Foundation Discloses Plan For Memorial Plaques At Saint Claire Medical Center

Master Bronze Plate Will Be In The Lobby

Northeast Kentucky Hospital Foundation, Inc. took the first step at an executive meeting Monday...

The Board of Directors authorized the purchase and installation of the memorials in conformity with the publicity already announced...

The larger donors are entitled to individual bronze, perpetual plates throughout the hospital. For example, a patient room is memorialized by those who contributed over $2,500...

The individual plaques will bear such wording as: "In Memory of John Doe - Wife and Children - This Room Contributed By John Smith - In Honor of Mary Ann Smith - Husband and Daughters" etc.

The large contributors ($2,500 and over) will select the wording they desire. Their names will also be on the master plaque in the lobby.

The master bronze plaque is large, an expensive, as it will carry several hundred names. It may be twice as large as that at Mary Chiles, as pictured above.

Foundational President C. P. Canfield appointed a committee of three to make recommendations on the plaques and contact all contributors who are eligible.

It was emphasized that pledges made will be paid in full before the names are placed in bronze. Mrs. Queen said there are a few cases.

4 Businesses In This Area Incorporated

Four new Articles of Incorporation from this area were filed Monday with the Secretary of State at Frankfort.

They are: Morehead News, Grayson Journal-Enquirer, Greenup News and Birthday Calendar Company.

The incorporators were listed as W. E. Crutcher and Marvin Wilson Jr., both of Morehead. Wilson formerly edited the Greenup News and has been associated in the newspaper and printing business with Crutcher since 1949.

Crutcher has, for years, held all four of the companies under (his own) individual ownership. The parent company has already moved to new larger and modern quarters on East Main Street in Morehead.

Crutcher said the calendar company will also be expanded and tentative contracts had been entered into with several large companies for litho-offset printed material.

The new high speed, precision equipment will permit the company to simultaneously produce printed material in four colors. It is planned to add other color units in the future.

Orders have also been placed for camera equipment, and allied products, affording the finest reproductions at an accelerated rate. Crutcher and Wilson stated there would be no change in personnel of the companies and the new litho-plant would probably be in production by March 15, or April 15.

Free Polio Vaccine Set Jan. 17-24

All three types of Sabin Oral Polio vaccine will be administered at the Rowan County Health Department during the week from Jan. 17 to Jan. 24.

Types I, II and III will be available from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. each working day.

The vaccine is free.

BAD MANNERS

A man who committed suicide left a note reading, "I am a stranger to myself. I should have known that it had made men to kill a stranger."

Auto Record Good Despite Bad Weather

Despite adverse weather conditions, drivers in Rowan County have marked up a relatively good safety record during the past 10 days.

Kentucky State Police reported Wednesday that only three minor accidents had taken place here during that period.

Formerly pro at Sunnysbrook Golf Club and golf coach at Morehead State College, Dudley received confirmation of his acceptance to the circuit earlier this month, and he and his family left Sunday for Florida.

Winter Cracks Down In All Its Wild Fury

Winter clamped down on eastern Kentucky with vengeance again this week, with Rowan County recording 8 1/2 inches of snow and sub-zero temperatures.

A 36-hour snow ended late Monday and handicapped traffic and, despite best efforts of the State Highway Department to keep vehicles on the move, most roads were covered with a thick blanket of snow, which was underlaid with a thin coating of ice, adding to winter's most hazardous driving conditions.

Primary roads were passable but state police warned that extreme caution should be exercised, particularly on roads with spots which receive little sunbath.

Temperatures, generally in the lower thirties during much of the snowfall, plunged to a low of 11 degrees below zero at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday, the coldest reading of the winter at the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company's compressor station on North Fork.

Automobiles stalled in heavy snow both on main thoroughfares and on side streets, and battery failures kept most garages and service stations busy through the early part of the week.

Rowan County Schools were closed both Monday and Tuesday, but reopened Wednesday as road conditions improved.

St. Claire Visiting Hours Are Changed

In the interest of better patient care, St. Claire Medical Center this week announced a change in visiting hours.

Effective immediately, visiting hours for patients in private and other rooms will be 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. each day.

Children under 14 years of age are not permitted to visit hospitalized patients.

Medical Center officials also asked that the restriction of no more than two visitors per patient be observed.

Visiting hours at St. Claire, until the change was made this week, have been 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Retraining Set For 140 Persons Here As Part Of Appalachian Aid Program

Two-Year-Old Connie Warren Victim Of Fire On Tuesday

A two-year-old girl burned to death Tuesday in a fire which destroyed her home near Bluestone.

Her father, Richard Warren, was severely burned around the head and neck in a futile attempt to rescue the child.

According to Morehead Police Chief C. B. McCullough the house was reported on fire about 8:30 a.m. At that time the flames had gained such headway that the roof was falling in and as a result the dispatch of fire equipment to the scene was useless.

Members of the family said two-year-old Connie Lynn had arisen before her father and two uncles, who were still asleep, and had gone into the living room to watch television.

When the father was awakened by the heat and smoke from the flames, aroused the sleeping children, told them to flee the house, and left the blazing structure.

Realizing then that the two-year-old was still in the house he attempted to enter the house and rescue her, but was driven back by the flames. He was burned about the head and neck, and his hair was

Classes Begin When Sites For Them Are Found

Training programs in eight career fields, designed to eventually alleviate some of this section's unemployment, will be started in Morehead and Olive Hill as soon as locations for the classes can be found.

That was the announcement this week from Mrs. Durie Mullins of the Kentucky Department of Economic Security, who said four classes will be held in Morehead, three in Olive Hill and another for which local residents will be eligible, will be taught at Mayo Vocational School in Falmouth.

Vocational fields to be covered include: motor mechanics; service station mechanics; short order cook; automatic transmission specialist; woodworking; electrical appliance repair; general office clerk; and general electricity.

