Betraying the Taxpayer

The editorial columns of the Courier Journal quote Senator Allie W. Young as saying the following: "Do you want to tax people just because you can?" asks Senator Young. "If the majority of the Legislature, especially of the lower house, and including the Governor, were to answer that question honestly the answer would be a roaring, ravenous, 'Yes!'" "There is no sense, logic or justice in it," says Young. "But, sense, logic and justice are not in the vocabulary of the hungry mouths of the tax-eaters."

Standing For The Right

For many years Senator Allie W. Young of Morehead has been one of the State's outstanding political leaders. His name has never been connected with bribery, and the low tricks to which the "Big-Little" politicians stoop. Today Judge Young is stronger than he ever was. The support of the voting public of the state of Kentucky is with those men who stood up in the face of graft and dirty politics for a fair deal to the tax-payer. Unfortunately, the administration has scored a temporary triumph. The word temporary is used, because when the voters go to the polls in the next gubernatorial election, they will vote down the man having majority any man who runs on the principals of Ruby Laffoon.

Where, Oh where, can we find a man, however, that will stand on the crisy platform of Laffoon. In the entire Commonwealth we doubt if there is a politician so dumb.

The Sales Tax

"The sales tax will prove to be the most popular method of taxation the state of Kentucky has ever had," says Ruby.

"The vote of the people of the state was taken today on the sales tax question. It would be broken out by a majority of five to one. If a vote is taken two years from now, we doubt if one of twenty persons, outside state employees, would cast their ballot in its favor. Incidentally, we'll go far enough."

Legislature In Near Riot As Adjournment Called

Amid scenes of confusion that at times threatened to turn into a riot on a small scale, the senate early Tuesday, passed the drivers' license bill and the chain store tax repealer which is previously had rejected.

The administration forces, headed by Senator James H. Thompson of Paris, elected permanent chairman after Lieut. Gov. A. B. Chandler left at midnight. The complete control with their bare majority of 20 members. The anti-administration group had left almost to a man when Chandler announced at midnight that the senate had adjourned sine die under terms of a resolution adopted last week.

Thompson was elected by a vote of 20 to 0, with only administration men voting. The only "anti" in his seat was Senator E. C. Moore of Casey County.

Although it was past midnight when the administration forces assumed control and commenced their own session, the senate Journal noted, by order of the senate, that

Contestants Delighted At The Way Campaign Is Conducted

With the final count of the votes polled in a secret ballot box by the official Judges, C. E. Warwick, C. W. Stooke, J. Ewing Baskard, and E. V. Hollis, The Rowan County News's Better Business and Subscription Campaign came to a successful close when the names of the winning candidates were announced immediately following the count.

The final vote count, which was exceedingly heavy, showed that Kay Kegley, of Haldeman, won first prize; Mrs. Maude Clay, of Morehead; second; Miss Lydia Amberg, of Morehead; third; and Miss Anna Mae Boggs, of Morehead, fourth.

The campaign was a close one, and the work done during the last part of the race decided the winning candidates without a doubt. One remarkable thing about the contest was the some of the candidates polled almost as many votes in the secret ballot box as they had earned during the campaign.

In this campaign, which proved a success, most everyone who participated in any way benefited. Besides the four big prizes which were awarded the workers hundreds of small premiums were distributed to the general public. These premiums were given in exchange for stamps which were given out by several progressive merchants to their customers on payment of accounts and cash purchases.

The Better Business Campaign, which closed Saturday night, will be one long to be remembered by its fairness to every worker. Each one who stuck to the finish was rewarded for their efforts, and the sealed ballot box the final week assured each candidate that fairness was the main feature.

The Rowan County News wishes to thank and congratulate every one directly or indirectly who took part in the campaign. To each and every candidate, regardless of the number of votes polled, the management extends felicitations and thanks—and only wishes it were possible to award each and every one a grand prize.

The Rowan County News also wishes to thank the official Judges and the entire staff of the newspaper under whose direction and business the method of the final count of votes were carried out, which assured accuracy and fairness.

the senate clock said July 11-05 2 p. m.

The clock was stopped at that hour. Senator Thompson instructed the sergeants-at-arms to prevent any senator from leaving the chamber. He instructed the sergeants also to prevent Chandler, who was standing near the clerk's desk, from putting any entry in the senate Journal, Chandler apparently had intended to say in the Journal that the hour of midnight had passed.

"You can't keep me from putting that in the Journal," Chandler said. "I'm still the president of this senate."

"Yes, I can," Thompson replied. Turning toward a sergeant-at-arms, Thompson told him not to allow Chandler to write in the Journal. The Chandler stepped back from the clerk's desk. The order to prevent senators from leaving was to block any move of enough of them leaving to break the Chandler's step back from the clerk's desk.

Local Merchants And Shoppers Do Not Like Ruby's Newest Tax

Merchants and shoppers of Morehead took the sales tax in a different light than most people were reported as doing elsewhere, in an interview with several business firms and business houses means anything.

Retailers said that their first day's business under the new tax law showed a noticeable decrease, and hardly without exception the customer paid unwillingly and went away disgruntled. Three merchants said they would gladly absorb the tax, if the state would allow them.

One merchant said he was in favor of the tax. He said it was the fairest method of taxation. Nine other others were against it, and all believed it would hurt their business. One firm manager believed that much of his business would go to the mail order houses. Another said he didn't see how it could ever be collected fully or accurately. About half of the firms had a separate box in which they dropped their pennies that they dropped. Others figured it better to compute the tax from their gross sales. A restaurant wants to cut the prices on ten cent sandwiches to cover costs, but the tax prohibits it. Several weighing machines and penny vendors were robbed for enough pennies. Most of the merchants had a supply on hand, however.

Morehead got its first taste of the sales tax Sunday morning, July 1. However, the real test came Monday morning. Various names were given the tax. The most popular was "Ruby's Tax." One store had a "Ruby's Box" in which they dropped the sales tax money.

Mt. Sterling Negro Is Killed By Train

Robert Summers, young negro of Mt. Sterling, met a horrible but instantaneous death here Saturday afternoon when he was thrown under the wheels of an eastbound freight on the tracks of the C. & O. Railway Company.

According to many eyewitnesses, the negro attempted to get off the moving train. On the platform of the passenger depot. The train threw his directly under the wheels. He was dragged for a hundred feet or more through a switch and over a graded crossing. Both legs and one arm were cut off and the body mangled and bruised. The face was about the only part of the body that was in a recognizable condition.

Identification was made soon after the accident. The coroner's verdict was accidental death. He was removed to Mt. Sterling by relatives for burial.

Will Lecture At Baptist Church

Citizens, church members, parents, teachers, officials all are invited to hear Judge Fred G. Bale of Columbus, Ohio, deliver his famous speech on "The Fidler and the Fire" or "The Truth About Youth" next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Morehead Baptist Church.

