

THE PROGRESSIVE

SUBSCRIBERS

If you are sent a copy of The Progressive printed on Pink colored paper it tells you that your subscription is not the next issue. If it is printed on Green colored paper it means you are a year behind for subscription, and we expect your dollar.

Thou Shalt Not Steal, Nor Bribe, Nor Craft

VOL. II. NO. 24

OLIVE HILL, CARTER COUNTY, KY., FEBRUARY 26, 1914

Price, $1.00 per year, In Advance

The Last Chance

has come to many, and those who disregard it as THE LAST are sorry after it is too late. Saturday, coming, Feb. 28th, is your last chance to win the prize $5 gold piece.

READ BELOW

$5.00 IN 5 MINUTES TIME

NO TRICK—NO SCHEME Almost Anyone Can Do It

We have a $5 prize puzzle for March which will be printed in this paper next week, and an extra prize will go to the first answer received.

The above is our February Cash Prize Puzzle. It is our intention to each month during the present year give away $5 in Gold. The first week of each month we will offer a puzzle, something along the line of the above, and the party giving the correct solution will be GIVEN THE $5 GOLD PIECE. Should more than one party give the correct solution; then the money will be equally divided. There are no strings to this whatever; we are doing this because we hope it will cause a little more interest than THE PROGRESSIVE, which is giving away this money. The problem is

What is the Correct Sum of the Figures in the Above Square?

Simply add every FIGURE, as in the first line of small figures, beginning at the bottom—add 4 and 8 are 12, and 3 are 15—and so on, adding all figures—both big and little. Anyone may enter the contest, writing the answer in the square below or on a piece of plain paper. During this contest we will accept subscriptions to The Progressive at 10c. a month, and each solution sent in MUST be accompanied by 10c. or more for subscription to the paper which will be sent to your address 4 weeks, or for such time as you subscribe. The correct solution and the winner will be announced the first issue in March, and all answers must be in our hands by noon, the last day of the month. Stamps will be accepted, for convenience. Address:

J. I. MADDOX, Editor, Olive Hill, Ky. Puzzle Dept.

Prize enclosed; send paper to _____ my solution is _____

FURNITURE OF QUALITY

I handle everything in the line

ALSO

Stoves and Ranges Carpets, Rugs, Mattings, Linoleum, Blankets, Comforts and Pillows Brass and Iron Bed Scaffolds, Mattresses, Davenport, etc.

Have the Biggest and Best Line of Wallpaper Ever Brought to Olive Hill.

Be sure to inspect my goods before buying elsewhere.

J. E. WALLACE, OLIVE HILL

12 and 16 Gauge Hammerless "Pump" Guns

Six Quick Shots!

The Marlin

Marlin Firearms Co., 42 Willow Street, New Haven, Conn.

The Progressive, Regular Price, $1 Youth's Companion, Price - - - $2

Both 1 Year for 2.50

RADICAL CHANGE IN PAROLE LAW

APPROVAL OF THE GOVERNOR WILL BE NECESSARY IN KENTUCKY.

SENTENCE ACT IS AMENDED

Chief Executive is interested in Proposal to Employ Expert to Value Railroad Properties and Bill Favored by Chairman of Commission May be Passed.

(By Ernest W. Helm.)
Frankfort, Ky.—Radical changes in the prison parole law are provided for in bills that have passed the senate. Provided they be approved by the approval of the governor will be necessary before a parole can be issued. His consent also will have to be secured before a parole violator may be returned to the penitentiary. One of the bills amends the indeterminate sentence law, which recently was held to be defective by the court of appeals on the ground that it conferred judicial power on the prison commissioner, whose functions are purely administrative. It increases from five to eight years the period a person sentenced to prison for life must serve before he may become eligible for parole.

Expert To Fix R. R. Valuation.

House Bill No. 317, reauthorized first reading and a pit in the calendar, proves to contain more merit than at first understood, and it is likely to be made a vital issue in the near future. The bill authorizing the governor, attorney general and chairman of the state railroad commission to appoint an engineer and expert accountant to assist in taking the physical valuation of railroads in Kentucky in conjunction with the interstate commerce commission. Chairman Lawrence Finn has just brought the bill to the attention of Gov. McCrory. "There is no one connected with the railroad commission who has either the time or the knowledge to do this work," said Chairman Finn. "The physical valuation of railroads made by the interstate commerce commission will be the future basis for making and taxation, and possibly the basis for the purchase of the companies' property by the government, if such a purchase is undertaken by the national government. The valuation placed on railroad property in Kentucky in the matter of freight rates and taxation means millions of dollars to the commonwealth and to the people for the time to come. I can think of nothing of more material importance than that the valuation is rightly made." Gov. McCrory asked Mr. Finn to put his argument in writing, and he may become sponsor for the bill.

Stubborn Fight on Glenn Bill.

Because of the desire of those back of the movement to enlarge the powers of the state rating board whereby it may fix fire insurance rates in Kentucky, the legislature for the Glenn Bill in the senate the bill of Representative Greene, of Carroll, that passed the house, action on the Glenn measure was postponed in the upper branch of the general assembly. Eighty-four fire insurance companies doing business in Kentucky have notified their special agents to stop cancellation of policies for renewal purposes, on the ground that the practice would impede the fight on the pending rating bill. Withdrawal of the companies from the state in the event of the passage of the rating bill, it is pointed out, would be ineffective should the practice be continued. It is said that concert of action was decided upon at a conference of managers held in Chicago.

Express Regulation Bill.

Among various measures causing interest is that of Senator Charles H. Knight, of Louisville, seeking to regulate express companies operating in the state by placing them under the supervision of the state railroad commission and giving to the commission the right to fix rates. The Knight bill is in the Senate and a similar measure has been introduced in the house. The two measures were taken up at a joint session of the house and senate committees to which they were referred, respectively, and reported favorably in both branches of the legislature. J. E. Vance, of Louisville, superintendent of the southern district of the Adams Express company, and various others appeared before the joint committee in opposition to the bills.

