A BIT OF COUNTY HISTORY

Some Things Not Known to Many Inhabitants of Carter County.

Carter county was formed out of parts of Greenup and Lawrence counties in 1828, and extended from the Big Sandy river on the east to the dividing ridge between Tygart's creek and left on the west. Since that part of it was taken to form Boyd, and another portion taken to form Elliott county. It is bounded on the east by Boyd and Lawrence counties, on the south by Lawrence and Elliott counties and on the north by Greenup county. Carter county was named in honor of Col. William Grayson Carter, the then representative in the Kentucky Legislature from Greenup and Lawrence counties. The county seat of Col. William Grayson, of honorarium fame from the State of Virginia. About one-half of the county is underlaid with limestone and the other half with sandstone. It is an agricultural county, yielding a good return for all the crops. Farming and fruit culture is principally confined to home consumption. The shipments are confined to tobacco, cattle, hogs, sheep and wheat. Wheat is shipped on account of there being no suitable mills at home. The timber is nearly all stripped from our forests, what remains is scattering, there being no large tracts remaining uncultured. Land is worth from $20 to $50 per acre, according to improvements and location.

It is pleasant to have prompt cures for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a favorite with all mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures coughs, but when given as soon as the cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by Dr. M. W. Armstrong, the reliable druggist, at Olive Hill.

Seventeenth of Ireland.

Sunday, March 17th, was St. Patrick's Day, and wherever the sun shone on a descendant of the Old Sod, the green predominated. Saint Patrick was born in 373, either in Scotland or France and died March 17, 493. The driving of snakes from Ireland and the establishment of the Shamrock as the national emblem of the Emerald Isle are the acts of St. Patrick, by which he is best known. Many wonderful are the other deeds attributed to this Patron Saint. That he really existed there is not the slightest doubt. It is reported that for 12 days after he died there was no night in Ireland, and for a year afterward the nights were less dark. To this day, over 1400 years after, his foot prints, the mark of his knees when in prayer and his bed of Stone at Patrick's Well, near Limerick, are kissed and venerated.

A FAVORITE REMEDY FOR BABIES

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with all mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures coughs, but when given as soon as the cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by Dr. M. W. Armstrong, the reliable druggist, at Olive Hill.

Higher Than Gilroy's Kite.

Attorney Kennard, who is an enthusiastic worker for the court house removal, was in conversation with a Grayson man recently, they were discussing the merits of their respective towns. The gentleman from Grayson was telling of the high buildings in his city, when Mr. Kennard asked:

"Haven't seen our new hotel yet, are you?"

"No," replied the other.

"It is so high that we had to put the two top stories on hinges."

"What for?" asked the astonished gentleman.

"So we can let them down when the moon goes by!"

They carried the Grayson man home on a shutter.

AFFLICTED WITH RHEUMATISM

"I was afflicted with rheumatism," says Mr. J. C. Payne, editor of the Herald Advertiser, Indian Territory, "but thanks to Chamberlain's Pain Balm an able one more to attend to business. It is the best of liniments." If troubled with rheumatism give Pain Balm a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the result, which it affords. One application relieves the pain. For sale by Dr. M. W. Armstrong, the reliable druggist, at Olive Hill.

"Our Printer Friend."

(Mr. Sterling Advocate.)
 "CO. PAT R. Harlow, who did stunts in the Advance for some years, is now editor of the Olive Hill Times. The first issue is before us under his management, showing a decided improvement—being a typographical gem. The local as well as editorial columns, are 'check-fall' of good reading. Some years ago (while surveying the country) Pat made himself famous by taking charge of the Snaughton Torchlight and making a news paper of it. The Torchlight was a 'trek,' 2-1/2 inch long, 3/4 inch wide, and among the many clippings that Mr. Harlow had in his possession, the scribe selected the one below, which will give some idea of 'what was doing' when Patrick took half of the rage:
 'Jim James, a fellow citizen, gived his wife another cow for a birthday present last week. He said she wanted a course she was making nine say how, but tin was better nine as Jim looked at it. His wife says she had tin in her eye, so she give him Jim bushes round an ate a nother, and she says it her tin it goes dry. We don't know which he believe but I suppose his tin in her we ain't erkin it. Jim bar his wife has been milkin cows too long he hasen missed.'"
 We congratulate Mr. Harlow upon his good judgment in localizing the thriving little town of Olive Hill, and heretofore citizenship will never regret his location, if he gives to them the paper he is capable of putting out. Here's to you "Pat" and the glad nod of the Advocate force is extended from his editor in chief who grinds out the copy to the "devil" who makes the fire."

