FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., Jan. 15--Over $13,662,000 in construction will be completed or under-way on the Morehead State College campus during 1966.

President Adron Doran said today that the total will include four residence halls, five classroom structures, a large married student apartment building, an addition to the administration building and an addition to the Doran Student House.

Dr. Doran called the tremendous building program "another orderly step in the direction of building a greater institution of higher learning to serve not only the Northeast region but the entire state of Kentucky."

"The construction will provide much needed facilities for student housing and classroom instruction," said Dr. Doran, "as we move into the most exciting and challenging period ever faced by institutions of higher education in the nation."

"The residence halls are financed through the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency through the issuance of revenue bonds. All student room rent is pledged to secure the revenue bonds, making them self-sustaining," said Dr. Doran.

The academic structures are financed through the issuance of consolidated educational revenue bonds, federal grants and loans and Morehead's share of the $176 million bond issue approved by the voters of Kentucky last November. Registration fees of students are pledged to the retirement of the revenue bonds.

Two of the structures will be in use at the beginning of the second semester--the six-story East Mignon Hall and the four-story Cooper Hall. East Mignon Hall, built at a cost of $840,000, will house 204 women students in 51 suites, while Cooper Hall, costing $779,000, will house 200 men.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., Jan. 26--Morehead State College has developed a linguistics program in the Division of Languages and Literature and will now offer a major in English with an emphasis in linguistics and the MA degree in education with an emphasis on linguistics.

Dr. George Boswell, Chairman of the Division of Languages and Literature, said the new major will not replace the traditional English major but will be an optional major offering 32 hours in linguistics.

Dr. Boswell also said that the Division will offer an option to the present area of concentration in English called Literature: Linguistics. The new option will include 53 hours in literature and linguistics as well as courses in journalism, speech and drama.

Teaching a majority of the courses will be: Dr. Lewis Barnes, Professor of English; Dr. Charles Pelfrey, Professor of English and Dr. Ruth Barnes, Associate Professor of English.

Dr. Lewis Barnes calls the new linguistics program "a vital area which provides new methods of learning reading, oral and written communication and elements of literature and non-literature."

Dr. Barnes pointed out that no college or university south of Indiana University, Ohio State University and the University of Illinois is offering as many courses in this vital area.

The new MA degree, said Dr. Barnes, will require 15 hours in linguistics with several courses open to the undergraduate, including: philosophy of English language, psycholinguistics, dialectology, phonology, and linguistics and poetic language.

Morehead, Ky., Jan 29--The Morehead State College Board of Regents this week voted unanimously to support the Governor's Commission on Higher Education recommendation to rename the college Morehead State University and approved the updating of the college's administrative organization creating four vice presidents and five schools.

In other action, the Board: approved a record breaking budget for general operations excluding auxiliary enterprises of $4,734,219 for 1966-67; hired 14 new faculty members; accepted the resignation of two faculty members; voted to expand all campus utilities; and approved the establishment of the Cumberland Forest Music Camp with a faculty of over 60 of the world's finest musicians.

The Board urged members of the General Assembly to support "the majority report of the Governor's Commission in keeping with national trends toward the renaming of multi-purpose regional colleges universities."

The updating of the administrative organization came as a result of many months of study in which an 18-member committee has reviewed the organizational structure of the college.

The Board agreed with the committee's recommendation that Vice Presidents be named in the areas of student affairs, academic affairs, public affairs and business affairs.

The recommendation said President Adron Doran, will not bring about drastic changes since a reorganization of the college in 1960 set up Bureaus of academic affairs, public affairs, student affairs and business affairs. The 1960 reorganization also established seven divisions which the Board of Regents now have recommended be combined into five schools--each headed by a Dean.

morehead board meeting 2222222

The Schools will be: School of Education; School of Sciences and Mathematics; School of Applied Sciences and Technology; School of Fine Arts and Humanities and School of Social Sciences.

Three other new positions were recommended: Dean of Graduate Programs; Dean of Undergraduate Programs and Dean of Institutional Programs.

President Doran calls the reorganization "an orderly updating of the organizational pattern which was developed in 1960."