1214 BILLS IN HOPPER

A total of 890 bills have been introduced to date, in the house, and 334 in the senate, and in order that all these may be acted upon it will be necessary for the two houses to hold Saturday as well as afternoon and night sessions.

Plea For Farm Training.

A strong argument in favor of teaching agriculture in the rural schools and defending the normal schools is advanced by State Rural School Supervisors T. J. Coates and F. C. Button and State High School Supervisor Mr. Henry Rhoads, who joined in a statement to the press. They declare that the "soil of Kentucky is being depleted by the systems of cultivation, and the yield of the soil and the amount it should be. It is an economic necessity that agriculture should be taught in the schools in order to conserve the soil and to increase the yield. Some may say these things will come about without the schools. They will come about that faster if the children are trained properly. "It is an economic necessity because the people of the cities are vitally interested in increasing the high cost of living. To bring this about the farmers must produce more and market better. Knowledge of better methods will help the farmers. "It is an economic necessity in order to keep more of our bright boys on the farm. This can be done only by the right kind of education. Our schools now are training the children away from the farm."

Mrs. Cora-Wilson Stewart

The activity of Mrs. Cora-Wilson Stewart, Superintendent of Rowan-county schools, and Editress of the Morehead Mountaineer, in her ardent work toward lessening the percentage of illiteracy in Rowan, her home county, through "Moonlight Schools," has paved her way to another field of work. The Prison Board Commission wants her to take charge of the educational work of the penal institutions. She has been offered the position to assistant Superintendent of the

Funny Side To Legislation.

The funny side of legislation developed before Senator Boicourt's bill, regulating the conduct of domestic fowls in cities of the first class, was passed. Senator Hall offered an amendment providing for an incorrigible chicken committee to be composed of three members, appointed by the governor, at annual salary of $5,000. The amendment was denied by the commissioners to see that the chickens did not violate the provisions of the act. If any were found guilty they were to be placed in solitary confinement. Senator Hall read from the amendment a clause, providing that the committee should have no control over the general assembly. To forestall defeat he withdrew the amendment.

Protecting Mussel Beds.

Among the bills in the orders of the day in the senate is that of Starling L. Marshall, of Henderson, seeking to regulate the catching of mussel shells with a view to conserving the mussel shell beds belonging to Kentucky. Such beds in the Ohio river during the last ten years have produced 200,000 tons of shells according to advocates of the bill and as a result the beds have become greatly depleted. Shells now taken from the overworked beds are so small, many of them, that they are thrown away at the pearl-button factories. If the pending bill passed, however, the regulation will be such that the shells may not be taken from the river until they have grown to a useful size.

Accounting Bill Is Passed.

With but two dissenting votes, the Houtchcraft uniform accounting bill was passed. It provides for the installation of a uniform, modern system of bookkeeping in all state offices, departments and institutions is provided for in a bill introduced by Senator Speer. The bill provides that on or before the first of November biennially the departments, institutions, commissions and officers of the state shall report an estimate in itemized form to the governor as to the amount of money needed for the biennial period beginning with the first of July thereafter. All unexpended sums are to be returned to the state treasury.

Change in Primary Law.

The bill of Representative Cary, of McLean county, amending the present primary election law, passed the house by the vote of 68 to 6. The measure eliminates the necessity of a person securing a certain number of signatures to petition before his name can go on a party ballot for nomination to office, merely requiring him to file a declaration, vouched for by two reputable voters under oath, that he has the necessary qualifications for office, and that he supported the nomination of the party whose nomination he is seeking in the last general election. It also makes unnecessary the holding of a primary election in a district where the candidate, or candidates, is without opposition.

Sent to House of Reform

Jessie Barnes, aged 13, son of George Barnes of Olive Hill was taken to Greendale Saturday and placed in the House of Reform. He was taken into custody here by Chief of Police Carpenter on complaint of Kiah Fufts that the boy had taken money from his pocket to the amount of about $40, to which the boy confessed, recovering to Mr. Fufts $26.75. The balance, the boy claims, was taken away from him by some other boys whom he implicated, we have understood, before the grand jury at Grayson last week. Mr. Fufts is an invalid by reason of the loss of a leg, and the boy had been hired to push the invalid chair about and do chores.

Petit Jury

Cecil Cramer, W. M. Jarvis, W. R. Clay, W. C. Holbrook, H. Kelley, W. C. Horton, J. P. Burchett, Guss James, G. W. Sammon, J. E. Fields, M. W. McCarty, R. W. Jacobs, Geo. M. Reeder, M. F. Waddle, C. C. Huff, R. M. Griffey, L. C. Fields, S. W. McDavid, Chris Sloan, Wiser Adkins, John Easterling, W. A. Bellevue, Abe Lowe, Chas. Sammons, Godolph McCormick, Wm. Hill, J. M. Haney, Lon Yates, M. D. McAllister, Fred Porter.

Blank Deeds for sale at THE PROGRESSIVE office 5 for 10cts

For The Highest Prices

Ship Your Tobacco to the

Huntington Tobacco Warehouse

COMPANY

Huntington, W. Va.

NOTE:—This warehouse will continue to have sales until June 1, and after that date if necessary.

Lumber & Roofing

SHOP CARPENTER WORK

Call and See

J. A. Maddix

I. M. ASH MAIL ORDER LIQUOR HOUSE

Fine Whiskeys, Brandies, Wines, Beer, Etc.

My policy is Good straight whiskeys to each and every customer—honest dealing with one and all. My goods are all full measure, and in nice clean, clear bottles, and guaranteed under the Pure Food Law

PRICE LIST

Whiskey	Qt. 1 Gal.	Bottled in Bond Goods	Qt. 4 Qts. 12 Qts.
Big Sandy Rye	$5.00	$1.00 $2.00	Old Fowler $ .90 $3.50 $10.00
Two Star Bourbon	.50	1.00 2.00	Bond & Lillard 1.10 4.40 12.50
Star Bottle Bourbon	.65	1.25 2.50	Edgewood 1.25 4.50 13.00
Kentucky Bourbon	.65	1.25 2.50
Old Tarr	.75	1.50 3.00
Smoke House	1.00	2.00 4.00

SPECIAL

Old Reserve

Private Stock of I. M. Ash
Aged in Wood for 12 Years
McGinnis Apple Brandy
100's 9 years old 1.00 2.00 4.00 $4.00 per gallon

Remember—Pay expressage on all orders of $2.50 or over. An order sent to ASH will be shipped by next train. I have some very handsome advertising matter which I will be glad to place in your next order. If you are under 21 years of age I don't want your orders.

