Community School Classes Start Oct. 8

Classes at the Camargo Community School and the Montgomery County Community Junior High School will begin next Monday, October 8. Most classes will be free and the cost of others is very small.

The Montgomery County Community School District is the only one in the state selected for this program that utilizes the facilities of the schools for the entire community. The federal grant of $16,000 to finance the project is made through the Appalachian Adult Education Center based at Morehead State University. Classes are open to both county and city residents.

Additional classes will be offered later. The program offerings for the entire family beginning on Monday include the following:
