Jim Clink has been on the sick list the past few days.

Mothers' prayer meetings at Bill Clink's Wednesday at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Amy Johnson has returned from a visit with her parents in W. Va.

Grahn

We are having quite a spell of cold weather. It seems severe since we have had such a mild winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Wilcox have moved to their new Pleasant Valley home.

Quite a crowd of Grahn people were sleigh riding Sunday.

Mage Nolan and family visited John S. Jarvis and family at McGloie Sunday.

Maxine, the little granddaughter of Wm. Dickerson, has been visiting her grandparents, John S. Jarvis, at Corey.

We understand John Stapleton will take charge of the boarding house here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Watt Everman and little daughter Alma visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dickerson Sunday afternoon.

Otto Marcum and Miss Louie Dickerson and Miss Retta Whitt called at Robert Ross' Sunday.

The brick plant has been running slack the past week. We hope work will resume this week and call the men back to their work and give the ladies chance to get in the store.

Mrs. Charley Blizzard of Olive Hill, and daughter, were guests of her sister, Mrs. Ardie Dickerson, Sunday.

R. A. Kerkbeck left for Pennsylvania last week to see his mother who is very ill.

Rev. L. Dickerson, of Radnor, O., will preach for us on Friday night and probably stay over Sunday.

Here's $5

Do you want it?

It's easy as rolling off a log—our February addition problem on front page, CAN YOU ADD? Several are trying for the prize; it's a $5 gold piece and you have an equal chance to get it; read the "can you add, jumbled figure problem" on front page and send in your solution right now and you might be the correct recker; you can add and that is all necessary. The largest number in the lot is 8; no 158 or 548; add each figure as a whole number—all are single numbers. Get busy, do it RIGHT NOW!

No take, I am responsible for the $5, and the correct solution gets it, and if more than one are correct the $5 will be equally divided. — Editor

LUKE M LUKE SAYS

If girls were to choose their husbands as carefully as they do their hats, the woods would be full of bachelors.

A man's hips have to stay where Nature put them, but a woman can shift them around as much as she pleases.

Married life means three years of kissing and thirty years of cursing.

A single girl can please all men. A married girl can please all but one.

A man wouldn't stop to glance at a window display of wax models in union suits, but a flash at a stocking on a live model will blockade traffic.

What has become of the old-fashioned girl who would blush when a man spoke to her? — Cin. Eng.

The Senate has passed House bill making postal money orders payable at any postoffice.

A letter postmarked San Francisco, Feb. 14, containing four $5 gold pieces, accompanied by a request that they be contributed toward the government's buying of the telegraph and telephone systems of the United States, was received by president Wilson recently.

Appropriation Not Solicited.

A communication was read from M. J. Gooch, vice president of the board of trustees of the Western Kentucky Normal School, calling attention to the fact that a bill was introduced recently providing for an appropriation of $1500 a year for the institution. He said that neither President Cherry nor any member of the board had asked for the appropriation. He wrote: "The members of the board have stated repeatedly both to state officials and members of the general assembly that the Western Normal School would not ask for anything additional during this session, and we don't want to be put in the attitude of acting in bad faith. Our present annual appropriation of $15,000 is ample at present to pay the running expenses of the school, and any additional amount, restricted to this use, would be superfluous. Representative E. D. Stone, of Crittenden county, who introduced the bill, explained that it had been misprinted."

Cary Measure Passed.

The house passed the Cary bill, which prohibits the insurance companies, not incorporated in Kentucky, but licensed to do business in the state from insuring any risk except through legally licensed agents, and making it unlawful for any person or concern to insure in such a company without retaining one per cent of the premium and paying it into the state treasury. Consideration of the bill to empower graded school trustees to levy a school tax not to exceed two cents on the $100 was deferred two weeks, on account of the illness of its author, A. J. Oliver. The bill to increase the tax on real-estate mortgages was reported unfavorable. Measures recommended by the committees included the measure providing for the licensing of public accountants.

Repeal of Sentence Law.

A bill to repeal the indeterminate sentence law, to provide for paroles by the prison commission with the approval of the governor, and to give judges authority to fix the punishment after juries have found the accused guilty is before committee. Gov. McCreary in a statement said he is in favor of the repeal of the present law. He said: "I regret very much that a majority of the judges of the court of appeals believed it their duty to render the decision they did in the De Moss case. It is under this decision that about 200 convicts in the Frankfort Reformatory and about 100 at Edenville will be paroled. The indeterminate sentence law, under which these convicts are confined and released, was enacted by the legislature of 1910, before I became governor. I am in favor of repealing it."

Against Anti-Pass Bill.

