offered to anyone in the entire student body whose news story is judged as the best one printed in the college. These computer judges are selected and they render a decision as to the winner.

Last spring another journalistic prize was offered for the first time. Prof. A. Y. Lloyd offered a cash award of $25.00 for the best editorial. This prize is also an annual award. The prize was last spring by Lloyd Moody who has collected on the cost of the document.

The donors of these prizes especially enjoy that all persons interested in journalistic prizes feel free to make an effort without winning any of these prizes.

Mr. Lester Oylet spent the weekend with his parents in Ashland.

menation. Members who participate in the clubs are eligible for the prize.

A change in being made in the schedule for this season, and only one instrument will be used. The orchestra enjoyed a Kennedy in 1931, under the supervision of Professor George.

The band, also directed by Professor George, has been started, and the band is looking forward to several places in the organization are still open. A grand opportunity to render several concerts this year on the terrace. Several places in the prevailing. They play also at the football.

The college offers free instruction in classes of voice, piano, and in brass, reed and string instruments. Students desiring to take these classes should make arrangements with the Music Department.

opportunity for active participation is granted every member of the club. Dr. Deuchars Vossler keeps alive the traditions of German students and, at the same time, provides entertainment and instruction for the progressive young moderns. Meetings are held every fortnight.

The English Club is an informal group of juniors and seniors who meet for bi-weekly programs having literary and social features. During 1932 nine students are interested in American drama.

Two offers of the most important clubs on the campus are the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. New students are especially invited to become members of these two organizations and to continue the old members for assistance and advice in their effort to adjust themselves with the college life.

The Kentucky Dramatic Club was organized in 1930. The purpose of this organization is to provide pleasurable social intercourse and to promote interest in the drama as a means of entertainment. Eligibility for membership is based on a tryout held at the beginning of each semester. Any student meeting the college requirements of a standing of one quality point is eligible to participate in the tryout. Active members must retain this standing. The club holds regular meetings and presents plays from time to time during the regular college year.

The Liberal Debating Club was organized in the fall of 1931. For the purpose of promoting a greater interest in the art of public speaking, more vital training in expressing opinions, better fellowship among students, and a more cordial relationship between our own and other colleges, all applications for membership must be voted on by club members. The organization of this club resulted from the interest that has been shown in the past in the forensic art. Last year's debating team from this club was retained as the leading debating team of the club.

Phi-Epsilon, the college press club, organized in 1931, was created for the purpose of stimulating interest in journalism. Active membership in the club is a distinction conferred upon a student who has contributed five articles which have been printed in the college paper. One accepted article and the vote of the membership committee entitles a student to associate membership.

For the musically inclined students, the various ensembles organized under the supervision of the Music Department provide social and cultural advantages of great value to the members. The Orchestra, Band, Chorus and Glee Clubs are open to all students who can qualify as amateur players or singers. Further particulars about these organizations may be had by asking Prof. L. H. Hanna or Prof. George. The Future Choral Club is a limited group of twenty-four singers whose members are chosen the second semester by competitive tryouts. The organization, though less than two years old, has already a noteworthy record, having sung over 100 times and before various state educational meetings. County Clubs are formed each year by student groups from the various counties represented in the college. These clubs are social and educational in their purpose. Many interesting programs are given, affording excellent opportunities for exhibiting good school spirit.

GRADUATE OF COLLEGE DIES AFTER ACCIDENT

Cecil C. Cramer, graduate of the Morehead State Teachers College in the class of 1932, has paid in full, the debt on all his debts. Only a few days after receiving the degree from this institution, and upon the verge of taking his place in the citizenry of today, Mr. Cramer met with an accident which has proved fatal. While enroute to his home in Easton, Maryland, from South Carolina, the motorcycle upon which Mr. Cramer was riding was completely wrecked. The injuries received by him were so severe that he succumbed to a short time.

Born January 1, 1909, Cramer spent his early days at his home in Easton. In 1928, he entered school at Wilkeson, Kentucky. During the three years of his student there he made for himself an enviable record. In 1931, he entered Morehead College, and immediately was his way into the hearts of the students. While here Cramer gained the distinction of being one of the most scholarly students ever enrolled in the college. He left here with high ambitions of becoming a physician, little thinking that his ambition would never be realized. His death has greatly saddened his loved friends in Maryland.

THOMPSON HALL IS USING THIRD FLOOR

For the first time in the history of the 'school, third floor rooms in Thompson Hall are being used during the fall semester as living quarters. One hundred seven new students have been assigned to the hall, including the Deas, Dr. Walker and Dr. Butler are living in the hall at the present time.

That room has been redecorated and provided with new curtains, while the rest of the hall was decorated thoroughly during the summer vacation.

The new dean, Dr. Gard, has proved himself already to be a very capable man for the position. The same is the hall are very much pleased with him and they are looking forward to a pleasant term.

Thursday night, September 22, the first house meeting of the year was held and the room assembled unanimously. Rules and regulations were discussed in an to give the greatest facilities to the greatest number of students. The rules were presented in a concise form and a very good one.

Dr. Gard requested that each man keep his key so that he may refer to it when it is needed.

Some of the changes from last year are, that there will be no room inspection by the students, that no ever doors will be permitted to open, that no radios will be allowed in private rooms, and that the closing hour for the outside doors has been changed from 10:30 to 11:00 o'clock. Dean Gard announced that there would be no student smoking this fall.

The Dean says that he is very much pleased with the attitude of the men and with their willingness to cooperate, since this makes his stay a pleasant one.

The Trail Blazer takes this opportunity to wish Dean Gard a very pleasant and successful year at Morehead.

NEW DRAPES TO BE HUNG IN AUDITORIUM

In a few days the college auditorium windows will be dressed in new velvet draperies. These draperies are the result of a two day shopping tour of Cincinnati by Dr. Black and Hattie. The draperies will be of deep blue with gold trimming, made to match the stage curtains now in use. They will get as good as a long fall and here in the center of a semester many conversation pieces are now given which require artificial light. In the afternoon, in order to obtain this effect it was necessary to spend several hours in making the stage set for the window. After the hanging of these draperies, the auditorium can be darkened in a few seconds.

While in Cincinnati, the two shoppers inquired as to the cost and operating expense of talking picture equipment. The auditorium could easily be adapted for talking pictures and they would constitute a great improvement for this college. While no definite plans were formulated it is highly probable that the proper equipment will be purchased during the fall months.

INTERESTING CHAPEL PROGRAMS GIVEN

President John Howard Payne, inaugurated the convocation program for the fall semester on September 20, 1932, with a thrilling speech, using as his subject, "The Love of Education." Holding the new student body speeches with his matchless eloquence President Payne gave one of the best speeches ever delivered from the platform of the Morehead State Teachers College Auditorium.

Treating his subject in such a novel way that enjoyment and appreciation was inevitable, the speaker immediately won his way into the hearts of all students, new and old alike. The word used in the address was early Education as a maiden and was as only helpful lesson, trying in vain to win her, to captivate the student that they were generous in their applause of President Payne's address.

The second chapel program of the current school year was given by the Rev. Seavers of the Morehead Methodist Church. Rev. Seavers gave an inspiring talk, taking as his text this quotation, "Little Hare Ye That Ye Were Not Given." The speaker voiced his love of young people and his desire to single with them. He closed his address with an invitation for the student body to attend the Methodist Church.

The convocation program is not complete for the remainder of the semester, but Prof. A. V. Lloyd, chairman of the convocation committee, says that many of the best speakers of Kentucky will appear here during this semester.
