Road Law Gets Through.

The Bosworth bill, amending and codifying the road laws of the state, passed the senate. After numerous amendments had been adopted the previous question was ordered, and the measure went through without debate. It is comprehensive and embraced in its provisions the entire road law of Kentucky. When the bill was called up about a dozen amendments were offered. Among those adopted were re-enacting the overpass and "warning in of hands" to work the roads clause, repealed by the act of 1912, and leaving it optional with the fiscal court as to whether a county road engineer shall be appointed.

CAPITAL CHAT

George Kasee, of Elliott county, was appointed deputy warden and Gus Rogers, of Paducah, assistant deputy warden at the Frankfort reformatory. Kasee succeeds Sam Lykins, recently appointed custodian of the capitol, and Rogers succeeds Kizee.

Gov. McCreary appointed delegates to the Chicago Medical Society's Convention on Preventative Insanity which meets July 14. The delegates are Dr. J. A. Godson, of the Eastern State hospital; Dr. H. P. Schts, of the Western State hospital; Dr. G. W. Gardner and Dr. H. Peddicord, of Lakeland, and Dr. H. C. Kellhof, of the Feeble-Minded institute.

By a vote of 33 to 9, the senate passed the Walton measure, better known as the "old check" bill, providing for a heavy punishment for the offense of uttering a check or draft without funds to meet it. The measure previously had passed the house and goes to the governor.

Vinson Gives Up Post.

Criticism of the Department of Education for employing a Republican and a desire not to embarrass the educational interests in educational legislation pending before the general assembly were given by T. W. Vinson as reasons for resigning a clerkship in the department of education. He tendered his resignation in writing to State Superintendent Hammett, who in a written communication to Mr. Vinson declined to accept it. Mr. Vinson declined, however, that his determination is final.

LITERARY NOTES

The Olive Hill Literary Society met at the school house Thursday night. On account of the absence of several of the leading members, very little business was done and the entertainment program was limited.

President Pennington was absent, and next Thursday (tomorrow) night he will be asked to explain if his courting duties were so urgent as to justify him being away. Prof. Haldane will also be called on for an excuse for being absent.

We hope for good attendance, and would welcome some new members.

OBITUARY

Wm. Hall, of Waltz, Rowan co., 82, an old Confederate veteran, died on Rocky Fork of Trip-let late last Saturday and was buried here Sunday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Meadows of this place. He died triumphant in the faith that was once delivered to the saints, and regarding that there was crown of life laid up for him just over the river where the angels dwell. He leaves several grown children to mourn his loss. — Muses Mills cor.

Press Ray, aged 47 years, died at his home on Lower Trough camp, Monday morning, at 7 o'clock, after a brief illness with pneumonia, and was buried Wednesday morning at the Miller cemetery. Deceased leaves a wife, 2 boys and 3 girls, the eldest 13 and the youngest a baby of 8 months. He is a son of James Ray now in Terra Haute, Ind.

AT THE CAPITOL

The senate approved a joint resolution inviting President Woodrow Wilson to attend the meeting of the Kentucky Educational association in Louisville next spring.

After he had served two and a half months the court of appeals declared the office to be unconstitutional; but held that the acts of Judge Hodge while circuit court judge were valid as a de facto officer.

PISTOL TOTTING DAYS ARE OVER

LEGISLATURE PASSES A DRASTIC CONCEALED-WEAPON MEASURE.

MOUNTAIN MEN OPPOSE IT

Bill Authorizing Board of Prison Commissioners, With Approval of Governor, To Grant Pardons, Passed.

(By Ernest W. Helm.)
Frankfort—Pistol-toting days in Kentucky are near an end, provided the governor does not veto the Arnett bill, which passed the house by the vote of 53 to 15. The bill makes carrying a concealed weapon an offense punishable by disfranchisement for two years, a fine of $100 and 30 days in jail.

On the second conviction the offense is made a felony.

The act is considered one of the most drastic of its kind ever introduced in a Kentucky legislature. Before passing the house, it had passed the senate. As soon as the bill has been enrolled it will be sent to the governor.

One of the chief arguments advanced by opponents of the measure was that it would leave the respectable citizen at the mercy of the foot pad and thief.

During the senate debate Lilburn Phelps, Republican, of Russell county, presenting what he termed an insult to the men of the mountains, challenged Representative George Davis, of Woodford county, to meet him outside the house chamber and repeat remarks made on the floor of the house. Mr. Davis did not accept the challenge. The statement that aroused the ire of Mr. Phelps was that representatives from the mountains had voted to deprive the people of the Bluegrass of their distilleries by supporting the state-wide prohibition bill. The Bluegrass representatives should vote to deprive the mountains of their "toting pistols." The remark was followed by expressed opposition to the Arnett bill by a number of mountain representatives. Mr. Phelps took as an intimation that they were opposing the measure because of their blood-thirstiness and lawlessness.

