EDWIN V. COOKE, NATIONALLY KNOWN POET, TO INAUGURATE LYCEUM SEASON ON OCTOBER 26

Boekwits, Cartoonist, To Appear November 24th.; Other Prominent Entertainers Scheduled To Appear On Programs For Coming Year

Edwin V. Cooke, America's most brilliant post-leturer, will officially open the lyceum season for the Morehead State Teachers College when he appears in the college auditorium for a lecture on the night of October 26.

It is indeed fitting that Mr. Cooke should be chosen to inaugurate this year's lyceum program, for aside from being nationally known as a poet, he is an orator of great power. Mr. Cooke combines poetry with a sparkling lecture in presenting an entertainment which most critics feel to be without peer in the lyceum repertoire of to day.

November 24, brings John Bookwits, well known dramatic cartoonist, in advance to our audience. Bookwits carries an elaborate lighting system with him, in addition to two large screens. The leading daily papers of our larger cities devote much space to photo's of Mr. Bookwits each time he appears in their cities. To be in no favorable position as to the large papers of this date, is indeed a compliment to Mr. Bookwits, who has appeared in the most important cities of the United States.

On February 1, 1933, the Walden Imperial Singers will entertain the college. The Walden Singers are a nationally known band of singers, having performed together in the Walden Hotel, New York, a program of special requests and favorite songs.

George D. Alden, one of America's purport types of All-American, will lecture here on March 14, 1934. Mr. Alden, who is first vice president of the Mayflower Pilgrims. For several years Judge Alden has been associated with the Mayflower Pilgrims and is a well known professional and oratory. He has become famous for his saying, "Boys I love you." He has been a member of the great, "Who Who in America." His achievements in his achievements are listed in that catalog of the great, "Who Who in America."

Following Judge Alden, on April 3 will appear the Oberlin College Quartet. This program will be of special interest to us, as it shows just what can be accomplished by a determined group of college students. This quartet is a program made up of well known sacred hymns.

April 10, if Stott, who lectures here on April 11 and will need no introduction to many of the old students, as he appeared here ten years ago. He has been associated with Redpath Lyceum Bureau for many years and is a versatile actor who knows how to win the hearts of his audience.

The lyceum committee, headed by Professor Charles O. Peratt, is to be congratulated upon its selection of so many fine entertainers for this year's program. These lyceum members are brought here at a great expense to the college, and it is hoped that the student body will show its appreciation in a regular attendance.

The complete lyceum program for the winter and spring of 1932-1933 follows:

Thumbs Down On Women!

Come on, boys, let's get in a but Mrs. Cammings took it out of fuddle. It is the something is being done here. I'm telling you. There are those that think that Art would have gotten about three times as many women married. He's such a good boy. Now here as men. With two being taken out of our fold in one week's time, we won't all be single long. This is a getting kinda serious. We gotta do something. Jane Armstrong tried lating every boy on the campus, but I don't like that. Then there is Art Edwards. Course you know Art. Everybody knows him. He's the guy that came from Ashbury with "Che". You know the one that is always telling every body about this way to have it. Well, these two are always the ones to marry first, though. He used to go around that kind of philosophy himself. If not don't say "I told you so."

The Eastern Kentucky Educational Association is the district meeting which is held each year for the counties of Eastern Kentucky.

Homecoming On Prewitt Speaks November 5th. At Convocation

Football Game, Banquet And Dance To Be Staged For Visitors On The Subject Of "Citizenship"

One of the high-lights of the social year at Morehead and one which the students and alumni are looking forward to most especially is the homecoming celebration which will be staged on the campus November 5th. Under the direction of Herbert Corman, acting as Master of Ceremonies, plans for the gala event are progressing rapidly. Morehead is expecting one of the most successful occasions of this type in the history of the school.

For the entertainment of the large throng, two events of the day are outstanding. The first is the football game in the afternoon between the Morehead Eagles of 1933 and the Buffaloes of Union College. Quite a few of our best teams this year and the Eagles are expecting a real scrap.

1932 Graduates Get Positions

Twenty-one Out Of Thirty Are Teaching In Kentucky Schools

Despite the conditions of prevailing unemployment, graduates of the Morehead State Teachers College find no difficulty in getting positions. This fact is a direct proof that Morehead graduates are rapidly taking over the reins of education in Eastern Kentucky.

