Liquor Cases Set In Circuit Court Here Thursday

Cases of four persons who have allegedly engaged in traffic in alcoholic beverages have been set for trial in Rowan Circuit Court today (Thursday). Don Haines and Bobby Joe Morrison will face trial, as will two others whose names have not been disclosed pending notification by the sheriff, the circuit court clerk's office said Wednesday.

The term of court convened Monday and Roy Corneil, Morehead businessman, was named foreman of the grand jury.

Other members of the panel are: Maston Dehart, John T. Green, John S. Kelly, Cecil Gregory, Bert Crockett, Pete Armstrong, Alfred Ellis, James O. Bryant, Joe McDevroy, Chester Harts and Woodrow Johnson.

The term is scheduled to run three weeks.

Morehead College Senior Heads Mountain Group

Ronald Gullett, a Morehead State College senior, has been elected president of the youth organization of the Council of the Southern Mountains in Asheville, N. C. He will serve until April, 1965.

Gullett calls the election an "a distinct honor as there are some mighty fine youngsters involved and we are looking toward a highly successful year."

He is also a student board member on the Appalachian Volunteers. "The Appalachian Volunteers is sort of a domestic Peace Corps," he said, "and we are trying to aid the people in the Appalachian area through a self-help program."

Youth in the organization are working on the renovation of numerous one-room schools and will branch out into other projects in the future, he said.

Gullett is a geographer and agriculture major from Sellersville who plans to graduate in June of 1965. He is a member of the Gamma Theta Upsilon geography club at Morehead State College.

Fleming Man In Serious Condition

A Hillsboro man remains in serious condition this following a Lexington hospital, following a fall from a truck in Lexington 32 last Wednesday morning.

James Wilbur Lewis, 25, is reported improved, but still in serious condition suffering from head injuries sustained when his car struck a 14-foot truck which had skidded into his path.

The accident took place on the same curve where a dump-truck skidded into a loaded school bus May 7, resulting in injuries to 56 students and the driver. The bus was over a 40-foot embankment following the collision.

Lewis is reported being treated at Lexington St. Joseph's for a skull fracture and severe lacerations of the face and body.

State Police said the truck, driven by John Wesley Bays, 44, of Willard, Ky., went out of control at a sharp spot on the highway and skidded into the path of Lewis.

The top of the Lewis vehicle was ripped off by the impact.

Lewis was on his way to work at Morehead when the wreck occurred about 6:50 a. m. He was taken to St. Claire Medical Center for emergency treatment and later transferred to Lexington.

Lightest Primary Vote In History Expected At Tuesday's Election Officers Selected For Tuesday Vote

With interest at its lowest ebb in years, Rowan County voters will go to the polls—probably in limited numbers—Tuesday to register their choices for party nominees for Congress.

With probably most people still unaware that Tuesday is election day—although it's an annual event in Kentucky—it is expected that the primary election will be the lightest in history.

Lack of interest, lack of interest and lack of activity have combined to make Tuesday's election the lightest in the state's history.

However, both Democrats and Republicans have primary contests for the 11th Congressional District nominations.

Incumbent Congressman Carl D. Perkins of Hindman is expected by Mrs. Ann B. Hill of Floyd County for the Democratic nomination, while three others are contesting for the GOP nomination.

Perkins, in Congress for 16 years, is a former teacher and county attorney in Knott County. Perkins of Hindman was born in 1948 and has been returned for eight consecutive terms.

Laysan, also of Hindman, is a former member of the State Legislature and a former member of the state law commission. She and her husband operate a business in Floyd County.

On the GOP side, Aronberg is former Illinois captain and has been active in Civil Defense activities, has been savings bond chairman for the Treasury Dept. Laysan also is an active member of a number of veterans' organizations.

Green, Alfrey Named Election Officials

The State Board of Election Commissioners last week named John T. Green and C. V. Alfrey, both of Morehead, Democrat and Republican election commissioners, respectively, in Rowan County.

Green was chosen from a list submitted by Glenn W. Lane, Rowan County Democratic chairman, while Alfrey was reappointed from a list submitted by William H. Layne, county Republican chairman.

Green succeeds H. K. Taylor, who is on the Democrat on the body.

The third member is Sheriff Curt Lewis.

John D. Smedley, 69, Is Claimed In Florida

A Rowan County native, John D. Smedley, died at his home in Jacksonville, Fla., last Tuesday. He was 69.

Surviving are the wife, two sons and a daughter, along with these brothers and sisters: Mrs. Emma Fugman, Mrs. Kate Harris and Mrs. Della Foster, all of Morehead; Mary Black, Dayton, O.; W. Smedley, Seattle, Wash.; and Jesse Smedley, Morehead.

Hogge School Dedication Is Scheduled Tomorrow

Rowan County's newest elementary school—the Tidion Hogge unit serving the northern section of the county—will be dedicated at ceremonies to be held tomorrow (Friday) at 8 a. m.

A simple program, featuring school officials and neighbors of Mr. Hogge, donor of the land on which the school was constructed, has been planned.

The structure was occupied shortly after Jan. 1, but dedication has been delayed pending completion of landscaping and other work on the building.

Principal speaker at the event will be H. C. Hagan, longtime professor of agriculture at Morehead State College, who also supervised the beautification of the school grounds.

Directed by Mrs. Grace Botts, the productions are "The Old Trouper," by Charles S. Brooks, and "Three on a Bench," by Davis Estrada.

Cast and productions staffs include some 35 drama students.

Included in the cast of "The Old Trouper" are J. D. Reeder, Elsie Caudill, Anthony Lambert and Dallas McClain.