"The changes which will become effective after July 1 are really no more dramatic than were the changes in 1960 when we consolidated departments into seven new divisions and four bureaus," said Dr. Doran. "The present refinement of that organizational pattern will simply enable us to better coordinate the academic and administrative activities of an institution of higher learning with a large student body."

Expansion of all campus utilities includes a new boiler, steam lines, electrical facilities and an expanded processing plant to provide a larger amount of purified water. The utilities expansion is necessary to keep up with the greatly expanding building program which will include over $13 million in construction during the 1966-67 school year.

The Cumberland Forest Music Camp, to be held on the campus from August 14 to August 27, is expected to attract over 600 of the top young musicians in the country. Dr. J. E. Duncan was approved to direct the Camp which is the successor to the world renowned Gunnison Music Camp, Gunnison, Colorado.

Morehead, Ky., Feb. 9--Morehead State College has been awarded a $48,000 grant by the United States Office of Education to conduct an Institute for Advanced Study in English for Teachers of Disadvantaged Youth.

The seven-week institute, authorized under Title 11 of the National Defense Education Act, is scheduled for June 13 to July 29 and will be directed by Dr. Charles Pelfrey, Professor of English at Morehead State College.

Forty teachers of English in either junior or senior high schools in northeastern Kentucky, southeastern Ohio and western West Virginia will participate in the Institute designed to help correct the deficiencies which exist in the instruction of English language arts in the region.

"This institute is designed to provide the necessary sociological understanding of disadvantaged children in both the urban and rural areas by creating real and practical situations for the Institute participants," said Dr. Pelfrey.

Dr. Pelfrey added, "The participants will be exposed to newer methods of teaching the language arts and will be expected to develop curricula that is practical to the instruction of culturally deprived youth."

The Institute curriculum will include advanced study in the English areas of composition, reading and linguistics as well as a special program of study in sociology dealing with the characteristics of the Appalachian area.

Participants will receive stipends of $75 a week plus $15 a week for each eligible dependent. Seven semester hours of graduate work may be earned if the participants wish to receive graduate credit.

MOREHEAD STATE COLLEGE

Morehead, Ky.--Don Holloway, Manager of WMKY-FM on the Morehead State College campus, has spend the last six weeks confined to his bed. But the energetic young educator hasn't let the illness curtail his daily lectures.

During the period of convalescence from an illness which has greatly limited his physical activities, the 31-year-old has taught his classes through the facilities of the college's new radio station.

He explains, "A direct telephone line has been placed by my bedside which connects with the control room of WMKY-FM. I am able to lecture to my classes as well as carry on discussion periods with the youngsters. As a result, we are really utilizing mass communication's techniques in the classroom."

"It has been an interesting experience," said Holloway, "but instead of connecting names and faces as a teacher ordinarily does, I have had to connect names and voices."

The Assistant Professor of Speech has not met some of the new students who enrolled in his three radio classes for the first time at the beginning of the second semester. "But it is surprising how much you can tell about an individual just by listening to his voice," said Holloway.

"I know all of the students who were enrolled the first semester and I already have mental images of the new youngsters," he added. "I'm sure I'm in for some surprises when I find that a young man with a deep, masculine voice may be a frail youth or a young lady with a very masculine voice may be the essence of femininity."

and

Holloway gives credit for the success of the venture to graduate assistants who take over the laboratory work involved in his three classes: Radio Workshop, a three-hour course for freshmen; Radio Engineering, a two-hour course for sophomores and Radio Production, a three-hour course for juniors.

And he also has high praise for the 40-man staff of WMKY-FM headed by students John Bob Hall, program manager, and Bob Brant, operations director. "John Bob and Bob have exhibited great leadership abilities during my absence," said Holloway, "and I cannot say enough wonderful things about the mature fashion in which they have operated WMKY-FM six hours daily."

Holloway's classes have found time to jest with their instructor. Following one lecture, one of the students said, "Thank you Mr. Holloway for being with us today." Then came a recorded round of applause rivaling the noise of a national political convention.

And on another occasion, the members of a class covered up the alarm which designates the end of the class period and substituted the sound of a cuckoo clock.

"I've become quite discouraged at times and it has been such little things as the round of applause and cuckoo clock incidents which keep me going," said Holloway.

A graduate of Morehead State College who holds both the AB and MA degrees, Holloway has done additional work at Boston University, Purdue University and Indiana University.

