United Fund Raised 50 Percent Of Goal; Annual Meeting Set

Morehead-Rowan County United Fund officers are looking to 1964 with optimism that it will be the result of a final report on last fall's fund drive which shows that the group raised slightly more than 50 percent of its goal.

And even with only 50 percent of the designated quota raised, many participating agencies will receive more money through United Fund than they have ever received through independent fund drives, according to Rev. Charles L. Brooks, secretary of the United Fund.

When the books on the fund drive closed Dec. 31, a total of $175,077 had been paid or pledged, or more than 50 percent of the $350,000 goal, an announced late last summer.

The final report on the drive was made Monday at a meeting of the executive committee, which set Jan. 26 at 7:30 p. m. in the Peoples Bank building for the United Fund's required annual meeting.

At least seven directors are to be elected for three-year terms at the Jan. 28 session, new officers will be chosen and a full report will be made on all money received to date.

Allegations to participating agencies will also be made at the Jan. 28 meeting, and agency representatives, along with anyone who contributed to the fund drive should attend.

Publication of a financial statement is contemplated by the organization.

Brooks called the 1963 effort "an excellent beginning," adding that while the campaign was not 100 percent successful, "this method will continue and will receive greater public participation as we prove our intent to plan and execute an efficient approach to the total fund-raising program."

The secretary also pointed out that the 1963-64 campaign closed Dec. 31, contributions totaling $175,077 were received. He said this is normal for United Fund agencies in the county and should continue. Money received will be allocated to agencies on a quarterly basis throughout 1964.

Licenses Selling At Rapid Clip
Considering the date when they were placed on sale, 1964 Kentucky automobile licenses are selling at a rapid pace. County Court Clerk O. W. Egan said this week.

As of Tuesday afternoon about 700 licenses had been sold. New tags normally are placed on sale Dec. 1; however, this year they were placed on sale about the middle of December. Mrs. Egan pointed out, the latest date in history.

Priced at $5, the new licenses are white with blue numerals.

GROUPS IN DISAGREEMENT Council 'Directs' Investment Of Surplus

Some $175,000 May Be Involved In Controversy

Morehead's City Council, and its subsidiary, the Utility Plant Board are in apparent disagreement over the manner in which surplus funds from the municipally owned water and sewerage systems should be handled.

In its first meeting on New Year's Day, the new Council 'directed' the Utility Board to place this excess money into interest-bearing securities.

Mayor Eldon T. Evans estimated in the open discussion that the Utility Plant Board could earn $3,000 to $5,000 a year in interest through investments such as short term 90 day U. S. securities.

Quiet Holidays Reported By Local Law Officers

The Christmas and New Year's holidays were the quietest in recent years for law enforcement officers in Rowan County, Sheriff Carl Lewis said this week.

Only four persons were jailed during the one-week period, the sheriff reported, and one of these was incarcerated by Jailer Elmer Plank, rather than peace officers.

All four were picked up for being drunk.

The total is less than the number usually confined here during a normal week.

Mother Of Mrs. Doran Is Stricken

Mrs. Emily Lassiter McClain, mother of Mrs. Adron Doran, died Monday at the University of Kentucky Hospital in Lexington.

She was buried Sunday in Highland cemetery in Mayfield following services conducted by Alton Williams, minister of the Wingo Church of Christ.

Surviving children are: Mrs. Doran and Mrs. Eva Wyatt, Mayfield.

Bill Peck, director of the Roberts Funeral Home in Mayfield, said that persons who visited the funeral home to pay their respects made up one of the largest crowds to ever visit the funeral home.

Mrs. Doran will return to Morehead during the latter part of the week.

Several persons from Morehead attended the funeral.

Mrs. Doran will return to Morehead during the latter part of the week.

Many Morehead residents will remember Mrs. McClain as she had spent the previous three winters with the Dorans in Morehead.

Fiscal Court's First Session Is Routine

Rowan Fiscal Court held a routine session Tuesday—its first of 1964—and only the business it took up was payment of monthly bills.

County Judge W. C. Flannery, presiding officer of the court, said the group heard a number of complaints about road conditions and received several requests to aid.

Another Physician To Practice Here

Morehead, rapidly becoming the medical center of Eastern Kentucky, this week acquired another doctor.

He is Dr. Arvis Porter, a native of nearby Elliott County, who will practice general medicine in the office of the late Dr. I. M. Garret, at 209 College Boulevard.

Dr. Porter's office was opened Wednesday at the University of Louisville College of Medicine, the 33-year-old Porter did his pre-med work at the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Porter and Dr. George Barber have set up here as general practitioners during the past six months, while Dr. Herbert D. Hudson and Dr. Warren Proudfoot have joined the hospital staff as chief of internal medicine and chief of surgery respectively.

Hospital Foundation To Meet Monday; Bronze Plaques Are Scheduled For Saint Claire

The 15 member Board of Directors of Northeast Kentucky Hospital Foundation, Inc. will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in the recreation room of the Peoples Bank of Morehead in what President C. P. Caudill said is an 'important session.'

He revealed that among the proposed business would be bronze plaques and memorials for St. Claire Hospital.

A large plaque will be placed in the lobby of St. Claire bearing the names of all who contributed $120 to the hospital.

Contributors Chose Working The lobby, nursery, operating room and large facilities will have plaques for those who gave $5,000, and more.

Caudill said all who contributed more than $100 would be notified as to 'the wording' before the order for the bronze plaques is placed.

He emphasized that unpaid pledges would not be recognized in placing the order for the plaques.

The hospital administrator, Sister Mary Edwin, and the two specialists of Morehead Medical Center.

For the second consecutive year St. Claire Hospital has been named the most newsworthy activity in Rowan County by a panel of judges who chose the 10 top stories for 1963.

By an overwhelming margin the panel of business and professional people picked the opening of St. Claire and its staffing of specialists the top story in Rowan County for 1963.

Morehead Bank Assets Hit New High

The people of Morehead, Rowan County, and this area are financially better off, in dollars and cents, than anytime in history.

Resources (and deposits) are up about five percent over a year ago.

