

JUDGE HARGIS IS ACQUITTED

Unable to Get Witnesses Into Court Counsel for Prosecution Becomes Disgusted.

At last the Hargis trial is through and James Hargis goes free from the legal charge of the murder of Dr. Cox. Attorneys Byrd and Commonwealth Attorney John Waugh and others interested in the prosecution of James Hargis held a consultation Saturday and after which Attorney Byrd stated to the court that inasmuch as he had been unable to procure the attendance of witnesses for the Commonwealth, with whom he hoped to corroborate John Smith and Aubrey Spices, and with the refusal to grant the continuance, it appeared unwise to further continue the prosecution, and that his clients had directed him to withdraw from the case.

In his address he observed greatest respect for the court and said that the court was doing what it believed to be right according to the light in which it saw the case but that the court could not see to understand the circumstances of the case as they actually existed.

Attorney Waugh then followed and concurred the statement of Attorney Byrd and stating that he would refuse to further continue the prosecution and that it would only be a farce to attempt to try it without witnesses.

Attorney W. A. Young in a response said it appeared very appropriate for the prosecution at this time to come to the conclusion that it had no case they could not prove guilty.

Commonwealth's Attorney Waugh indignantly responded that it was not his conclusion that Judge Hargis could not be proved guilty, but that his guilt could not be established without witnesses.

Judge Moody then said the action of the attorney for the Commonwealth appeared uncalled for, as he had attempted and promised to get the witnesses, but that there was nothing left for him but to instruct the jury to find the defendant not guilty. This order was made and Hargis is free.

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

Eleven-Year-Old Buried Near Mt. Sterling Drowned in Sawdust.

At Dry Fork, Pike county, the eleven-year-old son of Wesley McCown was burned to death in a most peculiar manner. The boy jumped on a sawdust pile at Fuller's mill the hard crust breaking through and forcing the unfortunate boy to stand knee deep in the hot embers of hidden fire that had been smoldering for days.

The boy's lower limbs were burned to a crisp and he died shortly after being rescued, in horrible agony.

It was in poor health for years. Ira W. Kelley of Mansfield Pa. writes "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit, but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others. ## A PLEASANT SURPRISE BLUEGRASS GROWERS

At the Residence of Mr. O. R. Cales Last Thursday Evening.

Mr. O. R. Cales was agreeably surprised at the Cales home in this city last Thursday evening, the occasion being Mr. Cales' birthday anniversary. An agreeable company gathered and made the evening pleasant with games and other amusements. Refreshments were served and Mr. Cales was the recipient of many valuable and useful presents. The company retired wishing many happy returns of the occasion.

The bluegrass landlords of Clark, Bourbon, Fayette, Montgomery, Scott, Woodford and nearby counties which produce nearly all the Kentucky bluegrass seed marketed, have sold their entire crop of 200,000 bushels for ninety-three cents for August, ninety-four cents for September, and ninety-five cents for October.

The sale was made to Winchester and Paris firms.

About 100,000 bushels is outside the pool, but the purchasers have also secured this at ninety-two and one-half cents, which gives them absolute control of this luxury.

Bluegrass seed under last year's conditions brought the growers but sixty-five cents.

G. B. BURNANS TESTIFIES AFTER FOUR YEARS.

G. B. Burnans, of Carlisle Center N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble. Prosperity Waits on Railroad Legislation

By FRANK A. VANDERLIP, New York, Banker and Former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

In spite of a half year's record, which in most lines of business will be the equal of last year's phenomenal figures, nearly all experienced business men are of the opinion that WE ARE FACING A PRACTICALLY CERTAIN RECESSION IN TRADE, that we have ahead of us a period of smaller industrial totals. There is no longer the disposition courageously to enter upon new enterprises. Railways are curtailing expenditures. Bankers are inclined to exercise CAUTION in extending accommodation. Most manufacturers and merchants are planning their fall campaigns with much conservatism.

THAT THE PERIOD AHEAD OF US IS ONE IN WHICH COMMERCIAL ACTIVITIES WILL BE CURTAILED AND MANUFACTURERS' TOTALS SHOW A DECREASE THERE IS REALLY LITTLE DIVISION OF WELL INFORMED OPINION.

