Truck Inspection Program Working

After three years of crawling under the hood and checking out more than 5,000 trucks and trailers on the highways, the inspectors of the State Department of Motor Transportation can report one satisfying fact: things are twice as good now as they were in 1965.

In September 1960 the Department launched its program of annual inspections of commercial motor vehicles. By time 20, 1967, they had inspected 1,300 units and found only 17.6 percent of them unsafe.

In fiscal year 1967-68, they inspected 1,522 units and issued an unqualified "OK" to 84.8 percent, or twice as many as last year.

In his latest annual report to Gov. Howard T. Breathitt, Motor Transportation Commissioner Ben M. Combs points out that the bad situation that existed in 1960 was due mainly to the previous lack of enforcement which had led to laxity and general ignorance on the part of owners and drivers.

"But the complete cooperation received from motor truck owners and operators has made this program a highly successful undertaking," he added. "It has already rewarded us with much safer and more accident-free operation of the largest vehicles using our highways."

MSC Enrolls 212 From Rowan County

Two hundred-twelve students from Rowan County are enrolled for the spring term at Morehead State College which has a record 3,128 students in attendance. This is an increase of 214 students over the 1967 spring enrollment of 2,914.

Dr. Adron Duran, President of Morehead State College, said today, "We are exceedingly pleased with the second semester enrollment as it represents a loss of only 98 students from the first semester enrollment of 3,206 students."

Dr. Duran said that 557 first semester enrollees did not return for the second semester because of graduation, academic failure, job opportunities or other reasons.

Four hundred and fifty-seven of the first semester enrollees are now enrolled at Morehead for the first time and 275 who are former Morehead students returning to complete requirements for graduation.

Dr. Duran pointed out that the total enrollment figure does not include the 381 students enrolled at Breckinridge Training School, those students enrolled in the off-campus centers or the persons enrolled in the extension program by mail.

Enrolled from Rowan County are:

Clearfield — Brenda Carol Arnold, Wilma Jean Crawford, Charollet Louise Gregory, Howard Cornelius Hall, Edith Marie Hart, Charles L. Jones, Janet Kaye Lewis, Roger Fairley Owens, Frederick Smith Skaggs, Elizabeth Naomi Doris Webb, Gary Zane Williams, and Lanny Jay Williams.

Elliotville — Larry Darryl Linnville, Phyllis Kay Linnville, and Marie Lewis.

Hartsville — Sylvia Lee Gullett, Herbert Dean Ramsey, and Judy Parker Ramsey.

Heldman — Donna Faye Brown, Wanda Day Donald, and Ivan Withmore.

Morehead — Barbara J. Sinner.

Barren Pasture Renovation Time Is Coming Up
 By Donald B. Nelson
 Now is the time to start renovating your old pastures where you haven't got an adequate stand of grasses and legumes. The best time to do this in the spring is between now and April 20, when there is still plenty of moisture. There are many reasons why you need to renovate your pastures. Some of these reasons are: (1) It has become unproductive due to the trampling of livestock; (2) pastures or haylands have lost a stand of desirable plants, usually legumes; (3) pastures or haylands become soil-bound because of the accumulation of undecomposed organic matter at the surface of the soil and tends to tie up some of the available nitrogen. The first thing you need to do in renovating your pasture is try to eliminate or reduce existing undesirable vegetation by using close mowing or disking during dry periods or chisel plowing immediately before renovating. After this prepare a good seedbed by use of a lawn and bog disk or harrow, or use a heavy, sharp farm disk on steep hill land or where erosion is a problem. On land where there is no erosion hazard it may be more desirable to use a turning plow or subsoiler to break up heavy sod or litter. Where a heavy dense sod exists, destroy 50-60 percent of the live plants. Fertilize and lime according to a soil test if available.

Fine Arts Group Needs Props For Upcoming Plays

Planning to throw away that old lamp or candlestick? Don't! That was the request this week from the Division of Fine Arts at Morehead State College, which said the division is looking for a number of old items in usable condition for use in future dramatic productions.

Particularly sought, at this point, are costumes of the local era, period, which may be borrowed for use in the next play, "Our Town."

Also needed is old clothing and household furnishings, including tables, bedspreads, rags, pictures and chairs.

Persons with items to contribute can call 784-4343, extensions 324 or 326.