I. M. ASH, Catlettsburg, Ky.

The PROGRESSIVE

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

by J. L. MADDOX

Entered as second-class matter September 27, 1912 at the postoffice at Olive Hill Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879

Ben's Run

Here we are again after so long. We hope all the correspondents will not get snowed under.

Mr. and Mrs. George Conley and two little daughters have been visiting Mrs. Conley's sister Mrs. Geo. Phillips, at Grahm, the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Ross were the guests of their son Wirt and family one day last week.

Rev. Chester Armstrong and wife have been visiting at her grandmother's at Grahm.

The revival meeting conducted by Boss Oney and Foyost closed last Monday night. There was good interest and much good accomplished.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Johnson and little daughter Leone were the guests of her mother and sister here.

Mrs. Lucy Barnett, who has been quite ill at the home of her father, is about well again.

Russell McClave visited home folks Sunday.

Mrs. Evie Roe was all smiles Sunday; wonder why, Logan?

Grandma Cline, who lives at Lexington, has been visiting her daughters, and other relatives here. She is 75 years old but is hale and hearty and gets around as well as one half her age.

Wm. McClave has been repairing his house.

A TEXAS WONDER

The Texas Wonder cures kidney and bladder troubles, dissolves gravel, cures diabetes, weak and lame backs, rheumatism, and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regularly bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. One small bottle is two months' treatment, and seldom fails to perfect a cure. Send for testimonials from this and other states. Dr. E. W. HALL, 2836 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo. Sold by druggists. - adv. - 23-754. Mention this paper when writing.

Grahm

Winter is still howling on and there is a lot of pneumonia caused by the sudden changes of the weather.

There was quite an excitement here last Saturday afternoon caused by a drunken crowd. John Stapleton succeeded in making two arrests after shooting and wounding Wm. Lowe.

Misses Lucy and Stella Whitt were Sunday callers here from Corey.

Thurman Justice has a new graphophone and quite a crowd of young folks were in Sunday to hear the new pieces.

The little three-year-old son of W. B. Williams is very ill with typhoid fever.

Miss Myrtle, Dickerson called on her grandmother Sunday.

We are sorry we are to soon lose one of Grahm's finest young ladies, but our loss is Ernest's gain.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh of the Bladder. This is the only positive cure now known to the medical profession, Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requiring a constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. Ketchum's Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing his work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer $100,000 for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of names. Address P. O. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Take Hall's Family Pills for Constipation.

Soldier

The Bible School at this place held their first services in the new church house Feb. 15, with a large attendance.

The school's celebration Lincoln's Day was quite a success. The program consisted of patriotic songs, recitations, marches, orills and offerings of Lincoln's. There was quite a number of persons present and all seemed to enjoy the program.

Misses Pearl and Gemma Fleming returned to their home at Ward after a week's visit at the home of their uncle, L. S. Vincent.

Prof. Brahmell was in Olive Hill on business Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. King returned from Ashland where they have been for some days. His health is very much improved, and he is able to be about his work again after an illness of almost three months of typhoid.

Mrs. I. B. Cooksey and daughter Willa are in Grayson.

Miss Hettie Shay has returned from W. Va., where she has been teaching for the past six months.

J. Q. Adams is a business visitor in Grayson.

SIXTY HURT IN FRISCO COLLISION

Sleeper on Frisco Hurled Many Feet and Unclenched, Injured Passengers Lay in Snow.

Western Newspaper Union News Service, Springfield, Mo., Sixty passengers were injured, five fatally, when two Frisco trains collided at Nichols Junction, four miles from Springfield. According to reports from the scene of the wreck, the engineer and fireman of one train were killed. The trains that collided were the fast Kansas City-St. Louis limited, from Kansas City to St. Louis, and No. 104, bound from Memphis to Kansas City. The Memphis train was running slowly onto a siding to give the east-bound train the right of way. The former crashed into it, hurling a coach and a Pullman many feet from the track. Most of the injured were on the Memphis train. The injured were brought here. Many persons were pinned under the wreckage and rescued by daring work on the part of the trainmen and fellow-passengers. One man, apparently 70 years old, forced his wife from beneath the wreckage and then fainted. He was brought here with his wife, who is in a serious condition. Uninjured passengers carried those hurt long distances through the snow, seeking shelter from the biting cold.

ON ROCKS OF NO MAN'S LAND. Garhead, Mass.—The Fabre Steamship Co.'s liner Roma, with 418 passengers and a crew of 100 men, bound from Marselles for Providence and New York, was stuck on, the rocky shore of No Man's Land. The fate of vessels was in jeopardy. The conditions were bad and wireless communication was had with uncertainty. A message picked up at Siasconset, three hours after the steamer had made known her plight, seemed to indicate that she had floated, but the meaning of the dispatch was not clear.

FIVE INDICTMENTS QUASHED.

Bridgeport, Conn.—State's Attorney Judson quashed the manslaughter indictments against five officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, but refused to annul the indictment against former President Charles S. Melton. The indictments grew out of the wreck at West Port, Conn., October 3, 1912, in which seven persons were killed.

BULGARIA FALLS IN LINE.

Bucharest.—Chas. J. Vopelka, United States Minister to Romenia, Serbia and Bulgaria, was officially notified that Bulgaria will participate in the Panama Exposition.

CINNINATI MARKETS

Corn—New corn quoted as follows: No. 2 white 71¢/71½¢, No. 3 white 69¢/70½¢, No. 4 white 66¢/67¢, No. 2 yellow 67¢/68½¢, yellow 66¢/66½¢, No. 4 yellow 62¢/63¢, No. 2 mixed 67¢/68¢, No. 3 mixed 64¢/65¢, No. 4 mixed 62¢/63¢, yellow ear 64¢/66¢, white ear 64¢/66¢, yellow ear 65¢/66¢.