All of the training classes except woodworking will be authorized under the Appalachian "Crash Program." Woodworking is part of the Area Redevelopment Administration's plan for this area.

To be taught at Morehead are training in motor mechanics, service station mechanics, automatic transmission specialists and short order cooking. Olive Hill will have instruction in electrical appliance repair, general office clerks and general electricity.

The training for short order cook will be conducted at Louisville, but local persons will be eligible for the instruction, Mrs. Mullins said.

Involved in the eight courses will be approximately 140 persons, all of whom must be registered for general approval to determine their suitability for training in specific areas.

The short order cook course will last six weeks, that for general office clerks four weeks, and all others will require 52 weeks of classroom instruction.

Participants will, in most cases, be eligible for allowances while undergoing training. Mrs. Mullins said the maximum payment - up to heads of households - would be equal to the average unemployment compensation payment in Kentucky. This is estimated at about $100 a month.

First Traffic Fatality

A Rowan County man who was lynch in a clump of high weeds Sunday while searching sought his father, a car driven by Albert L. Allen, 56, of Winchester, struck the truck and then continued about 150 feet into a field.

Allen was injured and was taken to St. Claire Medical Center. Driver of the truck was David A. Patterson, 23, of Newcomers-town.

Failure of the brakes on his car caused an accident in which North St. Wootton, Ky. husband, was involved Saturday.

Woolum was traveling east on U.S. 60 at the intersection of the Talhaver Addition Road and was unable to stop behind a line of traffic which had halted when the lead car signaled a left turn.

Woolum headed his car into the ditch to avoid a collision.

Disarmament Is Desirable — But It Doesn't Guarantee Peace

Among many organizations and leaders of the world over the great aim, and the end-in-view is and must be disarmament. Groups all over the world demand for, and call for, world-wide disarmament.

In the United States the goal of disarmament is taking on increasing favor and capturing the fancy of more and more prominent people and officials. The President is now conducting studies to see how the impact of disarmament would affect business and the national economy.

It is true that some industries, the inheritors of the old munitions-making element in our society, which today include a vast range of industrial enterprise, fear sudden disarmament. It would conceivably put some plants and factories out of operation.

But that is not the point. If disarmament would bring peace and would be best for the world, then we must go for it with all the purpose and dedication of which we are capable.

The truth is, however, that total disarmament is a dangerous fallacy in today's world and even limited disarmament carries with it great dangers to the United States and the free world.

As an ideal one can argue with the goal. But until the conditions are to be trusted and met, that others will honor agreements or disarmament agreements.

There can be careful steps in this direction.

perhaps, and it is possible that their complicity can be required to demonstrate their compliance with certain steps. But the people of the United States should not be encouraged to think that we can devise a disarmament plan that can safely be undertaken in today's world. Our only security lies in the powerful military potential of the democracies.

If that potential is reduced, either numerically or relatively, we are endangering our country and the free world alike. The United States will not use its great potential to start a war of aggression.

We are not a have-not nation. Nor do we contain boiling masses, which need living room and space elsewhere. There are many nations, however, that fit these latter categories and will, without doubt and quite positively, initiate war if necessary to gain their aims if they believe war can gain them. Until the world is composed of well-ed, educated masses, dedicated to peace and order, to disarm would be reckless folly and perhaps fatal for the wealthy United States.

Franklin Half-Dollar Should Remain

Before we remove Benjamin Franklin's likeness from the half dollar, we might consider history and the facts of life and our country a little more closely. We are already committed to a John F. Kennedy half dollar, but that does not end the Benjamin Franklin half dollar.

In fact, we should not discard the Franklin coin because we are adding another to our currency. The Kennedy half dollar is well and good but it should also be remembered that Franklin was one of the greatest men our country ever produced, a giant as a statesman, diplomat and writer. He was one of five men who drafted the Declaration of Independence.

Surely we must think carefully and act cautiously before we cast away the Franklin half dollar.

If we must break a precedent in having two half dollar coins, then we should break the precedent.

No one would want this to happen, including the late President himself and members of his family. There is always time, and usually a way, to properly commemorate our Presidents, without removing other memorials from our midst.

LBJ To Enter Primaries?

Some aides of President Lyndon Johnson are already talking about the possibility of Johnson entering several presidential primaries. The idea would be to demonstrate the President's popularity.

A more unusual political blunder could hardly be imagined. In fact, the suggestion is suspect; one wonders if it is really serving the interest of Republicans or ambitious Democrats.

That he is now President of the United States. Traditionally, party nominees enter primaries for election campaign. To enter primaries would be tantamount to Johnson expressing doubt that he will be nominated, or could win a national election.

The most important thing for Johnson to do at the moment is to make a record as President of the United States. Like Harry Truman, who inherited the mantle of the Presidency from Franklin D. Roosevelt, if he makes a creditable record in his efforts as President, he will certainly be nominated by the Democratic Convention.

Letter To The Editor

Church Schools Offer Good Moral Climate

Editor, The News—I would like to commend Odie Forman on his comment on article previously published in The News. As a Free Will Baptist, and former secretary of Michigan State Association of Free Will Baptists, I think I can speak with the sentiment of the 48 states, the subject of which does not receive so much publicity by our newspapers and magazines as it does. But the article in the News serves as good source. It shows the parents which schools their children should not attend.

Free Will Baptists have from the birth of our nation, been in the forefront in the establishing of educational institutions. This is proven in the fact that they built such schools as Bates College in Maine, Hillsdale College, Michigan, Rio Grand, Ohio, Storrs College, W. Va., Georgia Seminary in Ohio, of which President Garfield was a product. In Michigan, Strafford Academy, Vermont, State, Vermont, New York, Lyndon Institute, Vermont, Central Institute, Maine, New Hampton Literary Institute, Maine, Colchester College, N. H., Parker College, Maine, the S. H. Y. Manning Bible Institute, Tenn.

