sites, thirty-five years ago either did not even exist or he could not afford to use them. Now he can use them because the purchasing power of the American wage makes them available to the American worker.

"Some say that was true before the Depression, but what about today?" The same general condition is true today after ten years of depression, namely that the American standard of living in relation to the American wage scale remains the highest in the world.

"Those who would stir misunderstanding between labor and management keep on emphasizing management's huge slice of the industrial dollar. Well, exactly how huge is that slice?"

"For the six year period 1928-1933, according to data compiled from U. S. Treasury Department reports on Statistics of Income, the percentage that went to management averaged about 2 per cent. This included not only salaries but also bonuses when they were paid.

"Again what does the investor get? Well, you read in the papers about this multi-millionaire and about some very poor family, and you immediately jump to some conclusion from rare instances at the two extremes of our economic system.

"But figure that average net profits in 1929 were less than 7 per cent of the industrial dollar. In 1931, 1932 and 1933 corporations as a whole operated at a loss. In a year like 1932 the loss to stockholders stood at 5 per cent.

"Now, here is what we have to face:

"We know that 1929 was a good year. If we take that year as an example we find that 72 per cent of the industrial dollar was spent for labor and materials, 2 per cent went for management and four per cent was paid out to the owners.

REGISTER ON AUGUST 1

The attention of every Democrat, Republican or Independent is called to the new state registration law, which requires that all voters must register at the precinct on August 1 and return to the county clerk's office between then and the November election.

The Republican party does not have much at stake in the August primary in this county, but they should register nevertheless. Registration will be held at the polls.

One of the main purposes of the new registration is to keep Democrats from taking a Republican ballot and vice-versa in primary elections. If it accomplished nothing else it would be a good law.

The new registration law will practically eradicate repeaters, or one person voting in two or more precincts.

It is a good law, and citizens should bear in mind that it will be enforced. Failure to register will deprive anyone the right to vote in November.

BRIGHT NOTE FOR FARMERS

A bright note was sounded for the farmer throughout the United States during the last week, as economists reported that foodstuffs would bring a high price this year.

There will be a shortage of food caused by the drought, but the farmer should recuperate somewhat because what he does raise will bring more on the market.

The mid-west had rain during the week, bringing with it renewed hopes. It was the first moisture of any consequence that has fallen since early in the growing season.

But crops are almost a total loss, while the harder ones, including corn, have partially survived the drought, and a little better than 50 per cent yield is anticipated.

The salaried individual will be almost as hard hit by the drought as the farmer. He will be making the same pay as he now receives, but will be forced to pay a higher price for his food than in many years.

THIS WEEK IN MOREHEAD

INVESTIGATION A resolution was passed by the Rowan County Board of Education asking the County Judge to conduct an investigation into two attempts to burn the Poplar Grove school building and other deprecatory acts at that place.

The Board went further than this in advising the County Superintendent to ascertain the most plausible means of abandoning this school fund consolidating it with another district if the county's court of inquiry does not result in the arrest of the guilty parties.

Persons living in the Poplar Grove section should spare personal feelings in an attempt to bring these persons before the bar of justice. This is but one of the many acts of lawlessness in this respect and a somewhat general disregard for protecting the state's property.

EDUCATIONAL Dr. Andrew Estrem, a staid but clear-thinking landmark at the Morehead State Teachers College, may no longer call his class roll at this or any other institution.

Dr. Estrem, who has taught at Morehead almost since the institution was founded has been forced to resign because of ill-health. He was an instructor in the Department of English and an authoritative on literature.

Possessing many peculiarities, Dr. Estrem was, nevertheless one of the best liked men on the faculty. He had little to say except in the class-room, read most of the time, and was well-versed in his particular field.

Since coming to Morehead he made his home in only one place—a room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young on Main street.

New street work completed in Elizabethtown, costing $34,000.

HELPING ON OLD AGE PENSIONS

A number of public-spirited individuals in Morehead have been signing out the old age pension blanks. They signify that they intend to do this indefinitely, without pay, so that those eligible for this pension may secure it with as little red tape as possible.

Approximately 3,000 application blanks have gone to individuals in Kentucky who have signed their mention of applying for old age pension. A like number has gone to the county clerks.

The payment of old age pensions should reduce the relief burden now falling on local communities and as the Lexington Herald states: "lighten the burdens of those for whom the shadows lengthen and the darkness of evening falls."

The state department of public welfare has $256,500 of state money for payment of the old age benefits.

WHAT OTHER KENTUCKY EDITORS ARE SAYING

Merchants and Trade

If all the articles that have been written about trading at home, were stretched, end to end, they would reach around the universe and back home again.

The idea that it pays citizens to patronize home industry is such simple truth that some "smart" people believe that there is a catch in it, and they prefer to be "wise" and send off for something that the "foolish" town bookers miss.

This paper has heretofore urged its readers to buy everything possible in their home town, because a town or city has a money balance just as vital to its progress as any material budget. The more trading done in Elizabethtown the more profits there will be and the more prosperity, and besides those who have faith enough to open up business here are entitled to the patronage of the community.

However, let's keep the argument on a sound basis, and to do this we must consider the merchant's obligation. He is not entitled to the trade of local citizens unless he is really a merchant and not a storekeeper, content to pluck random profits of desultory trade. Local merchants to merit local patronage, must be efficient in their methods, up-to-date in their appeals and efficient in business. They cannot, and should not expect a community to support incompetency through misguided home spirit.

Having said so much about our merchants let us point out that Elizabethtown like other places, has efficient as well as inefficient merchants. We have reliable and honest business houses, and we regret to say, a few that are not above taking the profit and forgetting the true principles of modern business. Readers are urged to be discriminating in their patronage and to support merchants who are public spirited, of known honesty and of apparent efficiency in business. In so doing you will not lose anything.

Bounty on Reckless Drivers

Here is the way they deal with reckless and intoxicated drivers in Portland, Oregon.

There is a $100 bounty on reckless drivers in Portland, Oregon who are considered speeding reckless.

Determined to put a check on city drivers, the city, cooperating with a civic accident prevention organization, enacted the bounty law recently as one of a widespread traffic control program.