KENTUCKY'S GROWTH.

Wonderful Strides She Has Made is Shown by Official Figures.

Official figures furnished by the Federal Government shows that the increase in Kentucky's property from 1900 to 1904 was $163,255,512. The total in 1904 was $1,527,486,230; in 1900 it was $1,365,230,788. Real property and improvements show an increase from $705,839,607 in 1900 to $859,247,997 in 1904. In live stock we have moved from $77,835,007 to $96,489,459. In farm machinery the advance has been from $16,301,860 to $77,682,847. In gold, silver and bullion the uplift has been from $37,765,815 to $41,372,608.

The railroads and their equipment were valued in 1900 at $138,520,094; in 1904, at $155,772,000. Street railway, shipping and water work have risen in value from $5,994,060 to $59,718,312. Machinery, tools and implements were valued in 1900 at $15,424,506; in 1904, at $30,907,185. All other valuations are cited at $235,449,862 in 1900 and $271,958,842 in 1904.

The average value of land here was in 1900, $30.95 per acre, and in 1904, $33.41. The per capita valuation in 1900 stood at $370.91; in 1904 $379.76.

Kentucky has made gigantic strides in every day moving forward. With an equitable system of State and local taxation, her advance were even still more rapid. No State in the Union with greater possibilities than Kentucky.

But not one-tenth of the riches of the fields, the mines or of the forests of Kentucky have yet been developed. Kentucky needs for their development home energy and enterprise of incessant character; she needs immigrants of the better class; she needs laborers; she needs more manufacturing establishments. She can give more

His Feelings Hurt.

Bruce Wilson, a former member of the Mt. Sterling Police force, says he has been insulted by the city and thinks about $2,200 of the city's swag would be the wound and has sued the city for that amount for being suspended 60 days for conduct unbecoming an officer. Wonder how much he is going to sue the mule for that kicked his face to a few down at Lexington. There was a good 2-legged mule, but before he got through with Bruce he thought it was a whole car load of 2-year-olds.

For best stock and poultry food see Wint's at Corey.

Public Buildings.

The civil service bill carries with it appropriations for public buildings in Kentucky as follows: Bowling Green, $40,000; Danville, $45,000; London, $50,000; Mayfield, $25,000; Owensboro, $75,000; Versailles, $13,000; Winchester, $25,000; Paris, $30,000. This bill made no provision for a public building at Olive Hill but the citizens began lobbying among themselves and have $10,000 for a public building.

For grass seed of all kind go to What's at Corey.

Failed to Compromise.

Effort to compromise a claim for damages occasioned by the death of George Sheehan in a freight wreck at Mt. Sterling on the C. & O. rail road have failed, and the administrators have prepared suit for $25,000 against the road. The suit will be tried in Montgomery county at the April term of Circuit Court.

Fruit Injured

On account of the heavy frost during the last part of January, there is almost a complete destruction of the fruit crop this year.

Dog Law Unconstitutional.

The dog law has been declared to be unjust, and the unconstitutionality is set forth as follows: "It is not right and lawful to tax one man's property to pay for the destruction of another; you can't assess an equal valuation on the property, as one dog may and is sure to be worth more than another, hence unequal taxation."

That there are dogs on which no taxes should be paid is admitted, they are not worth it and should be put out of the way with a dose of lead. Olive Hill has her full quota of these worthless curs that make night hideous with their unearthly howls, it is worse than a Tom Cat singing a midnight solo to his lady love. And when a person passes a yard where these "valuable pets" are quartered, he is compelled to take to the woods or heel it down street to prevent "dear Fido" from sinking his teeth into your anatomy. After you have been frightened half to death and a chunk taken out of the rear end of your clothes, the owner will say, "Oh, he won't bite."

ANNOUNCEMENT
 We are authorized to announce Hon. M. M. Redwine of Elliott county, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge of the 22nd Judicial District of Kentucky at the primary to be held at each voting precinct Saturday, June 22, 1907, at 1 o'clock, p. m.