Pardon Procedure.

Another bill drafted by the lieutenant governor and passed by the house by the vote of 66 to 16 was that of Senator Hildebrand, authorizing the State Board of Prison Commissioners, with the approval of the governor, to grant paroles. It is a companion measure to the indeterminate sentence law. The six who voted against it were Representatives Avery, Farris, Kelly, Stone, Wills and Lott.

Ban on Eloping.

A drastic bill providing a penitentiary sentence for every man convicted for eloping with a girl whose parents object to their marriage has been introduced in the legislature. The house passed the bill by a vote of 63 to 4. The purpose of the bill, according to its author, is to prevent men of mature age persuading girls of tender years to elope with them, resulting in everlasting unhappiness of the girl.

Fixes Bank Capital.

Representative Price's bill, providing that not less than five persons may incorporate savings and commercial banks, and that the capital stock shall not be less than $100,000 in cities of 100,000, nor $15,000 in cities of less population, passed the house by the vote of 64 to 6. John C. Duff's bill, providing for separate trustees for white and colored schools was passed, 62 to 5.

Pass Compensation Bill.

After sharp debate and a bitter fight lasting over six hours the senate passed the substitute for the Knight Workmen's Compensation Bill, after it had been amended to conform to the views of the special committee named by President McDermott. The vote on the final passage of the bill was 30 to 9.

Dry Entreat Shows Strength.

Flashed with victory in passing the Frost county unit bill the dries in the house twice passed the Webb bill, providing for a state-wide prohibition constitutional amendment. When the first vote of 60 and 31 nays was announced by Speaker Terrell the house was converted into a bedlam. Gray-haired veterans vied with their youthful colleagues in their shouts of amen, glory and hallelujah. Men who have not shaken hands heartily during the session availed themselves of the opportunity. The scene was indescribable. The crowded galleries joined in the applause as eagerly as if they had been members.

Officials Exchange Positions.

At the instance of First Assistant Attorney General Charles H. Morris, Second Assistant M. M. Logan exchanged places with him and became first assistant. When Attorney General Garnett named his staff it was at the instance of Mr. Logan that Mr. Morris was induced to accept the place of first assistant. Mr. Morris had been in the office under two preceding administrations and had no desire to assume the duties of first assistant. The salaries of the two positions are the same.

New Primary Election Law.

The senate by a vote of 23 to 4 passed the Cary bill, amending the state primary election law after it had been stripped of nearly every feature as it passed the house. The amendments agreed on after a conference of the Senate Committee on Suffrage and Elections were adopted, but others offered by Republicans were voted down. The Cary bill as amended now goes back to the house for concurrence in the senate amendments. The dissenting votes were cast by Senators Arth, Bosworth, Brock and Holman, all Republicans. It passed the house the Cary bill provided that the ballots as well as the stubs be numbered in order to identify the ballots in case of fraud and eliminated the petition method for candidates to get on the ballot, but these were stricken out by the agreed committee amendments. About the only change made in the primary election law as passed at the 1912 session of the legislature, is making it punishable by a fine of $100 for any election officer to knowingly permit a voter of one party in the primary of another party, or for a voter to vote in the primary of another party to which he is entitled.

Sundry Bills.

The house bill providing for the holding of circuit court in counties containing a city of the sixth class or larger located 10 miles from courthouse, and no more than two miles from the center of the county, passed, 25 to 4. It was amended by Senator Speer making the distance 10 miles.

Defeat Suffrage Bill.

Women suffrage received its death blow in the house when the bill of Representative John G. Miller, Jr., of Paducah, that sought to give to women of Kentucky the right to vote the same as men, was defeated by the vote of 61 to 29.

er influences supposed to bear upon it, were really not ready to have it passed. The W. C. T. U. is claiming the same thing, and it was stated here by one of the leading members of the organization, that "if the bill is defeated, it will be because of the unwarranted interference of a certain league allied with certain political influences."

Justus Gebel Warns.

An open letter to Attorney General Garnett, accusing him and others, whose names are not given, of attempting to compromise away the "people's rights" in the franchise assessments of 1912. Justus Gebel, of Covington, warns Mr. Garnett that compromises must not be made with these five largest railroads in the state. This letter and a companion open letter addressed to Gov. McCreary were sent each member of the general assembly by Mr. Gebel. In this letter to Gov. McCreary Mr. Gebel characterizes this alleged combination to compromise the tax suits which are pending in the United States courts, in much stronger terms.