Dave Henry Gevedon, 88, Claimed By Death Sunday

D. H. (Dave Henry) Gevedon, one of Morehead's oldest citizens and one of its grand old men, died Sunday at St. Claire Medical Center, where he had been a patient only one day. He was 88.

Gevedon, a retired interior decorator, had been ill for about three weeks prior to his hospitalization.

He and his wife came to Morehead early in their lives from their native Morgan County, and operated a rooming house where many students from Morehead State College lived at one time or another. Their large home faced the college campus, directly across from Thompson Hall, an early men's dormitory.

The home was sold in recent years and is now owned by the Presbyterian Church, which eventually plans to construct a church building there.

Fresh Strawberries Soon Will Be On Local Market

By Janet Sue Boyd
Home Agent

Did you realize that fresh strawberries will be on the local market within two weeks? Now is the time to check your freezer to see if you have any left over. Plan how many strawberries you will need to freeze. Remember to freeze only enough for one year.

Strawberries for freezing should be of the best quality. They should be free of vine ripeness, and ripen than for canning, but not as ripe. Unripe fruit which is hard and immature lacks flavor after freezing.

They will keep best if processed and frozen within 8 hours after they are gathered.

In preparing strawberries for freezing—wash, drain, and prepare as for canning. Freeze cold or ice water over them to help to make them firm, while warm water causes "bleeding" and produces a watery texture. They are adapted for quick freezing.

Syrups should be made several hours before using and thoroughly chilled.

In considering whether to sweeten fruit, it is important to know that they will freeze without the addition of sugar or syrup, but many people think tartness and flavor are improved by the use of sweetening. Corn syrup may replace up to 1/4 of the sugar. Strawberries packed in syrup are preferred for uncoked desserts. If they are packed in dry sugar or are unsweetened, they have less liquid and are best suited for all cooking purposes. It is a good plan to freeze a few containers by the various methods and also some without sugar in determining one's preference.

Strawberries can either be packaged or sealed. Those prepared with sugar or syrup are more easily packed in glass jars, tin cans, or boxes. The general directions for packaging, sealing, freezing, and storing of strawberries are the same as for vegetables. Label each package in respect to product, variety, kind and date (month and year).

Directions for Preparing Strawberries for Freezing

Selection and Preparation

Select firm ripe berries free from white or hollow centers or green tips. Wash in ice or cold water and remove stems. Slice or crush large berries, or leave whole.

With Syrup

Fill containers with berries and cover with a cold syrup made by dissolving 3 cups sugar in 4 cups water. Leave 1/2 inch head space for pints, 1 inch for quarts. Seal and freeze.

With or Without Sugar

(A) Place whole or sliced berries in a bowl. Add 3/4 cup sugar per quart of berries and mix thoroughly. Fill containers, leaving head space. Seal and freeze.

Crushed or Puree

Crush or press berries through a coarse sieve. Add 2/3 cup sugar per quart and mix well. Fill containers, leaving 1/2 inch head space for pints, 1 inch for quarts. Seal and freeze.

Behavior Rules Should Not Block Church Unity

The dream of a united Protestant Church in America is one long-cherished hope of the nation's foremost religious leaders.

Through their argument has been that "through settlement of denominational differences within their own ranks, it is possible to make the most effective appeal not only to those outside the church in this country but in the foreign missions field as well.

The theory is logical and plausible and has in recent years been given credence by the merging of some previously separate religious groups.

Perhaps it was that initial success which prompted the convening two years ago of the Consultation of Church Union to try to devise a union of the six major Protestant branches. The plan called for embracing the Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, United Church of Christ and Evangelical United Brethren in a single unit with combined membership of some 20 million.

It now appears that the Methodists, biggest single party to the talks, are pulling away from the idea of any such junction in the near future—using as one of the reasons the fact that some of the others do not share the Methodist creed of total abstinence from drink.

It would be tragic if church unity is blocked by squabbling over rules and regulations of behavior. We can always remember that Jesus drank wine, and it was probably wine, too—not grape juice.

Individual rules of behavior, which the churches prescribe for us, are not so important, in detail at least, that they should block progress toward Protestant, and eventually Christian, unity.

Who Can Best Decide?

A Congressional member who introduces legislation against "transmission of filth through the mails usually sets himself up as a target for two groups—the American Civil Liberties Union and the Justice Department.

Such has been the case for Representative Glen Cunningham (R. Neb.)

Under the midwesterner's proposed legislation, a receiver would be allowed to decide for himself whether incoming mail appealed to his "prurient interest."

If it did—and he objected to such appeal—he could ask the Post Office to instruct the sender to remove his name from the mailing list. Failure to do so could result in a $5,000 fine and/or five years in jail.

The department contends this would open the way to constant deletions from mailing lists, and endless red tape. Some people, according to Justice, believe catalogues containing pictures of ladies in underwear appeal to a person's prurient interest.

And while the Cunningham bill may have minimum chances of enactment, one can sympathize with the desire of many to keep their mailboxes free of the trash often stuffed in it.

Over-Exposure Is A Myth

Major League baseball owners, working through a special committee, are trying to land a fat television contract something on the order of one recently signed by professional football. The idea, according to John Peter, of the Detroit Tigers, is to offer fans a Major League game every Monday night.

One good feature of the proposed plan is that all teams would share equally in the financial gravy, and that all teams would be televised during the season.

But, as Fetzer recently hinted, this money package were to mean that eventually weekend Major League games were to be discontinued, fans will want no part of it.