The ordinance provides a $100 reward for any citizen who gives information leading to the arrest and conviction of a reckless driver. The reward has been paid twice in the short life of the new regulation, adopted in April of this year.

As another safeguard, the city has obtained an agreement from major gasoline companies not to sell gasoline to intoxicated persons. The city also conducts a school where reckless drivers are taught safe driving methods.

These unique regulations ought to help in the safety first campaign. Cities might well take the idea and try it out in their own ordinances. Reckless and drinking drivers are a menace to life and property and need strict regulations to insure safety on the highways.—St. James (Minn.) Plaindealer.

Your Family Coat of Arms

Here are the roots of arms attributed to a Cromwellian officer, John Ward mentioned in the records of Newport, Rhode Island as settled there in 1672. One of his descendants, Governor Richard Ward of Rhode Island has these armorial bearings on his tombstone in the old Newport churchyard.

There are other records of the name Ward registered in early colonial annals. One is a William Ward who settled at Sudbury, Massachusetts about 1629 and Andrew Ward of Waterbury, Massachusetts who accompanied the Devenport and Eaton expedition to Connecticut and settled there in a colony described as composed only of men of the highest standing and respectable connections.

Descendants of the last named Ward are also believed to have settled in Westchester county, New York.

The tombstone of Governor Richard Ward indicates that he died in 1763 at the age of seventy-five.

Description of Arms: A golden cross on a blue shield. Crest: A wolf's head. Motto: we live for ourselves alone. In the cross is salvation.

OIL ON SANDY HOOK ROAD

The Sandy Hook Highway is dusty at its best. The limestone that has been placed on the highway is a great improvement, but it has not relieved the dust situation.

The State Highway Department has oiled in front of part of the homes on the road, thereby keeping the dust at a minimum in these spots. However, it is noticed that in front of several peoples' homes there is no oil, while a school sits within a few feet of the road and no oil has been placed there. The children breathe the dust all day long. If the state highway department sees fit to oil in front of some peoples' homes, they should at least not discriminate against other persons, especially the children in the little rural school.

"There may be an explanation of why this hasn't been done. At any rate, however, something should be done about the matter."

WHERE DOES THE INDUSTRIAL DOLLAR IN AMERICA GO?

What is the standard of living among all classes of people in the United States? What is the income of the average American? What so-called luxuries can he afford? What per cent of the industrial dollar goes for labor and materials?

These are questions that all of us should be able to answer and arrive at something close to the facts. The Lee Clay Products Company, in their series of bulletins to employees has this to say in a pamphlet headed, "The Industrial Dollar":

"How much of the industrial dollar goes to the various human beings in industry—the investor, management and workers?"

"For instance, between 1899 and 1929, the income per gainful worker in the United States rose from $47 to $1,719, or 214 per cent. During the same period, the purchasing power of those gainfully employed rose 71 per cent. That means that the individual during that period not only got more money, but he could buy more and better goods for his money."

"Any person knows that to be true. He need only think of his own experience. He knows that from the good he now buys—the automobile, radio, electrical appliances—comes the movible home, his wife's stockings and cosmetics, the movies he goes to. The things his children have that he did not.

"Nearly everything that he now regards as neces-

Drivers' Licenses Must Be Obtained

August 1 Deadline For Securing Permits At Cost Of $1 Each

A new automobile drivers' license act, passed by the 1936 general assembly, becomes effective August 1. Under terms of the new act licenses must be obtained by motorists not later than August 1 at a cost of $1 each. They are for a period of one year and must be renewed at the expiration of that time.

Licenses may not be granted to persons under 16 years of age, while persons whose licenses have been suspended may not obtain a new license during the period of suspension. Those whose permits have been revoked may not be licensed until one year after the date of revocation.

Habitual drunkards and narcotic drug addicts are banned from being licensed as drivers under the new act, as are persons adjudged mentally or physically incapable of driving.

The act provides for suspension or revocation of licenses of persons convicted of manslaughter from the operation of a motor vehicle, assault and battery resulting from the operation of an automobile, driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotics, fraud in obtaining a license, any crime punishable as a felony and in the commission of which an automobile is used, three charges of reckless driving within a 12-month period, and failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

In such cases it is mandatory for the circuit clerk having jurisdiction to suspend or revoke the license. Persons whose licenses are suspended or revoked may take an appeal to the courts.

Persons convicted of operating a motor vehicle while their license is under suspension or revocation face the suspension or revocation of their permit for an additional length of time equal to the period of original suspension or revocation, in addition to a maximum fine of $500 and a jail sentence not exceeding six months.

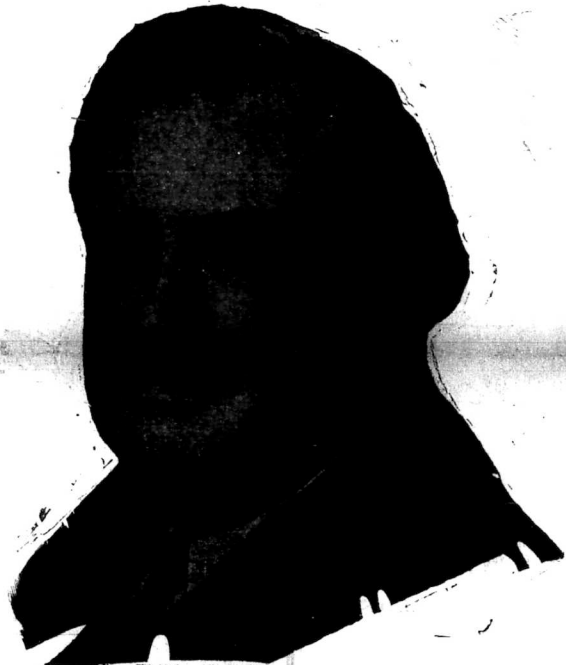

time and the car hit a fence post. Will, Jr., reported the incident to Will, Sr., and the war was on. Constable Will and six observers marched on the nudist camp last week; but dared not trespass. The first nudist they spotted was a woman. An impartial observer estimated she was 45 years old and weighed 180 pounds. Next, Will flushed two women and a man from a swimming hole near the property line. "You're a disgrace and you ought to be ashamed of yourself," he shouted as they fled.