Appalachian Group Seeks $250 Million

Executive Director John Sweeney said Monday the Appalachian Regional Commission is planning to start its eight-state redevelopment program with a proposed budget of about $250 million for fiscal 1965.

During a meeting in Washington of the advisory committee for the proposed Appalachian Regional Institute, Sweeney outlined the commission's tentative budget.

It would include $80 million for interstate and development highways; $80 million to boost water resource development; $71 million for human resource programs such as health centers and education and job retraining; and $21 million for pasture improvement.

Also in the budget would be 10 million for sewage and water facilities; $7 million for timber resource development; $3 million for minerals research and $1.7 million for technical aid to local units.

The program will be presented to President Johnson within the next two weeks, Sweeney said.

385 Kentucky Firms In Export Trade

The number of Kentucky firms manufacturing products for export during the past three years, 1961 through 1963, State Commissioner of Commerce Katherine Peck has announced.

Miss Peck said that surveys made by the State Department of Commerce and the Louisville Chamber of Commerce showed that an estimated 385 manufacturing firms in Kentucky were producing products for overseas markets as of Jan. 1, 1963. A survey by the U. S. Department of Commerce showed 89 Kentucky firms involved in export trade at the end of 1960.

"This is an impressive and important increase showing the vital state that Kentucky industries have in foreign markets," Miss Peck said. "More overseas sales by Kentucky firms can result in more new and expanded industries in Kentucky. We are working toward that goal."

Miss Peck, who recently returned from a tour of South America as Gov. Edward T. Breathitt's representative on the Kentucky Trade Delegation, said that area offers a promising market for products of Kentucky equipment manufacturers.

Why dust collects so fast in winter!

Ever wonder why homes seem to gather dust so rapidly in winter?

Usually it's caused by old-fashion heating systems that create and circulate dust and dirt throughout the home. A discouraging problem for the home-maker who fights a losing battle to keep her home neat!

That's one of the big advantages of Electric Heat. It's flameless; can't create dirt or oily films. The heat radiates to warm your home; not the air which can carry dust and germs.

No question about it... Electric Heat is the cleanest system for your home. Offers lots of other advantages... it's economical... safe... and so comfortable! You'll be surprised how little it costs to install Electric Heat in your home!

Which Rifle Killed the "Bar"?

DANIEL BOONE'S famed Kentucky Rifle, now on display in the Kentucky Historical Society Museum in the Old State House in Frankfort, has been copied on a powered submarine U.S.S. Daniel Boone. This close-up of the stocks of the two guns shows how Boone's carvings on his gun (bottom) were reproduced faithfully on the replica made by Rex Maxey, antique gun expert from West Liberty, Kentucky.

Morehead Watchmaker Makes Replica Of Boone's Rifle For Sub

A replica of "BOONE'S best FRENCH" long rifle belonging to early pioneer marksmen Daniel Boone — has been completed and is ready to be placed aboard one of the U. S. Navy's newest nuclear-powered submarines, the U.S.S. Daniel Boone, when it is commissioned. This spring, in the making since last October, the replica was made by West Liberty gunsmith Rex Maxey who handcrafted all the parts — except the barrel and the lock.

Both Boone's original rifle and the replica are now on display in the Kentucky Historical Society's museum in the Old State House in Frankfort. The Society commissioned Maxey to make the rifle for presentation by the State of Kentucky to the U. S. Navy for display on the U.S.S. Daniel Boone.

Also to go aboard the submarine is a copy of the only portrait of Boone done from life, painted by the Museum's curator, Mrs. Eugene Blackburn.

Crude carvings on the rifle's maple stock match exactly those on Boone's original gun. They include, on one side, Boone's initials, an Indian with raised tomahawk, a deer, tree and sun. The reverse side bears the famous legend, "BOONE'S BEST FRENCH."

Maxey worked out the carvings using a rough sketch he made in Frankfort where he examined the original rifle, and from pictures furnished by the Historical Society.

Sister Mary Edwin said. The difficulty in adjusting to the new surroundings provided some anxious moments, but Timmy came through with excellent marks.

Timmy's mother, the former Brenda Kay Marshall, has received intensive instruction on his care after he is taken home. The staff at St. Clare provided this information, prior to his discharge.