Loans also climbed to $5,181,665. The year before they were $4,590,462.

First Federal Building and Loan Association opened in August and Morehead opened in August and Morehead opened in August.

Morehead's banks have recorded a steady, sometimes remarkable increase in assets for the past two years.

Liquor Case Costs Hanes $520 Monday

A plea of guilty to a charge of violating liquor laws cost Dan Hanes $520 in county court this week.

County Judge W. C. Flannery suspended the license of Dan Hanes under another $500 bond which Hanes was also given.

Tobacco prices bounded back above the $60 per hundred mark on the Morehead market this week as sales resumed following a three-week Christmas recess.

Morehead averages $54.93 on a volume of 530,000 pounds, while Yule's median was $66.10 on a gross of around 400,000 pounds.

Although more than 2,500,000 pounds of tobacco is still on the floor at the local warehouse, Dikes said unloading is continuing.

Morehead has consistently been among Kentucky's high-average markets, and turned in an average of $59.69 for the sale period before the Christmas top.

Morehead's market opened seven years ago with a total season's sale of just over 2,000,000 pounds.

Wells Home Named Yule Decorations Contest Winner

Christmas decorations at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Handy Wells were named winner of the Kiwanis Club's annual holiday decorations contest.

M'head Frosh, With A Jumping Jack, Meet St. Xavier Monday

Morehead, and area, sports fans will get a "free bonus" Monday evening.

The MSC Frosh vs. St. Xavier (Cincinnati) freshmen in the Fieldhouse at 5:30. No admission will be charged, and spectators will have the chance to see what may become the nucleus of a championship varsity.

The English defeated Marshall University freshmen 15-42 last night. Coach Sonny Allen says he intends to let them jump, jump and shoot against what is touted as a great St. X club.

Allen has a colored boy - Smith

Smith is listed at 6-2 but can easily find the ball standing flat-footed under the basket. Morehead probably obtained this "good one" because of the Birmingham race riots.

Allen admits he also has some other boys who are right fair jumpers and shooters. But he says they are as "green as grass like all freshmen.

Many Morehead fans believe the varsity is only one, or two years, can hold its own against the national best. Monday will be a "If you don't enjoy the game you can have your money back."

Utility Test Facility To Be Completed

Facilities to test utility meters and qualities of gas and electric power for utility customers—a long-time aim of the Kentucky Public Service Commission—are nearing completion in Lexington, P.S.C. Chairman J. David Francis has announced.

The new meters standards laboratory, located on Oldham Avenue adjacent to the University of Kentucky campus, will probably be dedicated in January, Francis said.

Under P.S.C. rules, meters must be tested and adjusted periodically and refunds made by utility firms to customers whose meters have over-registered beyond the limits of accuracy set by the Commission.

The agency has required that electric companies have their standard meters checked by a recognized laboratory other than the manufacturer's. For checking gas meters, the P.S.C. has used portable standard meters. These functions will soon be performed at the laboratory in Lexington.

Another section of the laboratory will provide facilities for calibrating water meters and master meter standards for volume of flow, according to E. C. Treat, the Commission's chief engineer.

THE MILITARY BUDGET
 The Johnson Administration may hold its military aid request next year to the lowest level since the global program began fourteen years ago, it has been reported. Key United States officials indicated they expect "new budgets" for military aid to be limited to no more than $1,000,000,000.

WRONG KIND
 Instead of riding a walking horse on his recent tour of his ranch, President Johnson should have had Congress in mind and have gotten a lot of valuable experience by trying his hand at riding a balking horse.

Congress May Be Suffering From A Bum Rap

The intelligence (some political science professors, columnists and the egghead brigade in general) enjoy the pastime of lambasting the legislative arm of this country's government. It is true that criticism is often in order.

But of late this criticism has taken on an ominous tone. So frequently are slanted are many (especially the eastern, New York school of leadership) that the end of our form of government is being hinted at.

It is being said, by some brilliant and famous men, that unless certain changes are made in our legislative system, it may fail, that another system of government may be needed or necessary.

These are alarming words. They are surprising in view of the fact that the present system has brought us more security and greater material wealth than any other major nation in the world.

In a few months a civil rights bill and a tax cut bill will have been enacted. The future will not look so dark, nor our democratic system so unpromising.

Also, the truth is that it is the executive branch, not Congress, which has gained in power at the expense of its counterpart, the legislative branch in recent years. Congress can no longer control the gigantic operations and expenditures of the executive branch today.

Congress cannot "provide for the national defense" as intended in the Constitution. Because government agencies have been smart enough to get their operations on an advance basis to a large extent, Congress often cannot even shut off current operational funds. Usually there will be enough money (until Congress meets again) in the "pipeline," or the President will provide some special or emergency funds.

Congress can no longer require top members of the executive branch to answer questions, even in official committee sessions. The doctrine of executive privilege is now claimed to enable these officials to withhold answers they care to.

But Congress is the closest branch of government to the people, therefore the safest and most democratically representative of the three branches. Every member must be elected, can be turned out of office. The collective viewpoint of the 435 men is closer to the will of the people than the views of the president, the cabinet, and do-gooders—and that is why the United States system has proven effective for almost 200 years—a unique record and achievement. Congress is doing the bidding of the people, which is so necessary if it is to be governed as to maintain their faith in the system.

That Congress and its procedures, have weaknesses and faults, is one would deny, but they do not now threaten the future of our country as much as growing executive branch bureaucracy and power.

Warren's Opinion Inappropriate

Chief Justice Earl Warren has taken formal exception, we note, to a bill proposing inscription of the motto—"In God We Trust"—on the wall of the Supreme Court chamber in which he and his associate's sit in judgment.

His objection, spelled out in a report to the architect of the Capitol, is in essence that such an addition would mar the beauty and symmetry of the chamber and in effect throw its artistic design out of balance.

It's his opinion, therefore, that the action is inappropriate regardless of any religious significance inherent in the motto.

Warren's conclusion in this regard is scarcely astonishing in light of the recent series of Supreme Court decisions inhibiting the use of prayer, Bible reading or other religious exercises in the country's schools.