RE-ELECT

M. M. LOGAN

For U. S. SENATOR

Let's Send a Man Back to Washington who has already proved a success.

He voted for and supported the old age pension.
He was a strong supporter and voted for the bonus measure.
He has held his seat with dignity and has been a credit to Kentucky.
No one can truthfully say one word against the character, the morals and the record of Senator Logan.

He was elected to the United States Senate when the President was a Republican, 9 of Kentucky's 11 congressmen were Republicans, and while a Republican governor was in office.

Logan will prove a great help in carrying the Democratic banner in Kentucky in the November election.

IS THERE A SINGLE REASON WHY SENATOR LOGAN SHOULD NOT BE RE-ELECTED. HE HAS BEEN TRIED AND HAS NOT BEEN FOUND WANTING.

1500 ACRE SCIOTO VALLEY FARM - At Absolute Auction - ON THE PREMISES -

10:30 A.M. THURSDAY, JULY 30TH 10:30 A.M.

The well known 1500 acre "BLACKBURN FARM" on the west side of the Scioto River, in Morgan Twp. Scioto County, Ohio, on State Route 112, 15 miles north of Portsmouth, 5 miles north of Lucasville, 12 miles south of Waverly. Sub-divided into three tracts as follows:

TRACT NO. 1—500 ACRES more or less (new survey and exact acreage announced on day of sale). 200 acres Scioto River bottoms, 100 acres cultivatable and grazing upland, 200 acres fine timber. 7-room bungalow, 4-room tenant house, 40x46 hip roof barn with 17x40 cow stable attached, 42x84 tobacco and hay barn, all other necessary outbuildings. Growing crops are 150 acres corn, 10 acres alfalfa; purchaser gets immediate possession and landlord's one-half interest in all crops.

TRACT NO. 2—825 ACRES (undoubtedly will survey more acreage than this) consists of hill, valleys and slopes of fertile soil covered with fast growing marketable timber, principally oak; pine, hickory, poplar, chestnut and locust also abound. Not an axe in this timber in the last 20 years. Thousands of feet of saw timber, also B. R. ties, piling, fence posts, pulpwood, etc. Roads and outlets are graded and pass with this tract.

TRACT NO. 3—118 ACRES on the waters of Camp Creek. Consists of fertile gradual sloping land facing the north and east and covered with timber such as described as on tract two. Poplar, locust and cottonwood abound on this tract which is a guarantee of rich farming land if the timber is removed and land cleared. An outlet or roadway is reserved through this tract for the benefit of tract two.

REMARKS—Owing to the large acreage of timber, this sale should be of special interest to lumber and timber men. Tracts will be offered separately, also as a whole. It's an opportunity to own a real Scioto Valley farm at your own price. Come to look it over before the day of the sale. Men on the ground show you around.

Positive Sale Rain or Shine Immediate Possession Terms if desired. Lunch will be served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Bear Creek U. B. Church.

Constable Wars On Nudists

Tells Colony They Should Be Ashamed

Will Searles opened his 1936 campaign against the Schoolcraft Mountain nudists this week.

He took photographers to the camp to get pictures, told the nudists they should be ashamed, interviewed the leader of the camp (without success) and vowed he'd rent an adjoining field, build a grandstand for spectators and hold weekly clamblers until the nudists wished they were in the clam shells.

Farmer Will — it's Constable Will this year—warred on the nudists last year, when they were right next to his farm. He didn't know they were back this summer until:

"My son was out riding with his girl friend last week on a back road and they were mystified by these people sunning themselves right by the road."

"The girl was driving and trying to look at them at the same

John Howard Plays Feature In Movie

The mailman has convinced the Paramount Studios of something they suspected from the very beginning—that in young John Howard they have a first-rate potential star.

Howard is featured with Fred MacMurray, Joan Bennett and a large cast of other stars in "Thirteen Hours By Air," which opens Sunday at the Cozy Theatre.

The mailman—or rather—the mail he brought made Paramount executives sit up and take notice. Following Howard's first important role in "Annapolis Farewell," it started coming in—to the studio, to Howard himself, and to drama editors throughout the country. It swelled again following his second major appearance in "Millions in the Air," and it shows no signs of decreasing at the moment.

As the result, officials are convinced that Howard's future as a star is assured, and are planning other important roles for him.

In "Thirteen Hours By Air" he is cast as co-pilot with Fred MacMurray of a transcontinental passenger plane on which, intrigue, romance and attempted murder take place while it zooms from New York to San Francisco.

Parisan Comedy Is On College Screen

With an ultra-violet ray from a man-made sun are pinch-hitting for a sunbeam from Old Sol (who failed to put in an appearance) the newly-formed Pickford-Lasky Productions was launched on the first rainy afternoon Hollywood saw this year.

Fittingly enough, the occasion was the opening shot of "One Rainy Afternoon," the initial production of the new producing organization, headed by Mary Pickford, who has been visiting with the College Theatre Friday, and (again fittingly enough) it was Miss Pickford who performed the modern-day miracle by focusing an ultra-violet ray on a photo-electric cell and thus providing the impulse that sets off the cameras.

This marked the first time in the history of the cinema that the actinic ray, which makes photography possible, has been used in this unique manner, and the ceremony was attended by eminent scientists, including Dr. Edigen Pettit, astronomer and solar radiation expert of Mount Wilson Solar Observatory at Pasadena.

The scene being shot, however, was much less scientific in nature, it being the first love scene between Francis Lederer, the dashing Czech star of the production, and Ida Lupino, who appears opposite him in this 407, ultra-modern Parisan comedy, which depicts, in hilarious fashion, the amazing developments which ensue when a handsome young man (Mr. Lederer, of course) kisses a strange young lady (of course, Miss Lupino) in a darkened cinema theatre.

Receipts at New Albany, Ind., postoffice during June, 1936, were $1,327.66 higher than preceding June and eclipsed receipts for any June in its history.

Louisville tobacco manufacturing company reports business in June is largest volume of any month this year.

Customs collections at office of Louisville collector of customs reported highest during fiscal year ended June 30, 1936, for any year since office was established in 1799. Collections in 1936 were $7,322.43 higher than in previous 12-month period.