He was first exposed to educational radio in 1950 as a high school student in Huntington, Indiana, when he worked on WVSH. As an undergraduate at Morehead State College, he worked for WMOR in Morehead and is now active in state and national broadcasting associations.

He is married and has two daughters, Lisa, 7, and Rachel, 4, who says

Morehead, Ky., Feb. 23--Morehead State College has been recognized as one of the nation's top teacher training institutions by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

The AACTE has recognized Morehead State College for its program of excellence along with 36 other colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State College, accepted the recognition in Chicago last week at the annual convention of the AACTE.

Morehead's entry was based on the program in the professional semester which provides a break in the internship period during which time the student has the opportunity to correct deficiencies discovered during the first period of student teaching.

The award booklet, entitled "Excellence in Teacher Education," said of the Morehead program, "This program permits the student to take a true laboratory approach to his student teaching by the integration of methods courses and psychology of learning into a practical setting."

Morehead State College was the only Kentucky college or university receiving recognition at the awards banquet. Central Missouri State College received the Distinguished Achievement Award while Seton Hall University, Syracuse University, Western Michigan University and Dominican College of San Rafael were recognized for distinguished achievement.

FOR RELEASE THURSDAY, APRIL 7 (AM)

PLEASE NOTE!!!!!!!

Morehead, Ky., April 7--The Morehead State College Board of Regents yesterday promoted Dean Warren C. Lappin to the position of Vice President for Academic Affairs and appointed seven new academic deans.

The Board had approved a reorganized administrative structure at its last meeting on January 26 establishing the positions of four Vice Presidents, three new academic deans and the deanships of five Schools. Yesterday's action implemented the Board's earlier decision to continue the administrative updating which was begun in 1960.

Named to the three new academic deanships were: Dr. Paul Ford Davis, Dean of Undergraduate Programs; Dr. Jarvis Harley Hill, Dean of Graduate Programs and Dr. Marvin Cole, Dean of Institutional Programs.

Named to head the new Schools were: Dr. C. Nelson Grote, Dean of the School of Applied Sciences and Technology; Dr. J. E. Duncan, Dean of the School of Humanities; Dr. William C. Simpson, Dean of the School of Sciences and Mathematics and Dr. Roscoe Playforth, Dean of the School of Social Sciences. A Dean of the School of Education will be named at a later date.

Dr. Adron Doran, President of the northeastern Kentucky college which will achieve university status on June 16 by act of the 1966 session of the General Assembly, called the new appointments "an effort to greatly strengthen the organization of the academic program."

"We feel that these men can lead us into an academic program with greater depth and quality in the next decade," said Dr. Doran. "Great effort went into the selection of these individuals and they will provide a sound nucleus for the future development of academic affairs at Morehead."

Morehead Board meeting 22222222

Dr. Doran pointed out that the three remaining vice presidents--Vice President for University Relations, Vice President for Student Affairs and Vice President for Business Affairs--will be named at a later date.

Dr. Lappin, who has been at Morehead since 1920 when he taught mathematics and history at the Morehead Normal School, has been Dean of the College since 1940. Prior to 1940, he had served as Director of the Breckinridge Training School for 14 years.

The new academic vice president earned the AB degree at Transylvania, the MA degree at the University of Chicago and the Ed. D. degree from Indiana University.

Dr. Davis, a native of Bowling Green, Ky., comes to Morehead from Iowa where he presently is Dean of the College, University of Dubuque. He was a teacher, coach and principal in Hardin County from 1953 to 1960, was president of the Fourth District Education Association of the Kentucky Education in 1957 and served in the Kentucky General Assembly as a member of the House of Representatives from 1958 to 1960.

He holds the AB and MA degrees from the University of Kentucky and the Ed. D. degree from Indiana University.

Dr. Hill has had eleven years of teaching experience on the secondary and college levels in the United States and India, and was Academic Dean of Forman Christian College in West Pakistan from 1962 to 1964. He holds the BS degree from the University of Tennessee, the MA degree from George Peabody College and will receive the Ed. D. degree from Indiana University in June and has served as an assistant in the office of the Director of Graduate Studies in the School of Education at Indiana University.