Perhaps the best evidence, however, that his seeming indifference to reliance on a Higher Power is not generally shared by the rest of the nation was afforded by reaction to the death of President Kennedy.

Reports have been received from sophisticated college campuses students and churchgoers as the word spread of the assassination. Churches had record crowds for memorial services on the following Sunday and there was a deep religious note in the mourning elsewhere for the fallen Chief Executive.

To motto, apparently, still has great meaning for many.

Arlington Policy Needs Review

There is an effort underway among some government officials to find and buy more land for Arlington National Cemetery. This would mean tearing down buildings and moving government installations.

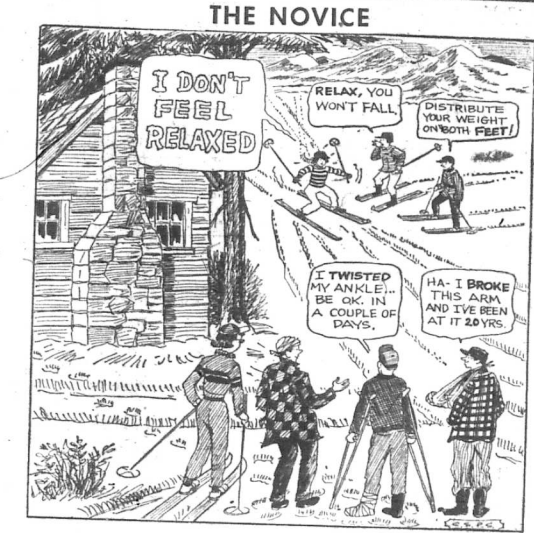

Representative Charles Bennett (D-Fa.) thinks such a move would be a mistake. We agree: Bennett says instead of spreading the national cemetery over the hills on the Potomac, we should reserve half the remaining space for the use of returning veterans, who were honorably discharged from service.

Though many Americans do not realize it, it is not particularly difficult for the family of a serviceman to have him buried in Arlington National Cemetery, regardless of his record. Bennett cited two recent cases which emphasized this point. One man recently buried there was a former Army serviceman who was killed trying to escape from a prison and another involved a man who had allegedly sold military secrets to Russia.

The suggestion is almost certainly in the interest of maintaining the dignity and atmosphere of the national cemetery.

Let's not go overboard and conclude that anybody who holds an opinion different from ours belongs to a hate group.

It seems there are more illiterate adults in the U.S. than you may have imagined. Apparently a considerable number of men can't read "No Hunting" and "No Fishing" signs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

College-Trained People Should Be Moral, Responsible - Forman

Editor, The News:
I was not content on the article in the Dec. 19, 1963 issue of your paper entitled, "Sex still a popular subject on college campuses; many students pass course." I read this article in its entirety and found it very revealing. I am inclined to believe that it is true as stated. If it were not, I am sure the administrators of the colleges would not permit this in the newspapers. It could be even worse than the activities and leaked for publicity. This article related several colleges that made admissions, and finally Dr. Graham Morris, a psychiatrist for Harvard University health services, reported that sexual relations between college women are on the increase. A 1962 survey he said, showed that 35 percent of college women are not virgins; a 1963 survey placed the figures at 50 percent, a current survey shows "they" have climbed.

If over half the students in a college were sexual degenerates, then a like percent of the products of that training could be the same kind of characters. A college education is to be greatly desired, but it should not stigmatize the character of a person. It is more important that college trained people should be morally equipped and trained than be other part of our population, as well as the leaders and have more of an influence in carrying on the future of our most desired endeavors; such as teachers, governmental policies and leaders of all worth while enterprises. According to the Bible, the Apostle Paul listed adultery as leading the list of cardinal sins, King David in an affair with Bathsheba that later culminated in the king committing a murder; Big game animal hunters who are student of ancient history can find that the fall of many nations has occurred from the character deterioration of its rulers. These are only a few of many occurrences that could be related.

If we condone or are consenting to an evil act, where we have the control of the factors contributing to its encouragement, then we are responsible for such that occurs. Any agency or person that is responsible for the actions of a person should be made known to the welfare of everybody. I believe the sentiments of a shrug of a shoulder, and "oh well let it be," is not I am not concerned or to blame for such conditions" being their attitude. The charity and sanctity of our homes should be a very important concern to everybody. Any agency or person that advocates a policy contrary to that is doing an irreparable injury to the welfare of everybody. I have commented on the revelations of college conduct that is publicly known, and in no way do I intend that any other college is included. I believe we have as good a college here as you will find.

Forest Service Preparing For Fire Season

This week the combination electronics technician for the Cumberland National Forest spent Monday and Tuesday on the Morehead District. While here Bratton checked and serviced our radio equipment in preparation for the coming fire season. Gary Goodrich, Forest Supervisor's office man at the district on engineering work on the forest's fire distribution system and the Robinson Recreational area.

We have a crew already working on a sewage disposal system for the camping area which is also under construction and for the combination toilet and picnic shelter which will be constructed under contract. Bills are now being taken for construction of the combination toilet and picnic shelter. Several miles of trails have been added to the forest trail system. The an and Bath Counties during the winter season. These trails will be signed and open to public use before the forthcoming construction of the combination toilet and picnic shelter. When these trails are signed and open to public use we will list them in the "Outdoors" section of the beginning and terminal point and length of each trail.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
The fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing the foreign aid money to the Congress and from foreign aid to women.

They was a little confusion on some items, fer instance Zekke Grubb argued Vietnam was in heaven, and it anybody claimed to know nothin' about women. But, general speaking, our fellows was overflowing with wisdom on all matters.

First off, Ed Doolittle said he was beatin' the bushes for them noble Congressmen to the matter of trying to get their wages raised $10,000 a year. Ed allowed as how ever Congressmen in Washington knowed when they was beatin' the bushes fer votes two years ago exact when the wages scale was for the job. He was of the opinion that every Congressman that had any respect for himself or his constituents would wait till after the general election in November afore voting himself a fat hike in pay. Ed went on to say that every Congressman who was going to support a raise in his own pay and ever anybody give him the raise if he was elected. That made sense to me.