Sports fans today, including shut-ins, invalids, and others, are offered several Major League baseball games every week—on Saturdays and Sundays. It is almost a miracle in modern man's life that sports, something fans a few years ago would have not believed possible.

Americans see these games free, in their living rooms. If Major League owners aren't getting enough money from television, the solution isn't to raise the price and reduce the number of games televised.

The over-exposure 'line' is a myth, the more good baseball televised, the better the interest. And the World Series still fetches a good price, as does the All-Star game.

Football is a more spectacular, body-contact sport. Baseball is different and is played seven days a week, not one. It will be nice, if there is a Monday night Major League game each week, but if it is to kill off the weekend games, the committee now working for the baseball owners will have short-changed fans.

She Believes In Her Rights

Baltimore's Madalyn Murray, an atheist, is proving a tireless and dedicated worker for those principles in which she so believes.

Not satisfied with getting the Supreme Court to ban prayer recitation and Bible readings in the public schools, she is now seeking deletion of the words "Under God" from the Pledge of Allegiance.

Her zeal is contagious. Another suit has been filed to strike "In God We Trust" from our coinage and undoubtedly similar suits directed against any religious recognition will be forthcoming.

She may score another triumph in court and may stun many still stunned by the previous ruling on school prayer.

The fact that we who believe in God are in the majority, however, should not make us forget that the great principle of keeping religion out of government is sound and the pain it may cause in inconvenience to us is more than offset by the safeguard to democracy and tolerance it is.

Our Position Should Be Clear

Russia's man in the western hemisphere, Fidel Castro, has declared Cuba will no longer tolerate United States reconnaissance flights over the island.

The warning comes as Moscow is saying it will soon move nearly all its troops from Cuba, and turn over to Castro control of 24 surface-to-air missile bases the Soviets set up.

Though there is some doubt the Soviets are going to let him handle the missiles as he wishes, President Lyndon Johnson has solemnly warned any interference with our over-flight would create a highly dangerous situation.

The over-flights are part of the Khrushchev-Kennedy agreement ending the 1962 missile crisis, and if an American plane is suddenly shot down over Cuba, neither Khrushchev nor Castro could escape the responsibility for creating a new crisis.

Washington must make it clear to Moscow that retaliation will be instant, and then it is Russia's responsibility, and Russia's next move.

Double-Standard On Rights

The double standard some adherents of the civil rights bill exhibit serves to explain some of the implacable opposition the measure is encountering in the Senate.

Reaction from Administration quarters and Northern liberal ranks to the abortive New York "satellite" maneuver gives force to the bill a persuasive argument that could well be distorted into a punitive and preferential law instead of one achieving equal justice for all.

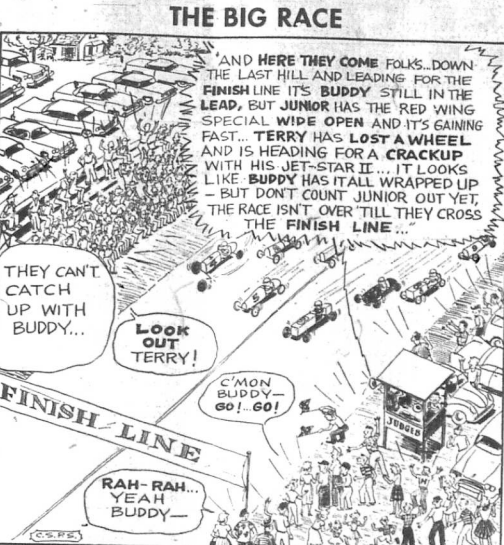

Obviously, implementation will be the governing factor in the effect of any legislation enacted in this field.

The Jay, which some voices which vociferously advocated the propriety of civil disobedience in Birmingham as loudly declared in the Bronx one can be forgiven for wondering where and how the new civil rights bill would be most stringently enforced if enacted.

And when the same voices which vociferously advocated the propriety of civil disobedience in Birmingham as loudly declared in the Bronx one can be forgiven for wondering where and how the new civil rights bill would be most stringently enforced if enacted.

Soldiers in peace are like chimneys in summer.

And after a man finds out that a young lady is no longer an angel, he tries to find out to what extent she isn't.

Claig Sprout . . . Rules Set Out For Utilizing Forest Area

And His Friend, TIMOTHY TUGMUTTON . . . Sez

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: I been cooped up in the house all week on account of catching me a little virus. I was riled up to call it the sniffles but nowadays a feller can't get no status and very little sympathy unless he's got a virus.

When I was a boy they called it the sniffles until you got down in the bed with it, then they called it a cold. Along about the start of World War I the doctors started calling it "La Grippe" but that was hard for the one-all boys to pronounce so they changed it to the flu. Then about the time I discovered the atom the doctors come out with this Virus or Virus-X business. They called it as fast as they could the sniffles and they called it the sniffles, so I figger they was hiding behind fancy names. I'm looking any time now for 'em to quit calling it the old-fashioned bellyache and start calling it somep else "viral" maladjustment.

And speaking of the medicine profession. I see by the papers every day doctors in England was all gone broke under the social medicine plan. I thought that was the aim, everybody go broke and the Government can't pay no high taxes.

Anyhow, on account of me having a virus, I ain't done nothing all week but set and look at television. About all I learned was they got around 339 spots or "detergens" that gets clothes whiter than the other.

I recollect back during the war when England made General Eisenhower and General MacArthur a Knight of the Bath. I was just thinking, seeing here listening to them commercials, they was misting the chart to make a fortune by not endorsing for television some brand of soap they used for the Bath.

