

ANOTHER SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Will Be Filed Against Hargis
Callahan by Cox Heirs if Present One is Ruled Out.

There is much activity in Lexington just now in the Hargis-Cockrell feud trials. It is reported that the attorneys for the heirs of Dr. B. D. Cox expect to file a petition either in Clark or Breathitt county against the Hargises and Ed Callahan for the assassination of Dr. Cox similar to that filed here for $100,000 damages are asked for to the legality of the summons in this case it was served on Judge Hargis, in this city; where the suit was later filed. Since this question cannot be decided before the five years in which the suit can be filed, expires, the step is taken so that if the suit filed here does not stand, it can be brought in either Clark or Breathitt county by the addition of another defendant.

The Hargis people are aware of this scheme, and it is believed all the defendants to the action will be kept out of the jurisdiction of the court until the time has expired.

Close Call From Flames.

Sam Wills, in the eastern part of the county, had been all of Sunday fighting fire in the woods near his home. He awoke Wednesday morning just before day with his house on fire, and the roof falling in on him, his wife and daughter. He was badly burned and his wife and daughter barely escaped. Loss $2,500. No insurance.

GRIP QUICKLY KNOCKED OUT.

Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of a gripe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Egleston of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up, eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, aiding the same with a double dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip." Sold by Dr. M. W. Armstrong, Olive Hill, Kentucky.

Suicide Near Grayson.

David Jesse Caudill, aged sixty seven years, a farmer living one mile north of Grayson, was found by his wife hanging by a plowline in his smokehouse Thursday. He had been dead about one hour. He had suffered with insanity.

The deceased was a native of Virginia, coming to Carter county before the war. He took sides with the confederacy in that struggle and was a Lieutenant Colonel of a regiment that his brother organized, that was known as "Caudill's Army." He was a man of strong conviction and personality—a Baptist by profession, a democrat politically and a good citizen socially.

His widow was Miss Chick Frizzell, daughter of the late Alfred Frizzell, a pioneer of this section, survives him, their only daughter Miss Lit Pennington, having died about three years ago. He had two brothers in Letcher county. The funeral and interment was conducted Tuesday at Linsday Chapel.

John Abner Confesses.

It was stated Friday that John Abner, who is charged jointly with James Hargis, Elbert Hargis, John Smith and Ed Callahan, with the assassination of Dr. A. D. Cox has confessed, giving details of the Breathitt county murders. Attorneys for the prosecution are said to have the confession, which will not be made public yet.

What?

A member of the Arkansas State Senate has introduced a bill to prohibit the employment of negroes to wait upon white people, or white people upon negroes. At this distance from Little Rock, it is safe to say, in the language of Bill Nye, the aforesaid Senator is a 'dod-gasted idiot.' What in the world were negroes made for, if not to wait upon white people? As porter, waiter, cook gardener or coachman his best work is done. And particularly does he shine forth in all his transcendent glory as the footman, arrayed in his livery of blue coat and brass buttons beaver hat and all. No; perish the thought, and perish the name of him who would deprive the Southern white man of the pleasure of being waited upon by him who has been, and always will be, his best servant.

CAUGHT COLD WHILE HUNTING A BURGLAR.

Mr. Wm. Thos. Lanagan, provincial Constable at Chapeau, Ontario, says: "I caught a severe cold while hunting a burglar in the forest swamp last fall. Hearing of Chamberlain's cough remedy, I tried it, after using two small bottles, I was completely cured." This remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds. It will loosen and relieve a severe cold in less time than any other treatment, and is a favorite wherever its superior excellence has become known. For sale by M. W. Armstrong, Olive Hill, Ky.

Courts Make records.

In the Montgomery Circuit Court at Mt. Sterling Friday five men were convicted and sent to the penitentiary within one hour. Tom Gabbard of Mercerco., got five years for horse stealing; Columbus Jones four years for receiving goods under false pretext, three years each for grand larceny.

Rob Merchant.

G. E. Sayers, merchant of Richmond was assaulted by two men Tuesday night at his store and robbed of $2900, which he had in his trunk. He was found the next day by a sales woman, lying upon the floor in an unconscious condition. There is no clue. Bloodhounds will be placed on track.

Residence Burns.

The residence of L. D. Ward, a farmer living three miles from Morgantown, was destroyed by fire. Nothing was saved out of the house and the family had a narrow escape. Two of the boys who were sleeping awoke to find the flames running entirely across their room. Loss about $900. No insurance.