Next, Zekke Grubb brought up the matter of foreign aid again. It has got to be the fellers and it was Zekke's opinion that this foreign aid business his own lady has to put a bag on her and get even with South Africa. Ed let him admitted it might be in Africa that the fellers claimed, but he allowed as how he was probably was right on the beam when he said that playing are.

He was questionin' a speech by Congressman Otto Passman of Louisiana where the Governor on our minds it is a good time to consider starting a Christmas tree planting program. Orders for seedlings for spring tree plantings are still being taken by the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

Some Predictions For 1964 - Even The Ky. Derby Winner

Most everyone makes New Year's resolutions, few of which were kept. Some more resolving as midnight struck, including that we would hereafter hold our temper when a subscriber would be indignantly report she hadn't received her paper.

We'll check the files and advise her subscription had expired. I've varied comes the report: "I've not checked the files, usually, the subscriber had received orders (stamped on the paper) for the last year. I'll check the files in the red letters at the top of the page one."

It so happens that this (friend) has been involved in so many personal-guilt-entailors that the Morehead News Editor has taken these tactics editorially so we will not get into any more (for us) this New Year's resolution.

We were talking with a learned Minister the other day and mentioned: "Hell's highway is paved with good intentions."

He shot back: "Probably so, but St. Peter has welcomed more people with good intentions than there are on the revolving door."

Enough about resolving this and that. I'll follow up on it if you, and I had conducted our survey during the 365 days of the past year. The Christmas resolutions have to say (to ourselves) we will make these this year.

Any agency or person that is responsible for the actions of a person should be made known to the welfare of everybody. I believe the sentiments of a shrug of a shoulder, and "oh well let it be," is not I am not concerned or to blame for such conditions" being their attitude. The charity and sanctity of our homes should be a very important concern to everybody.

Any agency or person that advocates a policy contrary to that is doing an irreparable injury to the welfare of everybody. I have commented on the revelations of college conduct that is publicly known, and in no way do I intend that any other college is included. I believe we have as good a college here as you will find.

That marriage of two promiscuous individuals, which we know real well, will take place, but it might come as late as Labor Day although June is my better guess. The lovely (not yet young) bride-to-be wasn't too happily married to the groom, but from her not-so-handsome but financially-well-off and learned husband, she has learned a lesson. Incidentally, the bride was hatched a long time back.

Those questions will be cut for 100 percent. The publisher's average (the market close this month) will be slightly below last year.

Construction will be drawn, or continue started, and we can do ultra-modern indoor cinema on the site of the new stadium.

Congress will appropriate a million dollars to start construction of the new stadium. Final cost of the project will be $25 million and $30 million. Plans for two 12-story hotels will be revealed on the site of Jay's Memorial Stadium. The hotel will play its next game in a new stadium 600 down-the-earth bowl-type stadium that we know as Holbrook orchard.

Surveys will progress for Inter-Regional Council on the site of the new stadium. The survey will be completed by the end of the year. The survey will be completed by the end of the year. The survey will be completed by the end of the year.

St. Clair Hospital will continue to grow and progress and arithmetic in Washington.

Personal Mister Editor, I don't think it was much we can do about money. Slow but certain progress will be made in a squeeze. The Bible says it's hard for a rich man to enter and harder for a poor man to remain on earth.

Prices for homes, including the new stadium, will be more than before. Three or four, more years before a home can be bought in Morehead for the same price as it was before. The one-famed-and-fared West Hill play-offs Murray will finish second in the state. The one-famed-and-fared West Hill play-offs Murray will finish second in the state.

Hilltoppers will end up fifth, and the one-famed-and-fared West Hill play-offs Murray will finish second in the state. The one-famed-and-fared West Hill play-offs Murray will finish second in the state.

Morehead's most recent prediction is that we will have a Derby winner. The Derby winner will be a horse named "The Derby Winner".

go out on a limb" only hope, pray, and a little harder. Morehead's Steve Hamilton will pick more for the New Year's resolutions. He'll be one of the best, maybe the best, Steve and a commendable 53 record last year.

Lochgo Park, with its many trails and wonderful scenery, will be opened before the year is out. It will be further planned, future developments can't be listed. Much editorial praise on the U.S. rangers for recreation development in Rowan County, possible through the Accelerated Works program as it takes money to make the park.

Lyndon B. Johnson will be the Democratic nominee for President. He'll get the nod from Kentucky's delegation although dissent from Frankfort or the Louisville newspapers.

Republicans will nominate Nelson Rockefeller. Kennedy's administration will be re-elected with a picture of the bride and the divorces.

Mishaps Few In County In New Year

The New Year has begun with a conspicuous lack of traffic accidents in Logan County, Kentucky. State Police reported this week.

Only two mishaps have been investigated in Logan County since Jan. 1, and one of these was minor, involving a car backing out of a driveway into the side of another.

Operator of the car coming from the driveway was Grant Strange, Morehead R-2. His vehicle backed into it on traveling east on Ky. 32, and operated by Jasper Charles Payne, of Hillsboro.

Trooper Robert Morguson investigated. Information on the other mishap since Jan. 1 was not available this week.

In a pre-New Year's incident, an automobile operated by Shirley Frank Green of Lexington went out of control on US 60 2.3 miles east of Morehead Dec. 30 and went into the ditch on the other side of the road.

Trooper Carl Stuss said Green told him the car ran off the highway on the right side and when he cut it back onto the road it went out of control, spun around in the road and plunged into the ditch.

First Meeting Ever

Eagles Leading OVC With 2-0; Clash With Austin Peay Here

Morehead State College will put its unbeaten league-leading Ohio Valley Conference mark of 20 on the shooting block Saturday night against the visiting Austin Peay team.

The 7:30 p.m. encounter in the 6,000-seat Morehead fieldhouse will be the first ever between Morehead and Austin Peay, and will find Morehead facing two former members of the Eagles freshman team of four years ago.