If the anti-pass bill, which passed the Kentucky house of representatives, gets through the senate in the same form it will be in spite of strong opposition on the part of Louisville. It is pointed out the bill would not only prevent the giving of passes by common drivers, but would deprive policemen and firemen of the status as well as county peace officers, of their privilege of riding free while in uniform on street railway and interurban lines. There are between 750 and 1,000 policemen and firemen in Louisville, and it is estimated that on an average they ride from their homes to the stations and back three times a day while on duty. To meet this expense the city would have to increase its salaries approximately $9,000 a month or about $100,000 annually.

CAPITAL CHAT

The monument of Gov. William Goebel, standing in front of the Capitol, will be unveiled March 21 instead of March 4.

A bill to place express companies under the regulation of the railroad commission was introduced by Representative M. O. Wilson.

A bill by Representative Wood exempts from taxation moneys received from the United States government and the commonwealth of Kentucky by citizens as pensions.

The bill of Representative Stone abolishes the office of assessor in each county and provides for the justice of the peace in each magisterial district assess the property.

The bill of Representative Shaver fixes additional fees to be charged by sheriffs. They follow: For each grand juror or petit juror summoned, 50 cents, and for each witness summoned for the commonwealth in misdemeanor cases, 20 cents; for summoning witnesses for the commonwealth, in examining trials and prosecutions for misdemeanors, before the judge of the county court and for summoning witnesses before the grand jury, 20 cents each.

The Senate adopted a joint resolution offered by Senator Samuel L. Robertson, of Louisville, providing for the removal of a marble bust of Abraham Lincoln from the grounds of the Capitol to the Louisville Free Public Library.

The measure offered by Representative Greene provides that all moneys derived by the state from fines, forfeitures and other "accres" shall be converted into a fund to be used in prosecuting violators of the alcohol law.

Short Sermons FOR A Sunday Half-Hour

Theme: MAN, THE IMAGE OF GOD.

BY JUNIUS B. REMENSYNDER.

Text—And God said: Let us make man in our image, after our likeness. —Genesis, 1, 26.

There are two theories of the origin of man. One would bring him up from the earth beneath, placing his genealogy with the worms. The other, the Bible, brings him down from above. According to Genesis man was made in the divine "likeness." What are the marks of this "image of God?"

First the gift of reason. God is a rational being, and in distinction from the lower creatures, He has stamped upon us this likeness of Himself. God has given His mathematical thoughts upon atoms and crystals and snowflakes and on stars and worlds, and we can read these thoughts and admire the wondrous picture He has painted in the vast gallery of nature because we have a faculty of reason akin to His own.

The "likeness of God," again, consists in freedom. God is free. He knows no law but His sovereign will. He does what He chooses to do. Nature is under the grip of law. Necessity holds it with unending hand. The animals obey their inevitable instincts. But God has clothed man with this divine prerogative of free will. He is a sovereign. He can make a kingdom of it. To Him pertains the power of choice. He is the architect of His own soul. He is the fashioner of His own destiny. In the exercise of this perilous power he can raise himself to the angels or degrade himself below the brutes.

The "image of God" further appears in man's moral nature. As power the pagan deities, so righteousness and goodness characterize Jehovah. He is the "Holy One of Israel." "Thou forgettest righteousness." "Just and true are His ways." The seat of man's likeness to this divine quality is in conscience. To be pure in heart and mean in spirit and strong, to cherish noble and unselfish ideals, to do good to fellow men, this likens one most of all to God, his Maker.

This unique truth should imbue man with a sense of his greatness. It should impel him to self-respect. To stoop to the low and mean is to do violence to his high nature and to commit sacrilege against God, whose image he wears. Only good and noble ends are worthy of him.

Again, it shows that we are fitted for divine fellowship. Man's thoughts can reach up and God's thoughts can come down and meet, because our natures are akin. Hence, we can have secret speech with God. Prayer is justified. The whisper of our souls are the voices of a sea that beats on the shore of life. But of a sea whose stretches away to shores where to set the throne of God.

We are taught respect for our fellow man. However low, no matter how fallen, we should see vestiges of this divine lineage.

Hence, too, comes a sure hope of immortality. The supreme characteristic of God is that "He liveth forever." If we are made in His image we cannot die. We have the indelible mark of an indestructible life.

Let no one then mar this "image of God," but preserve its pristine beauty, and remember that He who made us in His own image, will be true to His word to serve not perishing, but the noblest ends of being.

In His Teaching.

God's leading is not intended to exempt us from the duty of initiation. Paul did not wait to be shown, in some miraculous way, what his duty was. He went straight forward in the line of the great purpose of his life, trusting God to arrest him or to divert him. Such indications of duty as the vision of the man of Macedonia were exceptional. The normal course of the apostle's life shows a man moving forward steadily along the line which his judgment and conscience approve, believing with all his soul, that he was going in God's way for him, and confident that God would check him or make his way plain if he thought he erred. To all who do this, God plainly speaks, "I am the Lord thy God which will send by the way that thou shouldest go."