Judge Bale is well and favorably known throughout Ohio and most of Kentucky, where he has spoken for the Anti-Slavery League. He is also internationally known as a chautauqua orator, having spent many seasons with the Redpath Chautauqua. This, together with his experience as a juvenile court judge, enables him to present his subject in a most interesting and forceful manner. Citizens are quoted as saying he is "one of the most brilliant and forceful orators on the American platform."

He illustrates his lecture with gripping, actual stories from his juvenile court experience. He will bring a refreshing up-to-the-minute treatment of an old, old subject.

Accompanying him will be a son, William G. Bale, internationally known character actor, who

MRS. CAUDILL MAKES FINANCIAL REPORT

When Mrs. Lydia Messer Caudill turned the County Superintendent's office over, following her term on July 1, the books showed a balance of $7,061.47 on hand in the People's Bank, $1,012.50 due from the State, and $2,089.58, delinquent taxes yet to be collected for the school fund. The report is to be approved by the Board of Education and there may yet be some adjustments.

There is apparently enough money on hand to take care of the outstanding indebtedness incurred during Mrs. Caudill's administration as County Superintendent.

Miss Braun Gets Far Radiogram

Miss Catherine L. Braun, teacher in the Geography class of the Morehead State Teachers College, this city, this week received a personal message via the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, from Admiral Byrd at his South Polar headquarters at Little America, Antarctica, expressing his delight at her enrollment of her entire class in the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club and promising that some interesting scientific data now being accumulated by the Expedition will be sent to her pupils, through the club, in the near future.

The complete message to Miss Braun reads as follows: "Delighted to enroll your students in the Little America Club to encourage interest in aviation and science exploration. We are accumulating valuable data for distribution to you through the club in near future. Your interest in our work here appreciated."

Great Picture At Cozy Tonight

A distinguished cast headed by Evelyn Venable, Sir Guy Standing, Ken Taylor and including two members. But the original cast of the play are featured in Paramount's screen version of the successful Broadway drama, "Double Door," coming to the Cozy Theatre Thursday and Friday.

The two members of the original cast are Mary Morris and Anne Revere, who were brought to Hollywood by Paramount at the close of the play to act the two central roles of the drama, which they originally created.

In the picture, Miss Morris plays the part of Victoria Van Brett, iron-willed, erratic spinster who rules the destinies of the millionaire Van Brett family. Miss Revere is her weaker, subservient sister, and Ken Taylor her half brother, who, with the aid of Evelyn Venable as his lovely young bride, breaks her control of the family and finds freedom. But he does not get out over her until she attempts to murder her bride. Then in a gripping and fast-moving climax, her tyrannical grip is broken, and fate takes

DR. T. A. E. EVANS IS HEALTH OFFICER

The Rowan County Fiscal Court, in session Friday, unanimously passed a motion to rescind an order of the week previous, in which money was appropriated for the continuance of the County Health Department, only in the event that Dr. Everett Blair was hired as County Director.

The court then passed a motion appropriating the money for the Health Department, leaving the duty of the Director up to the State Health Department who does the hiring.

Circuit Court Adjourns After Trying A Heavy Docket Of Civil Suits

Judge Newall Of Maysville Here For Past Week

The last case of the June term of the Rowan Circuit Court before adjourning Saturday was the sentencing of James Carpenter of this county to 15 years imprisonment for the murder of Ben Dawson three months ago at Dawson's Restaurant and Filling Station in West Morehead.

The jury deliberated for about an hour and half. They first came out saying they couldn't agree and later returned with the verdict of fifteen years. Carpenter claimed self defense, but did not take the witness stand.

Arnold Rivers, sentenced to 12 years, was remanded to the state reformatory. He had previously asked for a new hearing. Albert Cooper drew one year for stealing chickens of value greater than $2.00. The case of S. N. Williams, assault, was fled away, and Carl Walters, Morehead College student, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, continued to the third day of the next term.

The civil docket occupied the spotlight during the last week. Special Judge Newall tried most of them.

Fred Armstrong was granted a divorce from Maude Armstrong. Allen Staggall was divorced from Minnie Staggall, and Florence Jones from Charles Jones. In the case of C. B. Proctor, administrator, vs. J. H. Reynolds, the estate was ordered settled.

The Citizens Bank and D. B. Caudill, drew judgments against the Rowan County Board of Education on unpaid vouchers.

In the case of A. J. Williams, next best friend of Chester Williams vs. C. H. Cheap, Joe Smith and the City of Morehead, Cheap and the City were exonerated and a judgment of $330 was awarded the plaintiff from Smith. The suit was an outgrowth of the Smith running over Chester Williams, as he (Smith) a member of the Morehead Volunteer Fire Department was rushing to a fire.

The Bruckmann Company drew a judgment of $425.50 with 6 percent interest against the Morehead Ice and Bottling Company.

Mrs. Nellie Proctor was appointed by Judge D. B. Caudill a Master Commissioner for a term of four years.

Roy E. Cornette Is Sworn In As New County Superintendent

At a meeting of the County Board of Education held Saturday afternoon at the office of the County Superintendent, Mr. Roy Cornette was formally inducted into the office of County Superintendent, for the next four year term. Mr. Cornette succeeded Mrs. Lydia Messer Caudill, who for the past four years has filled the office.

Due to the fact that the building which housed the officers was rented for another purpose by Mrs. Caudill, the Board of Education was obliged to seek other quarters for the County Superintendent. These were found over the Cozy Theatre, and the records and office equipment was moved early Monday morning to the new location. According to Mr. Cornette, it is hoped that within the next few months arrangements may be made to find room in the court house for the office and as soon as space is available, the office will again be moved to that location.

Mr. Cornette who assumed his duties as County Superintendent Monday morning, is a local boy, who was educated in the local public schools.

Forum Will Be Held At College

One of the most important features of the summer school program at Morehead has been the series of citizenship forums held each Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Administration building. The purpose is to discuss important questions confronting the American public today, and after the introduction of the subject by a floor leader, a round-table discussion takes place.

Prof. E. V. Hollis, head of the department of education, will lead in discussion of the subject "The School Meets the Situation" at the fourth citizenship forum next Thursday evening. A large crowd is expected to attend this meeting, if the attendance and the interest shown in the past are to be considered as indicators.

A SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN

The Rowan County News closed the most successful subscription campaign that has ever been put on here on Saturday night. The campaign, carried on for the past nine weeks under more than ordinarily difficult conditions, with rumors wild and unbelievable circulated by those who had method in their madness, with a flurry of lies and wild tales told for the purpose of interfering with the ultimate success of the campaign, was a success in every way.

It is seldom that a subscription campaign ends with every contestant satisfied with the results. In this Better Business Campaign just closed every contestant who finished won a prize and every one of them has already stated that when the News again puts on a campaign each will be in the fight again trying to win.

We have, thanks to their efforts, succeeded in building up the finest and largest subscription list we have ever had. Every subscriber is paid up in advance and we are prepared to give our advertisers the utmost in service. Thus another objective in the campaign was accomplished.