Dr. Cole has taught on the college level, served as Director of the Student Union at Western Carolina College and his most recent experience has been as the Chief Administrative Assistant to the Director of the Institute of Education and Research, University of Panjab, Lahore, West Pakistan, from 1963 to 1965.

A native of North Carolina, he holds the BS and MA degrees from Western Carolina College and in June will receive the Ed. D. degree from Indiana University where he has served as an assistant in the office of the Director of Graduate Studies in the School of Education.

The new positions will become effective July 1.

Dr. Grote, who has been at Morehead since 1960, was formerly Chairman of the Division of Applied Arts. He holds degrees from Eastern Illinois University, the University of Missouri and earned the Ed. D. degree from the University of Illinois.

Dr. Duncan has been at Morehead since 1956 and holds the AB and MA degrees from Northwestern University and the PhD degree from George Peabody College. He formerly was Chairman of the Division of Fine Arts.

Dr. Simpson, who came to Morehead in 1965, was chairman of the Division of Science and Mathematics. He holds degrees from the University of Kentucky, Mercer, and the PhD degree from the University of Virginia.

Dr. Playforth, who formerly was Chairman of the Division of Social Studies, has been at Morehead since 1957. He holds the AB degree from Eastern Kentucky State College and the MA and Ed. D. degrees from the University of Kentucky.

Morehead, Ky., April 22--The Indiana Theatre Company will present "The Rivals" on the Morehead State University campus on Saturday, April 30.

The 13-member group in residence at Indiana University will perform the Richard Sheridan comedy at 8:00 p. m. in Button Auditorium.

Admission is $1.00 and the public is invited.

The Indiana Theatre Company was selected from among 150 nationwide applicants brought together for the purpose of offering high quality, semi-professional theatre to the people of the midwest.

Cast members play dual roles as actors and stage crew, providing all the necessary skill to set up, perform and dismantle the traveling theatre. All of the members are in residence at Indiana University where they are working on their MA or PhD degrees in theatre.

"The Rivals" is a social satire famous for its malapropisms, a term coined by the infamous character Mrs. Malaprop. The story deals with two young couples who become entangled in foolish and unbelievable relationships between themselves and their elders.

The playwright Sheridan is renowned for his comedy "School for Scandal" which, together with "The Rivals", places him among the most highly ranked comic writers in British theatre.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., May 3--Morehead State University students will select their 1966 government leaders Tuesday as the Morehead Student Council holds the annual Spring election.

Tuesday's ballot will feature twelve candidates seeking six positions which compose the Student Council Executive Committee. These offices are for president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, historian and reporter.

Two former Student Council members are running for the presidency. Dick Crowe, a business major from Brookville, Ohio, is the current treasurer and Bob O Daniel, an accounting major from Louisa, is a representative from the Junior Class. Both candidates are also members of social clubs and Phi Beta Lambda, a national business fraternity.

The vice-presidential race will feature two strong candidates, a primary election last week narrowed the field to Jim Boyd and Perry Day. Boyd, a political science major from Sharpsburg, is a member of the debate team and served on the student government Judicial Council. Day is a mathematics major from California and is treasurer of the Sophomore Class.

Freshman Class representative Darlene Blair and sophomore Bobbie Quinn are the candidates for secretary. Miss Blair, from Louisville, has had experience on the council this year and Miss Quinn, from Prospect, has no council experience, but has served as coresponding secretary for Cappa Tridents social club.

Accounting major Bill Kitchen, from Louisa, and Mary Martin, from Ashland, are the candidates for treasurer. Miss Martin is president of Fields Dormitory and has served on the council in this capacity. Kitchen has not served on the council but has played leading roles in many council supported activities.

Candidates for reporter are Louisvillian Jeanie Morrison and Jean Wilson, from Dayton. Neither candidate has served on the council. Miss Morrison has worked as a secretary to the council this year and Miss Wilson has served as vice-president of West Mignon Dormitory.

The two candidates for historian were also selected in last weeks primary election. Dan Brock, a junior from Dayton, Ohio, has not served on the council. His opponent, Jon Phillips, a freshman from Middletown, Ohio, is a member of the Freshman Steering Committee and served on the council this year.