His diet will include his formula, along with cereal, applesauce and supplementary vitamins. Sister Mary Edwin said.

Not only must the unspoken thanks of the grateful parents go to the hospital staff for their efforts which have preserved the life of their first-born child, but their experience must be a heartening one for the entire community. The knowledge that the finest in equipment, the best in devoted service, and the most modern facilities stand ready to react in the same fashion on a 24-hour-a-day basis must certainly give the community a sense of security, well-being and relief that was sorely lacking until St. Clare became a reality.

Tobacco And Beef Conferences Scheduled For Area Farmers

By Adrian Razor
County Agent

The Tobacco Meeting which was originally scheduled for Feb. 11, and cancelled due to weather conditions will be held Friday at 1 p.m. in the Courtroom at Morehead. Ira Massie, extension specialist in tobacco will discuss tobacco production and varieties plus the outlook for tobacco which George Corder, extension specialist in soils, will discuss fertilizing tobacco and soil testing. Tobacco growers get yield and quality when it was originally scheduled, so put this date on your Friday at 1 p.m.

Since there are so many questions in many of our minds on various phases of tobacco and also the future of it, I don't believe you can afford to miss this meeting. We will start on time so we hope you can be present.

Beef Cattle Meeting

A series of meetings for beef cattle producers will begin Friday evening of this week and will continue into April. These meetings are being held at the R.E.A. Building in Grayson at 7 p.m. Some of our producers have said that they would like to go this week, so if you would like to hear the speaker, let me know or meet us about 6:15 Friday evening at the courthouse. This management school is under the direction of Charles Martin, extension livestock specialist, and his first meeting will be conducted by Kenyon Evans, University Pasture and Forage Crop Specialist.

This meeting will take the place of one which was cancelled last week because of snow.

Plant Beds

Short on wood to burn this year's bed? Why not try Methyl Bromide gas for sterilizing plant beds this year. It is cheap, easy to use, free of fire danger, and does a real good job. If you have questions about it, contact the Extension Office.

Record Books

Some of you folks who have been in for record books and were unable to get them because we were out can pick them up now. We just got in a new batch. Carl Stone stopped by yesterday to get one for this year and he told us that he had just been in conference with his lawyer on his income tax and that he had contemplated him on the records he had kept on his farm operation in 1963. Carl is one of our young farmers who graduated from the On The Farm Training Program held after World War II, and is doing a fine job on his farm on Rock Fork.

Lawns

Have you sown any grass on your lawn yet? I haven't. Let's all try to get that job done this week. Fifteen pounds of fertilizer per 1,000 square feet such as 10-10-10 or a similar analysis will help a lot.

House Refuses To Reconsider Bill Causing Executive Rift

The Kentucky House of Representatives Monday disposed of a bill — by refusing to reconsider it — which had caused what has been described as "a serious rift" between Gov. Edward T. Breathitt and Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield.

Voting 56-38 not to remove the measure from the table, the House caused the demise of the bill, which would have set up a so-called "watch-dog" committee on state spending.

The measure, Senate Bill 23, was approved by the Senate 28 to 0. It was tabled in the House last Thursday after Governor Edward T. Breathitt passed the word to kill it. The vote to table was 46 to 28.

This action touched off a dispute between Breathitt and Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield and led to efforts in the House Friday to revive the measure.

When the House was adjourned Friday after a brief but noisy session, there still remained unsolved an appeal from a ruling by Speaker Shelby McCallum, Union Democrat.

McCallum had refused to en-

Rep. Allie W. Young Jr. motion defeated

ertain a motion to suspend the rules so that S. B. 23 could be reconsidered. Representative John Swinford, Louisville Democrat, who made the motion, appealed. McCallum vacated the chair, turning his gavel over to Democratic Caucus Chairman Louis Peniston, New Castle.

Before calling for a vote on whether to uphold McCallum's ruling, Peniston introduced Representative Norbert Blume, Louisville Democrat, who moved to adjourn.

The electric roll call showed a 46-to-28 tie, with Peniston voting for adjournment at the speaker's desk, using the switch wired to McCallum's "speaker" position on the tally board.

When Peniston next announced that he was breaking the tie by causing a verbal "aye" vote, trouble ensued. There were shouts of "He's voting twice." A quick effort was made to appeal this ruling, but to no avail — Peniston had already declared the House adjourned.