Ed Doolittle come by and set with me fer a spell and bring me up to date on the local news the kind Mister Editor, you can't put in your paper, he was telling me about his daughter, the one that works in the U.S. and calls dinner "lunch." Well, she announced Saturday night she had broke up with her friend, and she wasn't going to marry no man that would ever tell her he loved her. Her Ma told her it was going to be mighty and having a old maid in the family. Ed allowed as how they was a smoothie, the head of the house should keep them in line. He figgered this was one of those things. Incidental, Ed said he was coming down with a virus himself next week on account of his old lady has cleaned up his time for Spring cleaning again. He says he was gits a virus fer that annual event. Ed is a mighty good fellow to check up on Mister Editor, when you got a virus.

Yours truly,
Clayton Sprout
and Timothy Tugmutton

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War In Kentucky

By Joe Jordan (Ky. Civil War Commission) One hundred years ago this week, a Union Army order gave new impetus to the freeing of slaves in Kentucky, although President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation stated that it applied only to states in rebellion. A newspaper in Lexington, the Observer and Reporter said: "Capt. George W. Berry of the Sixth District has received orders to accept as recruits all persons who may offer themselves, regardless of the wishes of their owners.

"Any person interfering with the drafting or enlistment of Negroes will be promptly arrested. The provost marshal also has been instructed to accept Negroes as substitutes for white men." This was a real order to the rule that a man drafted for Union Army duty could employ someone to go in his place and would be immune to the draft as long as his substitute continued to serve.

The number of slaves in Kentucky was strikingly small, and all signs seemed to indicate that the shrinkings would be accentuated for every day the war. Kentucky was strikingly small, and all signs seemed to indicate that the shrinkings would be accentuated for every day the war. Kentucky was strikingly small, and all signs seemed to indicate that the shrinkings would be accentuated for every day the war.

THE PUBLISHER'S PEN Tuesday Is Election Day; Frog Giggers Must Have License

A certain indication of getting real is when you gather news, use the news, and then crones and rebash the past. . . it's also an axiom that this is a sign of community interest and concern, or fellow man.

Anyway, C. B. Daugherty, J. M. Clayton, and this country scribble who often puts in great things that some people don't like to read, spent a pleasant hour over coffee the other day with four recollections of the 20's when we migrated to this community.

It was agreed that none of us made a mistake choosing Morehead. An also unanimous appraisal was that Morehead has shown more progress in the past 30 to 35 years than perhaps any community in Kentucky, and the future is even brighter than the preceding three decades with a projected 7,000 Morehead State College enrollment in 1970. The city has an interstate highway and strong evidence of community leadership from this younger generation consisting of details in the highest percentage of college graduates of perhaps any town out anywhere.

Conversation came around to the tobacco market and the cigarette cancer propaganda. It was agreed that more doctors, including cancer specialists, are confirmed cigarette addicts and they do not practice. . . . We are practicing . . . also that if those predicted warning labels are placed on every pack of paper, some same old same old with whiskey and all alcoholic beverages—perhaps butter, and that he has high cholesterol content and could result in a heart attack.

Our conversation comrades, who were as young as the day we tripped into Morehead, but a dem slight smarter, recalled that "back in the old days" the leading cigarette were Sweet Caporal, Home Run, Old Mill and Piedmont. Brown Mule and were the most popular chewing tobacco, and every store had a tobacco knife to cut a nickel or dime's worth off the full 20¢ plug.

"But, you'll own our brands were more popular for smokers, and much less expensive. . . . Durham and Duke's mixture were the popular ones. . . . The only coffee was Arbuckle, and houses were carefully clipped coupons on each pound package for valuable items. . . . The present trading stamps, although trading stamps actually went back to Benjamin Franklin in his business enterprises in Philadelphia.

Almost everything came in including vinegar, lard, crackers, kerosene, sugar, pickles and even peanut butter. . . . It wasn't too many years ago when companies started selling Hiram Daley, the venerable, long-lived, outspoken and temperate lighting fixture. . . . The Flemingsburg newspaper conducted a losing four year "cola" campaign against the Coca Cola with claims that it would destroy the liver, hasten impotency, etc.

Of course, this honor would have fallen to Sam Allen a few years back. Bishop Drug, The Peoples Bank and others, can lay claim to the oldest Morehead Businesses in continuous operation, but they have changed locations one, or more, times.

After prodding the above we feel other than our birth certificate show, so hasten to the pleasant town of Morehead, present and obviously bright future.

DEDICATION — Ground breaking for Cave Run Reservoir will be about the middle of the month although the project should officially get underway before then. It would probably be inadvisable for the ceremony to come to Morehead. . . . It is certain to be a heated, interesting, and hard-fought Presidential campaign. . . . Democratic Congressman Carl D. Perkins led the fight for this project that will cost upwards of $25 million, if the bond issue and strong support in the Senate from Republicans John Sherman Cooper and Thurston Morton.

COMMENCEMENT — Commencement week starts Sunday at Morehead State College with bacalaureate services. . . . We suggest you attend as many of the exercises as possible. . . . Commencement exercises will be in the gymnasium, and impressive cap and gown procession will be held.

THE TEST — It is probable that the 'milk in the cocoanut' reality about Morehead's fiscal situation and whether the city should install its own plant, laying lines to Licking River, may be held when a report comes from the fiscal agent. . . . Naturally, everybody would like to have 'our own' plant and source of supply with insurance for future growth — that is like being for motherhood and apple pie. . . . Most of us would like a new Civic Center or Centennial and a fine home. . . . Our recollection is correct, the fiscal agent and bond purchasers required that the sewage tax be raised from 20 percent to 35 percent to finance the city's cost for the sewage treatment plant, which bore a government subsidy. The city's first year's cost for the sewage treatment plant, which bore a government subsidy. The city's first year's cost for the sewage treatment plant, which bore a government subsidy.

