready for business in the early spring.

Tobacco Factory For Grayson

Long have we talked, much we have worried as to whether we were to have a real factory which would take our "spoge" right from our wagons and make real "store terbaeke" out of it or not. Now we have no room for doubt or suspicion. The machinery is here, the men are putting it in and we are now looking forward with eager anticipation to that day in the near future when we can take our old clay pipe from the jam rock and fill it with real home grown and home manufactured tobacco and light with a coal and dream the dreams of youth when grandpa filled his pipe and assumed that same attitude.

The work of getting the machinery in place has been going on for the past few days during which time the promoters are making friends and getting acquainted with us.

Many of our Grayson folks will be employed in the manufacture of the "weed" which will consist of both smoking and chewing and will employ from thirty to forty people at first but this number will be increased as necessity demands.

The bright tobacco will be the kind used but the darker grades will be taken and disposed of. — Carter County News.

Will Build Tabernacle.

The Olive Hill Camp Meeting Association has just issued an announcement that ground has been secured and material will soon be on the ground for the building of the Tabernacle that has been talked of for some time. Those who subscribed to the fund are being notified by the Secretary to pay in, and we suppose, so soon as the donations are paid and the material gotten at hand that work will begin, and will be ready for the coming Summer's meetings.

Jacobs

At Lizzie Sparkman's, on the 14 of January, 1914, my parents both being present, the lady above referred to being their youngest daughter, S. T. Mannin having been gone from among his kindred for some months, had written to his sister to prepare a dinner for his mother's birthday, it being the 14th and her age 75 years, and has been married 60 years today—Jan. 15.

Besides my parents there were present, five children and one daughter-in-law. The children present were M. N. Man in, 59; Sarah A. Bair, 57; Mary L. Foster, 51; Lizzie Sparkman, 39, and S. T. Mannin, 52. Also J. C. Sparkman, son-in-law of T. H. and Rachael Mannin, and twelve grandchildren. And at the early hours of the evening the children began to gather in with the baskets filled with the best of grub, and not until they had all met did my mother first think it was her birthday, and they had stolen a march on her, and she indeed pleasantly surprised, and it certainly was a pleasant day for all who were present. And I must say I was more than pleased to be blessed with the opportunity again, as it was not the first one of those surprises that the children have given to their parents. But the sad memory of the absence of one who had always delighted in those festivities, called my mind back to a loved one that's gone to the great beyond, and then when we look and think how the Lord has blessed us, and spared our parents to be with us so long, we should feel more than thankful and also the brothers and sisters except one that came to the years' maturity; and I say that while I feel sad over the loss of a dear companion, we feel glad of the blessings and comforts of this life, that still surround us. And my prayer is that this will not be the last meeting of this kind that we may all live to enjoy. But realizing the certainty of death and the uncertainty of life, we can not be surprised much to be the last according to the ties of nature.

As my father is 87 years of age and my mother 75, and they are now spending their days with their children who are certainly trying to make them as comfortable as their ability will permit them to do, for many years ago they were taught to "honor thy father and mother that thy days may be long" on earth, and we can only say that we can hardly feel that we will ever be able to repay our parents for the care they have given us, when we were unable to help ourselves, but as one grows older they can much more realize their duties toward their parents.

So wishing that the Progressive may live long and prosper; that all may help to make the paper the best in the County and come in with some item that may interest the readers some way. I still remain, yours for success.

S. T. MANNIN.

Counts Cross Roads

We will all be so glad when Spring comes; so tired of mud and everything so slow and dull at this place.

Most everyone is sick or most every family has some one sick.

J. M. Baker is able to ride around again.

Dewey Baker, from Cox, Ky., was up Saturday to see his uncle Joe's family.

Miss Mayme Gee, from Devout who has been the pleasant guest of Miss Evel Morcan for the past two weeks, returned home Sunday afternoon.

Ernest Counts, from Grah, spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks.

Richard Salyers was the welcome guest of J. Lytton Counts Friday night.

Mrs. Grace James and children have been visiting her mother and sister and other friends this week while they have been repairing and papering their house so they could move into it since their schools are out.

Mrs. Jennie Harris is improving some at last.

G. C. Counts and children are getting along nicely since the death of his wife. Homer is at home with his father.

The Mill school was out Friday and some of the young folks of this place attended the closing.

Robert Bently from Portsmouth is here visiting his mother.