We want to take this method of expressing our warm gratitude to every subscriber who supported any candidate in her race. It was through their cooperation that the campaign was the great success it was.

And we particularly wish to thank Mr. Lancaster and the contestants. Mr. Lancaster because of the manner in which the campaign was conducted, and the contestants because of their work.

We believe that we have proved to the doubting Thomases and the carping critics that a subscription campaign can be conducted on the level without a "sell out" and be successful. From the start of this campaign there have been those who for private reasons attempted to undermine the faith of the contestants in the honesty and integrity of the management and of the News. Not one of these "knifers" succeeded one iota in the underhanded objects. The faith of the contestants was not shaken, the success of the campaign was not impaired, and the Rowan County News emerges stronger than ever partly because of this effort.

In another column of this issue will be found statement from each contestant statements which we are more than delighted to publish.

And so we close this editorial, as we closed the campaign, with the determination to carry on for the better elements of the county, to conduct our business on a high plane, and to work in the future as we have in the past, for the interest of the people of Rowan County and the entire community.

WAR AND THE EXTRA NICKEL

With the advent of civilization and the inability of one person to manufacture for himself the necessities of life the parasite of commercialism appeared. From a comparatively minor factor in the lives of medieval laymen it has now become one of the most vital elements influencing human behavior.

From the time of the Industrial Revolution the abuse of the profit motive grew until now it is powerful enough to plunge whole nations into the chaos of war.

The war of today is no more the glamorous riots that took place in the "good old days." Orgies of destruction, sponsored so to speak, by the munitions industries have exploited the traditions of patriotism and self-sacrifice that lead men to the front of fight for something they think will vitally affect their country.

War is not a great heroic struggle for something fine. It is nothing more than means of gaining more and more wealth for the powerful factions in control of the munitions plants. More than that, this industry thrives on competition. It expands and develops while nations vie for armament supremacy in a jealous scramble for power.

It is noble to fight for one's country—if that country is in the right. It is a different thing, however, to fight for men who will exploit an entire nation for the sake of personal gain.

We speak of the horrors of war and make elaborate plans to prevent it, yet overlook one of the most important causes.

Take the profits out of war and there will be no more international conflicts like the World War. It is the "extra nickel" that causes the conflicts of today—not political entanglements.

TO THE TAXPAYER

If the taxpayer would vote for those men, to state public officials, whose private lives show them honest, careful, thrifty, efficient, we would not be burdened with such fearful taxes. When the taxpayers vote for township and village officials, they do usually vote for such men, and the taxes in these units have been reduced.

Late News Flashes of Interest

Dillinger Aide Slugs

Leslie A. Laird was slugged unconscious at North Webster, Ind., by two gunmen, believed members of the Dillinger gang which robbed a South Bend bank Saturday, after he had treated one of the men for a gunshot wound.

The physician was awakened at his home, about a block from his office in the Northern Indiana resort town, about 2 o'clock by a man, who authorities said answered the description of Van Meter, one of the chief lieutenants of John Dillinger.

The stranger asked Laird to go to his office and treat a friend who had had his arm cut in an automobile accident. The physician, however, recognized the wound in the man's forearm as caused by a bullet. After he had cared for it, at the patient's request, Dr. Laird gave him an antitetanus injection.

Enraged Man Kills Three

At House Party Sunday

Enraged because a group of merry-makers interfered with the sleep of Arthur A. Woods, 52 years old, turned an automatic shotgun on the guests at a house party given by his son-in-law at East Tawas, Mich., killing three of them. He fatally wounded Sheriff Charles E. Miller, 48, who was summoned to the scene.

The shooting occurred at 3 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of Arthur Janson, where Woods had come to his home with his daughter and son-in-law. Besides Sheriff Miller the dead included Dr. Stanley Somers, 31, prominent physician here; Lloyd Hayes, 35, of East Tawas, and his wife, 31. Roy Hickox, also a guest was slightly wounded.

Sheriff Miller, hurrying to the scene of the slaughter after getting an urgent summons from nearby law-enforcement. Woods at the back door of the Janson home. The two men exchanged shots. Although the Sheriff emptied his revolver at him, Woods escaped unhurt. One of the charges from Woods' shotgun struck the Sheriff in the abdomen, and he died in a hospital. Woods was arrested.

Blood Transfusion Saves Life

Of Polly, A Mongrel Dog

A blood transfusion has saved the life of Polly, a black and white mongrel, thanks to the chivalry of a pedigreed Spitz.

Desperately ill with lead poisoning, Polly was sinking fast when her veterinarian announced that only a transfusion would save her life. An appeal was broadcast for a volunteer to donate blood and the owner of the pedigreed put responded.

Polly rallied quickly and is well on the road to recovery. She is able to sit up and know a bone.

Hitler Has Eighteen

Nazi Leaders Executed

Chancellor Hitler of Germany was reported this week to have carried on his purge-death of the Nazi Party by having ten additional rebelling storm troop leaders executed, bringing the total killed in this manner to eighteen. This figure did not take into account those high in the nation who "committed suicide" or were killed "resisting arrest" as Hitler struck "firmly against rebelling sub-leaders."

The general situation outwardly calm today, was complicated by revelation that President Franklin D. Roosevelt is ill enough to require "major medical council" of leading physicians at his summer home.

Special Session Adjourned

Tuesday; Cost Was $110,000

The 1934 special session of the Kentucky General Assembly adjourned sine die Tuesday in its fifty-fifth day.

Under terms of a resolution already adopted in both branches, the legislators completed their deliberations at the conclusion of Tuesday's session.

The cost to the taxpayers of the special session of the legislature was $110,000. Sessions of the legislature since Gov. Ruby Laffoon was inaugurated have cost taxpayers $558,000.

Crash Victim Dies After Operation At Cynthiana

Roy Kitchen, 16 years old, who was hurled in a truck accident at Jett Station, near Frankfort Monday night, when his brother George Kitchen, was injured fatally, died at the Harrison Memorial Hospital at Cynthiana. An operation was performed for the removal of a blood clot on his brain. Physicians stated after the operation he had a good chance of recovering but he could not withstand the shock of the operation.

Ex-Senator Dies At 74

Chester I. Long, former United States Senator from Kansas and one-time president of the American Bar Association, died in Washington Sunday after a brief illness. He was 74 years old.

President Roosevelt Leaves On 12,000-Mile Trip

The cruiser Houston with President Roosevelt aboard pointed down Chesapeake Bay 12,000-mile journey that will carry the President to the far-flung American possessions in the Atlantic and Pacific. Smiling with boyish enthusiasm, Mr. Roosevelt went out to sea from Annapolis, Md., amid the farewells of the family gathered on the Naval Academy pier and the applause of a crowd of well-wishers who assembled at the embarkation point to see him off.