Breathitt and Waterfield, meantime, spent the interval swapping charges, counter-charges, and denials — all the while insisting that there was nothing "personal" behind their remarks.

When he learned that S. B. 23 had been killed, Waterfield accused Breathitt of going back on his promise to support the measure. The Governor retorted with a denial that he had never agreed to support it.

The bill Breathitt said is "rip-rap legislation" against the Legislative Research Commission. Not so, retorted Waterfield. He said it would neither rip the Governor nor the L.R.C. but would "merely serve to bring legislation into full partnership with the State Government, where it rightfully belongs."

Breathitt said he notified Waterfield in advance of his opposition to the bill as reported out of the House committee. (The House committee made no changes in the measure. It reported favorably the same version that had been approved by the Senate.)

Waterfield retorted that Breathitt "at no time" had sent him voting or told him he had changed his mind and was against the bill.

New Withholding Tax Rates Apply Today

Employers should apply the new lower withholding rate to the length of the pay period, an any check due on or after today (Thursday) regardless of Internal Revenue Service spokesman has said.

The IRS official said some employers who have a pay period of two weeks or longer did not know whether they should apply the old rates to part of the period.

The official said the new rates should be used for the entire pay check even if the pay period began before the income tax reduction bill became law.

Bond Sales Here Totaled $11,950

It was announced this week that the sale of Series E and H Savings Bonds in January amounted to $11,950. The County's goal for 1964 is $73,580.

In Kentucky, sales for the same period amounted to $5,457,931. The State's Series E and H Savings Bonds Goal for 1964 is $56,600,000.

Rain, Snow Retard Grid Drills; 47 Prospects Report To Penny

Rain and snow played havoc with Morehead State College spring football this week as the Eagles got in only two days of practice as drills opened.

Eagle head coach Guy Penny welcomed 47 prospects on opening day and 20 seasoned veterans among the total give him a picture around which to build.

Morehead lost only five seniors by graduation from the 1963 squad which won five games while losing four.

Among the returnees will be six seniors, 14 juniors and 15 sophomores. Penny has already signed eight outstanding graduating seniors to grants-in-aid, including two giant tackles who should bolster the thin interior line.

Heading the backfield returnees will be junior quarterbacks Mike Goddard and Tally Johnson. Outstanding halfbacks are senior Stanley Burton; juniors Dennis Brown and Fred Prumo and sophomores Scotty Keddick, Scotty Russell and Tom Gray.

Tackle returnees are seniors Jim Osborne and Richard Jones, junior Charles Wagner and sophomore Jim Stamper. At guard are

House Rejects Move To Bar 'Stooges'

The House voted down by voice vote Monday a proposed resolution to call out the state militia "so as to clean the House chamber of stooges from the governor's office and other lobbyists."

It was introduced by Rep. Albert Dempsey, R-Hazel, and began:

"Whereas a rift has developed between the governor and lieutenant governor of Kentucky . . ."

It went on to allege that "stooges" and "lobbyists" have converged on the House chamber in such numbers as to keep the members from attending to their official duties.

Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield have been at odds over a fiscal affairs bill which was passed in the Senate and tabled in the House.

Waterfield charged that Brent Waterfield, a charged that Breathitt use "many helpers to bulldozer House members and defeat the proposal."

20,000 Whites Seen For Frankfort March

Sponsors of a civil rights march on Frankfort said Sunday they expect more than 20,000 white Kentuckians to participate today (Thursday).

The estimate was announced by Frank Stanley Jr., Louisville, who said it is based on reports from most of the state.

"They will come from as far east as Covington, as far west as Paducah and as far south as Bowling Green," he said.

Stanley is general chairman of the Allied Organizations for Civil Rights, the sponsoring organization.

He said the anticipated number of Negroes in the march would be released later.

The march is intended to dramatize Negro demands for a state bill which would give them equal access to places of public accommodation.

Since Gov. Edward T. Breathitt has definitely come out in favor of one such version, there have been reports that the march may be postponed or canceled.

"These rumors are unjustified," Stanley said. "The march definitely will be held as scheduled."

Breathitt said last week that "so far as I'm concerned, it's no march on me." He said his announcement in support of a revised civil rights bill had no connection with the planned march.