TOO — Carter County friends say a wildlife survey shows the Grayson Reservoir at the Carter-Elliott counties line is in jeopardy because the only trout in Kentucky because of the coolness and content of the water is the trout. . . . Well, if they own trout there's no reason that this game fish would thrive in Cave Run Reservoir. . . . The issue we've noticed the Eagles of MSC would win the OVC baseball playoffs against Murray and Hill Rise University. . . . The athletic department of MSC is comparing this Publisher to Joe P-I-I-I-I of the I-I-I-I-I.

COMING — We reluctantly confess, in view of the record, that we are not sure our forecasts have gone amiss. . . . Which, can't be disputed because it is the printed word. . . . An amazingly high percentage of our forecasts are correct. . . . We give you our best predictions — a group of Morehead businessmen will purchase, and operate, a new business building that recently had a fire. . . . and a representative of a leading apartment store has been in Morehead looking for a location to be in the county seat of Rowan.

SPEAKING OF local business, Morehead has more vacant store rooms than anytime in our memory. The reason isn't that total retail sales are down but rather we recently experienced a boom in construction, and new, or under-financed, undertakings have had a tough go of making ends meet.

OBSERVED — Congratulations continue to pour in from the medical profession, and laymen, for the fine manner in which St. Claire Medical Center handled the school bus accident. . . . Incidentally, a week or so ago, a school bus was later another accident, a week or so ago, a school bus was later another accident, a week or so ago, a school bus was later another accident.

SHIP SUBSIDY POOL
Senator William Proxmire (D., Wis.) said that it is a shocking fact that the American taxpayer is now actively subsidizing competitive foreign shipping. Evidence presented at the Joint Economic Committee hearings indicates that United States steamship lines, while receiving Federal subsidies, are also in profit-making arrangements with foreign lines.

Taxes On Tobacco Not Deductible
State excise taxes on cigarettes no longer may be deducted on federal income tax returns. The last change went with the 1963 return.
The 1964 tax revision bill signed by President Johnson eliminated the deduction of state and local taxes on cigarettes and other tobacco products.
Deduction was allowed in at least 29 states where the language of the state excise law places the tax directly on the consumer rather than the distributor. Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Missouri were among the 29 states where the deduction was possible.
Kentucky's law to permit the deduction was enacted about two years ago, and its benefit was abridged.
The deduction, like others, was possible only where itemized.
In Kentucky, a smoker who bought a dozen packs a week could deduct $15.60 from his earnings for the year's excise at 2 1/2 cents per pack, in Ohio, where the tax is five cents a pack, $31.20; Indiana, four cents a pack, $24.86; West Virginia, six cents a pack, $37.44; and Missouri, four cents a pack, $24.86.
The federal excise tax of eight cents a pack was never deductible on the tax return in any state.
Federal and state taxes combined average about half of the cost of a package of cigarettes. The deduction of state excises varied over the nation, from two to eight cents a pack by states, with the individual deduction depending on the number of packs purchased during the year.
In fiscal 1963, a total of $3,317,126,000 was collected in excise taxes on tobacco products, chiefly cigarettes, in the United States. Of the total, $2,079,237,000 went to the Federal government; $1,198,908,000 to state governments; and $40,981,000 to municipal governments which levy excise taxes on such products.

Dr. Oswald Speaks About Opportunities
Dr. John W. Oswald, President of the University of Kentucky, told over 3,000 Morehead State College students and faculty today that "the opportunities of the untrained today are diminishing."
Speaking at the annual honors day program in the Fieldhouse, Dr. Oswald added that there is an exploding need for the trained and educated and that the young people of today "must respond—and respond conscientiously to this effort."
He challenged the more than 200 students who received honor's and honors, but to examine what further abilities and capacities we can develop.
"But to get above the mediocre is not enough," he added. "Our world needs our best, not our second best."
Dr. Oswald was introduced by Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, who called the new University President a person "with a rich background of experience whom we look to for the form of inspiration needed at the University."

Principals In June Weddings Will Have Fight In One Year

Weavers of dreams and wedding guests wouldn't bet on it. Mental health experts and marriage counselors deprecate it happens.

Love and faith, oblivious to all the angelic linking of heavenly bands on their wedding day, will have a fierce fight on two days in the first year of marriage.

Suddenly one morning, that semblance of a bridegroom steps into a destroyer. Pulls them ahead, he growls a bear, you burbed the coffee this morning.

The little of his eye, mean little Joan turns into a gas, bad, snorting back - that you forgot to turn down the gas, as I told you.

"My mother was right," he blurts, "after a while the shrewy you surfaces."

It's the first spat of the marriage, but if just one of the scolding partners remembers to remain cool, the marriage can be saved.

Usually, the bride, being of a gentler and blessed with superior intuition, can save the day.

When he's picking a fight, for example, one almost guaranteed way of making the peace is to wave the ripped piece over, left hand in front of his peepers and say:

"They dear, remember. I'm on YOUR side."

That should make both of you laugh. If that doesn't work, however, try this one:

"A reporter, interviewing a couple on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary, asked the women - 'Did you ever think of divorce?'"

"Divorce, never," she replied. "Murder - yes."

In addition to throwing jokes into the peace machine when discord threatens to blacken the newlywed's eyes, there are perfectly acceptable serious techniques to use.