Doag Stampler, a 62 guard, and Steve Miller, a 65 center, played with the Morehead frosh before transferring to Austin Peay. Both are starters for the Tennessee team along with former Eastern Kentucky frosh James DeForest, a 63 forward.

Stampler is the Governor's top scorer with a 16.3 average while Miller is Austin's Peay's top rebounder. Both are seniors. The Clarksville, Tennessee, school has a 5-5 record at the time of this writing (Austin Peay plays Eastern Kentucky Thursday evening) and the Governor's OVC record stands at 6-2.

Austin Peay enjoyed an 18-11 record last year but George Fisher's charges are playing a more rugged schedule this year with 14 games carried in the always tough OVC.

Sergeant currently is the nation's fourth leading scorer with an even 81.0 average and the All-OVC junior is easily the number one scorer in the conference.

The Eagles of Bob Laughlin have three others scoring in double figures with 6-9 sophomore center Henry Adkin averaging 21.2 points a night and 54.5 percent of his attempts from the field.

Don Martin, a 65 senior center, is averaging 12.2 points and 61 senior guard Roy Ware is hitting 27.0 from 11.0 clip.

Sophomore guard Tommy Castle is averaging seven points while sophomore forward Lloyd McCoy has a 6-6 average followed by senior forward Cecil Clair (5.2) and Bob Hoover (4.7).

As a team, the Eagles are averaging 67.0 points a game and have hit 45.6 percent of their field goal attempts and 75.5 percent from the free throw line.

Morehead scored eight points in the final 51 seconds here Monday to defeat Tennessee Tech 34-29 for its second Ohio Valley Conference win without a loss.

The Eagles held Tech scoreless during their shooting spree after blowing command of the contest in the final minutes. The Tennesseeans jumped on top at 8:36 with less than a minute remaining, but then Coach Bobby Laughlin's crew took charge.

Led by hot-shooting guard Harold Sergeant and Sophomore center Henry Akin, the Eagles held on to a slim margin from the outset of the second half, but grew cold in the late stages, setting the stage for the Tech Rally.

Sergeant put Morehead on top for good, sinking a 15-footer with two seconds left. Roy Ware then stole the ball twice, drawing fouls both times. The 6-9 forward sank three free throws to make it 91-87.

In the final seconds, Akin drove in, dunked the ball, and was fouled by a Tech defender. The 6-9 pivot man, who turned in his finest performance of the season ended the scoring with his grail shot.

Sergeant again was the top point producer for the Eagles with 33 points, hitting 66.8 percent from the field. But Akin stole the show from the all-conference guard, bucketing an amazing 14-17 field goals for 82.4 percent while hauling off 15 rebounds for the night.

Ware was third in scoring for the winners with 18.

For the night, Morehead sank 32-56 for a 57.2 shooting percentage while the Golden Eagles were hitting a respectable 41.2.

Invading Chicago for a contest with defending national champions Loyola, Morehead's Eagles last Saturday absorbed a 127-85 drubbing at the hands of the big, fast, sharpshooting Ramblers.

The Eagles, trailing throughout most of the contest, found themselves overmatched, and even though the deficit was only eight points well into the second half, the Chicago five went on to overpower Laughlin's smaller quintet.

Morehead matched baskets with the Ramblers, with Henry Akin showing the way, until the score reached 11-6. Loyola then spurred to a commanding 22-9 lead which Morehead was never able to counteract.

The margin widened to 23 points late in the first half before the Eagles began to chip away, and the first half ended with Morehead down by 11.

Strawberry Plants Are Scarce, Early Orders Are Necessary

By Adrian Razor
County Agent

Anyone who would like to have strawberry plants should let us know immediately so we can place our order in order to get good certified disease-free plants.

A letter from the farm in Maryland from which we have been getting our plants, saying that they will be very scarce this year and that if we want plants, we should let them know as soon as possible.

From all reports that we have this condition "exists throughout the plant producing area. An acre of strawberry plants properly taken care of will produce as much income as an acre of tobacco. This can be verified by such farmers as Joe Stone in the Cranesy country. J. C. Stewart at Haldeman, Dr. Tom Outcalt, and others. If you would like to add another $1,000 to your farm income this year, why not seriously consider putting out an acre of berries. Remember, let us know right away for the best plants, how many, and what variety.

Tobacco Market

The tobacco market has opened for the post-Christmas sale with prices showing a trend that before Christmas, and most growers I have talked to are satisfied with prices received. I think we can see that good production practices have paid off with those crops harvested ripe and graded properly bringing good money. Year in and year out these practices will always pay off. I believe the first step for next year's crop can be taken right now and that is to get our soil tested so we know what we need to add and bring fertility to the level necessary for a top crop next year.

This time of the year there is no too great a rush on the laboratory. Samples can be run and the result gotten back to you within a few days.

Mulched Strawberries

If you haven't already done so, it is time to get a mulch of straw, sawdust, or shavings on strawberries. This will protect the berries from excessive freezing this winter and also from dirt and sand when harvesting time comes.

Record Books

A good set of records is important to any farmer not only for the standpoint of seeing the weak points and good points in his farming program, but also to give income tax and Social Security. We have a supply of the new "Kentucky Farm Record Book." It has been much improved over previous years, and anyone who would like to have one can obtain a copy for $6.

Council Directs

With the exception of the resolution aimed at the Utility Plant Board, Wednesday's organizational meeting proceeded as expected with the following official business done.

Mayor Evans made these committee assignments to Council members — Austin Riddle, Fire Department and Buildings; George Hill and Private Utilities; Paul J. Reynolds, Streets and Parks; Meters, N. & E. Marsh, Fiscal, Budget and Audit; Wilbert Crager, Sanitation and Beautification; Robert Allen, Street Lights; and Reynolds, Library.

Roy Caudill was named Treasurer, replacing Alpha Hutchinson and the Peoples Bank designated the official depository. This is in keeping with an amiable agreement between the banks to change over to the city.

Clayton M. Perkins was appointed to the Planning and Zoning Commission, replacing W. H. Litton.

C. B. McCullough was re-elected Fire Chief at a salary of $75 a month and Council designated the present volunteer department remain intact.