Winners in the election will be announced Tuesday night and will begin their terms in the Fall semester.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., May 13--David Henderson, a 1964 graduate of Morehead State University, will spend six weeks in Viet Nam filming and interviewing United States Military Forces for WAVE and WAVE-TV in Louisville.

He flew to Honolulu Saturday and from there will fly to Hong Kong where he will stay for three days reporting on the impact of the Viet Nam war in the second largest port city in Southeast Asia.

Henderson will then set up headquarters in Saigon and will visit various outposts in Viet Nam during his six-week stay. He will do tape and film interviews with men from Kentucky and southern Indiana and will prepare several 30-minute specials for use over WAVE and WAVE-TV.

The 23-year-old native of Arlington, Virginia, has received clearance from the Defense Department and will be free to visit all military installations in Viet Nam.

A newsman with the Louisville stations since his graduation from Morehead, he was associate editor of The Trial Blazer, student newspaper at Morehead, and helped plan for the new college radio station, WMKY-FM.

Henderson calls the opportunity "a great one for a budding young newsman" although he hates to leave his 3½-month-old daughter and wife behind. His wife, the former Edie Newland from Charlestown, Indiana, is also a graduate of Morehead State University.

He says, "The national television networks are doing a marvelous job of covering the fighting and war itself. It is my hope to cover the men themselves as they fight the war and interpret their activities to their friends and relatives back home."

"It will be a great challenge for one fellow to attempt a job of this magnitude in a six-week period," added Henderson, "but I look forward to this opportunity."

newsman to Viet Nam 2222222

Henderson is called by James Caldwell, Station Manager at WAVE, "one of the outstanding young men we have had at WAVE. He has an extremely bright future in radio and television news."

He will take a 16 millimeter camera and audio tape equipment with him in addition to both color and black and white raw film supplies.

Henderson majored in English and history at Morehead and was a member of Les Courants, Circle K and the Cosmopolitan Club.

He is a graduate of Wakefield High School, Arlington, Virginia.

Morehead, Ky., May 24--Morehead State University will play host to six Ecuadorian students from May 26 to May 29.

The six are in the United States for a 30-day stay under the sponsorship of the U. S. Department of State. All are either elementary or secondary education majors and are students at five Ecuadorian universities--Central University, Catholic University, University of Cuenca, University of Loja and University of Guayaquil.

The main interest of the group is in the research and development of advanced teaching techniques, including innovations in programmed learning, audio-visual aids and televised instruction, early language instruction and special methods of teaching science.

Other facets of American life will include observation of university student life, family life, art and other aspects of American culture.

While in Morehead, the Ecuadorian students will stay in Morehead State University residence halls and will have students in upper division Spanish classes as guides. On May 26, the group will travel to Ashland to visit the school systems in the area.

The students will tour the Morehead campus on Friday, May 27, and will have lunch with President and Mrs. Adron Doran. A picnic is planned at Carter Caves State Park on Saturday and the six students will be guests of the Alumni Association at its annual banquet on Saturday evening.

Morehead, Ky. --Over 4,000 Morehead State University students and faculty members were told Thursday that today's campus is one of the most practical laboratories for experimentation and recociliation in human rights and human relations.

Dr. Adron Doran, President of MSU, told the annual Honors Day gathering that "We should approach experimentation and reconciliation in the field of human relations just as soundly as we do in the field of science."

Speaking at the program which saw over 400 Morehead students honored for high academic achievement, Dr. Doran added that "the honor of individuals--whether they be students, faculty, administrators, parents, legislators or taxpayers--must be recognized and accorded and each facet of the university must deal with all other facets with regard and respect."

Gary Cox, a senior political science and history major from Louisville, received the coveted Open Forum Citizenship Award for scholarship, leadership and citizenship. He is president of the student council, an honors program participant and a member of Blue Key and Alpha Theta Epsilon.

Cox is one of only two Kentuckians named this year to participate in the Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration. He will spend the 1966-67 school year studying for three months each at the University of Alabama, University of Tennessee and University of Kentucky and will work for a governmental agency this summer.

Getting underway Monday were: a National Teacher Corps pre-service training program involving a grant of $70,000; the Upward Bound program for academic and cultural enrichment of high school students, $130,000; an Institute for Advanced Study in English for Teachers of Disadvantaged Youth, $48,000, and a Headstart Training Program, $14,750.