The question that is desirable to consider is only in relation to the extent of this recession. Will it be a dip, lasting only a few months, giving us but TIME TO CATCH OUR BREATH before we march on to renewed accomplishments in this most wonderful development of prosperity, or is there to be a more protracted and serious disturbance?

I believe the answer to that lies wholly in the public mind and temper. There is no INHERENT reason in the conditions of agriculture, trade, industry and finance in the United States that would make necessary a period of further disturbance and depression. There are a thousand influences that should lead toward CONTINUED PROSPERITY and renewed accomplishments throughout the fields of industry and commerce.

The business of the country will turn into one of those roads, solely as the result of whether or not the public and the public's legislative representatives are wise and patient or are hasty and inconsiderate. IF THE INTRICATE PROBLEM OF RAILWAY REGULATION is worked out in a spirit of fairness and intelligence, if the vastness of the problem is recognized, if the involved relationships encountered are taken into account and the far reaching effects of paternal regulations when applied to so great and complicated a network are reckoned with, and if an intelligent understanding of the complications will lead to a patient attitude toward results, then I believe we will resume the road toward further prosperity.

THE MOMENT THAT INVESTORS HAVE BECOME CONVINCED THAT THE PROBLEM IS TO HAVE FAIR AND PATIENT CONSIDERATION IN ITS SOLUTION WE WILL START ON THAT ROAD AGAIN WITH FULL MEASURED PALE.

But if we are to have legislation based upon political advantage, if we are to adopt SOCIALISTIC theories which will amount to the CONFISCATION OF PROPERTY RIGHTS, if we are to have reprisal for past wrongs, no matter how real, if action is the one thing wanted first and the consideration of the intelligence and fairness of such action is to come afterward, then I believe it is possible that THE WHOLE BUSINESS STRUCTURE MAY BE FACING A DANGER the proportion of which will be measured by the same vast figures as have been the totals that have marked the extent of our prosperity.

The Land of Noises.

"In China night is as alive as the day and is filled with whoops, noisy conversations, the singing accompanying the strolling troupes and every other unmusical sound," says a writer in the Montreal Standard. "In addition, the darkness is one long howl of dogs, cackle of geese, braying of donkeys, croaking of frogs, the squealing of pigs, the gruntings of the pole-dog and even, as some one has said, 'the staging of the stars'." Individually the people are full of varieties of unexpressed violent demonstrations, and collectively they are only a terrific, shrill, unceasing noise. One most appropriate name for China has never been given it. It has been called the Yellow Kingdom, the Middle Kingdom, the Celestial Empire, the Pagan nation, the Sleepy Giant and others. No one of these is more applicable than the nation of noises. Noise is seen by the first Chinese who enter the land and has been cultivated for centuries by Chinese talent and in conception, development and execution presents not only new varieties, but scores of new species."

Hopeless Case.

A Scottish paper tells a story of an old Scottish woman who was "unwieldy", without the money to buy "her dress" and "her shawl" and her little granddaughter, "gang round to Donald McCallum and bring me a bag. Tell him I'll pay him 't the morning."

Back came the child with a refusal. Donald declined to part with his wretched, the old woman cried about for some means of "raising the wind," and her eye fell upon the family Bible. "Here, lassie," she said, "give him this and tell him to keep it until I bring him the siller." Off went the little girl, but she soon returned, still carrying the Bible. Donald was old. "He says 'no man has the harness first, granny."

In anger the disappointed grandmother threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Loch, did anybody ever hear the like o' that! The man will neither tak my word nor the word o' God for a gal o' whusky!"

Baby's Share of Blame.

She had been fitted for two gowns, the total cost of which was nearly $600.

"Now," she said to the saleswoman, "I want you to do me a favor."

"Certainly," was the prompt response.

The customer colored deeply. "I want you to make out the bill partly for gowns for me and partly for baby dresses and a baby's cloak."

The saleswoman was used to the whims of fashionable women, but this was something she was a little slow in comprehending. The customer explained.

"You see," she said, "my husband is very fond of our baby, and if he sees that the bill is partly for dresses for her—well, he won't mind so much."

Still in the Dark.

"Does your maid object to being called a servant?" "I don't know. We've only had her two weeks and she hasn't really permitted us to get on speaking terms with her as yet."

The Return.

Magistrate—What! Do you mean to say your husband struck you, and he called a servant? Mrs. Wilson—Yes, yer honor; but he's only been a physical wreck since he struck me—Independent.