Was From Lyon County.

Daniel Doles was the name of the stranger whose charred body was found in the ruins of the Parker house, at Mayfield, the morning of February 4. He is a native of Lyon county and his brother, Robert Doles, of Lyon county, identified him yesterday.

Temperance Election.

The call for an election to vote on the temperance question in Metcalfe county has been made and the County Judge has set May 15th as the time This promises to be one of the hottest contests ever waged in that county, with the odds, perhaps, in favor of the "drys."

RHEUMATISM MAKES LIFE MISERABLE.

A happy home is the most valuable possession that is within the reach of mankind, but you cannot enjoy its comforts if you are suffering from rheumatism. You throw aside business cares when you enter your home and you can be relieved of those rheumatic pains also by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application will give you relief and its continued use for a short time will bring about a permanent cure. For sale by M. W. Armstrong at Olive Hill, Ky.

AT THE CAPITOL, D. C.

The Railroad Situation and the President—Conspiracy and Money.

The all-absorbing question of the day in Washington—the question which it is felt by practically every one is the most important one to the people at large—continues to be the railroad situation. The President has in no wise modified his plan for railway regulation. But during the latter part of this week, in a letter to Mr. H. C. Smith, President of the Manufacturer's Association of Illinois, the President reiterated his belief that the position already taken by him, both in public speeches and in his last message to Congress, was a wise one, and that he saw no reason to deviate one hair's breadth from the course he had already mapped out. This means that the struggle to broaden the control already exercised by the Federal government over the railroads of the country carrying interstate commerce will be continued, and that the President will probably urge on the next Congress the advisability of legislation looking to this end.

And now comes the story that there is a conspiracy among the moneyed interests to defeat Mr. Roosevelt or any candidate of his choice for the Presidency in the coming campaign. Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, so it is said, at a dinner in Washington about a month ago, talked quite freely about such a conspiracy. There were a number of the President's friends there, and also William Leach, who, in

A Boston street car conductor found and restored a young lady's purse containing $5,869, and was rewarded with a bewitching smile. That's a material reward, however, because he will not need to buy ice or stand in front of electric fans for seven months and three days, if it was a typical Boston smile.

"What has Bryan done?" asks the Boston Herald. Well, for one thing, he has started, a weekly paper, and has managed to keep it going for several years. That is enough to entitle him a hero medal.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We are authorized to announce Hon. M. M. Redwine, of Elliott county, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge of the 32nd Judicial District of Kentucky at the primary to be held at each voting precinct Saturday, June 22, 1907, at 1 o'clock, p. m.

Many of the influential Democratic leaders of the East and South want to break away from William J. Bryan, but they are like the fellow who has his hands on an electric battery—they can't let go. Meanwhile they are flopping about like a chicken with its head off, trying to find a way to get rid of Bryan.

The Pittsburg Street Railroad Company will not employ motor-men addicted to the use of cigarettes, fearing they may take on the son of one of the city's millionaires in disguise.

Bryan has opened up his campaign in the South, but the people down in that part of the world are too busy at present to bother about professional Presidential candidates.

It turns out that the theft of the $173,000 from the sub-treasury was accomplished by a scrubwoman, who more than likely figured that it was her duty to "clean up" everyting she could.

Peary has been granted leave of absence to go to the North Pole. That polar expedition craze seems to take as strong a hold on it's victims as the cigarette habit.

The times may change, men may change as well, before the campaign of 1908 begins. But the conditions then are as they are today—if Roosevelt rides the storm that is brewing in the realm of corporate capital, then our way seems open and our duty clear.

An Ohio boy ran away from his employer because he was only given 3 cents a week pay. The boss could have given him "23" and saved the boy trouble.

We are not a warlike country, a people, but no country not even France can boast so many memorials to war. There is in the city a statue to Daniel Webster, the gift of a private citizen, and Silston Hutchins, also a statue of Benjamin Franklin, by the same gentleman. It would be more to our credit if we should honor in a greater degree the many distinguished men, scientists, statesmen, philanthropists of the country. It is not to the men on horseback merely that America owes her distinction or to whom history will finally award the highest praise.