Court Decides in Favor of Drys.

A supplemental list of names may be added to a petition praying for an order calling a local option election, if there are a sufficient number of names withdrawn from the petition to prevent the calling of the election. When the list of names withdrawn is sufficient to invalidate the election or the calling of the election, and there is a supplemental list of names added to the petition, then another petition must be laid over to the next regular term of the county court. Such was the decision of the court of appeals, affirming the judgment of the Montgomery circuit court in the case of B. C. Morton, et al., against William Botts, et al.

Woman Suffrage Bill.

Women suffrage received its death blow in the house when the bill of Representative John G. Miller, Jr., of Paducah, that sought to give to women of Kentucky the right to vote the same as men, was defeated by the vote of 61 to 29.

Olive Hill Tabernacle

At a camp meeting of 1913 a subscription donation was taken to buy a tent. Writing to ten men the committee saw to get a good tent would cost $375 and ten men said in 4 or 5 years it would leak unless it was spread out. So they saw they could put up a tabernacle for $275; so they bought ground where there is good shade and pure air, and water will be pumped on ground. As to the money paid in, every cent can be accounted for, just where it went.

This tabernacle is for the people, by the people; not only for camp meetings but for meetings of all denominations through the summer.

When this is built it is there for years and stops all expense of tent every year. So do not be a kicker; but a pusher.

The bills the committee sent out was not a dum but to get the money before the first of May to pay for the lumber; so do not let your tongue wag too much unless it wags in the right way. Talk is cheap but it takes money to build tabernacles, and it is going to be built for it is for God and His cause; so if you are against God, do not give a cent. There are no gate fees so you can sleep good on that. If you have any troubles please state them in writing. So come on folks, let's do our best. Send all money to C. C. Brooks, Pres. We have 5000 feet of lumber now all paid for. The bill will be paid for when all money that subscribed and of course they will all pay the 1st of May, 1914.

We are expecting a great camp this year. Folks are coming with their tent to camp on the ground. Yours for victory,

J. P. Zimmerman

P. S.—The building committee is not supposed to build the tabernacle but to see it done. File all your objections in the Court of Heaven. J. P. Z.

The problem is to arrange each of the six groups of letters to spell each the name of a State. For a starter, the first one is KENTUCKY, and each of the other five spell the name of a State. No groups will spell the name of more than one State. Write your solution opposite the jumbled letters and mail to address below. All answers must be accompanied by life, for subscription in this paper for 4 weeks. Much interest was taken in our February prize puzzle which closed Nov. 25, and checks were mailed the winners the next day. More than one make the correct solution then the $5 will be equally divided as was the case in the February prize. This is instructive to children and parents can well afford to give the child the 10c. and help them to solve the problem. Answers must be in by 12 o'clock the last day of March. STEEL PAVEMENT IN PARIS.

It is Expected to Give a Good Surface and to Be Very Durable.

Paris is experimenting with the latest kind of pavement. They call it steel pavement, but it is really a concrete pavement reinforced with a steel framework. The trial section of it has been laid on the Rue Saint-Martin, in front of the Conservatoire of Arts and Industries. The metal part of the pavement is a plate of perforated steel, held strong bolts of steel running through it between the perforations. Each section has some resemblance to a steel barrow, only the prongs project equally on each side and they are square and blunt. The plates are arranged close together on a bed of rough concrete such as is used for wood brick pavement. Then a specially prepared cement is shoveled upon them in a soft condition and rammed down until it makes a solid mass with the steel frame just levelled off evenly with the upper tips of the prongs. The steel prongs are so close together that the shoes of street cars and every wheel of any width must rest in part on them and in part on the cement. It is expected in this way to secure a highly durable but distinctly uneven surface, one on which horses will have sure footing in all weathers and on which they can make the necessary purchase to pull heavy loads.

It will be superior to asphalt in ultimate economy and to wood, both in the better footing that it affords to horses and in the fact that it will not admit of dangerous ruts developing. The sample laid cost $5.40 a square metre, a little more than a square yard, but when the work is done on a large scale it is believed the price can be cut to about $4.50. The life of such pavement without serious repairs is estimated at ten years as a minimum.

Demands For Good Road Maps.

A law of Michigan requires the making of maps for each township in that State, for use by its highway department, to show the location of each highway. Had that department paid professional map-makers for drawing such maps, it would have had no funds left for its other operating expenses. New York State has done better. For years its engineering department urged that provision should be made for co-operation by this State with the government of the United States, for the purpose of obtaining an accurate topographic survey and map of the State. This recommendation was finally adopted and the work authorized by an act of 1908. From the passage of that act the work has gone forward steadily, and is now rapidly nearing completion. The agreement between the U. S. Geological Survey and the New York engineering department is that each shall pay one-half of the expense of the survey, and that the Federal government shall pay all the expenses of engraving plates and printing maps from them.