Road Project Contract Let In Bath County
By Joe J. Mauk

Forestry Aide Thomas J. Hefferman will leave the Forest Service on Jan. 27, to return to school. Tom plans to enter Morehead State College next semester and work for a B.S. degree with a major in forest management.

He has completed his pre-forestry at Morehead his first year at Raleigh, N.C. He will finish his year with the Forest Service at Mount Olive College, N.C., and will then enter the Forest Service at the Cumberland National Forest.

T. C. Young Construction Co. of Williamsburg, Ky., was the successful bidder on construction of approximately one mile of road to be built within the Clark Creek Watershed Recreation Area south of Salt Lick, in Bath County. Construction of the roads will complete the area open to the public for next season's use.

The program for this Friday for the construction of a picnic shelter at the Redburn Hollow picnic area. With the completion of the picnic shelter and improvement construction, the Recreation Area will be completed by next season's opening except possibly some black top surfacing on the roads or parking area.

Several 16 MM movie films on forestry and forest fire prevention on hand for showing to schools, churches, and other organizations within our district. Any organization or individual desiring a movie or slide program can contact our office and we will try to arrange a program for them. We normally try to plan programs for groups and clubs on an annual basis.

We have four boundaries of timber which have been marked and advertised for sale for which bids were received during the advertising period. The bids range from 30,000 board feet to 400,000 board feet and are available at a negotiated price. Any interested timber operators may contact our office for further information.

Claig Sprout . . . And His Friend, TIMOTHY TUGMUTTON . . . Sez

DEAR MR. EDITOR: The feller at the country-store, Saturday night come up with an important discosity, Congress of the United States and the people of the United States ain't got no language, no language, and when Congress talks in one tongue and the people in another, we be bound to be chaos in the land.

This discovery was made at what you might call a meeting at the Summit and all the best minds of the community was present, including Zeke Grubb's preacher. It ought to go down in history alongside such items as Columbus discovering the New World and Democrats 'discovering the New Frontier.

First off, Ed Doolittle told about how the Congress passed a "debt ceiling" bill ever session. It was the language of the folks back home, you see, but when you hit the ceiling and they ain't no money, the Congress has raised the "debt ceiling" 2 times in the last 10 months.

Then, the Congress, lamented Bud Hoodum, done passed a bill, and "temporary taxes" when the folks back home knows all taxes was permanent. When some of 'em Zeke Grubb reported that Congressmen backing the medicine care for the aged bill claimin' it won't cost the taxpayers a cent and explains it will be paid by the employers. When some of 'em Zeke estimated about 85 percent of the taxpayers was themselves. And Zeke's preacher was explaining how this free scholarship bill for college students denits got passed. When some of the folks back home complained about the program, them Congressmen immediate changed it, from a free scholarship to a non-reimbursable loan 'deal.

And, said Zeke's preacher, when they was opposition to the Federal Aid Education bill on account of the folks back home was afraid of Federal control, them Congressmen took the worst "control" out of it and set up a program on how the money would be spent.

Clem Webster reported he had saw in the papers where a Congressman in John Ashbrook was telling about getting interested in some patriotic folks that was working for the Government and "servin' their country without salary." He found it was a getting no salary. They was getting $60 a day in consultant fees and another $16 a day for expenses, making $76 a day, but not a penny for salary.

I recollect, Mister Editor, readin' out when I was a boy about an old Chinese proverb that said the beginning of all wisdom was calling a thing by its right name. If there was any truth in that proverb, we got the most wisdom Government on earth.

Yours truly,
Clraig Sprout

Boat Licenses May Be Bought For '64 Now

Enthusiasts in Kentucky may now apply for registration and boat licenses for the 1964 season. According to William E. Stiles, second vice division director, State Department of Public Safety.

Stiles said application for registration should be made to Circuit Court Clerks' offices.

Official expiration date for the 1963 license is Apr. 29. This plan was put into effect last year by the State Boating Division. It has proved effective, King added, in accelerating the processing and issuance of boating licenses.

PUBLISHER'S PEN

The publisher of The Morehead News has occupied this week in an expansion and re-organization program that will bring into the 21st century the oldest newspaper-publishing operations in the nation. All the companies owned and operated by the publisher have been incorporated (see article on page one) and the new management and production policies have been announced.

Because of this the Publisher's Pen does not appear in this issue, but will be resumed next week in The Morehead News.

East Kentucky To Be Led Out Of Wilderness By Junior

By Clemis Hutton

Many years ago, there was a man named Junior who led his people out of the wilderness and into the Promised Land. Right now, and in this Modern-Age we are being extended into the future by our governments.

We have already been led out of the wilderness by the forest and the country and by the roads and where-abouts and where-abouts that something must be done with it. We are being led out of the wilderness by our governments.

Government has roamed Eastern Kentucky according to reports we get and they have compiled tons of data upon our pores and now we are read to dress up in Mission Hall suits and lead the God Liver Oil and vitamins to our pore bodies.

Of course none of us have ever seen these Apostles of Poreodon and we know they have been in our midst. Usually they get to the County Seats and see the lowdown there upon our pores and critical conditions. Then when the hold starts coming into the area, then what don't need the money and you pore and needy pore bodies. We are being led out of the wilderness by our governments.

We are being led out of the wilderness by our governments and we are being led out of the wilderness by our governments. We are being led out of the wilderness by our governments.

Road Project Contract Let In Bath County

Forestry Aide Thomas J. Hefferman will leave the Forest Service on Jan. 27, to return to school. Tom plans to enter Morehead State College next semester and work for a B.S. degree with a major in forest management.

He has completed his pre-forestry at Morehead his first year at Raleigh, N.C. He will finish his year with the Forest Service at Mount Olive College, N.C., and will then enter the Forest Service at the Cumberland National Forest.