R. L. Monahan was reemployed as Chief Radio Operator (Police and Fire) at $6 an hour. His assistants, all to be paid $4 an hour, will be — E. B. Late, Jesse McDaniel, Chester Robinson and F. D. Wellman.

Howard Jones was reappointed Chief of the Sanitation Department at a monthly salary of $260. His assistants (garbage collection etc.), all reappointed, are — Tom Atkins, Leonard Atkins and Tom Moore. They are paid $195 month and $195 per week.

John Burton and Rena Burdette were re-hired as caretakers of the city dump (off Divide Hill) at $40 each per month.

Minnie B. Preston was reemployed as City Clerk at a salary of $229 a month.

Callis H. Coyle was re-named Chief of Police at a remuneration of $1,275 a year. The five patrolmen were all rehired at $275 a month. They are — Ed S. Hill, Assistant; Carl Johnson, A. C. Nickell, Bill Bowman and Chester Lewis.

Ora Cline was chosen Building Inspector. He is paid a fee on each renovation or new construction application.

Thomas R. Burns was reappointed City Attorney at a monthly salary of $50, plus 30 percent of Kentucky Statutes as provided by Kentucky Statutes.

All ballots were unanimous except Councilman Hill voted against referring Mrs. Hill to and Chief C. R. Burns.

The new Council faces two major problems: (1) Street repairs as many must be resurfaced and (2) a new agreement with Morehead State College for the water supply.

Under a unique arrangement, non-existent elsewhere in the Commonwealth, the college pumps and purifies the water and sells it at the master meter to the Utility Board for 21 cents per 1,000 gallons. The college is spending about $90,000 in plant and reservoir expansion and has indicated a rate increase is mandatory.

Council also set its regular meetings for 7:30 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month. This is a half-hour later than in the past and met approval of some of the wives of the members who were present to see their husbands sworn in.

Advancing to the finals by downing Mt. Sterling Dubois, 64-46, at Menifee County, 75-57, avenging an early-season loss, Coach Warren Cooper's quietest was paced by Ben Hicks, who tallied 58 points in the three games.

Representatives of two Morehead banks were at the New Year Day Council meeting when the surprise criticism broke about leaving the money in checking accounts. They were Ray Caudill, Cashier of the Peoples Bank, and Alpha Hutchinson who holds the same position at the Bank of Morehead. Each said this was the first they had heard of any such resolution or dissatisfaction.

(Actually, Hutchinson and Caudill attended as there was a switch in the office of City Treasurer, a normal agreed procedure each two years.)

Hutchinson asked several questions and made it plain that he thought Council should "have at least given some thought to this" before adopting "this kind of resolution."

"If we have that kind of surplus money," then we ought to cut everybody's water and gas bill," they're plenty high and I've heard a lot of criticism about that," Hutchinson told Mayor Elyon Evans and Council members.

He discussed that a reduction in rates is also probably impossible until all bonds are retired.

Evans, who has two more years of a four year term to serve, presided and opened the meeting by swearing in the new Council, consisting of: N. C. Marsh, George Hill, Paul J. Reynolds, Robert Allen, Wilbert Crager and Austin Riddle. Marsh, Hill and Reynolds were

"Grayson Rural Electric brought the power lines right to my farm . . . and I was miles from the nearest member."

says Orville Caudill
Rowan County Farmer
Morehead Rt. 3, Ky.

"When I joined Grayson, no one said anything about how far out I was living. They just brought me the power . . . and it must have cost power. But that's what our Cooperative was started for . . . to give service to everyone who wanted it at the same price."

Let's destroy some myths about rural electric co-ops:
The average revenue to rural electric co-ops is $400 to $500 per mile of line per year. The average revenue to private utilities is approximately $6000 per mile per year. The average number of consumers on a co-op line is 3.3 members per mile. Investor-owned utilities serve 30 to 40 consumers for every mile of line.

Co-ops are not government owned, operated or supported. When they were organized in 1935, capital and operating money was made available by the Rural Electrification Administration on a 35-year loan basis. All this money must be repaid—with interest; and Kentucky's RECC's are up-to-date or ahead on payment. The same monies, same loans and same interest rates were also made available to investor-owned power companies who chose to ignore the farmers' needs and the loan opportunities.

With Medical Exams

State Will Attempt To Banish Risky Drivers From Highways

Kentucky has undertaken a new highway safety program requiring drivers suspected of having physical or mental defects to take a medical examination.

Called the Driver Limitation Program, the new plan is a joint activity of the two state departments—health and public safety—and the Kentucky State Medical Association. It was initiated January 1.

According to State Public Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern, medical tests, by a physician of the driver's choosing, will be required for the following:

- A driver who has been involved in three traffic accidents within a two-year period.
- A driver who tells an officer investigating an accident that he "blacked out" or "doesn't know what happened" or "doesn't know if a driver who had an obvious defect when he applied for his license.

➤ A driver whose ability to drive safely is challenged by another person in a sworn affidavit.

"Human error" accounts for roughly 85 percent of all traffic accidents," Lovern said. "Thus plan be administered. It has been set up by administrative regulation under provisions of existing law which provide for the Department of Public Safety to restrict the privilege of driving a motor vehicle to those persons who are not physically and mentally capable of its safe operation."

A three-member board of physicians will decide whether the examined motorist is medically fit or unfit to drive. If the board rules that the motorist is not medically fit to drive, the Department of Public Safety will suspend his license. If desired, the suspended driver can then take his case to an appeals board of physicians.

Commissioner Lovern credited Dr. Arthur H. Keeney, Louisville, chairman of the Highway Safety Committee of the Kentucky State Medical Association, with giving the program the impetus, drive and study to get the new project under way.

INEVITABLE

"The last of the archeologists who desecrated the tomb of King Tutankhamen is dead at 84." — News item. This death lends additional support to the belief held by many that all those who desecrate tombs of ancient rulers are doomed to die.

Teletypewriter Net Designed To Aid Police

State Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern announced today that plans have been completed for a new private police teletypewriter network which will link eight southern and eastern states and connect with the entire East coast police network.