Frank SAULSBERRY

Candidate for the Democratic NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS

EIGHTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Primary, Saturday, August 1, 1936

The people of this district are looking for a Representative in Congress who will look after their needs and who will hold at arm's length those who would take what they have without adequate return.

It is no longer a secret that the farmer and his tenant have been left at the mercy of the tobacco trusts. The livestock producers have not had proper protection against the packing interests.

We have no extensive mining interests in this district, yet, by legislation sponsored by your present representative, each and every ton of coal you use will cost under the Vinson-Guffey Bill from $1.50 to $2.00 per ton more than it has heretofore.

These are a few of the reasons why the people of this district are seeking a change.

If I am nominated and elected, I will see to it that the interests of all the people are guarded and protected.

I AM ASKING THAT YOU HELP ME DO THIS BY VOTING FOR ME IN THE AUGUST 1st PRIMARY.

VOTE NO

On Local Option Sept. 29th
 And You Will Be Casting Your Ballot For The Best Interest of Rowan County and Rowan County People

Keep Rowan County Money In Rowan County

There is no rhyme or reason to voting liquor and beer out of this county when it can be bought in every adjoining county --- a few minutes drive from Morehead. Why give them the revenue when our own county is on the verge of bankruptcy.

- - Don't Send Our Dollars Away - -

Here's the difference in Rowan County during the past two years as compared with the 10 preceding years of prohibition

MORALLY

Those who favor local option have one campaign plank. They say it is a moral issue. Let's look further in the matter and see just what the morals were before and after prohibition.

While prohibition was in effect there were more law-breakers in Rowan County in one day than there are now in a week. Prohibition made law-breakers of the youth of this county. Since prohibition was voted out they have turned to fields of honest endeavor instead of peddling cheap moonshine whiskey, making it or transporting it. This is so apparent that it cannot be denied.

The repeal of prohibition has made one particular street of Morehead safe for honest men and women to walk on. Ask any officer of the law if this is not true.

Automobile accidents, taken from an actual survey of reports in local newspapers have decreased 60 percent during the past two years. Think back yourself when every week-end brought maimed bodies and death. Ask any doctor what his record on this is. The moonshine liquor formerly sold in dives and by the slinking bootlegger on the street corner contained so much potash and poison that it ran people crazy, and resulted in wholesale automobile wrecks. There are few deaths and permanent illness now as compared to then.

Robberies in Morehead during the past two years have decreased by more than 75 per cent. Other lawlessness, including murders, stabbings and shooting have materially decreased.

Court dockets are little more than half as large as they were during prohibition.

There is gradually being created a respect for the law, which did not exist during prohibition.

DON'T VOTE FOR THE BOOTLEGGER. DON'T VOTE TO SEND OUR MONEY AWAY. DON'T VOTE FOR THE RETURN OF LAWLESSNESS.

FINANCIALLY

There is little doubt in anyone's mind but that the repeal of prohibition has been a great financial asset in every part of the United States. It has put hoarded money in circulation.

In this county it has meant a liveable wage for tourist homes, and restaurants where beer is sold.

It has provided employment for many people.

It has meant thousands of dollars in tax money to the state and the county.

It has meant better business in general throughout the county.

PROHIBITION HAS PROVED A FAILURE EVERY PLACE, INCLUDING ROWAN OR ANY OTHER COUNTY. NO NATION HAS FOUND IT SUCCESSFUL. BUT UNDER THE LOCAL OPTION PLAN OF A FEW SCATTERED DRY COUNTIES, IT WILL PROVE A GREATER FAILURE THAN IT DID BEFORE.

THINK — STUDY THE FACTS — THEN VOTE FOR YOUR INTERESTS.

LEMLEKE GIVES PLAN OF TOWNSEND GROUP

President Roosevelt Attacked By Group Wanting Old Age Pensions

William Lemke, President of the Townsend plan this week in a bold bid for votes of the 2,000,000 followers of Dr. Francis E. Townsend. Then Lemke opened his arms to the share-out-weathers in a tribulation he called "the greatest Democrat of the last 20 years."

Lemke, a bald, earnest man, who spoke in a monotone, battered away at Democrats and Republicans alike and invited dissatisfied persons of all parties to join him in "this fight we are making in behalf of the common man."

Townsend, followed Lemke on the program, read to the 4,000 Townsend national convention delegates the statement—an exposition of the old age pension plan—that he was not allowed to read before the House of Representatives investigating committee.

The Townsend told the delegates to go back home and work against all Congressmen and Senators who refuse to support the pension plan.

"I am going after bigger game," Townsend said, referring to the pledge he has given to support Lemke and work against President Roosevelt. Lemke's speech was filled with heavy figures on purchasing power, refinancing of debt and floating of bonds.

"I am proud to come here to testify publicly," Lemke said, "the high character and purpose of your great leader, Dr. Townsend, and your great organization. I stand four-square with him in the great fight which he is making on behalf of the citizens of our country."

PURPOSE OF FOREST IS EXPLAINED

Creation of National Reserve of Timber, One Of Principal Aims of New Government Policy in Kentucky

Many people have asked, just what is the purpose of the Cumberland National Forest? The answer is, to protect the watershed of the navigable rivers and to create a national reserve of timber. Next comes the question, What is to be the use of this forest? and back comes the question, What is to be done with the timber? The answer will be, but we know that one of the main uses will be timber supply.

Timber management is a branch of the Forest Service that all other branches rotate about. "Timber forestry depends upon good timber management, for when we think of forestry we think of growth, logging and utilization of the trees, which are fundamentals of timber management. Through proper timber management, a stand that now has three thousand board feet per acre can be stepped up to around six thousand board feet or more. Also, this timber will be of better quality."

This country is in need of good timber management if we expect to have a constant supply of timber. When we look at the growth of the timber industry we will find that almost everything has been practiced except good management. It has been the policy of our large timber companies, in most cases, to cut and get out. This is plainly shown by our present stands from New England to the West coast. When one area was completely logged, the company moved to some other location, leaving behind a land stripped of timber, usually burned over within a few years, destroying what was left. This practice, of course, was detrimental to not only the forest but to the land as well. Floods and drought followed the cutting and fires, and at present we have second-hand forests where a mature stand would be if good timber management had been practiced.