T. C. Young Construction Co. of Williamsburg, Ky., was the successful bidder on construction of approximately one mile of road to be built within the Clark Creek Watershed Recreation Area south of Salt Lick, in Bath County. Construction of the roads will complete the area open to the public for next season's use.

The program for this Friday for the construction of a picnic shelter at the Redburn Hollow picnic area. With the completion of the picnic shelter and improvement construction, the Recreation Area will be completed by next season's opening except possibly some black top surfacing on the roads or parking area.

Several 16 MM movie films on forestry and forest fire prevention on hand for showing to schools, churches, and other organizations within our district. Any organization or individual desiring a movie or slide program can contact our office and we will try to arrange a program for them. We normally try to plan programs for groups and clubs on an annual basis.

We have four boundaries of timber which have been marked and advertised for sale for which bids were received during the advertising period. The bids range from 30,000 board feet to 400,000 board feet and are available at a negotiated price. Any interested timber operators may contact our office for further information.

New Drama Ready For Kentucky Presentation Soon

Playwright Olin Corey, whose stage version of the Bible story, "The Book of Job", has introduced his latest production, "Romans by Saint Paul", to the Theological Seminary in Louisville on February 1 and at Georgetown College in Kentucky on Feb. 3.

Corey's new choré drama, "Romans by Saint Paul", will be presented at the Theological Seminary in Louisville on February 1 and at Georgetown College in Kentucky on Feb. 3.

Now chairman of the Centenary College Department of Speech and Drama, Corey said he was proud to have his work in Louisville.

Corey's work in Louisville is part of a larger program of religious drama, begun in 1952, at Georgetown College in 1952, toured Europe and the United States, held month-long tours in Europe and Asia, and appeared at the Pine Mountain College near Pineville for five years and is now negotiating a tour of England and South Africa.

"Romans", as "The Book of Job" is a highly stylized play that is a religious drama. It is part of a larger program of religious drama, begun in 1952, at Georgetown College in 1952, toured Europe and the United States, held month-long tours in Europe and Asia, and appeared at the Pine Mountain College near Pineville for five years and is now negotiating a tour of England and South Africa.

Slow Congressional Pace Frustrating

There have been many explanations for the slow-moving congressional session in 1963. Some blame leadership, others pin the blame on congressional independence.

During the course of the session, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield went so far as to blame his colleagues.

He told the Senate: "There was a high degree of absenteeism, especially on the Democratic side of the aisle. Instead of the rules and regulations being at fault, members of the Senate are at fault because they will not answer telegrams urging them to return for consideration of important legislation, they will not remain on the floor and participate in debate, they will go their own way, in their own good time, and no penalties can be inflicted."

The average Democrat voted on 82 percent of the roll calls, the average Republican on 84 percent.

In 1961 and 1962, Democrats led the Republicans by two percentage points. The average senator voted 82 percent of the time, in 1962, 88 percent in 1961.

Thus, it's not entirely that the senators aren't recorded as voting; the crux of the slow pace is that it takes considerable time to reach a vote and get the Senate together for it, and to agree on a time.

It is, truly, the world's most deliberative body.

Interstate And Parkway

Highway Department Opened 235 Miles Of Roads In 1963

During 1963, the Kentucky Highway Department opened 235.5 miles of Interstate highways and parkways to traffic. Highway Commissioner Henry Ward has announced.

Included in this mileage are 127 miles of the Western Kentucky Parkway, a 33-mile segment of the Mountain Parkway and 75.5 miles of Interstates.

With the opening of the Western and Mountain parkways, Kentucky has only one to complete—the Central Kentucky Parkway from Elizabethtown to Versailles which the Department expects to let contracts for in the Spring of 1964.

The following review of Kentucky's eight interstates and parkways gives a complete picture of this 1,000-mile network.

Interstate 24 is awaiting approval by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in Washington. The proposed route begins at the Tennessee border in southwestern Kentucky, passes west of Hopkinsville, connects with the Western Kentucky Parkway at Princeton and then extends to Paducah where it will cross the Ohio River into Illinois.

The Western Ky. Parkway extends 127 miles from Elizabethtown to Princeton, was opened to traffic in late 1963. The project was financed with the proceeds from a $118 million bond issue.

Fifty-nine miles of 1-65, from Louisville to Upton, are open to traffic. (Thirty-eight miles of this highway from Louisville to Elizabethtown are known as the Kentucky Turnpike.) A section through downtown Louisville (part of the North-South Expressway) and the John F. Kennedy Memorial in Jeffersonville, Indiana, were recently dedicated and opened to traffic. Estimated to cost $115 million, 1-65 will extend 137 miles from the Kennedy Bridge southward to the Tennessee border.

With the recent sale of bonds, the entire 72-mile Central Kentucky Parkway will be let for construction in the spring of 1964. Estimated at a cost of $70 million, this modern four-lane highway will

The person who graduated from the Fifth Grade McGuffey's Reader with a greater and wider knowledge of education than does the modern high school graduate who can scarcely spell or read the words above the level of the ones found printed or carved behind school house porches is the inside faculty room. He isn't placed there the three "R's" which still form the foundation for the education. Too much emphasis is placed upon art, music, etc. Many cannot write and read and many will grow up to make a living outside the cartown drawing or trucking roll area. They never did need too much training in these fields. Teach them to read and do it right. Then if they appear to be specialists in certain fields, let them pick up these fields within their higher education levels.

Eastern Kentucky needs more schools of higher learning. If the money spent upon surveys, investigations, and governmental visitations were given as grants to the already existing and hardly surviving junior colleges of this area, we could expect some good results from the expenditures. The junior colleges need to be built. A new one is being planned in the area. It is to be built in a four-building campus. The new campus will be built. A new one will serve a better purpose than the old one. It will be a huge office to be built to house a bunch of governmental surveys and investigators that will come among us to study and look into our lovely living conditions. Nothing will come of this.