Hay—No. 1 timothy 131¢/132¢, standard timothy 117¢/117½¢, No. 2 timothy 116¢/116½¢, No. 1 clover mixed 81¢, No. 2 clover mixed 81¢, No. 1 clover 114¢/115¢, No. 2 clover 112¢/113¢.

Oats—No. 1 white 42¢/43½¢, standard white 42½¢/43¢, No. 3 white 41¢/42¢, No. 4 white 39¢/40¢, No. 2 mixed 41¢/42¢, No. 3 mixed 40¢/41¢, No. 4 mixed 39¢/40¢.

Wheat—No. 2 red 98¢/99½¢, No. 3 red 96¢/97½¢, No. 4 red 95¢/96½¢.

Poultry—Hens, 5 lbs and over, 16½¢; 3½ lbs and over, 16½¢; young stage chickens, 12¢; roosters, 12¢; splinters, under 2½ lbs, 18¢; spring egg, 2½ lbs and over, 18¢; spring chickens, 4 lbs and over, 18¢; ducks, under 4 lbs, 18¢; turkeys, 10 lbs and over, 21¢; young turkeys, 9 lbs and over, 21¢.

Eggs—Prime fresh 26¢, firsts 25¢, ordinary firsts 24¢, seconds 22¢.

Cattle—Shippers, 1675¢/1682¢, extra $8.25¢/8.40¢; butcher steers, extra $9.10¢, good to choice $7.97¢/8.00¢, common to fair $5.75¢/5.90¢; heifers, extra $8.00¢, good to choice $7.75¢, common to fair $5.50¢/5.60¢; cows, extra $6.50¢/6.75¢, good to choice $6.25¢/6.40¢, common to fair $5.20¢/5.35¢; calves $4.92¢.

Hogs—Bologna $6.25¢/6.47¢, extra $7.10¢, fat hogs $6.75¢/6.87¢.

Cattle—Extra $11.50¢, fair to good $9.25¢/11.25¢, common and large $6.11¢.

Hogs—Selected heavy $8.35¢/8.60¢, good to choice $7.50¢/8.00¢, extra $6.50¢/6.90¢, mixed packers $8.50¢/8.85¢, stags $6.75¢/6.85¢, extra $7.75¢, common to choice heavy fat sows $6.90¢/7.00¢, extra $6.50¢/6.60¢, light shippers $8.25¢/8.60¢, plus 130 lbs and less, $6.98¢.

Sheep—Extra $5.50¢, good to choice $5.00¢/5.40¢, common to fair $3.67¢/4.75¢.

Lambs—Extra $8.10¢, good to choice $7.15¢/8.10¢, common to fair $6.07¢/6.50¢, clipped lambs $6.50¢/7.25¢.

AVIATOR FALLS 800 FEET.

Pensacola, Fla.—Lieut. J. McC. Murray, of the United States naval aviation corps, stationed here, was last night killed when his machine plunged 800 feet into Pensacola bay. The machine was demolished and Lieut. Murray's body was discovered shortly afterward about 200 yards from the spot

"SWEETMASH" (100 Per Cent Proof)

The very Finest Clear White Corn Whiskey

Made in our own distillery of the very best sound grain, in the old-fashioned way, in small tubs, like home made—always clear white as crystal.

Mail your order today

Put up in handsome Glass Jugs	1 Gallon	$1.95
	2 Gallons	3.85
	3 Gallons	5.75

"Sweetmash" is never sold under 100 proof. This is positively the biggest value and greatest bargain in fine Corn Whiskey put on the market.

Read our Offer: If you don't find it the finest Corn Whiskey money can buy, return the balance of the money sent to us. We will refund the full amount of the money sent to us. Send all orders to

American Pure Food Company
Catlettsburg, Kentucky

LUKE M'LUKE SAYS

Too many men do a lot of prying on Sunday and a lot of prying on the other six days.

The world is filled with people who will gladly pay $5 for a book labeled "How to Succeed," but who would laugh at you if you asked them to read the Ten Commandments.

A woman is a queer creature. The worse a man is to her the more she values his counsel, and the better he is to her the more she values some other man's persuasions.

If some of the female angels can't play the harp any better than they can play the piano, Heaven isn't going to be such a fine place after all.

Before marriage the fortunate young man is the only pebble on the beach. After marriage the unfortunate young man finds he's about the only pebble off the beach. - Eng.

Guard Your Children

Against Bowel Trouble

Many children at an early age become constipated, and frequent serious consequences result. Not being able to realize his own condition, a child's bowels should be constantly watched and a gentle laxative given when necessary. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are especially well adapted to women and children. The Sisters of Christian Charity, 531 Charles St., Lancaster, Pa., who attend many cases of sickness say of them:

"From the age we began using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and read that we like them very much. Their action is prompt and we are grateful for their use. We have had a great deal of success in every case. The tablets are very much pleased."

The form and flavor of any medicine is very important, no matter how good the ingredients. A pleasant and important form of medicine is Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, which give the average child the most pleasant and effective medicine, even though the taste is not so good as that of other laxatives. It is this quality of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets that makes them so popular with children and adults alike. Let your child have the best remedy for children.

If the first few pills do not benefit, do not give any more. Ask your physician for a full course of 25 cents. Write to Dr. J. C. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

From a Kayford, W. Va., Subscriber

We receive the Progressive weekly and think it just fine. It contains just lots of news and a good sermon each week. As Kentucky is a state to send Missionaries there is some needed here. If one likes to live among the colored people let them come to the coal fields. In the West Virginia mountains there has been some snow; near two feet deep for Mr. Grundhog's day, with prospects for more winter. The mining works are still here now, and another strike is looked for in the Spring. The mining town is crowded with laborers from other coal fields. Surveys are being made for a vein of hard coal near the top of the mountain which will take lots of labor to prepare for running.