During the past week the editor of the Times has had several talks with different gentlemen from in and near Grayson. Each and everyone admits that Olive Hill should have a court house, but are not in favor of it becoming the county seat of Carter county. This, of course, is the right feeling of patriotic men who work for their own town and we are glad to have met them; they are honest in their efforts to keep the county seat at Grayson and not afraid to say as much in the camp of the enemy. These gentlemen are willing, and in most cases desirous of Carter being divided into two counties, which would settle the question amicably, give both towns a county seat and have a court house of its own. One gentleman, who is quite well known, a man of very pleasing appearance and one who convinces you when he talks, told the editor of the Times that if the people of this part of the county and those of his section would accede to a division of the county, he would, by taxes or donation, help Olive Hill build a court house for its own county. But on the other proposition he would be compelled to stand by Grayson and fight against the removal of the county seat to Olive Hill. There is no malice in a man who makes a statement like the foregoing; it shows the man who takes pride in working for the betterment and upbuilding of his city, and while working for self does not forget that others should prosper also. The gentlemen will tell you Olive Hill needs a court house and is entitled to one, as two-thirds of the people live in and adjacent to this city; that over two-thirds of county's business is transacted in Olive Hill. The gentleman was informed that in any event we would have a court house, whether it is made the county seat of Carter or not. If the county division is made we will have one, and if the division is not made and the county seat not moved the fact remains that Olive Hill will have a building to which they can point with pride, and where the business of the courts transacted with comfort and where records may be kept and not destroyed by mildew and rats. We have crossed the Rubicon and cannot recede.

A court house in Olive Hill will secure for it four-fifths of the business done in the county; not only this, but it will increase the population to a great extent. Already several residents of the Grayson end of the county have purchased property here and others are "looking around." It shows a desire to live in the business center and make investments where they are sure of good returns.

The average man is an intimate acquaintance of disappointment. Deferred hopes and belated opportunities supply ample provocation for complaint, and no habit is more easily acquired than that of murmuring because of things we cannot have. The two Grayson papers have not acquired the murmuring habit and say nothing and look pleasant over the prospect of losing the court house.

The Courier-Journal has inaugurated a contest to prove that Kentucky women are the most beautiful in America. That contest is unnecessary and time wasted. The Times will bet its delinquent subscription list against ten cents that Kentucky daughters have no peers on the globe.

It is now the supposition of the detectives that some absent-minded person took that $173,000 from the sub-treasury and forgot to return it. If that is the case there are a great number of people in this world afflicted with this awful disease.

Olive Hill, has one mossback who has barnacles all over his body a foot long. He says every dollar he has is invested in Olive Hill and he would rather see the county seat moved to Leon than for either Grayson or Olive Hill to have it.

The Mt. Sterling Advocate is having spasms over the deplorable condition of the streets of that city. The Advocate would have brain storm surge enough if it could have taken a peep at the pathways of travel in Olive Hill during the recent damn spill.

Enough money has been promised by good, staunch, reputable men to erect a court building in Olive Hill so that it will not cost anyone a cent who will not be directly benefitted thereby.

Visitors to the Jamestown exposition will not be bothered with exhibits from Carter county.

W. J. Rice Acquitted.
 W. J. Rice not only acquitted but exonerated from the charge of Embezzlement by preliminary Instructions at the request of the Commonwealth.

The people of this community were greatly interested in the present term of Circuit Court for at this term W. J. Rice was to be tried on the charge of embezzlement. When it was learned that the grand jury of last session had returned an indictment of this character against Mr. Rice, the people, though surprised at the intelligence, were of the opinion that when the proper time arrived he would be able to show that he entirely innocent of any wrong doing. This he fully did and his friends rejoice with him and his estimable family that justice has again triumphed. Mr. Rice is well and favorably known in Olive Hill and Carter county, having lived here a number of years. He is the originator of the Olive Hill National Bank, and has done more along this line for the people of Olive Hill and community than any other man in the county. We again regret that Mrs. Rice has mounted these uncalled for obstacles and wish him many more years of deserved usefulness and prosperity.