Some of these are cited in a book - "Master Your Tensions and Enjoy Living Again" (Premiere Hall) by Dr. George S. Stevenson and Harry Mill, of the National Association for Mental Health.

In a capsule, Mill and Stevenson caution against looking for heaven in marriage.

"Look and WORK for a good job as a happy married life," they suggest.

"In general, happiness in marriage - whether it has to do with sex or children or the home or anything, depends very much on tolerance and understanding, on a willingness to change and to adjust, on a readiness to meet each other more than half way and to work out compromises, on a recognition that there are going to be difficulties and problems and that you have to work at resolving them and keeping them to a minimum."

Together, it turns out, is one of the limitations of marriage. Mill and Stevenson note that one of the most tension producing factors in marriage is the mere state of being together day after day, month after month, year after year.

"No two people, no matter how sweet or deeply in love can be together almost continuously for all their lives without having tensions build up on occasion," they report.

The tension comes from the fact that married humans need to be alone sometime - just as single humans.

"When in your marriage you feel tensions building, the best bet is to talk to your mate about them and make some arrangement to get off alone either via separate vacations or a day off now and then.

Another source of tension: Clashes resulting from differences in temperament, tastes, interests, outlook and personal habits, according to the experts in mental health.

"You think you know the person you married, but no matter how observing you were, you only saw the surfaced portion of the iceberg. Time will reveal all of the other characteristics - including those not sympathetic with yours.

"Indeed in the unions are unconscious forces capable of producing irritations and tensions.

"Everyone," say Mill and Stevenson, "carries into marriage some unconscious insecurity which we seek to relieve through an excess demand for love, attention, admiration, and sympathy.

"If it is not that, then it is a need to be dependent and we try to satisfy this need by having our mate make decisions for us, fight our battles for us. This is bound to cause resentment and strain because there is a limit to the responsibility any person can handle."

Among the hidden personality factors a person brings to marriage also are resentments and grudges from childhood, resentments against a parent, brother or sister. You take out these buried and forgotten feelings on the innocent husband or wife.

When the marriage starts going sour, you can do more than just resign yourself to misery, according to the mental health seers.

Talk it over. Try to be reasonable about resolving conflicts. Try to settle the argument at a time.

If you can't keep discussions moving in the direction of a compromise, try a marriage counselor - experts relatively new in the scheme of things but proved of value in helping couples with many problems to find peace and happier lives.

First Lady Visits E. Kentucky Today

For the first time since 1938, a First Lady will visit Jackson, Ky. for a dedication ceremony.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson arrives today (Thursday) for a tour that includes stops at the homes of an unemployed Eastern Kentuckian, at a one-room schoolhouse, and at Breckinridge High School.

She will dedicate a new $320,000 gymnasium-classroom building on the same site where Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt dedicated the high school gym in 1938.

Mrs. Johnson arrives in Lexington at 8 a.m. and from there will drive to the Arthur Robertson farm about five miles outside Jackson.

At the farm, she will have an opportunity to see the same type condition her husband, the President, viewed when he visited Eastern Kentucky last month.

Robertson, the father of seven children, is unemployed. Officials said the family was selected for the visit because Robertson "has tried to do the very best he could. If he couldn't get work at $3 a day, he'd take work at $2 a day."

Later, at Lick Branch School, Mrs. Johnson will have lunch with 24 students and the teacher, Mrs. Bertha Watts. The menu will consist of such food commodities as canned pork, canned corn, green beans and canned peaches.

The school dedication will be directed by students, with Mrs. Johnson signing a scroll designed for the occasion by Jackie Fugate, a senior.

Among those turning out for the program will be Jasper Watts who, as a Breathitt high freshman, in 1940, received Mrs. Roosevelt.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Johnson will tour the University of Kentucky's wood use center at Quicksand then return by helicopter to Lexington.

She is scheduled to speak to the Quicksand chapter of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs.

Falmouth Dam Opposition Still High In Fleming

Opposition to Falmouth Dam apparently continues unabated in Fleming County.

Seventy-five persons at a meeting in the Fleming County Court House Friday evening voiced their opposition again to construction of the dam, saying that it would be detrimental to the interests of residents and landowners of the Fleming County area.

Presiding at the meeting was County Judge Robert Stokely.
 Mrs. J. Edwin Gramis, of Flemingsburg, one of the speakers, told the group that if the dam were to be built, only one road into Flemingsburg would not be under water, the road to Mt. Carmel.

Central Office To Handle Reservations For Parks

Tourists and vacationers will find it easy now to make reservations immediately at Kentucky's State parks.

A central reservation information office now open in the State Parks Department here will coordinate reservation information for all units, Parks Commissioner Robert D. Bell said.

"We still want tourists and vacationers to call direct to the park of their choice. This new office will serve more as a coordinator than a reservations center," Bell said.

"For instance," he added,
 "if a person finds the park of his choice filled, he can obtain similar accommodations at another park. This office also can help undecided people on the accommodations available elsewhere, and parks personnel will phone ahead for reservations."

Direct telephone lines will connect 12 vacation-type State parks to the central office. The parks are Kentucky Dam Village, Kentucky Lake, Rough River, Pennsylvania, General Butler, Carter Caves, Jenny Wiley, Natural Bridge, Pine Mountain, Cumberland Falls, Lake Cumberland, and Buckhorn Lake.

In addition, numbers in Louisville, Cincinnati, and Lexington will be available for use to call the Frankfort office direct as a local call, Bell said. News-

State's Payroll Up By 408 In April

The state's payroll increased last month over the previous month in both number of employees and salaries paid.