The plan co-ordinates facilities of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Kentucky State Police as well as the state police agencies of the following states: Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee.

It will be called the Southeastern Law Enforcement Communications Network. The target date for completion of the project is February 1 of this year.

Col. David A. Espie, director of State Police, explained that "this system will eliminate multiple relays by telephone, telegraph and radio, which in the past have seriously hampered efficient police service."

He added that the system would result in saving time and improving accuracy. The director said that "accuracy of information and expedition of dispatch is vital to effective police operations."

Economies gained from this new system, it is predicted, will more than pay for the cost of installation and operation. Espie said that it was the second major police network of this type in the nation.

Medicare Aid Increased By About $60,000

Medical care funds for Kentucky's needy increased by more than $60,000 in November. State Economic Security Commissioner Earle V. Powell has announced, while total public assistance grants showed a slight drop from October to November.

Funds for medical care totaled $88,593 in November, compared with $28,023 in October. Nearly 1,300 additional people used this program in November.

Public assistance grants totaled $5,397,607 in November—a drop of $6,592.

Powell pointed out that these payments actually increased in all but one category. Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) where 320 recipients were taken off the rolls. Total payments for ADC were $1,701,436 in November, showing a decrease of $,301. Powell said public assistance workers have been reviewing ADC cases for several months—in an effort to locate those which are no longer eligible and should be removed from the program. Since April, nearly 5,000 people have been removed from the ADC caseload.

Other categories of public assistance increased: Old Age Assistance (OAA) totaled $2,861,302 for an increase of $3,266. Aid to the Needy Blind (ANB) totaled $153,434 for an increase of $57, and Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled (APTD) totaled $590,835 for an increase of $1,786.

Medical care funds, provided to recipients of public assistance and to a special group of aged people, showed an increase in every category. Funds for OAA recipients totaled $16,801 for an increase of $12,696 for an increase of $4,105; funds for APTD recipients totaled $91,242 for an increase of $1,742; funds for ADC recipients totaled $167,927 for an increase of $12,737; and funds for Medical Care to the Aged totaled $35,473 for an increase of $20,286.

Earning While Learning

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION student Thomas Chamberlain, a senior at Madisonville High School, attends school in mornings, sells shoes in afternoons at a department store. He is one of more than 900 such students in Kentucky enrolled in this practical program of vocational education.

DE Students Earn While They Learn

More than 900 high school students in Kentucky are taking advantage of an opportunity to earn as much as $45 weekly while pursuing a full-time high school program.

Fred A. Martin, director of the Division of Trade, Industrial and Distributive Education in the Department of Education, says the distributive education program enables students interested in distributive occupations such as sales, work, marketing and merchandising, to work in these fields while completing high school.

Martin says the program recognizes that not all high school students will attend colleges. Students in distributive education are able to prepare themselves for a job while in high school.

The students gain experience from their jobs and many are able to find a good job immediately after graduating from high school, he said.

Distributive education students carry a normal course load, including a class in distributive education. Individual instruction is given students in the classroom and the students discuss mutual problems confronting them in their jobs.

One major advantage of the program, says Martin, is that it enables many students to continue high school who might have had to quit because of financial problems. Very seldom does a distributive education student withdraw from high school before graduation, he said.

Martin said that in addition to the courses taught in high schools, distributive education classes serve adults in five of the State area vocational schools.

Students in the program are covered by State and Federal labor laws. While the average wage received by the students is about 75 cents an hour, some students, such as those working in supermarkets, are union members and receive union wages.

The distributive education program, national in scope, comes under the Vocational Education Acts. Part of the cost of the program is supported by Federal funds.

Under the Minimum Foundation Program, the legislature controls the number of units that can be allocated to local schools. Currently 25 units, with an enrollment of 900 students, are in operation. There were 20 classes in 1960.

Martin says the Legislature will be asked to allot an additional 10 distributive education classroom units to expand the program. Most schools having a distributive education class have had to turn down many students wishing to enroll, for each class can have no more than 40 students.

The great highway performer

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer? If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it out of the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb, high-compression, 425-hp V8—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them. And that's really the test of a great highway performer. Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to ramble one of these highway performers on your own. A few minutes that are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet.

Businesses Here Up By 2.5 Percent

The business population of Rowan County increased 2.5 percent during 1963, according to statistics released by Byron N. Morris, Manager of the Charleston office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Based on a physical count of the January, 1964 edition of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book, Morris reports that in 1963, 195 businesses were listed in Rowan County and today 200 businesses are listed.

Morris noted that each January business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun & Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent out to nearly three million business concerns — to the corner grocery store worth a few thousand dollars as well as to businesses worth millions.

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek grant commercial credit but does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figures for total business in the United States would actually be higher than three million.

During the past year, Morris added, 2,172 changes were made in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings of businesses in 13 eastern Kentucky counties including 588 names added, 84 names deleted, and 969 changes in the status of continuing businesses. The changes occurring in eastern Kentucky are about even with the rest of the country where a change of business significance is counted about every five seconds.

Four good reasons why Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gill of Somerset prefer electric heating

Not the four you see above, though their comfort is reason enough. No—the Gills have four other reasons. But let them tell it:

"We feel that switching to electric heating was just about the smartest thing we ever did. First of all, there's individual room control. Second, electric heating is flameless and clean. Third, we no longer have to remember to order fuel. And fourth, there's no expensive heating plant to maintain.

So take a tip from the Gills of Somerset. Let your K¹ heating specialist show you how easy it is to make up to the "joy of total electric living."

Winter Closing Of Ky. Parks May Assist Summer Operation

Funds saved by the winter closing of resort facilities at five Kentucky State parks will make for improved operation next summer, according to Parks Commissioner Robert D. Bell.

The parks at which resort facilities were closed are Kentucky Lake, Rough River, General Butler, Cumberland Falls and Lake Cumberland. The facilities include lodge rooms, cottages, dining rooms and souvenir and gift shops.

Open on a limited basis will be Kentucky Dam Village, near Gilbertsville, and Jenny Wiley State Park, near Protsburg. Remaining in operation will be one wing of rooms and the dining room of rooms and a limited number of rooms and a limited room at Jenny Wiley.

