300 in the Order procession while the entire congregation numbered between 600 and 700 persons. Although a large gathering not the least incident occurred that would mar the solemnity of the occasion or cause a moment's undue excitement. No one showing the least cast toward the presence of any intoxicants being on the ground. The occasion was pleasantly, agreeably and quietly passed, except for the excessive heat which rendered it rather disagreeable toward the noon-hour. Olive Hill's honoraries to the dedication returned at 2 p.m.

Body Found on Track.

Early Sunday morning the body of a man was found lying by the railroad track near Limestone station, a few miles west of here and upon examination he was identified as one John Blair, who lives in the vicinity of Limestone. John and his brother James have worked at the factories here and many know him. He is said to have been in town on Saturday night and known to have $15 in his pocket, but a collection had to be taken in order to raise money with which to purchase the coffin and burial outfit. We understand his skull was crushed in one place was the only mark of injury.

Killed Himself Accidentally.

John H. Maggard, living near Resort, while out fishing and hunting, slipped from a log upon which he was standing and accidentally discharged his gun and shot him through the body, killing him. The funeral services were held at Oakland Cemetery Wednesday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon under the auspices of the Masonic and Odd Fellow Orders. John is known by many here having a few years previously been engaged with his brother, Edd, here in the saddlery and harness repair business. Our sympathy rests with all his sorrowers.

Shooting at Primary

A difficulty arose at the Crackerneck primary last Saturday, some shooting was indulged in and one man is now lying in a seriously wounded condition from the effect of a bullet wound thru the thigh.

Killing Near Hopewell.

At the convention held near Hopewell last Saturday, in a conflict Joseph Martin instantly killed one David Penix by cutting his throat. Penix was a son-in-law of Martin. Martin immediately surrendered to the officers.

A Novel "Swap."

Flem Jarvis and J. A. Porter, Esq., "swapped" farms, household goods, crops, chickens and everything except horses, cows, hogs, sewing machines and wearing apparel. Each went to the other's home and began business. These two farms lay on Corey Hill. It was surely a novel way to do business and each family must have experienced a sensation in using the other's cook-stoves, dishes, carpets, window curtains and other household furniture.—Bugle-Herald.

Jordan-Cooper.

Van Jordan and Miss Cooper were married at the residence of Grant Kier, near Highland, Saturday night. We were unable to get full particulars but the groom is a son of Wm. Jordan who lives near Corey Hill, and the bride a sister of Mrs. Kier at whose residence they were united.

Our Bank a Growing Institution.

In most every thing in the way of business and especially banking business, an occasional, and frequent, swells in deposits as well as profits and general banking business transactions are experienced, but it is rarely, we mean very, very seldom will any bank, under the same favored opportunities, be able to show a record meaning a swifter and more substantial growth brought about by the actual increase of financial or money conditions of the community, than can the Olive Hill National Bank during its past years service for the people.

In its report of June 27th, one year ago, its deposits were over $37,000.00. In its report of the 27th of February, or the first report published for the present calendar year pushed the index to $40,000.00. Well the next report published April 27th pointed nearly to the $55,000.00 notch an increase of almost $15,000.00 or an average of about $7,500 monthly INCREASE in deposits, and for the 27th day of June '07 just past nearly $61,000.00, an increase of almost $24,000 per month for 12 months.

This does not speak so bad for the growth of business and enterprises generally and too, voluminous for the confidence and security the people have in placing their money in the care of these men and the institution of affairs.

Birthday Reception.

Mrs. J. P. Huff gave her husband, Dr. J. P. Huff, a birthday reception the 27th ult, inviting only the Doctors, Dentists and Druggists and their wives, of the town.

The Dr.'s old-time friends, Rev. C. V. Zimmerman and wife, were also present.

All responded quite heartily to the invitation and a jollier crowd you never saw.

After indulging in good-humored talks, jests and jokes for an hour or so, they were all invited into the dining room where cakes, ice-cream, chocolate and sherbet ices, and all fruits of the season were awaiting them in rich profusion and to which they all did ample justice.

The jollification came to an end about ten to half past, all agreeing that they had spent a very pleasant evening, and wishing the doctor many return of the same.

It was the doctor's sixtieth birthday.

The presents were not numerous but costly and quite useful. They consisted of an office chair, cost $6.25, bought by the doctors of the party collectively, a nice Masonic charm and gold cuff buttons, a nice pair of slippers, silk stockings, tie and handkerchief, etc. The presents were presented by Dr. McClung, who made a nice little presentation speech, to which Dr. Huff tried to reply but was completely knocked out, as he didn't anticipate such presents. We forgot to mention that Henry L. Woods, the next Circuit Judge of this district, was also present.

Roe-Sparks.

It was my pleasure to solemnize the rites of Matrimony between William Roe and Miss Rebecca Sparks, both from Elton, Wisconsin, on Thursday morning, June 27th, shortly after their arrival on the first morning train. We gave them a cordial welcome into old Kentucky and to our beautiful city, Olive Hill, where they expect to make their future home, and may theirs be a long and happy voyage on life's great sea and in the end come to the city of unending day.

Captured Sixteen Young Wolves.

Sixteen young wolves have been captured in a den by J. J. Dobious sometimes known as "Wild Cat" Dobious, a farmer living near here, says a Brant, Minn., Telegram, the old wolves got away but the intrepid hunter-proprietor to have them also. The bounty on the wolf pups is $3 per head, so that Dobious will receive $48 from the State. For the full grown wolves a bounty of $7.50 is paid and Mr. Dobious will now go after the old ones.

He will be remembered as the man who one day last week was attacked by a fierce wild cat or lynx which with the assistance of his faithful dog he succeeded in killing.