Dispatches from Washington indicate that interesting developments are promised in the near future in connection with the settlement of the indebtedness of Venezuela to what are known as the "Non-preferred Powers" under the Hague arbitration of 1903. On the first of this month President Castro paid the last instalments of the judgments as assessed by The Hague tribunal in favor of the "preferred" or blocking powers, meaning Great Britain, Germany and Italy.

The settlement of other claims among are those of the United States, were to be discharged by series of payments based on 30 per cent of the custom receipts, but Venezuela has repudiated in two cases already and serious trouble may arise.

Venezuela insists that judgments were excessive, which complaint, coming at this late date seems, unreasonable.

The danger in the situation is that an admission of the Venezuelan claim would be an opening wedge for the repudiation of all the awards and constitute a heavy blow at the whole principle of settlement by arbitration.

We are authorized to announce Hon. H. L. Woods of Carter county a candidate for the Republican nominee for Circuit Judge of the 32nd Judicial District at the convention whenever held.

We are authorized to announce Attorney W. D. King, of Olive Hill, a candidate for the Democratic nominee for Representative of the 100th Legislative District.

"ANOTHER DELAY."

Messrs. G. E. Carley, of Portsmouth, O., and D. D. Davis, of Oak Hill, O., were here this week trying to locate a brick plant in this city, but from the best information at hand these gentlemen have left town very much undecided in the matter. It is reported they are now at Soldier, where, we understand, they have an option on quite a large territory of clay land, a location for a plant, also an option on a plant already in operation.

In last week's paper we announced that the new brick plant was a certainty and that we would be able to get the plant in the lower end of town, but it seems the company had some difficulty in obtaining concessions which they deemed necessary, and now it is more likely that, should the plant be built, the Henderson branch location is the one most favored by the promoters.

We regret exceedingly that the deal with the representatives of this company could not be speedily consummated and that the actual work of putting in the plant should thus be longer delayed, but let us strive to secure this valuable addition to our enterprises in the shortest possible time, no matter in what portion of the city the company should elect to locate it, as its establishment means thousands of dollars added to our weekly payroll, hundreds added to our population and a material increase in the price of real estate. SWEETHEART.

The Bright Butler.

A few days ago one of Philadelphia's prominent society women told her butler to tell all visitors that she was not at home. At night, when enumerating the persons who had called during the day, he mentioned the lady's sister, whom his mistress exclaimed: "I told you, man, that I was always at home for my sister! You ought to have shown her in."

"Next day the lady went out to make a few calls, and during her absence her sister came to the house."

"Is your mistress at home?" she asked the butler.

"Yes, madam," was the reply. "The lady went upstairs and looked everywhere for her sister. On coming downstairs she said to the butler, 'My sister must have gone out, for I cannot find her.'"

"Yes, madam, she has gone out, but she told me last night that she was always at home to you."—Philadelphia Record.

A Canine Shifter.

Rex, a thoroughbred Spitz, must perform the painful duty of escorting a certain neighbor home when she has been calling at our house. However, it is not without a show of reluctance that he does it. Recently our friend returned from a recent and his animal, whistling "grovel" again to reassure him. This occurred several times and it was always in about the same place that Rex disappeared. One night our friend determined to discover Rex's little game. After whistling and calling she made a pretense of going on. She stopped in a deep shadow. Around the corner of the next street house appeared a slinking figure. Stealthily quitting the shadows Rex crept out and peered back anxiously up the street, whistling as he well knew, he should have continued to conduct the lady. After this he turned shamelessly around and lit out for home.—Chicago Tribune.

WOMAN IS IMPALED

Mrs. Martin Dowdy, of this County, Meets With Peculiar Accident.

While being dragged with her feet entangled in the lines hitched to a runaway horse Mrs. Martin Dowdy, of near Grayson, came in contact with a forked stick anchored in the earth, and the stick passed through her hip into her body and out between her second and third ribs. In spite of her terrible injuries she still lives. The horse became frightened and so Mr. Dowdy was trying to leap from the buggy her foot became entangled in the lines. Her husband remained in the buggy and was not injured.

POLITICAL CALL

For Republican County and District Conventions.