J. M. Baker spent Sunday with his brother Jim's family at Cox.

Gladys McCoy was the guest of Miss Beulah Williams, Grah, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Jessie Williams, from Grah, called on Mona Baker Sunday.

We are sorry to hear that Jno. Reid is very sick at this time.

Grah

We are having beautiful weather for the time of year.

Calvin James has been on the sick list the past week.

The stork visited Robert Dickerson's home last week and left a bouncing boy, Bob is all smiles.

Bob Ross, of Olive Hill, moved to our village the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dickerson have moved into their new home.

John R. James attended church at Olive Hill Saturday and Sunday.

Almeda, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Watt Everman is very low with pneumonia.

Mrs. James Kerkeek and Miss Anna Carpage spent Sunday afternoon at the home of John and Viola Dickerson.

We are pleased to note the speedy recovery of Mrs. B. F. Dickerson.

Uncle Calvin Phillips is no better at present.

Mrs. Pearl Flanigan and ladies visited her sister, Mrs. Lucy Wilburn Sunday.

School will close at this place the 20th. We know Miss Otta will feel like a bird let out of a cage. We all hate to see her go; she is a splendid teacher and such a good girl.

Miss Martha Rogers was over from Olive Hill Saturday visiting home folks.

Mrs. Mary Wilcox was calling Mrs. Wm. Kiser and family Sunday afternoon.

Miss Goldia Dickerson visited Miss Thelma Pinson Saturday.

Elmer James and family visited home folks Sunday.

Mrs. Lillie Elam visited Mrs. and Mr. Calvin James Sunday.

Mrs. Jennie Everman is very sick again. Her mother, aunt Bettie Kiser, is improving.

We saw Ed Lowe and little son Dennis on our streets Saturday.

pieces. The doctors think all or a part of his hand will have to be amputated.

We kindly ask Daisy to not take any more naps while uncle Frank is so near.

Muses Mills, Ky.

Mrs. Ed Hinton is still improving.

Nelson Davis has sold out and will go West.

Chas. H. Compton is down with pneumonia.

Johnnie Muse, 28, and Miss Sarah Birchfield, 22, were married here Thursday.

Rev. T. H. Meadows filled Rev. Roberts' appointment here last Sunday as Rev. Roberts was away.

Born to J. H. Muse and wife a girl last Saturday; Dr. Huff attending physician.

Mrs. Harrison Morford and daughter, Miss Alta, of Stockton Creek, visited relatives here last Sunday.

Calvin Koush, Miss Myrtle Compton and Miss Alta Morrison attended church at Mt. Vernon Sunday evening.

T. H. Dunaway purchased the farm of Elbert Pitts near here and will locate on same, while Mr. Pitts goes to Wisconsin.

S. E. Muse and wife who have been residing in Florida the past few years are coming back here to locate and make their future home.

Newton Hurst and wife from Goddard were here the week end visiting Mrs. Hurst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Humphrey.

Rev. Miller and wife of Chicago, have been holding a series of meetings at Vernon the past 3 weeks. Several have been converted, sanctified and reclaimed for Christ during the meeting which was a success from the first. May the good work go on in our wish.

Chesney Evans closed his school at Sugar Tree last Friday. Mr. Evans, who has the reputation as a real good teacher, had prepared an entertainment for the last day and had prepared a good program. After he had been engaged in drills with his pupils, several young men named Stacy came galloping up into the yard and was not long in making a row which was soon one in reality. 3 or 4 men were fighting and cursing at the same time. Several shots were fired and rock thrown with some heads badly thumped. Mr. Evans kept the door locked; the rocks striking the house several times. Had to close his school. Now this sure looks bad for a civilized community and in a day of enlightenment, too. Several warrants are now out for the arrest of the participants.

Surprise Birthday Party

Sunday, Jan. 18, was a day long to be remembered by the friends and relatives of Mrs. S. E. Tabor. This was her 65th birthday and a glad surprise awaited her when she heard a slight noise outside the house, so on opening the door there stood a large crowd of people all heavily laden with baskets of good things to eat and nice presents. Among them was a nice rocker, the gift of her children. She also received several nice presents from the far West. It seemed as though everyone knew about the party excepting herself.

There were 41 persons present including the children.

The chicken, ham, pies and cake all disappeared very fast. All fared sumptuously and talked, laughed and had a merry time, and sure, no one enjoyed the day more than did the old folks of the party. May her life be as long and as loving and kind as it has always been. All join in wishing her many returns of the day.—Bess Run Cor.