We Carry the Largest and Best Assorted Stock of Domestic and Imported

Whiskies, Wines and Brandies

In Southern Ohio and are Wholesale Dealers in Liquors Only. Those Are Two Reasons Why We Give You

Better Goods For Your Money

Clermont Apple Brandy, 4x, full quart	$1.00
California Apricot Brandy	.75
Prune	.75
Cherry Bounce	1.00
Ginger Brandy	.75

These Brandies are the Best that Money Can Buy

Orders by mail, amounting to $2.50 or more will be shipped EXPRESS PREPAID

GLOCKNER & MEYER
431-433 Front St. PORTSMOUTH, OHIO

UNDER TAKING

Coffins and Caskets
Burial Suits & Supplies
U. S. G. TABOR, Olive Hill.
WE ARE ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE

IF U DO

Get a copy of this paper and are not a subscriber, you may know it is sent to you at the request of a friend who thinks you should subscribe for it, and you SHOULD if news of Carter County interests you. THE PROGRESSIVE is on the watch continually for news of interest to its readers.

READ and HEED

We have a number of those world famous "500 Pictures of Theodore Roosevelt," the original of which cost thousands of dollars, but those using the subscription blank below will give with each subscription one of those pictures free. The pictures are 10 by 20 inches—the correct size for framing.

J. L. MADDOX, Editor THE PROGRESSIVE

Enclosed find $ _____ Send The Progressive for _____ months, and the 500 poses of Teddy, to following

NAME _____ ADDRESS _____

900 DROPS
CASTORIA
ALCOHOL 3 PER CENT
Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomach and Bowels of
INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion Cheerfulness and Contentment. Relieves
Opium Morphine and Alcohol
NOT NARCOTIC.
Beware of cheap Imitations.
Perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhea,
Worms, Feverishness, Irritation and LOSS OF SLEEP.
The Sole Signature of
W. D. PARSONS
THE CENTAUR COMPANY,
NEW YORK
A month's supply
35 DROPS = 35 CENTS
Guaranteed under the Food and Drug Act.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
Mothers Know That
Genuine Castoria
Always
Bears the Signature of
W. D. Parsons
In Use
For Over
Thirty Years
CASTORIA

AVIATOR FALLS 800 FEET.

Pensacola, Fla.—Lieut. J. McC. Murray, of the United States naval aviation corps, stationed here, was last night killed when his machine plunged 800 feet into Pensacola bay. The machine was demolished and Lieut. Murray's body was discovered shortly afterward about 200 yards from the spot

THE COUNT and the CONGRESSMAN

By Mrs. Burton Harrison.

Copyright 1918, by Constance Cary Harrison.

She drew suddenly out of these musings to recall that a letter from Aunt Katrina had been, according to her custom, tucked into her blouse unopened, when she had handed it to be put setting out for the boat. In her preoccupation with the invalid's removal, she had not thought of it again. Yet nothing new could be more welcome, more life-giving than one of Mrs. Wilfred Methuen's epistles, full of congenial sympathies and scattered with references to their joyous days of travel, and to people of the wider, outer world.

"Dear Aunt Katrina," thought Margot, self-reproachfully. "I understand you better now. And but for your beautiful giving to our family, we should have been dependent upon Miss Constance. I actually the moving down here, to think how I have kept you waiting!"

The letter was long, full of everything the kind aunt could think of to cheer and encourage the late companion of her rambles in foreign parts. There was even a restrained but telling record of her reunion with the sick and bed-ridden Miss Minnie Fothergill. Margot could not but smile at this. And then came, unheeded, certain phrases that made the reader's heart leap up: "A letter from Countess Fleury tells me that her neighbour, Count Stelio, has left the Lake, for what purpose she has not informed. It is a popular belief, however, that he will next be heard of in the Engadine, in attendance upon Miss Carteret and the late Countess. It seems to be a fact that while 'she' was there he was continually 'her' company, and older folk who looked on advanced to hope that the dear, beautiful boy has at last seen the folly of dragging out a life of melancholy poverty, when, with the aid of the Countess millions he might—"

"Oh! he would never, never stoop to that!" Margot thought, throwing down the sheet impulsively. Her eyes flashed, her cheeks burned with resentment at the wretched insinuation. Then as quickly, her mood changed and she dropped her lovely head in contrition, and confessed this what she herself had "stooped" to do? At this moment was she not reaping the full harvest of her humiliation?

A faint stir in the bed summoned her, and directly she was at her father's side, answering his appeal for water with loving solicitude. "I felt as if you were there," he said drowsily, as she ministered to him. Then opening his eyes suddenly he added:

"It is good to be back in your room, mother!" and turning comfortably upon his side fell again into deep sleep.

During the days immediately succeeding upon the arrival of the nurse had it opened, the nurse had a more cheerful report to offer, Margot bestowed no further regrets upon her own action. Her hours were occupied with attending upon both patients, went swiftly. To her relief, the girls, her sisters, developed almost unreasonably sources of amusement for their thoughts and time. Maud began engaged in writing a novel of Society among the Four Hundred of New York's society circles, and Maud had been and the irrepressible Jessy in setting up a flirtation with the young newly-graduated physician who came down two or three times a week to Harrison Hall, and the favourable progress of his patient. When Mrs. Methuen, a little terrified by the prospective cost of this attendance had enquired into the matter, she had been informed that both doctor and nurse were under instructions by cable from Mr. McPhail, and with the usual care carefully concealed from her youngest daughter, as well as the cause there, had been asked: "Is the poor woman's health so bad that she had taken wings to itself long since, and she was now as ready to receive her benefactor's love as any cramped invalid?"

receiving her benefactor's love as any cramped invalid with a basket brimming with her own good wishes. Her delight was immeasurably in the ease and elegance of the present life, at sitting down three times a day at the best of her own days, a table of which she had not to count the cost of enjoying her sister in a green, cool, fragrant chamber upon a luxurious flower-strewn bed, with muslin pillows under her worn old head, of taking down endless novels from the library shelves, and arranging flowers upon her own garden—and most of all, of driving out late in the afternoon in a neat little open carriage of which the liveried coachman touched his hat quite as if he belonged to her, while her humble neighbours came out to meet their front doors and saluted and invited her to the late dinner at the Indian Hall. It was her little Indian summer of enjoyment, after a hard, cruel struggle for existence, and she felt that the future lay in her heart to blush for him.

your marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

"And you suppose you've had all the sorrow?" cried she hotly. "You make nothing of my suffering, when I heard you were in Venice and knew that you were calling me and dared not answer?"