At a meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of the 32d Judicial District composed of the counties of Carter, Elliott, Lawrence and Morgan, held pursuant to call, in the town of Sandy Hook, on July 18, 1907, at which meeting all of the counties in said district were represented, the following proceedings were had and done.

1. It was ordered that a District Convention be held in the city of Grayson, in said district, on Tuesday, August 6, 1907, at one o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a Republican candidate for Circuit Judge and also for the Commonwealth Attorney to be voted for at the regular November election, 1907.

2. It was ordered that county mass conventions be held on Saturday, August 3, at one o'clock p. m., at the county seats of the respective counties composing said district for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the District convention at Grayson, and that the basis of representation in said district convention shall be one delegate vote for every 100 votes or fraction above fifty votes cast for the Roneyvelt electors at the November election, 1904. Upon this basis counties composing said district are entitled to the following delegate vote in said convention: Carter, 24; Elliott, 6; Lawrence, 20; Morgan, 11.

How to Follow Forest Trails.

"The trail has a code of signs, as well as a book of laws," says Handi Garland in "The Lone Trail." A twig dislodged broken is like a finger pointing toward a gate. A "chance" corresponds to the following hand. A new large pointer an old one of no value. A sapling cut and bent across a path locks it, and warningly says, "Go no farther this way." A stick set upright in the wood means "no bottom here."

By use of these and many other records of the signs set, the reader profits by the experience of those who have gone before him and aids those who are to follow. There is always news on the trail for those who have eyes to perceive it, and it is the duty of him who rides ahead to enlighten those who are to follow. The Klondiker by means of signs almost invisible to the cheer, direct and definitely warn his tribesman. These signs on the trail are respected. No one thinks of removing them except for cause.

At the Dentist's.

"Do you give gas here?" asked a fellow looking man who rushed into a dentist's.

"We do," replied the dentist. "Does it put a fellow to sleep?"

"I does," said the patient. "Sound asleep, so you can't wake him up?"

"You could break his jaw or black his eye and he wouldn't feel it." "He would know nothing about it." "How long does he sleep?"

"The physical insensibility produced by inhaling the gas lasts a minute, or probably a little less."

"I expect that long enough. Got it all ready for a fellow to take?"

"Yes. Take a seat in this chair and show me your teeth."

"Tooth nothing?" said the excited caller, beginning rapidly to remove his coat and vest. "Want you to pull a porous plaster off my back?"

The jeweler placed tenders in place the unnumbered your shopped the blond. "I could poison you with it. You would die in a few hours." "Diamonds are not poisonous." "Diamonds are not poisonous. These have been a number of suicides by diamond dust among gem cutters. Swallow diamond dust, and death will come very quickly. The symptoms will be the same as though strychnine had been taken."

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lewis, Sunday the fourteenth, a boy. Dr. Strother.
Miss Lilla Kitchen and brother, Chas. were calling in Grayson Thursday afternoon.
Messrs. Bruce Preston and J. N. King, of Ashland, were calling on Misses Lula and Lottie Kitchen Sunday evening.
Quite a number of our young people are attending the Institute at Grayson this week.
There will be an ice cream supper at the Leon Methodist church Saturday evening for benefit of the church.
Wonderful Courage.
Is displayed by many a poor invalid, crushed under the weight of chronic troubles, like constipation, biliousness, neuralgia, headache, stomach trouble, etc. But such suffering, the brave, is quite unnecessary, for Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin will surely cure all these diseases, drive away all the unpleasant symptoms, and restore every invalid to health. Try it. Sold by N. M. Hudgins at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

Mrs. Ellie Garvin and Kate Craycraft in company with Messrs. Curtis Felts and Leonard Cunningham spent Sunday with Earl James and sister.
HOW TO AVOID PNEUMONIA.
You can avoid pneumonia and other serious results from a cold by taking Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough and expels the cold from the system as it is mildly laxative. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. C. B. Waring.

It is reported that the Christian church Sunday School is contemplating an outing at Carter Caves in the near future.
Mrs. A. L. Miller, of Morehead, and Miss Jessie Craig, of Ashland, are the guests of Mrs. Walter Pope.

DON'T LET BABY CRY.
When baby cries, something is probably wrong with his stomach, or other digestive organs, and no time should be lost in giving it a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. This is the only safe laxative medicine for babies and children, and should always be kept in the house. It contains no injurious ingredients and can do nothing but good. Try it. Sold by Dr. C. B. Waring at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

Miss Mattilda Owens hung on the arm of the editor of the Lanesville Belle, to whom she had been engaged for three years, and endeavored to turn his gaze toward the sky.