Up our ain't plumb down. We're right smart. We've got plenty of sense most of us. We can learn a right smart more in school if we were able to get to some of the best colleges in the area. We could manage to get to these schools and get us a education and the government would not ignore us. We've been content with it and the governments have continued to ignore us. We've been content with it and the governments have continued to ignore us. We've been content with it and the governments have continued to ignore us.

Internal Revenue Finds It Hard To Return Money To People

An annual headache is about to set in for the nation's tax collector. It isn't the job of collecting the taxes that gives him the headache—it's giving him the money back to taxpayers.

"Every year when we mail out tax refunds," says Charles Church, director of the Internal Revenue Service for New York's Manhattan district, "we get back approximately 10,000 of the letters with notations that the addressees have moved and left no forwarding address or are unknown at the address they listed on their returns."

"Then we start trying to track them down any way we can. By the end of the year we usually manage to locate about 3,000 of the persons and give them their money, but it's a big job."

The money belonging to the 7,000 others—it ordinarily adds up to about a half-million dollars—eventually is sent to the U.S. Treasury. However, records are kept so that anyone can get his money any time in the future, if he ever learns he's coming to him.

Church said the unclaimed refunds usually are fairly small, perhaps only a few dollars, but he has seen some running to $200 or $300.

Church's district is the smallest of the nation's 17, but it takes in the most money. It includes Manhattan, the Bronx and States Island in New York City, and Westchester and Rockland counties just north of the city.

The office staff of 2,900 handles approximately four million tax returns annually and collects nearly $4 billion—nearly one-seventh of the national total. The revenue is so great because of the large number of giant corporations in the district.

Church, who has been a tax collector for 33 years, says 97 percent of the taxpayers are honest citizens who pay up promptly and properly. The other 3 percent require what Church calls "enforcement."

Put down 6 percent mistake on their returns such as forgetting to add Social Security payments or sign the returns. Many thousands each year also calculate incorrectly and wind up owing or being owed in about equal numbers.

Church's office also gets several thousand letters a year from citizens begging that people they know are chiseling Uncle Sam on their returns. Only about 10 percent provide valid information, however.

Sign their letters, which would enable them to receive a reward of up to 10 percent of any additional tax money the government might collect. "We just want to see justice done," is the tenor of most of the letters.

Site Is Selected For OH Post Office

Oliver Hill is to get a new Federal Building and post office. That was the announcement last week in Washington, where it was also disclosed that a site has been chosen on the south side of Main Street, between Whitt and Scott Streets.

The lot will contain 35,681 square feet. It is directly across the highway from Oliver Hill High School.

Work is expected to get underway in late spring or early summer.

"Electric heating gave our old home a new lease on life..."

— say Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Barlow of Dawson Springs.

When we remodeled our older home, we decided to make the switch to electric heating. As far as we're concerned, it's the best decision we ever made. With K.U.'s low rate reduction this year, our heating should cost us about 10 per cent less for an average winter.

We save in other ways, too. Flameless electric heating cuts cleaning bills. And there are no ducts to clean or expensive heating plant to maintain, repair or even replace. We wouldn't be without it.

If you're planning to remodel, take the advice of the Bartons of Dawson Springs. Ask your K.U. heating specialist or builder about the advantages of electric heating. Remember, you can't beat electric heat.

Cattle, Colts Lost In Fleming Blaze

A fire near Flemingsburg last Wednesday destroyed a large barn and all of its contents, including 38 head of cattle and two saddle colts.

Owned by Dr. W. A. Graham, the barn also contained 2,500 bales of hay, 600 bales of straw and 5,000 pounds of tobacco, along with a number of farm tools.

The blaze was discovered about 2 p.m. About 50 head of livestock were saved from Salversville to Pikeville via Prestonsburg and the other segment will connect at Campment and extend south and then east to Whitesburg by way of Hazard. Both sections will be toll free, whereas, tolls will be charged on the 76-mile Parkway.

Work on the extensions is underway from Combs to Hazard, from Campment to Van Cleve and from Jackson to Quicksand.

A three-mile stretch from Ky. 114 to Prestonsburg and 8.7 miles from Van Cleve to Jackson are now in use.

When completed, the 76-mile Mountain Parkway and 126 miles of two-lane connecting extensions will unite eastern and central Kentucky with 202 miles of modern highways.

The Kentucky Highway Department has a total of 1,000 miles of parkways and 734 miles of interstates open to the public ahead of the 1972 deadline, Ward said.

Jenkins Griddler Signs Morehead Grant-In-Aid

Robert Collins, one of the outstanding football players in the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference, has signed a grant-in-aid at Morehead State College.

An all-EXM performer at Jenkins High School, Collins is a 180-pound fullback who Morehead coach Guy Penny calls "one of the finest football players in the region."

Collins, who stands 5-11, was coached at Jenkins by Bill Rickerts. Undersecretary Ivan A. Nastigian of the Welfare Department told the group of such Eastern projects as a health study of communicable diseases, vocational education, and the supplying of surplus property.

Government Tells Miners Of Assistance

A group of unemployed Kentucky coal miners received assurances last week that federal officials are doing all they can to help the jobless of Eastern Kentucky.

The miners, headed by Berwan Gibson, Hazard, Ky., met with several federal officials in the Washington office of Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky.

Undersecretary Ivan A. Nastigian of the Welfare Department told the group of such Eastern projects as a health study of communicable diseases, vocational education, and the supplying of surplus property.

MSC Gets $67,000 In Science Grants For Summer Work

Morehead State College has been awarded $67,500 by the National Science Foundation to conduct two science institutes during the summer of 1964.

An institute in physiology and chemistry will be held from June 15 to August 11 and an institute in ecology of the Cumberland Forest region will be held from June 22 to August 14.

Dr. William B. Owensley, Chairman of the Morehead State College Division of Science and Mathematics and Director of the Institutes, said "The institutes are being held for the purpose of improving the biology instruction in the schools served by the participating high school teachers."