A Letter From Oklahoma.
 FAIRFAX, OKLA., March 7th, 07.
 EDITOR TIMES:—I will once more give you and the readers of the Times a sketch of my whereabouts, and some of the sights I have seen. Have been in Fairfax since the 20th of last November and have been over a great part of the 'Osage country, which is very pretty indeed, soil very rich; the chief product being corn which is now selling at 25 cents; there are thousands of cattle, horses and hogs in the State; Being desirous of seeing more of the great reservation my wife and I boarded a Santa Fe train for Sulphur Mineral Springs, and soon found ourselves at Hamilton on the Arkansas River, the most 'distressing looking stream that changes its channel every time it gets high, and after days of dry weather it will become bank full and no main in sight. From here we went through what is known as the Cherokee Strip and found it richly cultivated, a good strip and then a bad strip, one covered with scrub oak and the other with walnut, cottonwood trees, wild cherry and poplar trees. We went through the following towns: Skedes, Parson, Glencoe, Stillwater, Wehan, Ripley, Cushing, and here we cross the Simmeron river, leaving the Cherokee Strip and crossing into Oklahoma Territory. The soil changes its color here and is as red as our old Kentucky brick dust; the water of the streams of water are just as red, but the soil is fertile and productive. We passed through the great cotton fields of Oklahoma, to Avery, Kendrick, Davaport, Sparks, Payson, Mecker and Shawnee; here we stopped and took a view of the city. We then took the street car for Tecumseh, a distance of 5 miles, the county seat of Pottawatomie county. Here we visited with Mr. Alma O. George, George O'Neil and son, Alma, are operating a feed mill and doing a good business. Here we find the appearance of Spring pear, peach and plum trees being in full bloom. We left here the next day for Southern, Okla., and passed through the following towns: McCook, George, Trandale, Wagnett, Byers, Boardman, and Paul Valley; passing over the great Tecumseh lake, at nine o'clock, a. m., then on over Little river, past a m. then on over Little river, past passing the large Echo Lake, and entering the Chickasaw Nation and on over Washita river, where the soil is black and very productive. Large fruit farms along the route looked as though Spring had come. At Pauls Valley we changed cars and found it a nice town and in the best country we had yet seen here. We boarded the train for Sulphur and passed the Twin Mountains which are quite an attraction to prairie people, but not to one who is accustomed to Kentucky Hills. Reaching Sulphur at 2 p. m., we took lodging with Mrs. J. E. Price, daughter of G. A. O'Neil. Here we found Mrs. O'Neil, wife of G. A., who is staying with her daughter, her husband being a traveling man and away from home a great deal. Mr. Price is a gentleman both in looks and culture and I soon found that he had been over the road to Jerico.

March 9th—I have been to the wonderful Bromide Springs, said to be the only one in the United States. The people are flocking here from all over the United States to drink this water. Sulphur is a great summer resort of 4500 inhabitants, four banks, eighteen hotels, numerous private boarding houses and lunch counters. There are National Park, consisting of fresh water, bromide, sulphur, bromide salt and straight sulphur water. The National Park has 846 acres in it and is kept up by the government, it takes in two very large springs at the head of Sulphur Creek, one mile east of town; it has a fall of 150 feet to the town and as large as Tyart at Olive Hill. One-half mile east of town are the great Niagara Falls of Sulphur Creek. This afternoon we are going to the Alligator farm where they have them in all sizes, and if I escape from them, and this letter don't find the waste basket I will write again.

Another Brick Yard.

It is stated on good authority that a new brick yard will be established in Olive Hill in the near future with a capacity equaling the two yards already operating here. This is not an idle rumor but a statement made by men who are in a position to know. There is room and material for one or a dozen more yards, and the market on this production is never glutted. Capitalists and brick men recognize this and know that the finished article can be manufactured cheaper here than to ship the raw material elsewhere.

Died
Mrs. Vicie Boggs, at her home Monday, March 18th, at the ripe old age of 87 years. She was the widow of Hugh Boggs, who died some twelve years ago. She leaves eight children, six sons and two daughters, William, Whit, John Doc, David, Marion, Hannah and Elizabeth, all of whom are married and live in this county. Mrs. Boggs, or Aunt Vicie as she was called, was a very lovable old lady and very energetic for one of her age. She was buried Tuesday, March 19th.

Judge Recline.
In this issue appears the announcement of Judge M. R. Rutledge as candidate for Judge of the 32nd Judicial District. We are pleased to state that we are personally acquainted with Mr. Rutledge and during our acquaintance with him and our watching his work, find him always on the strictest guard to duty. He last Thursday adjourned Circuit Court here, and on the bench was found using every effort to gain a "square deal" to all.