The United States government, realizing that the timber that was being utilized faster than it was growing, created the National Reserve of timber, and to preserve timber for the time when a shortage will occur.

carry notice of this prior to the time that the sale is to be made. These conditions are such as to warrant the correct cutting methods in order not to wreck the remaining stand.

These sales vary from a few cords to several thousand feet, depending upon the size of the stands or the demand of the purchaser. Many sales are made to individuals who want only stove wood or a chance to do a little logging through the lighter months. The price is the same as the going price of timber in that locality at the time of the sale.

The counties from which timber is sold will receive part of the money back. Thirty-five cents from every dollar taken in on a timber sale is returned to that county for schools and roads. Every public-spirited citizen should take an active interest in preserving the National Forest in his county and thus increase his revenue.

these lines, write the Forest Department Supervisor, U. S. F. S., Winchester, Ky.

16 STORE SALES SHOW THIS YEAR'S DAILY AVERAGE SALES OF VARIETY STORES FOR JUNE 1936 WERE ABOUT 14 PER CENT HIGHER IN DOLLAR VALUE THAN FOR JUNE 1935 AND ALSO SHOWED ABOUT THE SAME PERCENTAGE OF INCREASE FROM JUNE 1934, ACCORDING TO PRELIMINARY ESTIMATES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE, JUST RECEIVED BY THE LOUISVILLE DISTRICT OFFICE. AS COMPARED WITH MAY OF THIS YEAR DAILY AVERAGE SALES FOR JUNE SHOWED AN INCREASE OF ABOUT ONE PER CENT, WHICH IS CONTRARY TO A USUAL DECLINE OF ABOUT 5 PER CENT AT THIS SEASON. THE AGGREGATE VALUE OF SALES FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF THE YEAR WAS ABOUT 5 PER CENT ABOVE THAT FOR THE SAME PERIOD OF LAST YEAR.

Quality Prescriptions.

Quality is paramount where prescriptions are concerned. When medicine is needed only the best will do. The highest priced medical skill, the most carefully planned prescriptions, may be completely nullified by the use of inferior drugs and chemicals.

However skilled a pharmacist may be, no matter how much thought he gives to compounding a prescription, his effort is wasted if the medicines he uses are not pure, of full strength—exactly what the doctor ordered.

That is why we use Squibb's chemicals and pharmaceuticals whenever possible in our prescription department. We are assured that the doctor's knowledge, and your own skill, will be reflected in the medicines that he prescribes and we dispense—that the patient will benefit from this ideal cooperation between the medical and pharmaceutical professions.

Bring your prescription here, or let us call for and deliver it.

She Smokes Cigarettes!!

But Appellate Court Rules This Is No Grounds For Firing Teacher

The "disapproved habit" of cigarette smoking is not a legal disqualification for employment as a teacher in the public schools, Judge Gus Thomas of the Court of Appeals has held.

With Chief Justice William Rogers Clay concurring, Judge Thomas ruled that a person recommended by the county superintendent for a teaching position, if counties where districts have been consolidated, must be employed by the County Board of Education, if that person is "qualified in every respect."

Judge Thomas upheld the Circuit Court in granting injunctions to Ruby Duncan, Lena Phillips and Fay Caudill, who were recommended by their county superintendent for employment as teachers, but rejected by the County Board of Education. Judge Thomas said the evidence disclosed no valid ground for rejecting the recommendations of the county superintendent, and therefore it was the duty of the board to approve them.

Regarding a charge that one of the proposed teachers was a cigarette smoker, Judge Thomas said: "I have been unable to find any law making such a disapproved habit a disqualification for teaching school. But were it otherwise, the testimony heard upon that issue was so vague and remote as to be of little value, and in addition thereto it was entirely disproved."

Spain In Throes Of New Rebellion

Civil War Flares In Country Over Control Of Government

The long struggle between Fascists and a United Leftist front for supremacy in Spain apparently had become this week the most widespread and bloodiest civil war in the country since the unsuccessful Leftist revolt of October, 1934.

An organized and apparently well-timed Rightist revolt which began simultaneously at several points in Spanish Morocco Friday morning has spread to practically every important city of Spain except the capital.

An air bombardment of Barcelona, largest city of the republic, was reported by travelers. Government planes also were attacking Morocco cities, while the rebels, claiming control of all Spanish Morocco as well as the Canary and Balearic Islands, were reported landing troops in South Spain, from whence they were marching northward to aid allies already rising up in many cities. In Spain itself, the Fascists appeared to have a strong grip on Seville, metropolis of the South. The rebel garrison commander broadcast a message claiming Oviedo and Burgos, in the Northwest, as well as Cadiz and Valladolid, were in the hands of the opposition.

Despite a rigid censorship, the Government in Madrid admitted rebellion had started in various important cities on the peninsula, but predicted all uprisings would be stamped out quickly. It announced reinforcements were being rushed to Seville and admitted fierce fighting in Malaga, which was reported half in flames.

An estimate of total casualties was impossible, but various reports indicated nearly 100 killed in battles in Morocco and 25 killed in one clash at Seville. Rebels claimed that three of four naval vessels sent to Morocco had gone over to their side. Loyal warships were reported bombarding Mellilla and Ceuta, in Morocco.

Gen. Francisco Franco, recently named Military Governor of the Canary Islands, is the active leader of the Fascist revolt. He has established himself in Morocco, describing himself as "Commander-in-Chief in Africa."

Retail business is giving credit to seasonal weather and appearance of bonus money to best business experienced since 1930. Chief gains reported in new and used automobiles, radios, furniture and household goods, with keen demand for summer apparel. Wholesale buying for fall and winter continues brisk.

Manning Hits Old State Spoils System

Personal Efficiency Expert Says Employee Turnover Was One-Third Annually

Declaring that heretofore there had been a 33 1-3 per cent turnover in the state appointees each year, which amounted to a 150 per cent change every three years, Dr. John W. Manning, Director of Personnel Efficiency of the State Administration, said in an address before the Morehead State Teachers College student body that Governor Chandler had changed this and has instituted a merit system. The system formerly employed by the state, would mean bankruptcy for any legitimate business. Dr. Manning declared, He said that one of the provisions of the reorganization act passed during the special session of the legislature provided for the creation of a division of personal efficiency.