Use of Rented AAA Land is Explained

Numerous inquiries are being received at the Agricultural Experiment Station from farmers, asking how land rented to the secretary of agriculture, in the AAA program, can now be used.

Officials at the Experiment Station again call attention of farmers who have signed corn, tobacco or wheat contracts that rented acre can be used for grazing of all classes of livestock. The rented acres can also be used to produce forage crops for all classes of livestock, except that corn and grain sorghums for fodder may not be included. Farmers may harvest the seed of lespedezas, bluegrasses, timothy, orchard grass, clover, meadow fescue, bromo grass, crested wheat grass and similar pasture and meadow crops from rented acres, without restriction as to sale or use. They may not, however, harvest the seed of soybeans, cowpeas, field peas, sorghums and similar grains. Total acre planted for harvest may be increased above the acre so planted on the farms under contract in 1932 or 1933, whichever is higher, in so far as the increase is due to the larger acreage of forage crops.

Work Of Kentucky Physicians May Lead To Cure For Rabies

Twenty-nine days have passed since Ralph King, 7-year-old Knox county boy, began suffering "convulsions from rabies," and today his condition was reported as greatly improved. The number of convulsions has been cut from about sixty to one or two a day. Dr. Pierre Martin, of Four Mile, one death, has been injecting a vaccine serum into the veins of the youngster. Many here are of the opinion that these treatments may result in the finding of a cure for rabies, heretofore unknown to medicine. Dr. Martin has decided to consider the boy-out of danger and, although admitting the possibility that he may have found a cure for hydrophobia, he prefers to await final recovery before making further tests.

A. A. A. Urges More Safety

There is nothing casual about the discussion of traffic safety, it is a subject that strikes in the life and property of every modern, woman and man. We would like to discuss the modern pest on the road today, we are going to call him the "WEAVER" he is only the prime pest of the road, but he is one of the greatest menaces. Traffic authorities have more other offender, except perhaps the speeder. The "WEAVER" is a driver who will not stay in line no matter what may be the conditions. He persists in "weaving" in-and out of traffic, cutting here, cutting out there, and if followed always by the shriek of emergency brakes, and harsh, and some times curs words, too often he is followed by death, injury and property damage. The "weaver" is the subject of a National campaign for safe automobile driving, and all the large Casualty Insurance Companies are waging war on these pests, they are posting large posters all over the country, and soliciting the help of the daily press, in advertising that will assist the driving public in clearing up the educating the public, and traffic officials in practicing these conditions. "Stay in Line" is the injunction of all the posters, unless you have an opportunity, with a good view ahead of you, with sufficient time to pass the car ahead of you, you cannot judge the speed the car you are meeting is making, and you had a better lose a minute or two, as to cause a serious accident, possibly injure yourself, and possibly the occupants in the other cars, the statistics show, that attempts to violate this rule are one of the most serious causes of accidents, fatalities and injuries.

Last year according to the statistics of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, 3,849 were killed and 128,650 injured in 108,350 accidents of this classification. These accidents are avoidable, most of them are the result of poor judgment of the distance required to overtake and pass a car on the road. Many driver should consider at least two things in this respect, the width of the road, and the amount of clear distance ahead, if the highway is wide enough to allow clearance, and if there is at least 500 feet of clear roadway visible ahead, it is safe to pass, otherwise it is not. It is better to be safe than sorry, and to get to your destination thirty minutes late, than to not get there at all.

FROM OTHER DAYS

In morality Morehead is not excelled by any town in the mountains. The town is inhabited by people who live bright and frugal lives. He who has held in the grasp the hand of the great-hearted Kentuckian, traveled through the fertile farms and woodlands of the State, broken bread at his board, and shared, even for a brief period, the social life of his home, needs not the assurance that one of Kentucky's greatest glories is its hospitality, and the people of Morehead and Rowan county indulge without restraint in that hospitality which has made Kentucky famous.

Four religious denominations are organized here—Methodist, Baptist, Christian and Church of God. The Methodists and Baptists worship in their own buildings and the Christian and Church of God people in a Union church, which is owned by them. The Methodist, Christian and Baptists have well organized and flourishing Sunday schools. As a trading point Morehead is probably not excelled by any town between Lexington and Ashland. It commands a large scope of rich territory and has enterprising merchants to handle the trade, several doing a business of from $40,000 to $50,000 a year, and with the further development of the resources of the county, the town's value as a trading point will be greatly enhanced.

Morehead is a city of the sixth class and is governed by a board of five trustees, a police judge and a marshal. The present officials are all excellent men who are doing good work in handling the affairs of the city, as is shown by the improvement of the city. The rate of taxation is very low, being but 30 cents on the $100 and $1.50 head tax. We have been assured that a division of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad will be located here. This will be a decided improvement, and every effort should be made by the citizens of Morehead to encourage the railroad officials. It will bring many good citizens to the town and will be a decided advantage to the shipping interests of the county. Hardly any other improvement would be of greater benefit to the town.

A new court house has been decided upon by the county officials. The plans for the building have been made, and it will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. This will be an improvement that will be welcomed by the people, as it removes an eyesore.

Another of the prospective improvements is a new railroad from coal fields. This will be a great advantage to the town and will draw a great amount of trade here. The prospects are that it will be built in the near future; in fact, we have been assured by those in authority that this is the intention of the promoters.

We have eleven general stores in Morehead, all doing a good business. The following is a list of the firms: J. M. Carey, Taylor & Muse, H. M. Logan, Mccabe, A. W. Vinton, G. A. Nickel, C. S. Gilkerson, J. H. Fraley, B. Lipsitz, Ben Minnick and Wm. Porter.

Two first-class millinery stores—Bradley Bros. & Co., and Mrs. Mary D. McBrayer. Two drug stores—L. P. Simer & Co. and C. E. Bishop. One grocery—J. R. Bryan. One livery stable—F. P. Blair. One blacksmith shop—Kennard & Smegley. One hoop factory—Geo. Petty.

One meat market—Wilson Allen. One confectionary—Sam Allen. One jeweler—Sherman Evans. One shoemaker—Dock P. Simer. Bank—Bank of Morehead. Two barber shops—Jas Lytle and Tom Bennet.

Five hotels—Cottage, Mrs. Raine, Gault, J. M. Carey, Bryan House, Mrs. J. R. Bryan, Hotel Hamilton, Mrs. Hamilton, Proctor House, C. S. Proctor, Palace Hotel, Mrs. Watkins.

Nine lawyers—Clarke & Son, J. W. Riley, Will A. Young, C. M. Day, J. G. Whit, J. R. Blair, T. W. Rose, and C. S. Gilkerson. Three physicians—Dr. J. Wilcox, Dr. L. P. V. Williams and Dr. C. E. Saultberry.

One of the best papers in the State—The Advance. Any of the above named firms would be pleased to give any information that may be desired in regard to our town or county.