Personnel Commissioner Walter Gattis said today the April rolls of regular employees totaled 19,968 persons compared with 19,578 in March—a increase of 408.

The April payroll was $7, 922,000 compared with $7,655,
 000—a gain of $267,000.

Gattis said most of the increase in personnel came from additional employees in the Parks Department.

Kentucky's parks are beginning to reopen for the summer season.

He said that two central offices in the office will have charts on each park. These charts will have information on what lodging and recreation facilities are available, and what accommodations already are reserved.

The Frankfort office, Hempel said, will be available to callers from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

"We hope this new service will relieve some of the reservation problems—particularly in the peak season—we've had for several years," Hempel
 said.

"Many of the larger parks already are 80 to 90 percent booked for the season in all accommodations. Some of the smaller parks, which offer as much in beauty and similar accommodations, have more vacancies."

State Holding Off On Insurance Rates

State Insurance Commissioner J. Elliott Flanery has announced the insurance department will not consider any classification changes in automobile insurance until the Kentucky Court of Appeals hand-down a decision concerning the automobile liability rates which went into effect in January 1962.

The case was brought against the State Department of Insurance, Commissioner Flanery, and the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters by the Louisville Automobile Club and its secretary-manager, James M. Brown.

At a public hearing on the proposed rates, the Louisville Automobile Club was the principal protesting party.

The Insurance Information Institute, New York, recently announced that the Bureau would now seek new automobile insurance classifications in Kentucky, 38 other states, and the District of Columbia.

Eagles Lose Playoff; Murray Wins 4-0, 2-0

Murray State College pitchers George Dugan and Jerry Anderson yielded only four hits in two games in leading the Racers to a double shutout of Morehead Friday and the Ohio Valley Conference baseball title.

Dugan bested the Eagles 4-0 and Anderson followed with a 2-0 blanking in the twinning at Murray. Thus the defensive-minded Thoroughbreds picked up their third O.V.C.
 title in seven years under coach John Reagan.

Dugan Fires One-Hitter
 Dugan gave up only one hit in sparkling Murray to the first game triumph. His chance for a no-hitter was spoiled when Terry Weed lined a single in the seventh inning.

Dugan, who has won six games while losing only one this season, struck out nine and walked three.

Offensively, Murray was led by Ken MacIarla, who brought home two runs with his single in the first. Mike Ward belted a double for the Thorough-breeds.

In the second game, the Thoroughbreds picked up two runs in the first inning and made them stand up for it when MacIarla's sacrifice fly brought home one run and Mickey Martig's single drove in the other.

Anderson allowed only three hits—a pair of singles and a double by Dennis Doyle.

Loaing pitcher Charles Adkins gave up only four hits.

Murray and Morehead were co-champions in the O.V.C.
 last year. Each team won one game in the best-of-three game playoffs, but the title was decided because the deciding game was cancelled.

State Police Here Observe 'Officers Memorial Day'

State Police at the Morehead barracks Friday observed "Peace Officers Memorial Day" in honor of the five members of the organization who have lost their lives in the line of duty since the force was founded in 1948.

On one side of the lawn at the Morehead post was a moonshine still set up for the occasion, while a 1964 model police cruiser with all of its allied equipment occupied the other side.

A number of visitors to the barracks were given an explanation of the still's operation, and also inspected the new cruiser. Inside the building, a display of all the weapons used by state police personnel was laid out, along with a collection of ammunition used by each of the weapons.

A permanent display of pictures of the five officers who have been killed in the line of duty is planned for each state

Name Chairman For Farm-City Week Luncheon

William Padon, Louisville, director of public relations of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, has been appointed chairman of the Kentucky Farm-City Week kickoff luncheon committee by State Conservation Commissioner J. O. Mallick, Farm-City Week chairman.

The luncheon will be held at the State Fairgrounds and Exposition Center, Louisville, during the State Fair, September 11-19. A definite date and a nationally known speaker for the luncheon will be announced later. This luncheon usually attracts about 500 persons, Padon said.

The 1964 Farm-City Week will be held November 29-36.

Could pay someone to stand his watch for him and make his patrol of the community. From this, he said, evolved the modern police who are, in effect, "standing watches" for the community.

Lovern emphasized that does not relieve the people of their duty to assist in enforcement of the law. The legal aspect which was changed in the actual physical participation in safeguarding the community.

The other responsibilities of reporting a crime when it is observed, of acting as a witness, of giving assistance to police in trouble, of testifying in court and serving on juries still rest on the shoulders of the individual citizen," Lovern said.

A police department can be only as good as the public it serves, he added, and without support a law enforcement agency is virtually powerless to enforce the law.

State Police chaplains held memorial services at 11 a.m. today for the late Edward C. Coleman, Frankfort, and David H. Zaunmeyer, Mt. Sterling.

Corridor Becomes Cooperative Home

BARE AND DEPRESSING just a few weeks ago, the corridor is now the nucleus of Frankfort State Hospital and School's first rehabilitation unit for girls and women. Here 15 residents will learn to care for themselves and their belongings and to live cooperatively, in preparation for life outside the institution.

Six bedrooms, shower and bath, and storage room adjoin the sitting room of Elks. The school's industrial therapy students contributed hand-braided rugs and curtains. One of the residents has a full-time and the others have industrial therapy assignments on the grounds and are looking for temporary work placements in the community.

Johnson Administration On Spot As Farm Prices Decline

The Johnson administration is in for further embarrassing declines in farm prices this presidential election year. Democratic party campaigners may have a difficult time trying to get across to voters, particularly those in rural areas, that the economic situation in agriculture is not as bad as the price picture might indicate.