Famine in China. Many thousands are starving to death in China from the effect of a recent flood. The Chinese people and government have already distributed $5,000,000 for relief work, and half a million in money and supplies has come from foreign lands, but the relief is entirely inadequate. Phil Botts, who was arrested a few weeks ago, on charge of attempting to assault Miss Mary Prewitt, at Mt. Sterling, the thirteen year old daughter of State Insurance Commissioner Henry R. Prewitt, was brought there Wednesday morning from Lexington, where he had been taken for safe keeping. He was at once arranged, a jury empaneled, and he was given the limit--seven years in prison--in a very few minutes, and was taken to Frankfort at 11:45. THE ISLAND OF SAKHALIN

Territory Valuable for Its Oil, Coal and Fisheries

A RUSSIAN PRISON HOLD

Salmon Yields $18,000,000 Annually Sea Coast 250 Miles Long and Mountains 5,000 Feet High—Country Cold and Unsettled—Many Fur-Bearing Animals

As big as Belgium and Holland put together, very nearly as big as Ireland, and fully twice as big as Greece, Sakhalin is a long, narrow island, nowhere wider than the State of Massachusetts is long, and at certain points not wider than Vermont. But this ribbonlike island, which stretches from the coast of Siberia (from which a narrow sea separates it) for a distance of 670 miles. Sakhalin has a river 250 miles long and mountains 5,000 feet high. It is by no means a vast pocket country.

Only here and there is the soil at all fertile, and even then you must content yourself with raising market truck and expect to get market value for your garden. Such at least as been the experience of Russian small colonists who have tried to rest a living from the soil. Moreover, the country looks every whit as inhospitable as experiment has proved it to be. It has no other claim to importance its dense forests would be enough to make it worth working. Practically untouched, they stretch from one end of Sakhalin to the other.

Besides, there is coal—not really mined, but abundant. At Ducey the toughest criminals have worked chained to their hard work for a year they spent in the mines has counted as a year and a half toward hastening their discharge. Sakhalin has long supplied ships with fuel.

According to C. S. Patonoff the oil regions of Sakhalin are richer than those of America. Subterranean lakes some of them with a total of 8,000 square feet—its so close to the surface that natural gases can be easily established. The oil regions tempt themselves readily to exploitation, for the east coast is only from twenty to twenty-five miles away, and there nature has provided harbors that boats drawing 1000 tons of water can safely enter. For four months of the year, to be sure, those harbors are ice-locked, but the ice can be broken by specially constructed steamers known as "ledokki."

Meanwhile another sort of game abounds—in the north a fine messenger at large, the messenger of the foxes, sable, antelope and reindeer in the south an occasional tiger. On the coast a remunerative profession of sea urchins and abalone is mentioned a species of piebald whale little prized by blubber hunters.

But the chief source of wealth in the Sakhalin of today is the fisheries. The rivers stem with salmon, the waters along the coast with herring. In a single year Sakhalin yielded $1,000,000 worth of fish, and this in spite of the most discouraging conditions. The Russians wouldn't give the Japs a free hand, nor would the Japs develop the full possibilities of the fisheries. As long as the island remained a sort of Siberian backyard, into which goods were constantly being thrown, it was bad policy to encourage fishing boats to come prowling along the shore. The boats might stir up the population. Every year Sakhalin sends a million dollars worth of fish fertilizer to the Japanese rice fields. This fertilizer, rice growing that when the war broke the Japanese fishermen from the Sakhalin coasts two Japanese towns, Nioukaido and Otsu, petitioned the Mikado to send troops to seize the island.

The director general of prisons asked permission to organize an army of Japanese jailbirds for service in Sakhalin. Such overtures as these met with governmental discouragement, but the seizure of Sakhalin by trained troops was undertaken as soon as practicable. Nor did Japan fail to perceive that a Sakhalin in the grip of a foreign Power would constitute a standing menace to Japanese agriculture. It was the case of Corea over again, only with herring substituted for grain as the vital point.

Where We Get Our Salt. Salt is so common an article that one is apt to assume that it is of no account. The amount of it produced in the United States, during the year 1904, was 1,000,000 tons, valued at $4,000,000. Its enormous output, coming mostly from New York and Michigan, the United States imported salt to the value of over half a million dollars, and exported $2,500,577 pounds, valued at $98,066. The deposits of salt in the United States are not so rich as those in New York, Michigan, Ohio, Kansas and Louisiana being the only ones which are worked commercially.—Boston Herald.