Working and Preaching.

In one of the mission stations in China two shoemakers worked together. One of them was a superior workman, and the other a good shoemaker. The first agreed to do the work in the shop, and let the other give up half his time to missionary work, while he helped to sustain his family. One day's work a week for every one of the Church members in America, estimating the wage at only one dollar per day, would amount to more than $500,000,000 and support one million missionaries, which would be one for every one thousand persons in foreign lands. American Church members, however, give for missions less than an average of twenty-five cents a year. —Rev. A. B. Simpson.

Risen with Christ.

Risen with Christ means nothing less than to be dead and buried with Him—the self-life abandoned, the Christ-life revived. —E. M. Heerman.

Baby By Parents Post

Wellington, Kans., — Mrs. E. Staley, of this city, received her 2-year old nephew by parents' post today from her grandmother in Stratford, Oklahoma, where he had been left for a visit three weeks ago.

The boy wore a tag about his neck showing it had cost 18cts. to send him through the mails. He was transported 25 miles by rural route before reaching the railroad. He rode with the mail clerks, shared his lunch with them, and arrived here in good condition.

Andrew Jackson's Hickory Stick

Andrew Jackson's famous hickory stick has been presented to President Wilson by Senator Thompson in behalf of Levi Ludlum, of Wichita, Kan., who got it from a friend of the former president.

It is said to be the same stick with which "Old Hickory" located the United States Treasury on Pennsylvania avenue. There was a dispute as to where it should be. "Put it here," Jackson is credited with having said, as he plunged the end of the hickory stick into the ground, where the building now stands.

Alexander Campbell's Church

Sentiment backed by wealthy members of the Disciples of Christ or Christians, has won the fight to preserve the little red brick structure in Bethany, Pa., in which Alexander Campbell, founder of the Christian Church, first preached his new doctrine. When efforts were made to tear down the old building to make way for a modern building objection was made throughout the denomination.

Wealthy communicants, have promised to take care of the old building, and it will be used as a historical shrine.

Short Sermons

For a Sunday half-hour is a new feature department that has just been added to the reading matter of this paper. At some expense we have arranged to run one of those sermons each week. It will be found on the last page, and we especially desire you to read each sermon and if you think it a good department tell us so and we will continue to publish them.

THE PROGRESSIVE Office carries in stock, a nice line of Manuscript Covers, furnished blank or with printed back, and law card.

Balley Retains His Seat

The special house committee to which was referred the contest of Irvin Bach against Wallis Bailey, representative from the district of Breathitt, Lee and Magoffin counties, reported in favor of Mr. Bailey retaining his seat. Representative W. M. Webb introduced a constitutional amendment providing for state-wide prohibition. If the bill passed by Representative Douglas would have passed, and Webb would have occupied the thirty-sixth judicial district.

LONELY HOURS HAUNTS' MANY

WHEN the shadows of life close in about you and things go wrong, and there seems to be no one to talk to about it, no one to understand, the phantom loneliness creeps very near, shows it and adds bitterness and something akin to despair to the worries in your heart?

That phantom haunting three women last week drove you to attempted suicide, and a third to flight from the home where she was living awaiting her husband's return from a business trip.

Yet after all it is a shadow that we make for ourselves; a shadow that springs from the first hours when we give ourselves up to self pity because we are alone.

And modern life brings many such hours, for we have made for ourselves a bachelor freedom even when we still lack a bachelor's powers of seeking pleasures and companionship on every side.

We are, in fact, still hampered by the old traditional although we are shaping careers for ourselves, and until we learn to dream away the hours in our solitary rooms or apartments, until we learn the peace that comes from performing small household duties, we shall all women, be haunted by that phantom of loneliness.

If you cannot lose yourself with companions in some good book, pursue some great ambition, dream of it, plan for it, until the rosy mist of fancy shuts off your view of the dark phantom.

The woman who has learned to be her own best companion, who has learned the peace that comes with solitude has learned, too, the secret of charming companionship. By being much by herself she is able to make her personality felt more strongly when she seeks others, and you will find inevitably that the girl or woman most sought is the one who is very well content to spend quiet hours in her own room pursuing her own life independently of others.

Simplicity Is Keynote

The picturesque trend of the fashions of the year is particularly shown in the costumes for growing girls, which the shops are now showing for the spring months.

High waist lines, quaintly cut blouses, tunie-like overdresses and many charming and novel touches are shown in these frocks.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catton, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.