The forest supplies the people with many valuable products. Among these are: food, fuel, and medicine. The forests offers a vast variety of fruits, and herbs. In the summer many kinds of berries can be found in the forests. Among these are raspberries, blackberries, and blueberries.

The people of my community are very fortunate that they live in a community where the peace and beauty of the Christmas season is not destroyed by artificial Christmas trimmings that make Christmas commercialized. From the point of the extinction of the Christmas spirit. Because of the forests, the people of my community are able to decorate their homes with the traditional evergreens and holly. While searching for Christmas trees and decorations across the snow-covered landscape they gain the true Christmas spirit that cannot be gained without searching through a rank of artificial Christmas Trees with price tags dangling on them. Most important, however, is that this Christmas spirit is not dulled by the brilliance of dazzling display cases but is brightened by the smell of pine needles and red and green holly branches.

"The forests offer everyone in the community peace and relaxation. Fortunately, my community is small enough that no one is more than a few steps away from a spot where he can get a scenic view of a vibrant green forest. Almost everyone takes advantage of the beauty and wonders of nature the forest has to offer. From the rural farmer who goes ginseng hunting just for fun, to the city family who goes on picnics and camping trips, to the businessmen who sit in front of a window and gaze dreamily at the forest in the distance.

"Edward Fitzgerald once said, 'Among the scenes which are deeply impressed on my mind, none exceed in sublimity the primeval forests, undisturbed by the hand of man. No one can stand in these solitudes unmoved and not feel that there is more in them than mere breath of body.' Like Fitzgerald many of the people in the community are inspired by the forests. Because of the serenity and tranquillity of the forest, they have a deeper sense of beauty and peace and a feeling of closeness with nature and God."

New Chairman To Be Named

Council Replaces Utility Head, Holbrook Is Named To Board

The Morehead Utility Plant Board will have a new chairman after Mar. 1. That was assured Tuesday when City Council unanimously approved the appointment of Robert Holbrook to the Utility Plant Board, replacing J. Roger Caudill, whose term expires at that time.

Robert Holbrook is appointed

Caudill, a Morehead banker, became a member of the body Mar. 1, 1962, and has been chosen for two additional four-year terms since his original appointment. Holbrook is a pharmacist and will be serving his first term on any governmental body. As a result of the Tuesday action, the Utility Plant Board will reorganize, probably at its March meeting, naming a new Chairman. Present vice chairman is Curt Z. Brack, whose term expires in 1966.

J. Roger Caudill is retiring chairman

Other members and expiration dates of their terms are: A. E. Bowne, 1965; and Clay Sheefer, 1967. Councilman George Hill represents the city's governing body on the board. The chairman is paid $200 annually, the vice chairman $100 and members $150.

City Council and the Utility Plant Board are involved in a more or less intra-family squabble over the manner in which the utility body's surplus or reserve funds are being handled.

At its organizational meeting Jan. 1, Council "directed" the utility group to place what council called "excess" money in interest-bearing securities. As of now, any money not actively engaged in the operation or expansion of the city's gas, water and sewage system, is in checking accounts in Morehead's two banks, where it does not earn interest.

Mayor Eldon T. Evans estimated that the Utility Plant Board could earn $3,000-$5,000 a year by investment in short term United States government securities. Some question exists, however, whether the Utility Plant Board is under any obligation to comply with any such obligation. Although appointments to the body are made by council, it is regarded as an independent agency, not subject to council action.

In other action Tuesday Council named Robert Hill, local accountant as "City Tax Assessor" for 1964, at a salary of $100 per month; he replaces N. E. Kennerly. Council took under advisement a proposal by Arnold Pack of Morehead TV Cable Company that Channel 3 and Z7 and an FM signal be added to the cable and that the monthly rental be raised to $4 a month from the present $3.50 if such a move is approved. Council indicated that a public hearing might be held on the proposal on Sun Street, Second Street and others, and to have done any corrective work on these streets that is needed.

Changed Fifth Street from one-way east to two-way west, for the period of construction of the new addition to Johnson Camber Library, Morehead State College. This was done in order to facilitate heavy truck traffic, which otherwise would have been handicapped by a sharp turn on a steep hill at the corner of Battison Avenue and Fifth Street.

All members of council were on hand for the Tuesday session.

Foundation—

(Continued from page one.) of recent donors whose pledge extends into next year, or the latter part of 1964. These will be contacted to work out a plan to be included in the memorials.

The Foundation has $40,000 in unpaid pledges that are past due. It owes $27,000, all in promissory notes, to the donors. The board of civic-minded Morehead citizens. The memorial committee set up last month to handle the program of plaques will be mailed to all contributors, but this might require months of time to that every record can be examined so no eligible name is omitted.

The Foundation ex-officio members: Sister Mary Edwina, and two members of the Professional Fund Staff, Dr. Herbert Hudnut and Dr. Warren Proudfoot, to ex-officio membership in the Foundation.

Dr. Hudnut is director of the Prudential Fund, while Dr. Proudfoot is chief surgeon. The Board decided to hereafter hold Foundation meetings at the hospital. They have been conducted heretofore in the recreation room of the Peoples Bank.

Sister Mary Edwina told the Foundation directors that progress and growth of the hospital had been good, possibly above expectations. She set out, however, that the percentage of indigent patients was far above the state, or national average, and asked assistance in lowering this percentage of non-paying patients.

Lane Named Chairman Glenn W. Lane was appointed chairman of a committee to make a full survey of the indigent patient problem. He was given authority to name the balance of this committee. Lane said he was appointing J. Roger Caudill today and would add other members before Feb. 1.

Lane is president of the Citizens Bank while Caudill is cashier at the Peoples Bank. Doctors Hudnut and Proudfoot spoke briefly and said the program of specialists was working very satisfactorily. The Coordinating Committee has plans for three more specialists and to make St. Claire a health treatment center for this area of the state.