Stanley, who commended Breathitt, said, "No one should conclude that the purpose of the government's action was to throw cold water on our human rights."

Stanley met for the second and final time Friday with Frankfort officials and State Police to complete arrangements.

The march will be patterned after the recent Washington civil rights march — right down to detailed instruction cards for vehicle "captains."

Police will handle the crowds much as they do on a governor's inauguration day — funneling traffic to key points and sealing it off at certain intervals.

The assembly point is at Second Street and Capital Avenue near the Kentucky River. After walking the five blocks to the front of the Capitol, marchers will hear speeches by nationally prominent Negroes.

They will include the Rev. Martin Luther King, former baseball star Jackie Robinson and James Farmer, executive director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

The march will begin about 11 a.m. and the entire proceedings will take about two hours.

Breathitt has invited a group of national and state integration leaders to his office after the march.

National Guard To Train In 4 States This Year

Camp McCoy, Wis. O'is Air Force Base, Mass., Fort Knox, Ky., and Columbus, O., will all serve as training sites for various units of the Kentucky National Guard this summer, State Adjutant General Arthur Y. Lloyd has announced.

More than half of the Kentucky National Guard will make the 6,000-mile trip to Wisconsin for a July 10 through 27 training period. This group will include all State artillery units plus the State Headquarters Detachment, 1384 Public Information Detachment, 103d Signal Company, 413th Ordnance Company, all of the Frankfort units and the 2001 Army Band of Ashland.

The Kentucky Air National Guard, based at Seward Air National Guard Base in Louisville, is to train August 3 through 15 at the O'is Air Force Base near Falmouth, Mass.

Some Armor and Engineer units will train at Fort Knox from July 23 to August 8 and the remaining units will train there August 9 to 23.

Senate Amendment Would Kill Price Support On Tobacco

Legislation that would abolish the tobacco price-support program was introduced in the U.S. Senate Monday as an amendment to the administration farm bill.

The proposed amendment drew fire from U.S. Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee and a leading spokesman for tobacco-grower interests.

Sen. Herbert Humphrey of Minnesota, the majority whip, joined with Sen. Cooper in supporting the price-support program.

The proposed amendment, offered by Sen. J. J. Williams, Democrat of the surgeon general's health report on use of tobacco.

Sen. Cooper challenged the proposal declaring that its adoption would have no effect on the health situation and would "ruin tobacco farmers."

The amendment — one of about 20 before the upper house — is expected to be "called up" by Sen. Williams within the next day or two for debate and an eventual vote.

Procedurally, it will be considered by the Senate as a whole and will not first receive consideration of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"I'm sorry the senator (Williams) did not see fit to come before the Committee on Agriculture," Sen. Cooper commented.

The Kentucky farmer said he would support a program "required to support a program" that has "been developed by the surgeon general."

"The amendment would do no good," Sen. Cooper said, declaring:

"Its only result would be to flood the country with millions of pounds of low quality tobacco and ruin the tobacco farmers."

He said that the amendment would only result in cheap tobacco to smoke which would be able to buy at lower prices.

He declared:

"The only people who would be flooded down would be the tobacco farmers. I shall propose this amendment."

"It would only result in unlimited production at cheaper prices with no government grading for quality."

He reiterated that although Sen. Williams was thinking of the health situation, "the amendment actually would mean only a surplus of low quality tobacco at cheaper prices."

Sen. Cooper also took issue with Williams' objection to the price program on a contention that if cost the taxpayers $60 million a year and in this he was supported by Sen. Humphrey.

Sen. Humphrey, Minnesota Democratic leader:

"I join with my good friend from Kentucky in saying... health aspects of the product, no less or has worked better than the price support, create allotment and marketing quota programs for tobacco."

Commented Cooper:

"I hope the senator from Minnesota will be here tomorrow."

"I will," replied Humphrey, who is administration manager for the farm bill.

Farm Aides Are Chosen By Governor

Governor Edward T. Breathitt Monday announced the formation of a 17-man Agricultural Development Commission to plan ways of raising Kentucky's farm income to $1 billion a year.

In a statement naming the commission, Breathitt noted that he had set the goal during his recent campaign and said:

"I have pledged to push with all possible speed in that direction means toward the day when that economy will reach a billion dollars annual income. This undertaking is of the first magnitude and will require the finest leadership, the most imagination and the best brains we can muster."