The Commercial Club is to develop Rowan county. A. W. Vinton is a holder of 40 acres of the fine coal land on Dry Creek—the vein on his land is 6 feet in the face, and as fine a quality as you can find anywhere on the globe. Mr. Vinton is also a member of the Commercial Club and believes in Morehead's future. J. G. Whit is a very ardent supporter of the "City of the Future" and was made President of the Commercial Club. He believes in the future of Eastern Kentucky and says Rowan county with her undeveloped wealth is bound to come to the front with flying colors.

Capital, we give you an invitation to come this way, and should you come the gates of our thriving little city are open, open for all, and we have something to back our claims when you come.

T. B. Tippett is our Circuit Court Clerk—and is making a No. 1 officer. He is a strong supporter of Morehead and Rowan county—and will work hard to make the Commercial Club come up to the standard. He is a valuable member, and one that its members are very proud of.

Hiram Bradley is the present Superintendent of Schools of this county. He has lived here all his life and is very anxious to see the great coal fields in our county opened—and the road built to Morgan county. He is a member of the Commercial Club, and is working hard to make it a success.

LETTERS OF APPRECIATION FROM THE PRIZE WINNERS

To the Editor of the Rowan County News:
I wish I might in some way express to my many good friends my deepest thanks and appreciation for the splendid help given me during the Rowan County News Better Business Subscription Campaign. I feel that I did not win the grand prize. It was my friends and supporters that won it. I could have never won it myself. It was those that stuck with me that won it for me, and to them I wish to extend a thousand thanks.

Surely, this contest has meant more than winning the prize. To me it meant finding out who my real friends are and what they would do for me. The spirit back of it meant more than money, care or anything else.

I will admit upon entering the contest I had a feeling that contests were never a fair proposition. But I was soon made to feel that every possible effort was being made to give every one a fair and impartial deal.

I feel that we all owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Wilson, the editor of the News, to Mr. Lancaster, the Campaign Manager, for the fine way this campaign has been conducted. During the whole campaign there has been no room for criticism.

Again, I want to say thanks to every one. I am perfectly delighted with not only my—but OUR new car!

Miss Lucy Hogley, Haldeman, Kentucky.

To the Editor of the Rowan County News:
I want to express my entire satisfaction with the manner in which the Better Business Campaign recently closed by the Rowan County News was conducted. As the winner of the second prize in the contest I want to say that the campaign was conducted on a strictly high plane, that every contestant was treated with complete justice, and that I am highly pleased with the courtesy and fairness with which the awards were made. I also want to say that when the time for putting on another camaign comes, I will be a candidate again. I wish to thank my friends for the support they gave me in the Better Business Campaign.

Very sincerely yours,
Maude Clay

To the Editor of the Rowan County News:
As the winner of the third prize in the Better Business Campaign, conducted by your paper, I wish to say that everything was carried on in a business like and fair manner all during the contest. I am completely satisfied with the prize I won and think it was a fair reward for my efforts and time.

Not only was the contest itself conducted in a very fair and just manner but the contest manager, Mr. W. C. Lancaster, was a great help to every contestant in gathering subscriptions and I wish to express my appreciation to him as well as to those who helped me by giving me their subscriptions.

Again thanking you, I am
Very truly yours,
Lyda M. Ambruney

To the Editor of the Rowan County News:
I received my prize, won in the Rowan County News Better Business Campaign promptly as soon as the contest was closed and the winners announced. I wish to thank not only those who aided me in winning the prize, but the Rowan County News and the campaign manager, Mr. Lancaster for their vigilant management in conducting the campaign, and their fair and impartial assistance rendered every contestant. I am perfectly delighted with the results of the campaign and wish to state that, in my opinion nothing could have been conducted on a higher standard of fairness and impartiality.

Yours very truly,
Ella Mae Bogness

Rabies Prevalent Over State Again

Reports of rabies in several counties have reached the department of animal pathology at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington this summer. In some instances a considerable number of animals and several persons were bitten.

When a person is bitten by a dog he should be rushed to the nearest doctor for the Pasteur treatment, if there is any probability that the dog was mad. The dog should be confined and a veterinarian called. If the dog shows symptoms suggestive of rabies it should be tied two or three days for observation. If there is definite evidence that the dog has rabies it should be killed and its head sent to the Public Service Laboratories at the Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, or to the State Board of Health, Louisville.

Effort should be made not to injure the dog's head. Put the head in an airtight container which should be packed in ice and sawdust in another container to keep it cold until it reaches the laboratories for examination.

Rabies may be prevented by vaccination, and all dogs worth owning should be inoculated against them. This is required in most cities, and should be universal. Such precaution would practically eliminate the dreadful disease of rabies or hydrophobia, and save the lives of hundreds of animals and many persons every year.

up the quorum present. Atmosphere Tense
The senate chamber was crowded with spectators as the unusual drama unfolded. The atmosphere was tense, and few senators took pains to conceal the fact that they were on edge and far from in an amiable mood.

Apparently the administration forces intended reconsidering all their important bills that had been rejected by the senate as a whole earlier. Court action over the procedure seemed certain, several anti-administration men saying they would contest the action of the senate.

The chain store bill was passed by a vote of 20 to 8. It repeals the 1930 graduated gross sales tax and replaces it with the Indiana system, based on the number of stores in a chain.

Meanwhile, the house refused to consider in the senate amendment to the free school textbook bill to increase the appropriation from $500,000 to $1,000,000 for the first year, and asked the senate to reconsider its amendment.

At 12:40 a. m., the senate went a committee of three of the session to notify him that the governor was ready to adjourn sine die.

SOFT BALL CLUB GOING STRONG

The Downtown Coaches pulled a surprise yesterday afternoon to down the Judd Math in a Diamond ball game at Jayne Stadium. It was the first defeat of the Math Dept. in the race, but still left them comfortably at the top.

Austin Edible pitched the Coaches to the victory. Except for allowing two runs in the first inning he hurled near perfect ball.

The standings in the four team league:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Judd's Math	5	1	.833
Education	3	2	.600
Coaches	3	3	.500
Cafeteria	0	5	.000

The batting leaders in the soft ball league are: Scroggins (Coaches) 750; Judd (Math) 648; Pedfrey (Ed.) 600; Fair (Math.) 587; B. Hall (Ed.) 555; McCormick (Coaches) 555; Clayton (Cafeteria) 500; Robbin (Math) 500; Reynolds (Math) 500; and Coach Downing (Coaches) 500.

The schedule for the week is:

Wed. July 4—Education vs Math

Thurs. July 5—Coaches vs Cafeteria.

Fri. July 6—Judd's Math vs Coaches.

Mon. July 9—Coaches vs Education.

Tues. July 10—Judd's Math vs Cafeteria.

to say that Governor Ruby is the most unpopular man that has ever held the office, and his policies are looked upon by the public as means of pouring more money in his coffers.

Who Bought Their Votes?