She tried to withdraw the rash admission, started by the rapture of his face, but could not, for Stelio's arms were around her, he was kissing her face and hair.

"Ah! don't struggle, Margot, don't, don't put me away, everything confess your love for me," he cried. "Tell me only that all this about McPhail who is not worthy of the girl who is to be his wife, that you will come to me in spite of him, fulfilling our mutual destiny. While your poor father lay ill, I would not at all desert you, and now that he is better, they tell me, I shall make his acquaintance, I can convince him of my fitness to win you as keep-keep for my own. Speak, answer me. Tell me you have only been misled, misguided to do this cruel act to me at all, to you, to me, and that you are mine, mine, mine."

For one brief moment she had answered his heart beats with her own, and he had kissed her forehead, she wrung herself away. The love in his appeal had wrung her heart as if he had wrung between the walls, she felt like a leaf of Autumn caught up and whirling in a restless hurricane. She had dealt to poor humankind, arose an image of the still form in the shaded chamber depending upon her for its slender hold on the world.

Stelio, realizing this check felt a chill and he looked at her, he looked into her face came a look, that boded him no good. She tried to speak but failed. Neither could she speak and she stood still, her eyes looking into each other's eyes, until Margot regained her voice.

"Look over there!" she said softly, pointing to the window through an opening between verdant oak boughs. "You don't know, perhaps, that not one inch of this sky, one inch of this blue, is not yours, or its refuge of it, is ours?" Yet it is giving refuge to my poor father and mother, to all of us—and it is I who have taken the refuge from you."

Stelio! oh! for a last word with him to ease her burning heart. Only look only—

"And here, through the thick unwooded canopy, lay the answer to this cry of the heart, Stelio in person, pale, haggard, worn, deep love and reproach in his eyes—"

"You?" she cried breathlessly. "Oh! it can't be." For a moment he did not speak and she, who had risen shaking in every limb, dropped back upon the bench, putting one hand across her eyes in bewilderment.

Then his words came, in an impetuous cry: "I am here because I heard you were soon to marry him, that man who sought my poor Bibbeon when I stood fool, thought I was selling it only to win you for the Countess. Fleury told me this was so I went away from my home and called myself for America. Since then, I have been waiting for you, and have learned all that you have done. A journal of this morning says Mr. McPhail is returning to America, that I have done my poor dear, would not be living now."

"Margot, forgive me, I am a bitter creature. But you are ignorant of life, that you are taking on yourself a fate as horrible and as crushing as any that was ever visited upon a woman."

George. "God knows if I could save you from it without thought of myself and my own longing for you, I'd save you."

"You can't you can't!" she exclaimed mournfully. Even now she was sensible that the distance between them was widening. "I saw that the inevitable was beginning to lay hold of and drag him down to submission."

"But we were so happy, weren't we?" she went on plaintively. "That little time in Como—how long it was in actual days and weeks, I know no idea. It makes no difference. We just drifted on and on amid the perfect beauty of earth and sky and water, and I never even knew I loved you till one night when I wrote you that farewell note that sang for me at Countess Fleury's. You remember when you came out of the darkness on to the quay to part with me, that something lit the touch of your hand that woke up in me a whole world of feeling no one else had ever made me know. And the walk in your garden, when you were so kind to Hermes—it seemed so right, so natural, as if we were born for it—and so distinctly beautiful. . . . I thought it was as if I were going to Villa d'Este, it was as if I had never had romance more rudely from a lovely sleep. Up till then, I had never thought of you as a foreigner, a person of whom I knew hardly anything, one of a different religion from my own. I hadn't in the least idea of what you were rich or poor. You were only you. I regretted a thousand times, You answered me accepting it as final, and my heart broke. I didn't want to be parted from you. But the worst of all was when you sang in Venice. Oh! I never want to hear you sing again! And when I found out that the Countess had been acting behind my back, I understood her. All his being thrilled in answer to these sweet avowals, but he made no further move to approach her. It was getting late, and I was so tired, I was accustomed to relieve the nurse in sitting beside her father, and she told him so. He walked with her to the gate of the woods, her invitation to visit their mother and share their evening meal. Across that threshold of McPhail's house, I found that I had been faint or starving. Just before they passed out of the fringe of trees around the little knoll into the garden, I saw that Stelio was holding out his hand. Margot laid hers in it, and they locked their last in each other's souls."

The next week she was, gazing after him until Stelio had crossed the orchard and vaulting over to the fence, struck out into the high road to the farm, where he had his motor-car, had found shelter and refreshment.

Then she could see him no more, for better, blinding tears.

(To be continued.)

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection and understanding. All that while I was waiting, I was at the beach. So when I had Countess Fleury's dreadful tidings of your engagement, and it was confirmed by Miss Carteret, my heart faced counsel me in my black hours when I had to talk and act as if I cared not at all, I broke away and came home."

my marriage day will then be announced, I left the automobile that brought me here at a farmhouse somewhere near, and called at your house to be told that Madame, your mother, is driving out, and that you were in this wood. A servant came to the door, and told me the way, but I sent him back. Oh! he dared not refuse me, that man, I think I should have killed him had he dared to show that he refused me. Margot, I cannot bear it, I can't do you, I can't let that vulgar brute take from me all my treasures. If I did not believe that you love me, only if you can look me in the eyes and say you don't, why I will give up and go away, crushingly, and show that I am right, it, without trying to keep you. I am your lover and you are mine, spite of all the world. That night I sang to you in Venice, I knew you went straight to your heart wherever you might be. I felt sure you would somehow answer me, and I wrote you a farewell note to bid me come back and get my room for my own—and when no word came, when silence fell between us, I blacked well, was sorry and wounded, but had no thought of change. Then I met Miss Carteret and she told me of your summons home to your father's bedside. My love for the Countess, my sense of persistence, I said to myself I can wait till she has fulfilled this sacred duty, and then I will go again to ask his face, but could not, for Stelio was patient, to do the things that other people do. I sought the society of that sweet kind woman, Miss Carteret, in spite of the tiresome bourgeoisie she had with her, because she spoke to me of you with affection

Short Sermons

FOR A
Sunday Half-Hour

Theme:

LARGENESS OF HEART.