Senses of Insects.

Concerning the ordinary senses of insects comparatively little is known. Most of them certainly see well, the eyes of many species being far more elaborate than those of human beings. The sense of common house flies and dragon flies are believed to be better fitted than the human eye for observing objects in motion though these creatures are short sighted.
It may be reasonably supposed that insects possess taste, judging from the discriminating choice they exercise in the choice of their food. That they have smell is a matter of common knowledge. It has been experimentally proved by Sir John Lubbock and others. Most insects seem to be deaf to the sounds which we hear by human beings.
At the same time there is no question that they produce sounds and hear sounds that are entirely beyond our own range of auditory perception. Sir John Lubbock said that we can no more form an idea of these sounds than we should have been able to do so if we had been green or if the human race had been blind. The air is doubtless often vocal with the sounds made by insects, and it is certain that we are entirely out of range of man's power to hear.
Certain senses in insects appear to be beyond comprehension. The beetles among the ants known as "termite" are blind and can have no sense of light in their burrows; yet they will reduce a beam of wood or an elaborate piece of furniture to a mere shell without once gnawing through to the surface.
An analogy is found among mammals. A bat in a lighted room, though blinded as to sight, will fly in all directions with great swiftness and with its wings beating. The act of avoiding concussion or contact with any object. It seems to be able to feel at a distance.
The King Cock a Tumbler.
When the present king of Spain was only four years old, he was one day going down a staircase in the palace unattended. At the same time a footman was going up, and of course he stepped aside to let the little king pass. Just as he did so, Alfonso tripped, and would have fallen, with serious results, perhaps, if the footman had not rushed forward and caught him. The Queen Regent, Alfonso's mother, was very grateful to the footman, but all that she could do to reward the saved person of the king, better let a fall break the king's leg, or even his neck, than break the law of etiquette. Queen, isn't it?

Ask for the New Material SUESINE SILK

Extensively advertised in the leading Magazines.
You Should See and Buy Suesine Silk
for three distinct reasons—It's handsome, it's durable, it's cheap. Don't do as you have done in the past and buy China Silk at the same price or more. You can get Suesine Silk which is superior to China silk in that it is just as handsome, more durable, at less than half the price. Surely the economy this will afford is of value to you. It will enable you to get as handsome a dress, and one which will wear longer, for less money—or you can spend the money saved for more elaborate trimmings.
Suesine Silk is light, built up and strengthened by the interweaving of a few strands of Egyptian cotton. This cotton is the softest and finest quality. It lends increased durability to the silk and makes the beauty more lasting, because of the very fact that it makes the fabric more durable.

The Dress in the Picture is a dainty dress gown, fashioned from Suesine—it is taken from a living model. Practically every other style of dress can be made of Suesine Silk. House Dresses, Kimonos, Calling Gowns, Evening Costumes, Street Dresses, Evening and Day-time Waists, and every kind of apparel which you want to be not only dainty but durable.

THE HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINET

 is a practical cabinet, the floor is put in at the top and every bit comes out through the sifter at the bottom of the bin. The big tin is in the dust proof bin at the right and works on the same principle. The space are in cans on the left, the passage doors in the cupboard above and the shelves are before you or in the cupboard below—everything in its handy place, leaving the big aluminum work table free to use. The table top, like high grade cooking utensils, can be washed bright and clean in an instant ready for bread or cake making. Some of the Hoosier features are the card index receipt, the metal bread and cake boxes, the housekeeper's wash list, large cupboards and drawers, its handsome finish, unspiced arrangement.

We are sole dealers for Hoosier Kitchens in this section and we have a complete line on display. We can not only show you how to work easy, how to always have a neat orderly kitchen.

We sell Hoosier Cabinets at very low prices. Many people buy Hoosier Cabinets after seeing the other kind. Few buy other cabinets after seeing the Hoosier, because it is the very best.

Which do you prefer? The Hoosier cabinet or the old-fashioned way? The Hoosier system groups everything together in preparing a meal at your finger's end, every utensil and every article has its own special place. The old-fashioned way, everything is scattered all over the kitchen, you know it only too well.

W. H. SCOTT

We are going to sell to you, to everybody that wants to buy at prices as low as can be sold, fully realizing that nothing but fair prices is the only foundation for a successful business. We mention a few articles:
