

Shooting at Morehead.

The town of Morehead was thrown into considerable excitement Saturday by a report that Craig Tolliver's son had shot another boy fatally. The particulars are these: About 8:30 Saturday morning John Walters, aged 16, John Dillon, aged 15, and Burt Tolliver, aged 15, son of the notorious Craig Tolliver, who was killed on the 22d day of last June, were out about three hundred yards from Morehead firing a pistol at a target. While engaged in this pastime, Tolliver shot young Walters in the head, inflicting a necessarily fatal wound. Burt claims it was an accident, but this statement cannot be verified. Neither Dillon or Tolliver have been arrested. There is not much probability of any further trouble growing out of this shooting, as the father of Walters does not belong to either of the warring factions.