A check shows that a majority of the House of Representatives were elected on platforms denouncing the sales tax. It shows that in many instances their campaigns were conducted on monies furnished by the anti-sales tax or merchants' association.

When they got to Frankfort they forgot all these campaign planks which they had pledged to the voters.

What made them change over? Use your own judgment, and then check it, when the state stands leaning over political jobs.

Rowan County Farm News

THE FARM AND HOME

It is estimated that there are 30,000 farms in Kentucky which could be limited with marl within a two and one-half mile haul, giving an unusual opportunity for using this material. Soil being above a marl outcrop often needs liming, while that below an outcrop usually does not, because the marl has worked down into it.

Shade and clean drinking water are two poultry raising essentials for midsummer. A shade should be made, if trees or open buildings are not available. Good drinking water should be supplied in clean containers twice daily.

Late lambs or lambs not ready for market by July 1 should be treated for worms when 10 weeks or three months old and every month thereafter. The whole flock should be treated during the fall and be sent into winter free from worms.

Products to be canned should be mature, neither over nor under-ripe, medium in size, free from blemishes and decay. Non-acid vegetables should be canned immediately after gathering. One hour from garden to jar is a good rule.

Cold milk is a delicious summer drink. Either whole or skimmed, it is especially palatable on a hot day, when properly cold, and serves both as food and as a drink. Many persons who think they ordinarily dislike milk, relish it cold in summer.

Cloze clipping may do extensive damage to lawns, especially in dry, hot weather of midsummer. Set the mower to cut as high as possible and clip the lawn often enough to keep it from looking unkept.

Farmers Asked to Mark Lands
 Related to the Government

Farmers who signed AAA crop adjustment contracts should measure and mark the land which they have rented to the Secretary of Agriculture, says a statement from the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

The destruction of rental agreements should be as soon as possible, so that the official measuring and checking by compliance agents may be facilitated and done at less expense.

Where farmers are renting tobacco, wheat or cotton land to the government, they should measure off and mark land of average production or representative of the kind they usually rent in these crops.

In the case of corn, farmers may designate as rented acres any land on which corn has grown at least once in the last five years. Beneficial payments will be on the estimated production under 10-year average conditions.

A statement from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration points to the importance of farmers using their rented acreages only as permitted under the terms of the contract or contracts which they have signed.

THE GARDEN
WINTER POTATOES, PART 3
 By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture.

In the past two weeks the culture of late potatoes was discussed; today the control of pests which bother them will be taken up. These are the Colorado beetle the black flea-beetle, the blister beetle, sometimes called the "old-fashioned potato bug" and sometimes the "sky bug," the leaf hoppers and the blight disease. Sometimes potato plant lice are serious, though not often.

The Colorado beetles and the blister beetles are foliage eaters, and their control is given earlier articles in this series. For the flea-beetles, control is to spray with Bordeaux mixture or to use copper lime dust through a dust gun.

Bordeaux mixture preparation.

using the original ingredients, was discussed about a month ago, but let that discussion be overlooked, here are the directions for making 4-4-50 Bordeaux in small quantities, as for example in tankfuls, using the 3-gallon compressed air sprayer.

In 5 quarts of water, in an earthenware crock, dissolve one pound of bluestone. If the bluestone is put in a cloth sack suspended over the container so that just the tip is immersed in the water, the bluestone will dissolve with no stirring and without hot water being used. The bluestone should be started dissolving a few hours before the Bordeaux is to be made.

Now, in the tank of the sprayer put 9 quarts of water, pour in one quart of bluestone solution, made as above, and rock the tank enough for the bluestone to be evenly mixed with water.

Then, put in about one-fourth of a pound of hydrated lime which has been passed through fly-screen to remove the lumps and grit that might cause nozzle trouble, later. Close the tank and shake it evenly twice 20 times, thoroughly to mix the lime. The Bordeaux mixture, 2-1-2 gallons of 4-4-50 is now ready.

If calcium arsenate is added at the rate of one tablespoon per gallon of Bordeaux, it becomes a combination control for flea-beetles and the Colorado beetles as well as for the blister beetles, if this special method of spraying is followed. The blister beetle occurs in "flocks" that move down the row ahead of the sprayer, and sometimes back later. In order to make the blister beetle stay and destroy themselves by feeding on sprayed leaves, the insecticide should be sprayed around, and the sprayer should travel in a spiral toward the center of the flock, thus assuring their moving onto freshly sprayed foliage.

The leafhopper and the potato plant louse are sucking insects and arsenicals are not effective against them; a contact spray is needed. This can be commercial nicotine sulfate, used at the rate of a tablespoon to a gallon of water or of Bordeaux mixture, thus making a combination spray for both types of insects.

The blight is a fungous disease that causes the spotting of and the later destruction of the foliage. Bordeaux mixture is the control, to which if calcium arsenate and nicotine sulfate have been added, it becomes effective against all the insects and disease pests that afflict potatoes, early or late.

Spraying for insects should be done when the first are seen; for blight the first application should be made when the plants are 6 inches tall and a second and a third, and perhaps even a fourth, at two weeks' intervals. If insect pests occur at Bordeaux spraying times, the proper insecticide should be added.

NIECE OF MRS. LYONS MURDERED BY HUSBAND

Saturday, the family of Roy Nickell, 44, tobacco worker, of Middletown Ohio, numbered five, even though he and his wife, Lucy, 34, were estranged.

Today there were two orphans.

Mrs. Nickell, who was slain, was a niece of Mrs. T. F. Lyons of Morehead.

Nickell killed his wife, slew his daughter, Iris, 17, then turned a "run upon himself last night, firing a bullet into his temple. He died two hours later.

Nickell called at his wife's home to discuss a reconciliation, police were told. He became angered when told that a son, Harold, 9, had gone to a picture show. He seized Mrs. Nickell, threw her from the front porch and shot her twice, killing her.

Iris ran screaming from the house, and as she cut across the front lawn, was felled, with a bullet in her neck. She died instantly. Mildred, 16, another daughter, was absent from home at the time.

Irene Darrell, Middletown, a friend of Iris', attracted by the commotion, witnessed the shooting of Mrs. Nickell; she told police, reporting that Nickell had pointed a gun at her, after the shooting of Iris, evidently in the belief she was a daughter. He demurred, then turned to the rear of the house, into an alley, and shot himself.

Mrs. Nickell had filed suit for divorce early this week.

Case for Confidence

"We may reasonably expect that the recent action of the government in stabilizing the dollar will have a marked tendency to encourage industrial and other business commitments. Business men need not be so exclusively engaged in taking counsel of their fears now that uncertainty does not haunt them."

"Much has been said about the loss of credit by banks. During the acute period of the depression banks for the most part have not been lending normally, nor should they be blamed. With public confidence shattered the banker was properly concerned in liquidity, having in mind his primary obligation to pay off deposits. The situation has improved to the point where super liquidity no longer seems necessary. Conditions have materially changed. Banks will desire, for every reason, to have the banker as he passes upon and meets sound credit requirements of business as it swings into and continues on the upward turn."