BY REV. FRANK L. GOODCHILD.

Text—God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding exceeding much, and largeness of heart.—1. Kings, iv, 29.

No man ever had a more varied endowment than Solomon, whose memory is cherished by Jews, Christians and Mohammedans alike.

He had such universal wealth that he was told he made silver as the stones of the earth in his captivity. He had a wisdom that so amazed them that they came from the ends of the earth to hear him. He had such skill in ruling that he left behind him a world-wide fame that will endure to the end of time.

But this singular historian who tells us the story of his life reminds us that he had something beyond these things. The greatest of God's gifts to man is not a "mighty brain," not a full purse, not to have his name on everybody's lips, but to have a generous spirit—"largeness of heart" as it is called in this text.

The Bible has a great deal to say about a man's heart. The mind of man is not ignored. We are told to love God with all our mind. But no one can read the Bible without being struck by its chief concern is with the heart. The Scriptures with unmistakable clearness declare the supremacy of the heart over the brain.

You may train the intellect and not make a man a little better. It was said of one of the greatest of Englishmen that he was "not only the wisest and brightest but also the meekest of mankind. But you cannot cultivate the graces of the heart without making a man good as well as great. No body impedes the intellectual power of the devil, and it is lack of heart that makes him a devil. On the other hand, the best portrayals of God we have is in that wonderful phrase that tells us that He is "full of compassion." And it is His "largeness of heart" that draws us to Him and makes us worship Him.

And that is why the Bible says:—"Keep thy heart with diligence, for out of it is the issue of life." If the heart is full of good intentions, it is easy to speak well and to do well. If the heart is a nest of evil desires, wickedness is the natural and inevitable outcome of it.

We drill the minds of our children in knowledge, we train their hands to a trade, but too often we let the heart take its own way. Somebody has said that if an inhabitant of another world should visit our schools and study the catalogues of our schools, he would conclude that our race has no heart, so much provision is made for the training of the mind and the heart is so ignored.

If our heart is dwarfed, if our sympathies are narrow, if our interest is the needs of people about us is cold and dead, there is but one remedy—we must ask the Creator of the heart to help us and make us tender in sympathy, and we must exercise the heart by helping others.

God Meets Us in Christ.

Emmanuel, which, being interpreted is, God with us. (Matt. 1:23.) We have been hearing a great deal about the Immanence of God, and many are captivated by the delightful thought of having God in such close contact with our finite life. But the Immanence of God apart from Jesus Christ is Pantheism or Theosophy. In his natural state man is not in fellowship with his Maker. Without God's grace he is estranged from Him. The normal state of our fallen human nature. It is a cruel comfort to talk to any unconvinced man about the Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of Man and the Immanence of the Divine Spirit in every human conscience.

Jesus Christ has brought us nigh to God, and only in believing union with Him and through the heavenly birth which He brings to every regenerate heart can the lost chord be found and the broken law of gravitation to our true centre be restored. It is through Jesus Christ and Him alone that God has brought us to the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

The Appeal of Prayer.

As we may see profits before omnipotence and boundless love. It will be well with us all when we learn to pray. If it's well with us now it is because there are more than ten just men appealing in our behalf. Yes, it is all right with the world because God is in His heaven, but it is more all right because He is on His earth as well and so sensitive that our way to His presence.

When We Can Afford to Die. However dark and profuse, however painful and weary, existence may have become: however any man like Elijah, may be tempted to cast himself down beneath the juniper-tree, and say, "It is enough, O Lord," life is not done, and our Christian character is not won, so long as God has things left for us to suffer, or anything left for us to do.—F. W. Robertson.

Flowing down to a golden-rod would soon transform an angel into a beast.

You be both Judge and Jury Let the Trial last Thirty Days

Buy a pair of "Headlight" overalls at our store today.

If thirty days of the hardest wear does not convince you that these are the best overalls you ever bought, bring them back and get your money.

There will be no argument. You are the Supreme Court in this case. Your decision will be favorable--or we will stand the costs.

Sold by Wm. Durham, Olive Hill, Ky.

Report of the Condition of THE PEOPLES BANK

Doing business at the town of Olive Hill, county of Carter, State of Kentucky, at the close of business on the 2nd day of Feb., 1914.

RESOURCES
Loans and Discounts	$51,990.92
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	369.38
Stocks, Bonds and other Securities	1,731.16
Due from Banks	25,003.74
Cash on hand	5,185.55
Checks and other Cash Items	31.50
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures	1,633.35
Total	$85,965.60
LIABILITIES
Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$ 14,800.00
Undivided Profits, less expenses and taxes paid	1,223.23
Deposits Subject to Check	$61,784.95
Time Deposits	7,691.10
Cashier's Checks Outstanding	466.33
Total	$85,965.60

STATE OF KENTUCKY, County of Carter, St. We, E. S. Hitchens and E. A. Evans, President and Cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 11th day of Feb., 1914. My commission expires at end next session General Assembly. Cecil Erwin, Notary Public.

Report of the Condition of THE CARTER COUNTY COMMERCIAL BANK

doing business at the town of Olive Hill, County of Carter, State of Kentucky at the close of business on the 2nd day of Feb., 1914.

RESOURCES
Loans and Discounts	$62,316.27
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	1,887.17
Stocks Bonds and other securities	6,138.24
Due from Banks	6,546.10
Cash on hand	12,966.16
Checks and other Cash Items	667.78
Banking House Furniture and Fixtures	2,011.28
Other Real Estate	4,925.00
Total	$96,290.00
LIABILITIES
Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$15,000.00
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	6,486.50
Undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid	2,011.01
Deposits subject to check	$ 43,407.65
Time deposits	28,966.65
Cashier's checks outstanding	298.14
Total	$96,290.00

STATE OF KENTUCKY, County of Carter, St. We, A. J. Stamper and Bertha L. King, President and Cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12 day of Feb., 1914. My commission expires Jan. 29, 1918. Roy L. Pennington, Notary Public.