The class of 1932 was graduated in the midst of a great financial crisis, but due to the thoroughness of their preparation, a great majority of the members of the class are now filling responsible teaching positions. This is a great tribute to the Morehead Teachers College, for so many of the nation's leading educational plants can say that concerning their graduating class of 1932: The class of 1932 consisted of 30 members and of this number 21 are now connected with well known Kentucky schools. The graduates in positions filled by the class of 1932 will show just what the Morehead school has done to help its graduates to a diploma.

Many students look upon correspondence work as merely a way of getting a diploma. However, this is not true of the work extended by the Morehead Bureau of Correspondence. Students who take this distinct advantage to be gained by work of this kind. One of the important features of this work is that it is a work toward a degree or certificate which is earning a livelihood. Many students who have been benefited much by correspondence work, as they are able to receive instruction without the distractions which necessarily are present in other types of instruction. If he takes the work by correspondence, he is given the same treatment as the student who is in attendance on the campus. ### CARETAKERS

One of the highlights of society during the past week was a dinner given by President Payne in honor of the caretakers of the campus. To say that a good time was had by all would be putting it too mildly. The caretakers report that they had a splendid time with the president's hired chicks, as well as after dinner.

No after dinner speeches were reported to, but the more witty good black cigars settled down to a pleasant session of contents. This session brought out many true artists.

Jack Carter, gymnasium nurse, won first prize in the tall stories division. Russell Jackson took first prize for being the person only present. "Library" Devlin won the three-legged race with the aid of "Caveman" Hays. The final act of the evening was given for the dearest coming bid, Dr. Paul Gardner carried off high honors in this field, but was later ruled ineligible, because he had broken the rules and used ground-hog oil on his legs. Jack Carter, Oscar Palmer "right man" took the silver and embossed leather mug for having eaten in the most varied climates. ### JUDGE PREWITT SPEAKS

Judge Prewitt advised the student body, as teachers, to give special attention to the underprivileged child, for according to his observation and experience the underprivileged child is the one who is most likely to become a criminal.

leged child of tomorrow will be the criminal of tomorrow. In concluding his inspiring talk, the judge added these three rules for success: have principle; have determination; have character.

THE CHAIR

Terrified, he sat in the chair, shivering and early his friends, sitting by him, and after awhile he sat all alone in the slither room. All alone he sat by his mother and father, and a grim man who sat waiting—waiting. His mother looked first at the chair and then at the grim man. "Have you no mercy?" he asked. As he tried to stand her, the chair quivered and creaked. To the grave-looking man, who shaded at the unpleasantness of his task, "Have mercy?" was the compassionate cry of a mother, pleading for her son—her boy.

The grim man reached for the electric switch. Electricity pulsed through the copper wiring, the boy in the chair quivered and then the grim man began to cut away little junior cuts.

DEBATING CLUB

The first meeting of the Lloyd Debating club was held on October 8 in the recreation room of Fitch Hall. This meeting was in the form of a business session. Charles Clark called the meeting to order and presided at the election of officers. The following officers were elected: President — Vahan Magarin; Vice-President — Paul Sparks;

Secretary — Beatrice Godwin; Sergeant-at-Arms — Geo. Bailey. After the election of officers the names of applicants desiring membership in the club were read separately and discussed. The following members were voted into the club: Arthur Harbour, Randall Bettem, Beatrice Armstrong, Curren Evans, Arthur Allais, Lodema Drake, Clara Lane, Edwene Clark, Jack Lewis, M.J. Smith, Lowell Peirce, Hiram Salter, Willy Kibko, Kathryn Pope, Joseph Watters, Herbert Webb, Sharon Williams, Raymond Hall.

With such a splendid membership to begin with we believe that the club will accomplish more this year than ever before. Professor Lloyd has every expectation that this year will be the club's most successful one.

The time is not very far in the future when the debating team will again open in Morehead. Some one has said that a debating club is the backbone of the team, as the club helps in the training of people for intercollegiate debating, backing in every possible way.

Mr. Lloyd has already been seriously thinking over the coming season. He has written letters to various schools inquiring as to subjects for debate and about prospects for contacts with these schools in the future. Among the colleges written to were: University of Kentucky, University of Tennessee, University of Cincinnati, University of Indiana, University of Louisville, Transylvania College, Murray Teachers College, Berea College, Kentucky Wesleyan College, Eastern Tennessee College, Ashby College, and Tennessee Wesleyan College.