Public Confidence Returns

Direct information indicates conclusively that the banking situation is showing definite and steady improvement. J. P. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency of the United States, said in a recent address. He pointed out that the decided drop which has occurred in money in circulation among the public has largely ceased hoarding.

On March 1, 1934, the Federal Reserve Board reported that the volume of money in circulation amounted to $5,355,000,000, which was a decline of $1,077,000,000 since March 1, 1933. It was a drop of $2,236,000,000, or over 29 per cent, from the all-time peak of $7,581,000,000 reached on March 12, 1933. About one-half the decrease, it was pointed out, reflected the return of currency from the public.

Money in circulation declined rapidly after the reopening of the banks in March, 1933, and has continued since to decline from week to week, "notwithstanding the increase in the demand for currency arising from enlargement of pay rolls and increase in the volume of retail trade," the Comptroller said, which, he added, "indicates a continued return of money from hoards at banking facilities were reestablished."

About Bank Loans

"As for the charge that the banks will not extend credit, the first and obvious reply is that the banks themselves are making up of the very bone and sinew of the industrial, commercial and agricultural interests of the country. Bank directors, and, to a large extent, bank officers, are drawn from the business and farming population. If they do not feel at any given moment that it is wise to make a particular loan, it is more than probable that there are sound reasons for not making it," says an editorial in the Saturday Evening Post.

two thousand pupils to well over nine thousand and having been largely responsible for that growth and for the interest in the school affairs of the county. Mrs. Caudill has not announced her plans for the future.

Due to the fact that the News is issued a day early this week on account of the Fourth, it is impossible to publish the list of the teachers employed by the Board. This list will be published in the next issue.

"THE FORLORN ISLAND"

Fireheart paused before him and gave a squawlike grunt. "We come!"

"Thank God!"

"Fireheart's love—no love—they fight like eagle and big fish, fish flop hard, but by'mby eagle catch him, fly away to rock, eat him all up!"

The coarse lips trembled. "No love, him all gone. Only love, he left. Fireheart no have you, but she love you always."

Eric tried to answer, but his throat closed. The outer scene grew blurred and faded, leaving naught but a squaw-like over boring into the own. He was lost in the shadow of far-off things beyond his ken. He forgot Gargie, only strides away, and did not see the delicate little hands fall from the ashen face and the snaky gaze sharpen as it fastened on his breast. For a few brief seconds he even forgot Nan.

He could not understand Fireheart's part. There was a strong current, but instead of flowing into the sea, it seemed to waste openly on the sands. In this stark drama of the North there could be no lost sequence, yet as far as his veiled eyes could see, Fireheart's love was thrown away. As he marveled, the movement of events stopped short. There fell a breathless—interlude, as if the dead calm in the center of a hurricane. The wind passed in the sky and died down like a torn pennant. The curled edge of a wave hung suspended over the beach. Even the moon's path on the water stopped no more.

Nan gasped, and Eric turned to her. Behind him, Gargie's sudden eyes grew large and lustrous as they fastened on Eric's head back. There stood the man who had killed Sandy, only three steps away. It was Klime, fulfillment, nature. Already the pit was yawning under his feet. Now its flames leaped into his pained, dying heart. With a moan that rose to a shriek, he drew his knife and lunged at Eric's back.

Victory was certain. Eric had his back turned, and could not whiff in time. The tribesman had let their guard fall, in the interlude and thought they had back their spears, they were a full half-second too late. Nan's view was cut off by Eric's shoulders—she could not see, and she could not save. She would shatter at her feet before she knew what had happened.

But at his side stood one who loved way."

and him with a savage, hopeless love and her love was like an eagle, so she had said, and now it soared on nimble pinions. Without a sound, she leaped between Eric and the blade.

"In to her dark breast, the steel plunged deep. It was a death-blow; she felt the blow break, the cord the debt paid in full. When she departed presently, at least she would leave no enemy in Eric's path to trouble her rest in the sea-caves. She was a priestess of divine descent, beloved of the Lost People—and her warriors avenged her quickly. Even before she fell, the seething spears were whizzing through the air.

Three of them buzzed and stung. One struck the killer in the left side, one in the right, and a third, entering the back at close range, sliced through his body and stood out a third of its length. For an instant he stood like a strange fowl, he scolded alive. He wilted slowly, but even kindly death did not come to his limbs on the good sand. It was part of the fantastic horror of this night that he must partly dangle on the tripod of spears, a shapeless thing in the moonlight, like a tepee-canvas blown from place by a gale.

Yet it happened that neither Eric nor Nan glanced twice in that direction. Eric gathered the dying girl's head in his arms; Nan held by her side. The slanted ink-pool now had already begun to film over, but they did not perceive as they gazed into those she loved. She struggled for breath, "I go!"

"Sign now, Fireheart!"

"I have no care. She no have any more. She might glad go to your place. She go home—best God who come from West, who of this then. God of the West, who!"

Eric nodded, but he could not speak.

"Now you no stay here, when Fireheart gone. She no want come back in winter midnight, see you in white girl's arms. Take her—go back to home country. I raise tattoo!"

Eric's breast heaved, and his words poured free. "We go soon as we can, soon as we can learn the"

and you find paper written by pale face priest long time ago." He choked, drew a sobbing breath, then went on bravely. "We no can see paper, but 'twik medicine, but Shamans think it tell way through shoals."

Nan clutched the quivering hand. "Don't try to talk any more—"

"Fireheart better talk fast. Breath he go like lamp-flame." She reached a moment, then the dull tones rolled again into the silence. "Fireheart no show you before. She want keep you here until you catch love, then I no catch love for Fireheart. Now she go lie in sea-caves, where tide run, and white girl lie in your arms."

A gray glaze settled on her face. Her eyes shone like a dying moth's. But she rallied for one last effort. "Fireheart love you, White Chief," she whispered. "No forget her, when you go to own country, and I tell big God give you good luck. And Fireheart glad—she die—for you."

The whisper faded away. The eyes remained open, but their faint light flickered and went out.

CHAPTER XII

AR might long the Lost People of the Isle mourned their priestess. The aliens' left them to their grief, but the wind brought their cries and lamentations, and the light showed their dark forms as they danced slowly and solemnly about her bier. Some of the women were barbarous from that viewpoint, but part of the ancient ritual of shamanism, but he only shut his eyes and looked the other way. The old man could feel her body according to her priestly station—on a least rit of which Roy had heard, but which he thought had passed from the earth—and with the tide ran out, the hutsmen carried the bier to its place in the sea-caves.

When Eric had revived, he and Roy searched for the sacred document handed down from Fireheart's Russian ancestor, the founder of her dynasty. They found it in a seal-hide packet, written with some native ink on fine, home-made parchment. The ink had faded, the white skin darkened by time, but the script was still clear.