The National Teacher Corps pre-service training program involves seven experienced teachers and 28 interns who will be on the Morehead campus until August 12 preparing for service in disadvantaged schools. Participating counties include: Mason, Johnson, Montgomery, Rowan and Carter. Dr. Lawrence E. Griesinger, Director of Student Teaching at Morehead, is director of the program.

The Upward Bound program for academic and cultural enrichment of high school sophomores involves 100 students from five Kentucky counties who will spend eight weeks on the Morehead campus involved in various academic and social situations which will better prepare them for the future. Participating counties are: Boyd, Bath, Elliott, Johnson and Morgan. Dr. Morris Norfleet, Director of Research and Development at Morehead, is director of the program.

The Institute for Advanced Study in English for Teachers of Disadvantaged Youth is a seven-week institute running through July 29. Forty teachers from junior or senior high schools in northeastern Kentucky, southeastern Ohio and western West Virginia are participating. Dr. Charles Pelfrey, Professor of English at Morehead, is director.

The Headstart Training Program provides an intensive week of training for teachers who will return to the Headstart programs in their local schools this summer. Over 100 teachers from numerous states are on the campus for the training program. 250 Kentuckians were on the campus last week for a similar training program made possible by a $28,500 grant. Reedus Back, Director of the Breckinridge Training School on the Morehead campus, is director of the program.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., June 15--Morehead State University has been forced to close admission to out-of-state students for the fall semester so that Kentucky residents may be accomodated.

Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead, said today that the move was made necessary "due to the lack of dormitory and classroom space in the face of an expected fall enrollment of over 5,000."

"We were nearing the point where we would have been forced to turn away qualified Kentuckians had we permitted the out-of-state enrollment to further expand," said Dr. Doran. "Our projections now indicate that we will be at peak capacity in our residence halls in the fall but we will accept and house all native Kentuckians who are eligible for enrollment."

Dr. Doran also said that the special summer program for out-of-state freshmen has been curtailed. Previously all out-of-state students who made a 2.0 standing and maintained an acceptable pattern of behavior during the summer term were eligible for admission to the fall term.

"But we have had to reduce this number," said Dr. Doran, "and will admit only the top 25% of those out-of-state students who are enrolled in the special summer program."

Two new residence halls are currently under construction but will not be ready for occupancy in the fall. Dr. Doran said the 16-story Mignon Tower is expected to be completed by the beginning of the second semester and the 10-story Alumni Tower will be completed by the fall of 1967.

"We have been able to keep pace in our classroom construction but despite the fact that we have added two new residence halls each year," he added, "we are still behind in student housing."

Morehead had an enrollment of 4,669 last fall and turned away enough out-of-state applicants to have pushed the total to near the 6,000 mark. "We could have 7,000 students this fall if we had rooms to house them," said Dr. Doran.

But despite the fact that Morehead has been forced to turn away out-of-state students, the rapidly growing institution has grown from 698 students in 1954 when Dr. Doran was named president to its present enrollment of 4,669--making it one of the fastest growing institutions of higher learning, on a percentage basis, in the country today.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., June 21--Stan Kenton, one of the great names in modern music, will bring his 18-piece orchestra to the Morehead State University campus on Tuesday, June 28.

Kenton, one of the leading innovators in jazz music today, will perform at 8:30 in Button Auditorium.

All students will be admitted free and the concert is being offered as a bonus to those who purchase memberships in the 1966-67 Northeastern Kentucky Celebrity Series.

Memberships in the Celebrity Series are $5.00 for adults, $2.50 for students and $15.00 for a family membership and may be purchased by writing Dr. J. E. Duncan, Northeastern Kentucky Celebrity Series, Morehead State University.

Admission to the Kenton concert is $2.00. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Kenton is president of the new International Academy of Contemporary Music which sponsors the Los Angeles Neophonic Orchestra. His own compositions and innovations in modern music have become international in scope and meaning and some of the great names in jazz have played in his musical organizations.

Kenton's current orchestra features four drummers and is considered one of his finest. It will be his first appearance in Morehead.

This is the fifth appearance by a top jazz group on the Morehead State University campus this year. Appearing earlier this year were: Dave Brubeck, Duke Ellington, Ramsey Lewis, and the Kingston Trio.
