The Tea Party.

It will be recollected that the Tea Part comes off to-night. We consider the pit tance charged for admission a first-rate in tance charges for admission a first-rate in vestment. The receipts are to be appropr ated to the furtherance of the cause of edu ated to the furtherance of the cause of edu cation; and we doubt not the enjoyment re-ceived from the social pleasures of the even ing, will amply compensate the expenditure to say nothing of the ultimate objects sough to be attained by the party.

13"To-morrow morning, there is to be hanner presented to the Sons of Temper ance at the City Hall, preparatory to thei departure for Ripley to join in a celebration

there will, doubtless, be a crowd present.

Mr. Conwell, to the pupils of the Acad of Mr. Conweit, to the popular of the deemy, on yesterday, was sensible, philosoph ical, and practical; and was evidently wel received, by his numerous hearers. We learn that, it is contemplated by the exam ining Committe, to procure the address for publication. It is well worthy of preservation, and we hope Mr. C. will not hesi-tate to comply with their request.

The Prospect of Pence.

There seems to be a growing impression that we are shortly to have the plessure of announcing a peace with Mexico. The mission of Mr. Trist—the probable election of Herrera—the clergys disflection to Santa Anna—the dread entertained by the better portion of the population of the cities, of the guerilla parties, recently formed—are all thought to indicate that "there's a good time coming." We fear, however, that any arought to indicate that "there's a good oming." We fear, however, that any are he made, will compe oming. rangement which may be made, will comp the invaders to become the allies of the par the invacers to become me anies of the par ty which may be temporarily in power, and that the execution of the treaty will depend upon our holding military possession of the country until order is restored and the people generally have become reconciled to terms of peace. When will that be?

From the Lauteville Journal
Our readers will see from the following corresponeence, that the unpleasent affair between Judge McKinley and Mr. Read has seen adjusted amicably and honorably by the parties themselves—as all such matters should be adjusted. Both of the letters are

Orleans National, in its sketch of Col. Don-iphan's late remarkable expedition, gives the following:

"The Navajo Indians are a war-like people, have no towns or houses or lodges; they remarkably evality, having immense herds of horses, cattle, and sheep. They are celebrated for their intelligence and good order. They treat their women with great attention, consider them equals, and relieve them from the drudgery of menial work. They are handsome, well made, and in every respect a highly civilized people, being, as a nation, of a higher order of being in the meass of their neighbors, the Mexcans. About the time Coloned Doniphan was entirely out of provisions, and the Navajos supplied its wants with liberality. A portion of the command returned to Cuvano. Major Glipin's command, together with Col. Doniphan, went to the city of the Sumai Indians living on the Kio Piscow, which is supposed to be a branch of the Geyla, made a treaty of peace between the Sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to "These Sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to in the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to include the sunnis and Navajos, and then returned to includ

y COLNEMS OF GEN. WORTH.—During the bombardment of Vera Cruz this gallant bombardment of the bucket to the borse's mouth, a large shell struck the ground at the distance of a few it yards. The man started in terror; but Gen. Worth, observing the fuse was not quite burned out, said peremplority, without moving, "Halt—empty your bucket on that thing!" The man mechanically obeyed, and Gen. Worth captured the shell whole, it was 13 inners in diameter and weighed about 120 pounds.