A Vegetarian Danger. In some respects vegetarians suffer more than meat eaters from uric acid poisoning, seeing that peas, lentils and beans contain very much of the poison as such. The amount of uric acid in the blood of a vegetarian is usually higher than that of a meat eater. The amount of uric acid in the blood of a meat eater is usually lower than that of a vegetarian. The amount of uric acid in the blood of a meat eater is usually lower than that of a vegetarian. The amount of uric acid in the blood of a meat eater is usually lower than that of a vegetarian.

EFFECT OF UNIVERSITY

Carnegie Says They Unfit A Man For Commercial Work.

FAVORS PUBLIC SCHOOLS

University Education Tends to Make a Clergyman a Religious Anarchist—The Incoherency of Consulting Sallors to study the Classics.

An American who was recently a guest of Andrew Carnegie at Skibo Castle sends to the New York World from Scotland an account of his visit, which the following is an excerpt:

The subject of education came up. A learned Dutch baron declared that many people are over-educated.

"Yes," remarked Mr. Carnegie, "Lord Reay, here, who speaks five languages, knows too much."

In reply to a question, the philosopher of Skibo launched out this way: "One of the aberrations of the age is the sacrifice of time to ancient classics on the part of young men preparing for a business career. A man with a university education is a man lost to commerce. A young man who begins business at the very much better off than he who spends three or four years in a university studying old romances who lived 2000 years ago. Studying ancient history is a waste of time. It is no preparation for a man going into the iron, steel or coal business. Greek and Latin are no more use than Latin is to the very much better off than he who speaks five languages. Why should English sailors have to learn the language of Virgil, Horace and Cicero? English officers study classics. What's the result? They have foolish courage. Instead of saving themselves they allow themselves to be shot and say they are dying for their country."

"Yes," remarked Mr. Carnegie, "an intelligent man when necessary and then come back and live for his country."

"Do you condemn university education for all?" "By no means. I am speaking of the uselessness of university education for the young man who is to make a living in life. The man who is born to wealth can do as he pleases. He has no interest for me. He rarely amounts to anything. These people preparing for professional pursuits should go to the university by all means."

"Do you make any exception?" "Yes, I except the university education injures them. It leads them to higher criticism. They begin to pick flaws in the Bible. They moment they are led by specially trained men to good for religion. They lead to intellectual and religious anarchy."

A remark by Mr. Carnegie about looking to the masses of the people to cure social ills led to a conversation upon democracy.

"Are you still as devout a believer in the people as when you wrote 'Trump and Democracy'?" Mr. Carnegie, I queried.

"Yes," he replied. "Tears have made me love that teaching more and more. If democracy does not succeed, then there is no hope for humanity. The classes have failed; now democracy is getting a show. I have no fear for democracy in America. When things begin to go seriously wrong there are easy ways to set them right with a sudden jerk."

"What is the greatest American institution?" I asked.

"The public school house."

"What makes America so great?" "Equality and the fact that its foundation was laid by a colonizing race."

"Does your republicanism diminish by absence?" "No. It increases. I am more republican than if I had been born in America. My only regret is that the meaning of the word republic, that the thing is to be a citizen and not a subject."

Talking of annexation, he said: "Mexico will yet annex us; so will Canada. Both will ask the privilege of coming into the Union. We will not force them. My only regret is that the thing is to be a citizen and not a subject. We would not have taken Canada in the War of Independence. It would have been just as easy."

From this the conversation drifted to temperance. Turning to one of his guests who had the stuff of a social reformer in him, Mr. Carnegie said:

"I have the best temperance record in Scotland. I give an increase of 10 per cent in their wages to all my men who come to me at the end of the year and tell me they have been total abstainers. It works like a charm. They are all temperate; all have money in the bank. My very best chauffeur might retire tomorrow, and the interest on his money would bring in $600 a year."

"Do they ever pretend to be abstainers when they are not?" I asked.

"No. A Scotchman will not lie to you. He knows his Bible and his Burns. It may be the Bible, but it is the influence of the national poet, who taught them that a man is a man for a' that."

Elephant's Milk. The milk of an average cow contains about 4 per cent of cream; nearly 20 per cent of the elephant's milk is cream. My very best chauffeur might retire tomorrow, and the interest on his money would bring in $600 a year.

Decline in Sheep. Statistics show that the flocks of the world have declined at least 25,000,000 since 1870. The average of wool is 2,000,000 annually. If the world is adding up its sheep, it is not possible to conclude that the value of Britain will be less than it was in 1870.