Barnato Won the Bet.
There is a legend of an amusing competition in connection with a discussion regarding the financial value of literary genius. Barney Barnato, who was a genius, but not literary, began to chaff some financial "journalists" and "journalists" fellows, who "know nothing" about literature. "I'll back myself to write a little piece against any of you."
The challenge was laughingly accepted, and a referee appointed. The papers were thrown into a hat, and the referee, after analyzing them, said: "Gentlemen, I am bound to say that the palm must be awarded to Mr. Barnato. His piece is terse, faultless in form, irrefragable in matter. You yourselves shall judge." and he read out the following essay:
I promise to pay to Mr. X. the sum of £100 for his kindness in acting as referee in this interesting competition.
B. I. BARNATO.

The award was unanimously conferred by the competitors, and the check was duly honored.—London Telegraph.

Delicately Put.
"A footman," said a banker, "called his master up by telephone and said: 'I regret to inform you, sir, that your house is on fire and fast burning down.'"
"Oh," cried the master, "what a terrible misfortune! But my wife is safe?"
"Quite safe, sir. She got out among the first."
"Are my daughters—are they all right?"
"All right, sir. They're with their mother."
"There was a pause. Then:—"
"What about my mother-in-law, James?"
"That, sir," said the footman suavely, "was what I wished to speak to you about, particularly. Your mother-in-law is lying asleep in the third story back, and knowing your regard for her comfort, sir, I wasn't sure whether I ought to disturb her or not, sir."—Los Angeles Times.

Which is Your Shortest Hour?
"What is your shortest hour in the day?" asked a business man of an acquaintance. "Don't say you have none. You have, although you may not know it. Everybody has. Of course, reckoned by actual measurement, each hour is composed of sixty minutes, yet notwithstanding that chronological exactness the hours vary in length. My shortest hour is from 2 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. I find upon inquiry that this is the feeblest period for many people. In my case so swiftly do those sixty minutes hurry by that I try to crowd into them as many of the disagreeable, yet inevitable, things of life as I possibly can. If I have to interview a bore, I see him then; if I have to visit the dentist, I do it then. That hour is bound to slip away quickly, no matter what happens; therefore the agony of disagreeable scenes seems of shorter duration."—New York Sun.

Naked Truth.
An encounter of wit once took place between the late Eugene Field and a New York woman. It was a dance, and the woman was in evening dress, which was rather delicate. After a skirmish between the two relative to the respective merits of a well known author it would seem that Field came off second best.
"Oh, Mr. Field," exclaimed the woman, excitedly, "you must admit that you've fairly beaten at your own game."
Field bowed politely and, with a smile, promptly rejoined, "At any rate, Miss Blank, I have one consolation—you can't laugh at me in your sleeve."—Lippincott's.

Legend of the Violet.
A Latin poem of the sixteenth century has a pretty legend of a violet that, in mythological days, was a maiden called Ianthia, one of Diana's nymphs. She attracted the attention of Apollo, whose admiration she did not return, and, flying from his pursuit, she implored Diana to destroy the beauty which occasioned her so much trouble. Diana granted her request and turned her face to a dull purple. Ianthia, however, soon regretted the loss of her beauty and was pining away with grief, when the goddess laid pity on her and changed her into a flower, which still shrinks from Apollo (the sun) and hides her modest head in the shade.

Her Choice Tea.
There is a true story told of a wealthy American lady who was in China and one of the court officials, wishing to do her great honor, promised to send her a casket containing some extraordinary tea. In due time an exquisitely packed box arrived containing tea. She bade many of her society friends to a series of afternoons, at which this tea was served, its delicious qualities expanded upon, and all seemingly enjoyed the beverage. At the end of the season when the casket was again empty she found a very small beautifully decorated box, which on opening contained the priceless tea. What she had used was the dried tea leaves that had been used on many a flavor, it was such a rich joke upon herself that the hostess told the story, and the society set had a good laugh.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Literal Mind.
All orders to native servants in India must be literally given, for in that manner they will be received. A missionary once took a country lad as a servant when going out on a boating journey. As there are no lavatories about the country boats, one's ablutions have to be performed in a very simple manner, an ordinary bucket serving as a wash bowl. The boy was told to bring some water and in doing so happened to spill a little on the floor. "Why don't you throw it all over me," asked the missionary jocosely. "Aha," said the lad, and immediately, to his master's astonishment, took up the pail and emptied it over his employer's head.