This means that the team this year will meet representatives of some of the best colleges in the country. The reports for this year's team will be held in a same what different manner than has been used here before. There will be a series of three tryouts to select the teams that will represent Morehead.

The first tryout will be held tonight. Those desiring to try for the team will be required to speak five minutes on any subject which they may choose. They will, on this occasion, be judged largely on the value and effective organization of material.

The second tryout will be held in a week. The speakers on this occasion will be divided into two teams, and will be judged on the basis of the third and final tryout will be held sometime in November. The contestants for the team will be judged on their ability in debating and skill in rebuttal. The judges for these tryouts will be elected from members of our faculty.

The number of people kept on the squad will depend on the number left for the tryouts. It is hoped by the coach that the school will have two boys' teams and two girls' teams, with an alternate for each.

The reason for the series of tryouts prospective debaters, stress is that it will more effectively laid upon the different fundamental in each tryout. This will allow the members on the squad that are steady, dependable workers rather than brilliant speakers in the first tryouts.

Chapel Misery

Dr. Terrell is not a story teller, if we try to believe his own statement. Yet what were those years he so gracefully expounded during his fine chapel talk if they were not stories? Dr. Terrell is a well liked talker, even if he does not tend to "analyze," leaving that subject for another popular speaker. The Doctor is indeed a very versatile speaker, just dealing off excellent speeches on short notice. We know that the Georgia educator had no intention of knowledge of making a speech, for we heard him say so only a few minutes before chapel. That morning a student walking over to chapel made this inquiry:

"Well Doctor, who is going to provide the 'misery' for this chapel?"

Dr. Terrell very plainly stated that he did not know. The fact that he made such a fine chapel talk is all the more credit to him, but did he tell a story? We wonder.

The latest feature in pep meetings seems to be "misery" and "relief" or not every one likes it. Especially do the students like "misery" when it is Dr. Hoke. Dr. Hoke has evidently spent hours of "misery" in previous preparation for his "misery" speech. During the speech, Dr. Hoke earned for himself recognition as a high stepper, a well educated man on the subject of "misery" and a well educated man on the subject of "misery."

The "misery" meeting was naturally provided over by Professor A. Y. Lloyd. Speakers not so miserable who appeared on the program were: Professor R. D. Fuld, Dean William H. Vaughan, and Coach Dewey Downing.

A feature of the program was the introduction of the individual members of the football squad. Each man took special notes on Doctor Hoke's dissertation on "misery." We were very glad to note that Dr. Hoke's speech had its effect, as the Eagles certainly made Armstrong miserable during the game on the last day.

LUCILLE WILSON DIES

OF DIPHTHERIA

Miss Lucille Wilson, former Morehead member of her family, died at death October 6, 1935. Miss Wilson was stricken with diphtheria while teaching at Wakarusa, Kentucky, and after a short illness succumbed to the ravages of the disease.

Born August 22, 1913, in Lawrence county, Kentucky, Miss Wilson received her early education in the public schools of her native county. She received her high school education at Grayson, Kentucky, being graduated from Fritchard High School with high honors.

Miss Wilson entered Morehead College in February, 1931 and attended school here for three semesters. Last spring her scholastic standing was the second highest in the entire student body. She was prominent in campus life, being a member of the French Club and several other campus organizations. Miss Wilson looked upon with respect by the student body and faculty, who knew her to be of a high moral character.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson, and one brother, Gray Wilson.

GOLDIE LIES DIES

OF TYPHOID FEVER

The death of Miss Goldie Lewis, a former student of Morehead State Teachers College, came as a great shock to many friends in this institution. Miss Lewis had been teacher in the Campbellville school when she became ill with typhoid fever. She was taken to a Lexington hospital where she died following a week's illness. Miss Lewis has not been in good health for sometime but because of her enthusiasm in her "chosen profession" failed to give attention to her own physical condition.

Goldie attended Morehead the last semester of the 1930-31 term, and the entire 1931-32 term.

The Trail Blazer wishes to take this opportunity to express its sympathy to her many friends and acquaintances in this institution.