"After September 1, no person can be appointed in the classified service of the state until after he has taken an examination," Dr. Manning further stated. He pointed out three fallacious notions that have been held about the state government: (1) To the victor belongs the spoils, (2) The functions of government employees are as simple that the average citizen can perform them, and (3) Charity begins on the state payroll. Dr. Manning said that Kentucky is the 12th state to introduce the merit system.

FARMING BY IMPROVED METHODS

Written by the Staff of the University of Kentucky Agricultural Extension Work, College of Agriculture

Still Time To Grow Vegetable And Feed Crops

There is still time to grow many garden vegetables, points out a stationer from the Kentucky College of Agriculture. The usual late varieties of cabbage such as Louisiana Drumhead and Ballhead may be set until August 1, the All-Season to August 15, and such varieties as Copenhagen and Golden Wonder may be set in Kentucky in 60 days, including String Beans, Green Pod Bountiful, Valentine, Pered Pod Black Wax and Bittle Wax, all grown in Kentucky. The famous Kentucky Wonder will mature in 60 days, also will the Missouri Wonder, and other pole bean that is gaining a favor in Kentucky. The Missouri Wonder is very white and therefore favored by many people as a shell and dry bean.

He will read a paper on, "Kentucky Bluegrass as a Source of Vitamin D and Protein for Growing Chicks," which will set forth results obtained in animal feeding research at the Experiment Station.

Dr. Buckner, who is in charge of research in animal nutrition at the Experiment Station, is a graduate of the University of Kentucky. He received his doctorate from Princeton University, studied extensively abroad and is recognized as one of the outstanding investigators in animal nutrition.

500 At Homemakers' Meeting

It is estimated that 500 men, women and children attended the first Fayette county homemakers' get-together, held at the Keeneland race track. Seventeen homemaker clubs were represented. Games, stunts, picnic supper and dancing comprised the program of the afternoon and evening. It is believed to have been the largest county homemakers' celebration ever held in Kentucky.

Keep Records of Soil Practices

Farmers should keep records and preserve evidence of all soil-building practices carried out under the new Agricultural Conservation Program.

It is particularly important that records be kept showing the acreage of any given-mature crops and the date turned under. Also, receipts should be preserved showing the amount of ground limestone or superphosphate purchased and applied.

Before a producer can qualify for payment he will be required to submit proof of the soil-building practices carried out on the farm. Therefore, it is important farmers keep all such evidence.

It is further suggested that farmers notify their local committees or the county agents of office when any practices of this kind are carried out. It is not necessary that notice be given in writing, but it is important that the local committees be informed of the practices when they are carried out.

Fruit Growers to Meet at Paducah

Fairly good peach and apple crops will greet members of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society when they inspect Western Kentucky orchards during their annual summer meeting at Paducah July 24.

The morning will be devoted to an orchard tour under the direction of W. W. Magill, field agent for the State College of Agriculture. At the orchard of Yopp-Rosenfield-Michelson, the visitors will see a commercial peach crop and soil terracing project. At the Exall Orchard, they will see a commercial peach and apple crop and a complete stationary spray outfit in operation.

Speakers at the afternoon program in Paducah include Ben E. Niles, secretary of the society and president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation; Prof. A. J. Olney, head of the horticultural department at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture; and H. H. Lester, project manager of the Massack Creek development project in McCracken county.

Kentucky Boys Move Up

Paul McComas, Burkesville, has been granted an assistantship in agricultural economics at the University of Illinois and will study for his master's degree while there. He was graduated from the Kentucky State College of Agriculture last June. Another Henderson county boy has won a scholarship at Cornell University in New York. He also was graduated from the Kentucky College of Agriculture this year.

Changes Made in Farm Program As Result of Drouth

Changes have been made in the Agricultural Conservation Program in an effort to help farmers adjust their operations to meet the emergency caused by the drouth.

One of these modifications relates to the minimum acreage of soil-conserving crops. Formerly, if a farmer did not have a conserving acreage at least equal to the sum of 15 per cent of his general soil-depleting base and 20 per cent of his tobacco soil-depleting base, a deduction was made from the total amount of the Class I and Class II payments.

Now, if a farmer falls short of the minimum acreage requirements, a deduction will be made only from the Class I payment. That is, the farmer will be made up from the Class II payment. That is, the farmer will be paid for the soil-building practices carried out without being required to have any given percentage of the land on his farm devoted to soil-conserving crops.

The above modification does not affect the soil-building allowance, but the limit which places upon the amount of the Class II payment.

Another modification provides that land from which wheat is harvested in 1936, which is grown in combination with or immediately followed by a legume, will be classified as one-half used for soil-conserving crops for the purpose of meeting requirements for minimum soil-conserving acreage and new seedening this period. One is "sun-potatoes" merely spreading the potatoes on a floor, so they receive direct sun-light for several hours—day and night, the rest of the day. After an interval, sprouts start; then, the potatoes should be planted. This method may shorten the period from 2 to 4 weeks, but that is not enough, unless the potatoes were ready to dig in June and the fall season extending to the first of September. That is to say, a late crop produced from sun-greased seed might not include many tubers large enough to use for the table, except optimum conditions prevailed. However, even though no table crop, the potatoes should be made. Thus worthless potatoes might be brought to good account.

Another way to shorten the period is to use chemicals that induce maturity. Of all that have been tried, ethylene chlorhydrin and sodium thiocyanate give most promise. Of these two, the latter is the more reliable.

The methods for using these chemicals differ in some respects, but in these they are the same. The potatoes should be dug carefully, so as not to bruise them or scuff them, and they "should be stored in air 30 days. They may be treated cut or whole, but whole potatoes succeed better.

In the ethylene method, 1 pint of the chemical is stirred into 4 gallons of water. In this solution, the potatoes are dipped to wet them completely. Then, they are put into airtight containers and left for 24 hours, thoroughly to become permeated with the gas the ethylene sets free. The ethylene treatment has been more successfully used on Triumphs.