"Why can't Petroff translate it?" Eric asked tensely.

Every Conceivable Force WORKED TO TEAR THESE TIRES TO PIECES

But NOT ONE CORD LOOSENED! NOT ONE TREAD SEPARATED! Not one Blowout!

As thirty-three speed demons careened and slid around the steep banked curves of the hot brick track, tires shrieked and smoked... break-neck speeds, 150 miles and more down the straightaway... tremendous centrifugal force tugging to rip the tread from the hot rim of the tire. In fact, every conceivable force worked to tear the tire to pieces, but not one cord loosened—and not a single blowout. What amazing proof of Triple Strength—Safety—Quality and Dependability!

Every one of the thirty-three drivers at the Indianapolis 500-mile sweepstakes chose and bought Firestone High Speed Tires. The fact that not one of the 132 tires failed is your greatest guarantee of the Extra Safety—Strength—and Dependability built into Firestone Tires.

The New Firestone High Speed Tire for 1934 is Safety-Protected on the outside by a wider tread of flatter contour, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage—Safety-Protected on the inside by eight additional pounds of pure rubber absorbed by every 100 pounds of cords. This additional rubber surrounds every cotton fiber inside every cord in every ply. This is accomplished by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Greatest Guarantee of All

Get the protection of the Firestone Triple Guarantee—for unequalled performance records—for life against all defects—for 12 months against all road hazards.

MOREHEAD DEFEATS CYNTHIANA TWICE

Fralley Stars in Both Games With Seven Hits in Perfect Day

Morehead Goes To Owingsville In Only Doubleheader In Loop Schedule

Larry Fralley, a hometown lad, gained a spot in the hearts of Morehead fans again Sunday afternoon, as he stretched his string of consecutive hits at Jayne Stadium to twelve, as the Pirates administered a double beating to Cynthiana.

Morehead, pushed to the cellar for the first time last Sunday, refused to stay on the bottom rung long and came up with a new display of power to drub the Harrison Countians by 8-2 and 3-2 counts here Sunday afternoon.

Fralley was the principal figure in Morehead's attack. He was at bat nine times in the twin bill, hit safely seven times, walked twice and scored half a dozen runs, more than half of Morehead's total.

New players aided Morehead Sunday. They took the first game rather easily behind the five hit pitching of Red McKenzie, who was enjoying one of his most effective days. Edminston was the losing hurler, and was nicked for four teen hits.

In the nightcap, Morehead gained a 3-0 lead in the first two innings and held it as Reeves gave but five hits, and pulled himself out of several holes. Barlow pitched for Cynthiana, and allowed nine hits.

Both games were featured by sensational catches. Beauties were turned in by Fralley, Settle, Clifford, Smith, Spence and Nolan. Rain held the games up for forty-five minutes and the nightcap was cut to seven innings.

Score by innings: R.H.E. Cynthiana 010 100 000-2 5 1 Morehead 201 012 02x-8 14 2 Batteries: Edminston and Whitaker, McKenzie and Charles.

Score by innings: R.H.E. Cynthiana 000 011-2 5 1 Morehead 210 000-3 9 1 Batteries: Barlow and Whitaker, Reeves and Fannin.

FLEMINGSBURG RETAINS LEAD

The Flemingsburg Farmers entrenched themselves more firmly in the Kentucky State league Sunday when they handled the Mt. Sterling outfit by scores of 8 to 2 and 5 to 1. In the first game Baker started the Flemingsburg boys off right in the first inning by socking a home run.

In the second game the Farmers got 11 hits while Mt. Sterling was socked 9. Batteries in both games were Pymale, Kline and Clayton for the victors while Carter and B. Cox formed the Mt. Sterling battery.

3 TO 1 TWICE FOR PARIS

The Paris Merchants took both games of a double header played with the Owingsville team at Hancock Field Sunday, being victorious by the same score in both games, 3 to 1. Terry, pitching for Paris, struck out 14 men, allowing but five hits to the visitors in the first game.

Manville Nesses Out Beren

On a field slick with mud and dotted with sandstom around the Beren Dixie Cardinals by a score of 3 to 0.

The Manville slugs took an early lead in the first inning when they scored two runs on a hit by Fowler, a sacrifice by Humphries and two more safeties by Rush and Hubbard. They added another run in the seventh without a hit when Hubbard was hit by a pitched ball.

Score by innings: R.H.E. Manville 200 000 102-3 7 3 Beren 000 000 040-4 7 1 Batteries: Kelley and Roush; Owen Broads and Rulley.

SPORT SPLURGES

The addition of two new players, Spence of Portsmouth and Fraley of Fullerton, aided the Morehead Pirates in their double victory over Cynthiana here Sunday afternoon.

Both appears 'likely ball players. Although Farley turned in the best performance Sunday, Spence is the man that we are looking to for great things in the second half pennant chase. Spence has one of the sweetest batting stances we have ever seen—he stands up at the plate calm, collected and smacks the ball like a veteran.

About all that Morehead needs is a better pitching staff. With one more good starting pitcher they will have to concede nothing to other Kentucky State League teams. Morehead is the team to watch in the second half, and if they don't either win the pennant or come in a hair of doing it there is bound to be a lot of miscalculations.

Lawrence Fralley established a record for Jayne Stadium Sunday as he cracked out seven hits and drew two walks in nine trips to the plate. This ran his total of consecutive hits on the park to twelve.

Since Fralley donned a Morehead uniform, after being secured from Mt. Sterling, fans have never seen him come to bat without getting a hit or a base on balls in a home game.

WINS AT TENNIS

Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, Sunday won the Kentucky amateur tennis championship by defeating Wilmer Hiler, of Columbia, S. C., in three straight sets at the Louisville Boat Club. The scores were 7-5, 6-2 and 6-1.

Yanks And Giants Favored To Capture Championship

A sharp reduction in the odds against the Detroit Tigers' winning the American league pennant marks the midseason betting prices announced by Jack Doyle, well known Broadway commissioner.

Where Doyle quoted 15 to 1 against Mickey Cochrane's club in April, he will give no better than 2 to 1 against the Tigers now. The New York Yankees, jointly favored with Washington at 6 to 5 at the start of the campaign, still are favored at 7 to 5. The Senators have dropped to a third choice at 4 to 1 in Doyle's book.

The Chicago White Sox have taken a Chicago tumble, from 10 to 1 against in April, to 1000 to 1 against now. In the National league, Doyle still quotes the New York Giants as favorites at 7 to 5 with the St. Louis Cardinals second choice at 9 to 5 and the Chicago Cubs third at 2 to 1. Pittsburgh, one of the favorites at the start, now is regarded as an 8 to 1 shot.

Cincinnati Plays St. Louis

St. Louis won an eighteen inning game, 8-6 and tied a five inning game, 2 to 2 in a double header with Cincinnati that provided some 12,000 fans with more than six hours of baseball. The second was called on account of darkness.