Breathitt named himself chairman of the commission and Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield as vice-chairman. Other State officials include Dr. William A. Seay, dean of the University of Agriculture at the College of Kentucky, Wendell P. Butler, State Agriculture Commissioner and J. O. Matlock, State conservation commissioner.

Members from the state at large include two Louisvilleans: William C. Johnston, consultant to the Kentucky Bankers Association, and Samuel R. Guard, farm writer.

Other members include Hillary Dewees, Clinton; Robert D. Green, Spottsville; John Dixon, Howell; Charles Gatton, Bremen; Lewis F. Allen, Bowling Green; George Busey, Bagdad; John A. Moser, Worthington; Henry B. Sinden Sr., Winchester; Barney Tucker, London, and R. O. Wilton, Grand Rivers.

Breathitt said the commission will be attached to his office and will function unrestricted by department lines and with the cooperation of all other state agencies.

It will appoint committees and subcommittees and develop an organization that will reach into every county setting goals for the production of each crop or group of crops, he said.

Breathitt said he realizes reaching a $1-billion farm economy is going to require increasing the present farm income of the state by about 50 percent, but added:

"We will never reach our goal if we decide simply to do what ourselves will require a great deal of new thinking and innovations."

The appointments are for a one-year period and members will serve without pay. Breathitt's statement made no mention of a secretary of the commission, but from earlier discussions about the formation of the group it presumably would appoint one.

Easter Seals Aid Children With Hearing

An important part of the year-round program of direct services provided by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, the Easter Seal Society, is that of helping children to hear.

Recognizing the special needs of children with hearing handicaps, the Easter Seal Society in Kentucky has been instrumental in providing rehabilitative services which enable these children to make a successful adjustment in school and social life.

At the Society's Hearing and Speech Center in Louisville, services offered include intensive testing and evaluation of hearing problems, training in lip reading and use of hearing aids and speech correction for children with hearing-caused speech problems. Therapy at the Center is aimed primarily at improvement in communication.

Last year, 881 children and 137 adults from 78 Kentucky counties received hearing and speech services at the Center. A WHAS Crusade for Children grant administered by the Society paid for 85 hearing aids for children whose parents could not afford them.

The hearing and speech program of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, as well as its other statewide programs of medical care, hospitalization, therapies, resident camping and recreation, are financed largely through contributions to the annual Easter Seal campaign.

The campaign opened Mar. 1 and will continue through Mar. 29, Easter Sunday.

Burley Growers Reaped Extra Harvest Of 45 Million Dollars

A boost from another nature cancelled out the greater acre on Kentucky's burley tobacco market this season and sent leaf growers home more than $45 million richer than last year.

With but one cleanup sale remaining, a total of $42,000,743 worth of burley have sold for $324,261,327, an average of $66.62 per hundred-weight.

Last year, a total of 479,794,832 pounds sold for $277,794,644, an average of $57.90.

When the U. S. Surgeon General's report linking cancer and smoking was released early this year, the state's burley growers held their breath and expected the worst — but it never came.

Most observers feel that, because of the unusual size of this year's crop, it is impossible to tell if the cancer scare had any effect on burley sales.

These same observers also stand fast with their beliefs that the unexpected volume of leaf — and not the cancer scare — upset the routine of the market before the Christmas holiday.

The market shot down one week early for the holidays so that all the leaf which failed to meet its support price and put under government loan could be processed for storage.

Speculation then centered on the Surgeon General's report, but observers feel that the concern was exaggerated.

A spokesman for the burley industry emphasized that this was a "huge" market and that the amount of leaf allowed manufacturers to be as selective as they wished.

Perfect growing conditions upset all predictions on the size of the 1935 crop, which exceeded original estimates by almost 100 million pounds.

"The weather was just right for leaf to grow big," a spokesman said. "Six and seven foot stalks were nothing this year. The crop was just unbelievably big."

"We think that this had more to do with making things a little thing else. But regardless, it wasn't a bad year for burley."

Estimates set for the 1936 crop at 688 million pounds, but this proved to be far out of line. With the one cleanup sale left in Kentucky, 781,005,257 pounds of leaf have been sold on the eight-state burley leaf.