Free Medical Advice.
A well known London physician at a dinner party one evening was much worried by one who was seeking gratuitous advice. "Do you know, doctor," said his questioner, "I know a man who suffers so terribly with indigestion that at times he can do nothing but howl with pain. What would you do with that case?"
"Well, I suppose," responded the medical man, "it should bow! with pain too."—Westminster Gazette.

A Good Imitation.
The other day an amateur artist was producing some rapid sketches to amuse his children. He drew a sketch of a hen so naturally that when it was afterward thrown in the waste paper basket it laid there.

Can't Miss It

So many ailments are purely nervous affections, that you can hardly miss it if you try Dr. Miles' Nerve. It restores nervous energy—and through its invigorating influence upon the nervous system, the organs are strengthened. The heart action is better; digestion improved; the sluggish condition overcome, and healthy activity re-established.

"Dr. Miles' Nerve is worth its weight in gold to me. I did not know what ailed me. I had a good physician but got no relief. I could not eat, sleep, work, or be steady. I was nearly crazy. One day I picked up a paper and the first thing that met my eyes was an advertisement of Dr. Miles' Nerve. I concluded to try it and let the doctor go, and I did so. After taking two bottles I could dress myself. Then I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and now I can walk and go out, and have told many the benefit I have received from these remedies and several of them have been cured by it since. I am fifty-nine years old and pretty good now."

Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

Two Unanswered Questions.
"What makes you just plain hop-land?"
Asked Frankie of the Centaur. That hopped about him in the path So queer of form and fashion.
"Why aren't you a boy?"
That's smart and good to be heard. Instead of hopping in the dirt. And staying a poor fool!"

The hop-land stopped to snap a fly. Then, swallowing it, he said, "As looking Frankie up and down He wisely shook his head."
"Why am I not like you, my boy? Well, why aren't you like me? For that would be an easy As the other does you see!"
—Florence May.

The Flow of Maple Sap.
Some persons believe that the sap of the maple tree—from which, you know, maple sugar is made—flows only when there are frosty nights followed by warm days. It is true that the flow is most abundant then, the reason being that the approach of spring produces the natural conditions necessary for the tree's absorption of water from the earth, and that the movement of the sap is accelerated when it is subjected to a sudden change from a cool to a warm temperature. The flow of the sap, however, does not depend on these conditions.

Bank Holiday.
Bank holiday is an expression frequently encountered in English cablegrams and letters, but which is little understood in America.

A bank holiday is one of the holidays created by Act of Parliament in 1871. Up to that time a legal holiday was in reality a holy day, since before the passage of the Act there was no authority to declare a holiday except for a fast and the mortification of the flesh.

Realizing the necessity for periods of relaxation, authority was granted for certain holidays, and that they might be readily identified they were designated "bank holidays," since a portion of the act referred to the extension of the days of grace granted in banking transactions should a final day of grace fall on one of these holidays. These holidays sometimes follow a religious festival, such as Easter Monday and Whit Monday, or they are arbitrary, such as the August bank holiday, an outting party and a simple.

Where Victor Hugo Died.
There has been some dispute as to the identity of one or two houses in Paris in which Victor Hugo spent interesting periods of his life. There will be no doubt as to the house where he died, for the simple reason that it is being pulled down. The work is already in progress, and a building which not more than thirty years ago was the very heart's core of the intellectual life of Paris presents that dismal aspect of gaping ruin inseparable from a building already half demolished. The place has for years been marked by a memorial tablet, which may possibly be reached to the new premises. But that will be in memoriam only, to mark the spot where once stood the last home of Victor Hugo; but of this house itself all vestige will have disappeared.—London Globe.

$100 REWARD.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SPLITTING HEADACHE.
Can be often relieved by a nerve sedative, but the scientific way of treating a headache is to go right down to the real cause, or root of the trouble, and cure it with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is the only perfect cure for headache, dizziness, constipation, and is free from the dangerous after-effects which so frequently follow the use of headache powders. Try it. Sold by C. B.