The first year's operation of new resort facilities in the parks has shown that about three-fourths of the year's business occurs in the six months between May and October, Bell said.

"The economic facts of life dictate," he added, "that we must not needlessly expend funds to maintain winter resort operations for the benefit of a very small number of park visitors at the expense of all Kentuckians."

In announcing the economic move, Bell said that operation of museums and shrines in the parks also will be curtailed until spring. Museums and shrines at Levi Jackson, Blue Licks, Lincoln Homestead, Columbus-Belmont and the Butler Mansion at General Butler

State Park will be closed, but shown on request. Museums at Audubon, Pioneer Memorial and Jefferson Davis will be kept open on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays and, by request, will be shown on other days.

My Old Kentucky Home at Bardonia is being kept open. Deck services will be available to fishermen at Kentucky Lake, Kentucky Dam, Rough River, Lake Cumberland and Jenny Wiley.

Bell said he deplores the fact that closing facilities at the parks and restriction in operation of museums and shrines would cause a reduction of about 400 in parks personnel and displace nearby communities.

"However," he said, "these actions will result in a savings to the Commonwealth and its taxpayers of $800,000 during this current fiscal year."

Bell added that "all the facilities will be reactivated just as soon as the spring season permits, and employees released as a result of this order will be given first priority when the department begins hiring for the spring and summer season."

Lodges at Carter Caves, Pine Mountain, Pennyville and Natural Bridge State parks were closed earlier as usage declined with the winter season.

"The parks," Bell said, "are a vital factor in Kentucky's $210 million annual tourist industry. It is our task to guarantee that Kentucky's major investment in its

Farm Facts
Farmers Earned $9 Billion Off-Farm Money In 1963

(Prepared by Kentucky Bankers Association)

FARM PROGRESS — Almost everybody interested in agriculture has heard of the great progress that has been made during the past two decades. During that period, the farmer has used more tractors, more crops and livestock in this country, and his income has increased 30 percent. During the 50's the productive capacity of farm labor in the United States increased at a rate of 5.1 percent compared to 2.1 percent for industrial workers.

The result of this farm efficiency is seen in the plentiful supplies of food and fiber, both for domestic use and for export that are being produced. In spite of unprecedented high costs of production, farm products continue to pile up. Farm producers are still in a cost-price squeeze and their income has not kept pace with other segments of American business.

The continued migration of rural people to urban centers leaves fewer farmers to share in the national farm income. Farm people also have more time to supplement their income with off-farm work. Last year they earned about 9 billion dollars, or near three quarters as much as their net income from farming, from off-farm employment.

3 'M' OF AGRICULTURE — The three principal factors that have brought about much of this progress are known as the 3 'M's' of agriculture — management, money and methods and practices, and good record keeping, as well as the ability of getting the right things done at the right time. Without good management money would be wasted and machinery misused.

The second 'M' denotes money either owned capital or borrowed cash. Without money, either owned or borrowed, there can be little progress. Capital has replaced much of the labor on the farm through the purchase of labor saving devices — electricity, machinery, fertilizer and the like. The lack of capital, or the inability to get credit or to use it wisely, is one of the big handicaps that many farmers have to overcome.

The third 'M' is for mechanization — the mechanical means that have replaced horses and mules and human power, and the push buttons that do the countless farm chores. In everyday terms, mechanization of farm work has "separated the man from the horse" because no farmer, operating with hand labor, can compete with modern machinery. Power equipment has given new emphasis to both management and money. Capital invested in farm equipment increased from 3 billion dollars in 1940 to 16 billion in 1960.

Down on the farm the standard complaint is that one has to handle so much money just to keep a little of it. That is borne out by statistics. Over 71 percent of the gross farm income goes for production expenses. A farmer must cover $10,000 worth of products a year if his net income for family use is to reach the minimum required by today's standard of living.

State's Traffic Engineering Is Ranked Second

Kentucky has been rated second among 12 Southeastern states in traffic engineering achievement by the National Safety Council.

Only Virginia ranked higher than Kentucky in a comprehensive performance check for 1962. Other states in the group are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and West Virginia.

State Highway Commissioner Henry Ward said the Department's Traffic Division each year prepares a detailed, standard report on its staff and accomplishments for Council analysis.

The Council's committee on traffic engineering, made up of top road safety experts, then sits reading the information and recommending to each state's performance, gives a percentage of possible achievement rating. Kentucky's 1962 rating was 82 percent of a possible 100. Virginia's was 93 percent.

FEWER LIMOUSINES

As a part of President Johnson's economy drive there will be fewer chauffeured limousines and other "status" cars used by federal officials. Limousines and heavy sedans operated by federal agencies in Washington will be reduced from 131 to 20. Worldwide, the number of luxury vehicles (as U.S. officials will be cut from 492 to 136.

Cigarette Smoking Up 3 Percent

Despite higher prices and the so-called "cancer scare," Americans smoked more cigarettes in 1963 than ever before in history — 529 billion of them.

Reporting this Tuesday, the Agriculture Department forecast no significant leap in the nation's smoking jag in 1964. There will be more persons of smoking age, it said, and the prospect of higher personal incomes would favor continued high tobacco consumption.

The surgeon-general's 10 1/2 year report on smoking and health is expected to come out mid-January. The department, noting this, said only that the report "may affect tobacco consumption."

There has been mounting evidence recently of a link between smoking and such ailments as lung cancer and heart and respiratory diseases. Yet Americans are still smoking. The 1963 consumption in 1963 for the seventh consecutive year, smoking 3 percent more than in 1962.

They also puffed 7.2 billion cigars and cigarettes (small cigars) — the most in 46 years.

Consumption of most forms of tobacco advanced over the previous year. The output of chewing tobacco totaled about 68 million pounds, slightly more than in 1962, but smutt at about 365 million pounds declined 2 percent from 1962 and was the lowest in half a century. The output of tobacco for pipes and roll-your-own cigarettes was about 70.5 million pounds, a slight decline.