A GRAMMAR REWME

A noun, the name of anything. As school or garden, hoop or swing. Adjectives tell the kind of noun. As great, small, pretty, white or brown. These of these words we often see As article—a, and the. Instead of nouns, the pronouns stand. John's head, his face, your arm, my hand. Verbs tell of something being done. As read, write, spell, ring, jump, run. How things are done, the adverbs tell. As slowly, quickly, ill or well. These also tell us where or when. As here or there, or now and then. A preparation stands before a noun; as in or through a door. Conjunctions sentences unite. As kittens scratch and puppies bite. The interjection shows surprise. As, oh, how pretty! Ah, how wise!

Short Sermons FOR A Sunday Half-Hour

THEME: THE WILL OF GOD.
BY DR. SPENCER S. ROCHE.

Text: Hebrews 13:7: "When He cometh into the world, He saith, Sacrifice and offering thou wouldst not, but a body hast thou prepared for me; in whose burnt offerings and sacrifice for sin thou hast no pleasure: then said I, Lo, I am come (in the roll of the book it is written of me) to do Thy will, O God."

The words streep through the entire range of sacrifice than mere conformity to law, the subordination of the entire nature, body, mind and spirit to the will of God.

In Christ's passion the reply to the demand for sacrifice was not liberations of wise nor blind obedience to law, but the offering of a divine will in place of individual desire.

In this triumphant yet melancholy entrance into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday, amid the loud hosannas we catch the undertone of self-oblation. Through the shouting crowds He is indeed the meek one, saying: "Lo, I come to do Thy will, O God."

With magnificent accuracy the prophet Zachariah long before caught the blended ideas of Christ's glory—having salvation lowly. Christ is the unique figure of all history because in Him self-sacrifice reaches absolute perfection. The appeal of these palms is the dynamic of the Gospel. Christ leads us up to self-sacrifice.

It has been said that every form of religion seeks to bring men to the point of offering something to God, to the end that God may bestow the sense of agreement or reconciliation, of peace. On the lowest plane are those who bring mere possessions—sheep, fruits, money. This is the type class here; beyond observers of the Jewish law. In the highest group are those who offer themselves.

The first would atone with by sacrifice; the second would aid in sacrifice by obedience; the third would rise to perfection by self-oblation. At each step in the ascending ladder of faith the Almighty lifts the sinner nearer to Himself. He takes at first of his goods, leaving the creature to enjoy the rest; He places next His law upon our wills; bliding us overcome instinct and passion, and indurates Him. Lastly, He calls for the sacrifice beyond the words like, that He may dwell in us and we in Him, that Godhead may appear in humanity. No figure and no struggle, too violent to carry the thought that the old selfish spirit is gone and that a Christly spirit has come. It may be physically the same man, but yet the changed actions and standards and ideas make him regenerate and new in Christ Jesus. He is indeed alive from the dead.

Religion is not a precise formula, not a lifeless creed, but a glorious experience, a real life. It is not discovered by analysis, but appropriated by faith. It is the change from the movement of a machine to the motion of life. How, as you pass through a picture gallery, do you turn coldly from one canvas to find yourself spell-bound before another? The one rouses no sentiment—indeed, begets the sense of weariness, of emptiness—but the other instantly brings you into communion with the person whose portrait you see, or perhaps causes to steal over you the soft, balmy air of a day in June, as the eye loses itself in the glades of orchards, along which you can almost hear the bees humming.

Even so the awakened soul feels that God's blessed truths and Christ's example, that once touched no responsive chord, appear now to the inner soul and illumine its deepest affections. Its most strenuous power into action.

Let me frankly face two objections. The first is effacement of individuality. You say, surely it is not to sink entirely the personal human will in the divine; there must surely be scope for man's selfhood; we are not to be absorbed in any kind, however holy and divine; each is to work out his own salvation. God working within each separate will.

But to follow the divine will is not to slay our own. We rather, as the loftiest form of resolve, determine to let God reign over the throne of the soul. We are to reverence the upward purity feeling that we dwell in Him and live in us, our life mingling with His till we can say, "I live, yet not I; Christ liveth in me."

For the second objection, let me guard you against thinking that this supreme offering of your will to God takes away your happiness; rather it will increase and establish your peace. The heart that leaves all to heaven and reposes in the eternal care usually dismisses anxiety. And the other darkness of life the Heavenly Father knows what we need and answers our requests so that we are not harmed, and the soul drops back satisfied, feeling that the everlasting arms are underneath and that all things work together for good.

TOO LATE FOR LAST WEEK