An unusually high percentage of leaf was put under the price support program this year. The total state belt, compared to about nine percent last year.

But those administering the program are quick to point out that one bad tobacco crop would wipe out all the surplus they have on hand under the support program.

State Takes

In Millions

In Truck Tax

More than $10 million was collected for the State Road Fund in fiscal year 1935-36 by the Kentucky Department of Motor Transportation, Motor Transportation Commissioner Ben M. Combs has reported.

The source of this income is truck license and permit fees and motor carrier fuel use tax receipts collected by the Department.

The Department's annual report to the Governor listed these receipts for fiscal year 1935-36:

For-hire weight tax, $1,530,281; gross weight tax, $1,591,515; basic registration, $4,650,285; trailer registration, $237,980; bus license, $50,018; taxi license, $23,042; permit fees, $130,285; and miscellaneous fees, $125,130.

Total license and permit fees collected were $8,274,264, an increase of $302,917 over the previous fiscal year.

Collection of Kentucky's motor carrier fuel use tax was transferred to the Department of Motor Transportation in July 1935, making it the first State agency in the nation to have sole responsibility for both regulation and taxation of commercial motor vehicles.

Receipts from the fuel tax totaled $1,791,353 for fiscal year 1935-36, making a grand total of $10,065,617 collected for the State Road fund.

School Attendance Here Up Slightly

Average daily attendance in Rowan County schools was up 7 percent during the first two months of the 1935-36 term, it was announced this week.

Figures released by the State Department of Education showed that the number of pupils in the system was 2,444.2, as compared with 2,293.5 for the 1934-35 school year.

Average daily attendance is one factor which is used when computing the amount of financial aid for which a school district is eligible under Kentucky's Minimum Foundation Program.

Important Discovery

White Burley First Noticed Near Higginsport, O., In 1875

One of the most detailed accounts of the discovery of "white burley" (the generic term which includes most of today's strains) was written in 1875 by A. F. Ellis, who was, as his account indicates, a witness to the event. He stated that "white burley" to the new kind of tobacco discovered in 1864 in Brown County, Ohio, near Higginsport.

Recounting the discovery, Ellis wrote:

"White burley tobacco first made its appearance in the year 1864, near the village of Higginsport, Brown County, Ohio. In the spring of that year one George Webb procured from G. W. Barkley of Bracken County, Ky., a small portion of tobacco seed of the kind then known as Little Burley. He sowed a part of this seed and grew a bed of fine-looking plants, but when ready to transplant found among them a few peculiar white or yellow color ones and supposed them to be diseased or damaged, pulled them up and threw them away."

"The next year, being scarce of seed, he sowed the remainder of this old seed and again found a portion of the same kind of plants which he had thrown away the year previous."

"This excited the curiosity of the neighbors, whose attention had been called to the strange-looking plants, and they were induced to transplant them, which proved to be healthy and thrifty, and when fully ripe were almost of a cream color, making a great contrast with other tobacco."

"The result of this experience created quite a sensation throughout the neighborhood and many growers came from every direction to see what they called a freak."

of nature. The tobacco cured a bright yellow or cream color, but was adapted better to the taste. Some concluded that although the tobacco cured well and produced the pounds, it would not be the next crop of this kind of tobacco, although considerable seed had been saved.

"The plant beds that were sown of this seed in the year 1866 were found to contain a much larger portion of white plants than green ones, and a sufficient quantity was transplanted to produce 20,000 pounds of cured tobacco. Two hogheads of this production were shipped to the Cincinnati market and sold at a high price. The purchaser shipped the same to the St. Louis Fair of 1867 and, after being awarded first and second premiums for cutting leaf, sold it for $84 a hundred."

"The remainder of this kind of tobacco was purchased by the firm of which I was a member, and entered at the Cincinnati Annual Tobacco Fair of the same year to compete for the best tobacco of any class, and awarded the third premium, and was afterward sold for $84 per hundred."

"The record thus made at the planters of Brown County, Ohio, gradually increased the number of tobacco, and its culture has been increasing throughout the entire district used for cutting tobacco until the present time (1935) when it would be difficult to find any person in this large tobacco region so ignorant of its pecuniary interest as to plant any other kind."

A hundred years later, burley tobacco production is worth nearly $500,000,000 a year to its growers in an eight-state belt.