In the instance that thiocyanate is the treating material, the procedure is to dissolve 10 ounces of the chemical in 4 gallons of water. Into this solution, the potatoes are put, but left there for 1 hour, after which they are dried and planted. If economy of material is an object, the amount of thiocyanate may be halved, but the soaking time doubled.

The ethylene solution would remain potent indefinitely, were it not for evaporation of the gas. Consequently, the solution may be used on 10 jobs of potatoes. The thiocyanate solution becomes weakened through the absorption of the chemical by the tubers, but a new solution need be made.

A promise just how much gain in sprouting time will result from these chemical treatments is not made, except to say that, if every potato sprout well, sprouts will start within a week of the treating. For reasons unexplained, rotting of the tubers may take place, seriously to affect the stand; from 20 to 50 per cent loss, for this reason, is not uncommon.

Attacks Chandler In Kentucky Speeches

HON. JOHN Y. BROWN
Governor A. B. Chandler was challenged this week by J. J. Y. Brown, Senatorial candidate, to meet him in an open debate. Brown charged that Chandler had betrayed him, and the Governor could not defend his sales taxes.

Synopsis—Blackie Norton, owner of the Paradise Music Hall on San Francisco's Barbary Coast, and Jack Burley, society "swell" from No. Eight and a political power, are rivals for the love of Mary Blake, beautiful young singer Blackie had given a job when her funds became exhausted. Burley heard her sing at the Paradise, sought to buy her contract from Blackie that she might appear in grand opera. Mary was falling in love with Blackie and did not accept his offer to let her go if she wished. But when Blackie's love making became too warm, with an sword of marriage, she left him. So, Blackie goes to the opera house the night of her debut in "Faust" to close up the opera with a summer. But when he hears her sing, he changes his mind, slugs the sheriff to prevent him from serving the summons.

A ROUND TO BLACKIE

Chapter Eight
At the final fall of the curtain, Mary, the tenor and the bass came out upon the stage in response to the outbreak of applause. Blackie stood up in the box, saw Mary glance towards him, swelled up with pride in her, and anticipated his tie. With a glance about, he quietly left the box as the trio came back from another bow. Jack Burley pushed his way through the crowd of performers anxious to shower their congratulations upon the great and highly-entitled prima donna who had come through so brilliantly.

paper men who wished to interview her, but Mary's thoughts were on Blackie Norton, not on publicity, and she made an appointment for the morning, and hurried to her dressing room. As she entered, there stood Blackie at her dressing table, looking at the stack of cards that had been removed from flowers sent to her and which filled the room to overflowing.

"Blackie!" she cried, frantic in her relief at seeing him.

"Hello, kid," he responded with his customary greeting, but underneath it was unceremonious as to how she would receive him. "To cover his embarrassment, he picked up a card from the pile. 'Looks like Burley's getting a little careless—putting things down on paper.'"

"He's asked me to marry him." Blackie was amazed at the information. "No! On the level!" Then he laughed, tossed the card contemptuously down on the table. They found themselves staring at each other with that other—wondering just what their relation to each other was.

"Do you think so, Blackie? Really?"

"Yes, I'm not going to hold out against those three thousand mugs that went nuts over you." He paused a moment at the shining light of her eyes, pouring in her that betrayed a responsive thrill. "I haven't caught this opera racing yet to no. How long it's been going on."

"About a hundred and fifty years."

"No foolin'. Well, it's all right." They exchanged another long, hungry look. "Say, kid, do you know, I'm proud of you."

"Is that all, Blackie?"

"All!"

"Do you love me?" Her eyes were soft, her voice low and urgent.

"Sure."

She believed him, happily, but said: "You haven't said so."

"I love you, kid. Say, I never sprung that line but once, twenty-five years ago."

"Just what was she?"

"Just a kid I knew. I haven't seen her lately. She's up in San Quentin."

"Aw, you're the first!" Their looks, desires, fusions, and Blackie looked down and made a fool out of myself just before election. It'd lose me too many votes."

act anyone would think that wasn't becoming." She smiled wanly, and he went to her, caressed her hair. "Happy, ain't you?"

"Yes, Blackie, I'm happy." Her words came slowly, as though she were trying to convince herself of that fact. "Blackie, let's set the date for our marriage—so we can tell Father Tim."

"Well, sure... any time. Of course, it's got to be after election. The mob knows how I've always kidded that sort of thing. I can't back down now and make a fool out of myself just before election. It'd lose me too many votes."

Then, softly, she asked: "Will you marry me, Blackie?"

"Marry you?" It took him some time to grasp the import of her question. He let his arms fall from about her, stepped back, looked her up and down, as one might a horse he thought of buying. Then he smiled in his fond, kidding way. "I'm a sucker if you aren't the most domestic woman! But if that's the only thing in the world that would make you happy, he broke off to laugh. "The gang always said I'd wind up a suckered back."

Mary gave one ecstatic cry, "Blackie!" and flung her arms about his neck. Their moment of utter bliss was broken by a knock at the door. At her call to enter, Father Mullin came in. At the sight of Blackie there, his face lighted up. "Mary! Blackie! How are you boys?"

"Feeling pretty sharp," responded Blackie amiably.

"You were great, Mary," said the priest. "I had to fight my way through half of Frisco to get back here."

Mary just had to tell her great news. "Father Tim! Blackie and I—we're going to be married!" An expression of triumphant relief passed over his face, and he looked at Blackie. "That's right, Tim. The little girl's harpooned me."

Father Mullin laughed in sympathy, grasped Mary's hands. "Guess you know how I feel about it, my dear... So she's harpooned you, Blackie! The girl any man in Frisco would give his right arm for! And she's harpooned you!" Blackie only smiled disarmingly. "I'm not going to wish you the best of everything in the world; you've already got it!"

"I see," said Mary, and her heart sank.

"It means a lot to me, honey, to win this fight. Not just to put it over Burley, but for the Coast. But the first chance I get we'll sneak off to Sacramento and—let you slip the halter on me... Come in, Tim."

The priest entered, his brow puckered in anger. "Blackie, have you gone out of your mind? Showing Mary, like this, to that mob out there?"

"What's wrong with me being proud to show her off. I'm making her Queen of the Coast! See that poster? Five hundred of them will be all over Frisco tomorrow." "I'm not going to let you do this, Blackie."