Retraining—

(Continued from page one.) travel allowance may be approved, and in some instances a $3 a day payment will be made for substitutes to persons outside the normal commuting distance. Under the training program, persons who show pronounced educational deficiencies will receive 20 weeks of related training at the same time as they are undergoing vocational instruction, Mrs. Mullins said.

Local surveys have been made by the Department of Economic Security in an attempt to locate suitable facilities for the classes, but thus far nothing has turned up. In addition, prior studies of the unemployment situation in this area have shown a number of job openings in the community in vocational areas for which trainees will be instructed, according to Mrs. Mullins.

These are the subjects, length of training, number of persons and locations with which the training classes will be concerned. No. of Trainees Length of Training Where Beef Course Slated At U Of Ky.

By Adrian Razer

Beef cattlemen from this area will attend a two-day Beef Cattle Shortcourse on Wednesday and Thursday of next week at the Student Center on the University of Kentucky campus.

Speakers during the two-day session will include men who are doing research work at the university, W. E. Taggart of Oklahoma State University, Prof. H. N. Wheaton of Purdue, Prof. L. H. Sumner, of the University of Illinois, and Harry Armstrong a farmer from Springfield, Ind. All levels of beef cattle production will be covered including out-took and management, disease control and marketing. Several beef cattlemen from the county have already indicated that they are coming and if anyone else who would like to go will let us know as we will try to stop by.

W-R Recognition

All boys and girls will be recognized for project work over the phases of 4th work at a special meeting Tuesday, at 9:30 a.m. at the Trail Theatre. Following the recognition they will attend a movie. All club members in the county are invited to attend.

We still have a supply of record books. If you have not gotten yours, we have one for you. Stop by and pick it up.

Tax Refund

Did you use any gasoline on your farm this year? If so, you are entitled to a State Gasoline Tax Refund on every gallon you use. Those who have their permit number should file their return for payment as soon as possible. Information about the permit number, why not get one now for gasoline that you will use next year. You will get a permit number by stopping by the Extension Office. We have the forms to use to obtain such a permit. The Extension Office has a copy of the forms needed to make application for the refund for the year. If you do not have one, we have one. If there is any question call us or stop by.

Farm Bureau Week Declared By Gov. Edward Breathitt

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt has issued a proclamation declaring the week of Jan. 20-25 as "Farm Bureau Week" in Kentucky.

The week-long observance comes at the same time the KFB officially launches its 1964 membership campaign. The first statewide campaign was held in 1961.

In the Governor's proclamation, agriculture is cited as the "mainstay" of the industry in Kentucky, producing more total income and employing more people than any other.

The proclamation also refers to Farm Bureau as the "Voice of Agriculture" in Kentucky, and points out that more than 71,000 rural and farm families have joined the organization "for the purpose of speaking and acting for themselves through organized efforts."

During the week of Jan. 20, every county Farm Bureau in the state will be asked to "kick-off" a membership drive. Jack Welch, president, KFB, said, "Now is the time of year to get started on building our organization. Let's get all our membership in early, and work on other important programs during the remainder of the year."

We want every rural and farm family in Kentucky to join with us in 1964 in building an organization that will be effective. It is only through a strong, dedicated membership that we will prosper in the difficult year ahead," Welch said.

The 1963 membership year ended with an increase of 1,084 farm families over 1962.

Two-Year-Old—

Other survivors include the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Warren, Bluestone, and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Prarie Tackett. Funeral services were held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the grave-site in Silam Cemetery, led by Rev. J. E. Collier. Burial was at Sucky Funeral Home under the arrangements.

SECOND BULLET FATAL

According to an autopsy findings report, it was the second bullet that caused the almost instant death of President Kennedy. Reports indicate the first bullet would not have been fatal.

It's love and laughs, plus a bit of tears, with Lee Remick and James Garner in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Wheeler Dealers." In various spots of Hill Street, fans broke and a con-Donohue, Louis Syc, John Astin, Elliott Reid and Patricia Crowley's reactor in the new Paramount and color comedy.

Distinguished Faculty Award Started By Alumni Association

The Morehead State College Alumni Association will present a "Distinguished Faculty Award" at a group meeting of alumni at the organization's Spring meeting.

The award will honor a member of the Morehead faculty whom the Alumni Association feels best meets the following criteria:

- A minimum of five years' service at Morehead State College (Division High, Coaches and other academic personnel primarily concerned with teaching are eligible).
- The individual's contribution to the field of education.
- Professional growth.
- Instructional growth.
- Pursuit of excellence.
- Appreciation for civility.
- Adaptability and responsibility to the campus community.
- General versatility.
- Ethical attitudes in accomplishing goals.
- Cooperation with faculty and students.

The recipient of the "Distinguished Faculty Award" will receive a plaque. His name will also be engraved on a permanent composite plaque in the Doran Student House which will bear the names of winners from Year to Year. An alumni scholarship will be awarded to three. The twenty members of the Executive Council will make a final selection from the three finalists.

Special Courts Seen As Aid In Justice

Former Atty. Gen. John B. Breckinridge in a report to Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, recommended establishment of special Kentucky courts to hear family cases as "the logical next step to improve the administration of justice."

Breckinridge also recommended to the Governor that the number of attorneys employed by the State be limited by law. Legislation of this type was introduced in the 1963 General Assembly but died in the Senate.

A screening committee of active alumni will review nominations and limit the number to be considered to three. The twenty members of the Executive Council will make a final selection from the three finalists.

Commission To Apportion Funds Provided Colleges By U.S.

A new state-appointed commission appeared in the making this week to determine how more than $7 million a year in federal money would be divided among Kentucky's private and public colleges.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt said he approved of the general plan worked out by college presidents and would appoint the board after details are completed. "They have worked out a fair approach. I think they have shown a fine spirit of cooperation," said the governor.