Preserve Vehicle Wheels.

To preserve the wheels of vehicles, and also to prevent shrinking of any of the parts, put some boiling linseed oil into a can, or other vessel, and raise the wheel so that the rim will pass through the oil. Revolve the wheel and let the oil follow as well soaked for about three minutes, and the wheel will then be more durable.

"THE TWO VOICES."

By Rev. Howard Arnold Walter.

This is a sermon without a specific text, for the theme is "Temptation" and the texts are innumerable, ranging all the way from the Garden of Eden to the tale called Patmos, from Alpha to Omega of human history and experience. From the data of the first conscious sin in childhood to the sundown of life two voices are sounding incessantly in the ear of every individual, the voice of the temptations men upward to righteousness, the better we become the firmer grow our temptations, for the higher we are lifted the stronger does the force of moral gravitation become. It is no temptation for the drunkard to take another drink as it is for the man who is fighting free of his passion for alcohol. When we think of the white purity of Jesus' life-making its way through the dark and crooked avenues of earth, unswerving and unstained, we are aghast at the force of the temptations that must have beset Him, farthest as we learn from the account of His earthly sojourn, in our gospel—in the spiritual range of His absolute trust in God, His consciousness of Messiahship.

Generally speaking, there are three ranges of a man's life when he is continually engaged in this relentless battle for his soul between the forces of sin and of righteousness. The physical, the social and the spiritual. It is curiously suggestive that the earliest temptation mentioned in the Bible, which wrought the downfall of our first parents, should have been concerned with the appetite, which since that day has constituted one of man's chief battle grounds. The sensual and the spiritual are forever antagonistic, and only as the former is disciplined and denied, only as we strive with Paul, to leave the body under, will our bodies be fit temples for the Holy Ghost to inhabit. Many of the characters in the Bible narrative we know were immersed in this conflict—Noah, David, Daniel, St. Paul and our Lord Himself, hearing on the one hand the voice crying "gratify" and on the other a voice that said "forbear." It was when He was physically exhausted, His bodily strength at low ebb, that the devil tempted Jesus to turn a stone into bread and gratify His desire for food.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. It was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. I wish every suffering woman would give

Hardly Harmonious

Last week our State law makers at Frankfort passed a prohibition measure providing an election on the liquor question. It may be had in any county of the state upon petition of 25 percent of the voters in each district. This is the county unit measure, as heretofore a petition of 25 percent of the voters in each district was necessary. About the same time Senator Bradley at Washington submitted 66 petitions to Congress, from Kentucky, remonstrating against any act by that body to prohibit the sale, manufacture or importation of intoxicating liquors.

The PROGRESSIVE is prepared to handle your orders for embossed and lithographed stationery and engraved cards.

FRUIT IN THE SOUTH

As over the South the papers are having much to say about the raising of the people to the rank of fruit that has fine flavor. Northwest fruit has been beautiful to look on the fruit stands in the big cities, but a very small proportion of it has anything in the shape of that touch of the southern sun. Apples from Georgia lately took a number of first and second prizes in the Great New York exhibit in New York State, and twenty apples shipped to the North and west also took a great many prizes. As this is true it is especially fitting and opportune that the Conference at Louisville, April 7-9-10, is to have Mr. W. M. McDonald, manager of the Excelsior Fruit Growers' Association of Minnesota, to give a talk and make some demonstrations. Mr. McDonald was originally an export bookkeeper in Minneapolis, but finding that his health was breaking under close office work, he decided to go to the country. He at once took hold of the Excelsior Fruit Growers' Association and in five years pushed the business from $5,000 annually to $200,000. This man will organize a typical fruit growers' association among the horticulturists at the meeting, and show them methods of shipping, packing, advertising and the best kind of fruit to grow.

When asked about the prices which prevailed when he took hold of the organization, and those prevailing last year, he said: "When the Association was launched 75 cents per case of 24 pint baskets of red raspberries were valued. Last year our red raspberries of the same size averaged 32-35¢. Of course, to get such prices one must have a perfect pack and first-class fruit. Every fruit grower in our Association has his name on the dealer orders through the number and upon the refunding of the Association for fair dealing."

Tell me, ye winged winds that round my pathway soar; do you not know some quiet spot where winds clean house no more; some lone sequestered dale, some lone, ocean-girt, where life is not one ceaseless war with cobwebs and with dirt; where only nature's carpet spreads beneath their feet, and stretched men are never compelled to smother fields to heat? The lake breeze, my heated face and said: "Beat on, there's no such place."