"I don't get you, Tim. You've never buttered in on me before."

"Well, I am now! You're not going to exploit this girl!" (To be continued)

WELL KNOWN FARM TO SELL AT AUCTION

As advertised elsewhere in this issue you will find a full description of a well known Scioto Valley Farm, the "Blackburn Farm" which lies on the Scioto river and extends from Camp creek on the north to Bear creek on the south, a 1,500 acre tract of land, a portion of which is river bottom, also more than 1,000 acres in standing timber. Great preparations have been made for this sale with cash prizes, band music, therefore a big crowd is expected, also spirited bidding as this is one of the best tracts of land to be found in the Scioto Valley.

Income tax collections in Kentucky for fiscal year ended June 30, 1935, established record and was increased $6,188.42 over previous year.

SKIN 'On Fire'?

New fast way to soothe and heal SUNBURN

Modern Science Says Feed The Injured Skin Tissue If You Want Glorious Fast Relief

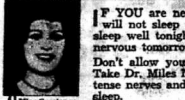

The hot summer sun's rays burn the skin to a depth of a sixth of an inch. It is not just a surface burn, where it is red, inflamed, and sore. It is a deep burn, where the skin is actually destroyed. The only way to soothe and heal a sunburn is to feed the injured skin tissue with a fast-acting, non-toxic, and painless remedy. This is the only way to soothe and heal a sunburn. This is the only way to soothe and heal a sunburn.

Positively Guaranteed

Whoever uses this medicine will be satisfied. It will soothe and heal the skin in the very first use. It is the only medicine that soothes and heals the skin in the very first use. It is the only medicine that soothes and heals the skin in the very first use.

Hectic Days Sleepless Nights

If YOU are nervous today, you probably will not sleep well tonight. If you don't sleep well tonight, you will probably be nervous tomorrow.

Don't allow yourself to become nervous. Take Dr. Miles Nervine. It will relax your tense nerves and let you get a good night's sleep.

Irritability, Restlessness, Sleeplessness, often lead to Nervous-Headache, Nervous Indigestion, Hysteria—sometimes to a nervous breakdown and organic trouble.

Some of the people, whose letters are printed below, were so nervous as you are—possibly, more so—yet they have found relief.

Three years ago I was so nervous I could not bear to go out in company and could not sleep nights. A friend recommended Dr. Miles Nervine. I have enjoyed myself thoroughly and sleep every night. Miss Juliette Curtis, Chicago, Ill.

I have used Dr. Miles Nervine in liquid form for some of the best months for the nervous I have ever used. Christine Lanier, Middleton, Tennessee.

Whenever I have over-indulged and feel restless I take one of two Nervine Tablets each day. In the morning, when I wake up, I take one. In the evening, when I go to bed, I take one. Dr. Miles Nervine has helped me in every way. I feel up and am the simplest, most contented of people. Miss Grace Hodgman, St. James, Miss.

Before using your Nervine I was very nervous and irritable. Since I have started to take it I feel so much better that my family and I are all well. I still take it from time to time and the good result is wonderful. Dr. Miles Nervine, 1227 15th Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Football Practice At Morehead College Starts September 1, New Coach States

Harmony Rules in Eagle Camp As School Launches 'New Deal' On Gridiron; Johnson Gets Line On High School Luminaries

Football practice at the Morehead State Teachers College will begin earlier this year than ever before, it was learned today from Ellis Johnson, the Eagles' "New Deal" coach, who is here checking over the equipment and getting a line on the prospects for his first season as a college mentor. Johnson said he planned to have two workouts daily until the opening of school, when practice will be cut to around three hours a day.

"After going over the list of eligible varsity men and the prospects coming up from the freshman team, I believe our chances will be little better than 'fair' this year," Johnson said. He was frankly optimistic over the possibilities of the Teachers to assume a leading role in Kentucky college sport circles within the next three or four years.

Johnson said that a number of high school football and basketball luminaries, whom he had seen, were coming to Morehead this fall. They will be under the wing of Len Miller, Johnson's assistant, this year and will be eligible for the varsity in 1937.

Graduation did not take a very heavy toll from the varsity ranks this year, while Morehead's freshmen were above average. However, the team will not be exceptionally heavy.

Harmony rules in the Eagles' athletic camp. Johnson has been

Takes Offensive In Presidential Race

FRES. F. D. ROOSEVELT
President Roosevelt has assumed an offensive attitude for this year's Presidential race, instead of a defense against his record. He has challenged the G.O.P.'s record of 12 years, exceeding 1883 as compared with his four years service in leading the destinies of the nation.

promised all support possible in an attempt to place Morehead in the front ranks of state gridiron play. C. D. Downing, whom Johnson succeeds as head coach, is head of the physical education department for men, and says he is better satisfied with his new place than when he directed the sport destinies of the eastern Kentucky school.

Downing has pledged all his support in the program to build winning teams for Morehead and is cooperating with Johnson in lining up players for this year's football and basketball combinations.

Although Downing, at his own wish, is out of the major coaching picture, it is probable that he will be drafted as coach of the tennis and baseball team.

Morehead will play an eight-game grid schedule this fall, which is considerably stiffer than the Teachers have encountered during the last six years. On September 29 they meet Tennessee Wesleyan for the first time. This team replaces East Tennessee Teachers on the Morehead schedule.

Murray's Thoroughbreds will encounter the Eagles for the first time in football in a game here October 3. Four state S.I.A.A. foes follow in a row, with Georgetown here October 10, Union here October 17, Transylvania there October 24 and Eastern at Richmond November 2.

Tennessee Poly, another new foe, comes here November 9, in what will probably be Morehead's homecoming. On November 16, Johnson's proteges will close the season against Louisville, another state S.I.A.A. team.

ROADS

The roads that hunt for Heaven
Are never thoroughfares
But crooked little by-paths
That take you unknown ways.

I remember one road,
A half a year ago,
A lovely rather slow road,
I thought would always know
A very long and dear road.
And one we didn't tire,
Because it led to Heaven.
He knew—we saw a spire
But when I wandered backwards
Along that road today
I couldn't find a tower—
Our Heaven's moved away!