Dr. Ellis F. Hartford, secretary of the state Council on Public Higher Education, said the presidents had agreed on the commission plan. Earlier, some school men thought the council was the proper agency to handle the money while others disagreed. The new board presumably would determine the priority grants for both public and private schools.

College enrollment in Kentucky includes 24.5 percent at state supported schools; 31 percent in private colleges, including church-related schools, and 44.5 percent in municipal schools.

Congress approved a bill last month that would provide $2.26 million in each of the next three years for research or classroom buildings. Additionally, $919,788 is authorized yearly for public junior colleges and technical schools. The funds will be available on a matching basis $1 in federal money for each $2 put up locally.

A SQUEEZE ON SHIPPING Liqueur shipped on Castro is expected next year if foreign shipping firms promise to end all trade with Cuba as contracts expire. Foreign ships made 911 calls in Cuba in the first 11 months of 1962, while the same period in 1963 showed only 345 such calls made.

Regional Campus

Southern Schools Advancing -- But Improvement Still Needed

By WINNED L. GODWIN

Director, Southern Regional Education Board

Amid the flying flags and fanfare of New Year's Day bowl games, Southern states ranked half of the nation's top 10 college football teams.

Few people doubt the quality of this particular product of the region's colleges and universities. In other areas there is more room for doubt. Some say there is not a first rank graduate school in the region, and anyone interested in ranking institutions on such factors as expenditures per student and library expenditures isn't very happy when he examines evidence on Southern institutions.

We are making progress in extending educational opportunity in the South, but we can and should expect new concern for better quality on our campuses.

While most people would agree that we need better institutions, whose major purpose and fulfillment is the production of better citizens, there is surprisingly little agreement on the species of quality.

THE PUBLICATION SAYS

A recent publication issued by the U.S. Office of Education and written by Winslow R. Hatch attempts to deal with specifics of quality through listing 21 standards by which quality may be indicated in undergraduate colleges.

Since the primary purpose of the undergraduate college is teaching, several of the suggested standards deal with students and how they learn. This quality may be indicated in a college where students are "active" rather than "passive" learners, where there is not merely an emphasis on acquiring knowledge but on a joint teacher-student inquiry into the meaning of knowledge.

Quality may be indicated in those colleges where students do much general reading, where students average more than 30 hours per week in out-of-class study, where independent study by students is stressed, where teachers spend less time in remedial instruction, and where students have access to a wide array of learning aids as well as an adequate library.

Less specific and more difficult to demonstrate are suggestions that quality may be indicated in a college that "had a significant impact on its students," that can demonstrate it develops critical thinking in students, and "whose seniors end to be more creative than they were as freshmen."

QUALITY

Quality may be indicated in colleges that possess certain institutional characteristics -- in colleges, for example, that deliberately experiment in an effort to make the teaching-learning process more effective.

There would be wide agreement among educators that the following institutional characteristics indicate quality in a college: strong defense of academic freedom, high regard and adequate compensation for good teaching, large numbers of graduates who go into college teaching, and high representation of graduates among America's outstanding scientists and scholars.

These criteria, singly or together, are not advanced as completely definitive or as the final answer to what quality is. But they do warrant consideration of thoughtful parents, counselors, and prospective students.

CALENDAR GIRL — Rose Marie Taylor, a sophomore from Paris, has been chosen as the Morehead State College Calendar Girl. Rose is an art major and is active in Beaux Arts and the Newman Club on the MSC campus.

Alumni Giving Fund Is Now Under Way

The 1963-64 Annual Giving Fund of the Morehead State College Alumni Association is currently underway. Gifts to the fund entitle givers to membership in the Alumni Association and they receive the Trail Blazer, the Morehead Alumnus and other mailings of the college.

Membership in the Morehead Alumni Association is classified as a lifetime membership, associate membership and honorary membership.

Active membership is obtained by a donation to the Foundation by all persons who have graduated from Morehead Normal School, Morehead State Normal School and Teachers College and Morehead State College. Others included in active membership are individuals who have attended as full-time students at these respective schools for two full terms and whose class graduated.

Associate membership is available to present and past members of the administration, staff, faculty, friends of the college, parents of present and past students and members of the Board of Regents.

Honorary membership is awarded by a two-thirds vote of the Executive Council to those persons who have rendered valuable service to the College and the Alumni Association.

Active and associate membership in the Morehead State College Alumni Association is granted upon receipt of a contribution or gift to the Morehead Alumni Foundation, Inc. Contributions should be mailed to Alumni Affairs, Morehead State College, Morehead, Kentucky. Membership cards and letters are promptly sent to contributors.

Ford Wins Motor Trend's "Car of the Year" Award

January 8: Motor Trend magazine's "Car of the Year" Award goes to an engineering breakthrough! It honors all the '64s from Ford "For engineering advancement in the concept of Total Performance, proven in open competition."

Here's what the Motor Trend Award means to you...

The editors of Motor Trend, America's largest general automotive magazine, watched Ford's total performance in open competition... saw competition-modified Fords win every 300-mile stock car race in the last year, saw Ford-built engines end an era at Indianapolis and sweep the sports car circuits. Then they drove the 1964 Fords, Falcons, Fairlanes and Thunderbirds and discovered how the lessons of open competition have helped breed into them a new kind of total performance for the open road, for your kind of driving. And then they made their award!

The "Car of the Year" Award is an impressive testimonial, but see for yourself—take the wheel of a '64 from Ford. These cars speak for themselves with their ease of handling in a supermarket parking lot or their greater stability on a rain-slick highway.

Before you buy any new car this year, test-drive total performance in a Solid, Silent Super Torino Ford, now hundreds of pounds more car than anything in its field. Try America's only total performance compact, the Falcon V-8, totally new, totally changed. Or, any of the '64 Cars of the Year from Ford!

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

That's Total Performance!