Report of the Condition of SANDY HOOK BANK

Doing business in the town of Sandy Hook, county of Elliott, state of Kentucky at the close of business on the 2nd day of Feb., 1914.

RESOURCES
Loans and Discounts	$ 88,881.08
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	3,385.02
Due from Banks	7,716.79
Cash on hand	10,640.63
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures	4,700.00
Total	$115,000.00
LIABILITIES
Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$15,000.00
Surplus Fund	3,000.00
Undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid	1,427.17
Deposits subject to check	$60,156.40
Time Deposits	10,000.00
Total	$115,000.00

STATE OF KENTUCKY, County of Elliott, St. We, L. C. Pritchard and V. H. Redwine, President and Cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 17th day of Feb., 1914. J. J. Robinson, Examiner.

Born to the wife of Robert King. Tom King is proceeding to get in title on Pennie James. Just want a girl. See on back of this paper.

IS IT FOR MEN THAT WOMEN USE "BEAUTIFIERS"?

Rouge and Powder Often Used to Aid in "Looking Nice."

If a woman's face is her fortune, is there any reason why she should not speculate with it in the shape of rouge and powder preferred in the house of bringing fresh dividends of appreciation and attention?

That seems to be a very mooted question at the present time, for two men have, during the past week, sought the divorce courts, one on the plea that his wife "painted like an Indian," the other declaring "his better half spent so much time beautifying she never attended to her household duties."

According to the learned judges of the Wilkes-Barre court a man has no right to desert his wife for such reasons, and the first-named husband has been ordered to come forward and support his wife even to the extent of paying her bills for cosmetics.

As to the other—well, the case is not decided yet, but it seems likely that in those days a woman's neglecting her housework has become so usual that it is hardly sufficient to give a man his freedom.

But all that cannot and does not settle the question as to whether women should rouge or not.

Should they? Is it better to be plain and natural or attractive and made up? Gladly, I can hear all the older women cry out for plainness and the girls declare on the side of rouge.

"It's very nice," they say, "to be simple and without powder, but you don't get any attention."

The cult of beauty has many followers all over the world. Women feel justified in doing more anything in pursuit of this elusive will-o'-the-wisp. Why, then, is rouge or powder any worse than the hours spent at massagers or hair dressers, or having the tips of one's fingers touched with henna?

"I don't believe a powder puff or a rouge pot ever drove a natural man to leave his wife and home. When a woman fails to keep up her appealing attractiveness to men by the 'little feminine accessories of dress and first aids to beauty, such as the powder puff, she is more apt to lose his interest in her than by the use of these things."

"Take the plainly dressed girl who parted in the middle, combed straight over the ears without a redeeming curl."

"Such girls, sweet natured and possessing many charms of mind and manner, you find in philanthropic work, but they seldom marry."

"Why?" asked Mrs. Burns. "Why because the men marry the fluffiest kind. Look at the chorus girls, who wear all these accessories of dress."

More after all, it's a victory for the men.

LACE CAPS NOW WORN BY THE BRIDESMAIDS

The charming little lace caps that first made their appearance at the theater in the early winter have become so popular that they are fast being used for all occasions and the latest fad is for the bridesmaids to wear them in place of hats at the wedding.

The lovely bits of silver or gold net with their trim of fro-lilac and rose webstuffs are becoming to nearly all girls and as a recent bride said, "I was a bit loath to have the girls wear ducky little caps that it was to try to select a style of hat that was going to suit all eight of them."

This is quite true, and nothing could be prettier at a wedding than to see a group of girls in such a smart, to say nothing of the fact that they are much lighter in weight and more comfortable than the average hat.

Bearnaise Sauce.

Cook in a double boiler three egg yolks slightly beaten with one tablespoon of water, and add one teaspoon of water, and add one teaspoon of butter. When eggs begin to thicken add four tablespoons of butter, one at a time, stirring constantly, one-third teaspoon of salt, the same of paprika or a dash of cayenne, and one tablespoon of tarragon or any mild vinegar, and the same amount of finely minced green or parsley. The chervil gives a peculiar flavor that goes well with the turkey. But a small spoonful of the sauce is required for each helping.

If this sauce be served with beef, a tablespoon of ground horseradish would give it just the right flavor.

Boys Building Site

The Ashland Daily says of the new wholesale concern in which some folks here have stock:—"The newly organized Consolidated Wholesale Grocery Company have purchased the vacant lot on 13th and Greenup of John Murphy, paying $10,000 for the same. Plans are now being drafted for a large and convenient brick building to be erected as quickly as possible."

Sentenced For Killing Chas. Rice

Floyd County Circuit Court, at Paintsville, last Thursday, returned a verdict, sentencing Thomas Hubbard to the penitentiary for a term of from 2 to 21 years, for the killing of Charley Rice. It will be recalled that Charley Rice, whose home was at Olive Hill, was killed several months ago while breaking for the C. & O. on the Big Sandy division, when Rice forbade Hubbard and some others riding on the train who had whose horse was with having shot Rice to death.

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Theford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for the gripple, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Theford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without in my home." For constipation, indigestion, headache, dizziness, malaria, chills and fever, biliousness, and all similar ailments, Theford's Black-Draught has proved itself a safe, reliable, gentle and valuable remedy.

THEFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

ALWAYS BUY

FRIZZELL'S GOOD QUALITY LINE OF Jewelry

It's Good Insurance Against Dissatisfaction
OLIVE LILL, KY.

Furniture of Quality

That's the kind I sell and it's the only kind you can afford to buy. Everything in my line of home furnishings is new, consequently up to date. I have neither rent nor clerks here to pay, and "more sales for small profits" my motto, which means I sell for less money. Before you buy come see.

CLARENCE TABOR

and save money on your home furniture.