President Johnson told a group of farm editors last Tuesday that 1964 will be a good year for farmers. He said he based this prediction on passage of the wheat-cotton bill and on an expected improvement in beef prices.

Farm prices have gradually moved downward since the Kennedy-Johnson administration took over in 1961. The Agriculture Department report for April showed that the price level had dipped to 75 percent of the parity price goal of federal farm programs. This goal, set up in 1933, has become a choice prize of the Democrats.

Not until August 1959, had prices fallen this low on the parity standard. They were down 2 percent from a year ago. Prices will be pulled lower as the summer moves along—unless there are unforeseen developments. Factors which will help pull them down include changes in Agriculture Department price supports for wheat and cotton. Beginning July 1, the support rate for wheat will drop to a national average of $1.50 a bushel from the 1963 crop level of $1.82. Market prices are expected to drop accordingly.

The cotton price support also will decline Aug 1 from 90 cents a pound for the 1963 crop to 80 cents for the 1964 crop. Market prices are expected to adjust to the lower level.

The general farm price level also is expected to set the in decline of lower prices for soybeans. While the support rate remains unchanged, prices for this year's crop are not expected to average as much above the support level as has been the case for the 1963 crop.

The administration's big headache at the moment is low cattle prices. A 14-month drop has pulled these prices to levels where few cattlemen are able to avoid losses. Prospects for any

Farmers Building Diversion Ditches

By Donald B. Nelson
Bryant Kissick of Farmers and Taylor Pence have constructed diversions between their cropland and ponds. Kissick has constructed a diversion to catch the water from his meadow and divert it into his garden and tobacco land. Both of these diversions were needed very much to prevent the land from erosion and to keep the excess water from reducing the yields on their cropland. Also they can start working their ground earlier in the spring.

Other advantages and uses of diversions are to divert water from gullied land that you are trying to stabilize, divert water from or into ponds or reservoirs, divert water away from buildings or farmsteads, protect lower lying installations such as striping ponds and terraces and reduce the length of slope of your rolling land to prevent erosion.

Both of these cooperators received cash-sharing up to 50 percent for carrying out these conservation practices by requesting it through the ACP

MSC Students To Visit And Study In South America

Morehead State College is offering a summer session in South America as part of its academic schedule this year. Under the guidance of the Honorable German Zee, Ambassador from Colombia to the United States, the Minister of Education in Colombia is establishing an academic schedule in this country's universities which will provide seven hours of academic credit in the study of social, economic, political and geographic aspects of South American culture.

Morehead students will study at the University of the Atlantic in Barranquilla, Javeriana University in Bogota, and the University of Antioquia in Medellin. The studies will be completed with four to seven areas of interest.

The session will last seven plus the sample machine handouts, printed elsewhere in this issue, may come as a surprise. We were talking yesterday with five businessmen and one one Tuesday. Regardless, it is your duty as a good citizen to vote in this Congressional primary.

... your Congressman is your best and best liaison with the government... he casts probably more important votes, directly affecting you, and our elective office. Be a progressive American - be a progressive citizen of democracy - go to the polls tomorrow.

The ballot contains both Democratic and Republican races.

Beaches At Parks To Open May 30.

Beaches at all Kentucky State parks will open Memorial Day, May 30. Among these will be the new facility at Lake Malone State Park near Greenville, and Boonesborough, newest unit among the 34 State parks and shrines, according to Parks Commissioner Robert D. Bell.

Lodging accommodations at all but three State parks are now open for the season. Yet to open are the lodges at Cherokee, near Hardin; Natural Bridge, near Slade; and Buckhorn Lake, near Hazard.

Cherokee's opening is set for May 30. The new lodge at Natural Bridge tentatively is scheduled to open the second week in June and the new lodge at Lake Barkham the last week in June, Bell said.

Supervised recreation programs, extended this year to all vacation-type parks and to Levi Jackson, will begin June 10 and continue through Labor Day.

Contributions are being accepted in the Alumni Association office in the new Administration Building at MSC.

AND COMPLAINING Electronic "brains" are continually taking on more human characteristics and doubtless they will soon be lying.

Statewide goal for the Morgan County project is $20,000. The Morgan County Board of Education is expected to provide a lot for the building.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy will be invited to dedicate the library sometime in 1965. The new structure will replace a library now housed in a Quonset hut.

Kennedy had planned to visit Eastern Kentucky, and Morgan County, on a depressed area tour, on Dec. 6, 1963. Shop The Classified Ads

VACATION IN KENTUCKY 1964

KENTUCKY'S PARKS—State and National—and numerous lakes are geared to accommodate every conceivable taste in vacations. Whether you're going camping or want a resort, you'll find it in Kentucky's top-ranked State Parks. Thirteen of the 34 are resort parks offering complete vacations for the entire family. You'll find interesting history in museums and shrines. Before you go out-of-state, travel Kentucky in all its wonderful vacation areas. There are exciting things to do and see in Kentucky.

KENTUCKY ASSETS

Accommodations, Southern Cooking

With fare from old ham and red-eye gravy to filet mignon, Kentucky eating establishments watch their reputation for mouth-watering good food because owners are keenly aware that the vacationer travels on his stomach. Increasing attention to good food at Kentucky's vacation resorts results in growing national acclaim for Kentucky and Southern cooking at its best.

In response to tourists' preferences, many restaurants throughout the state concentrate on menus which reflect Kentucky's eating traditions and regional foods.

From the Mississippi River east to the Appalachian highlands, travelers can find good food in home-owned and privately-operated restaurants, State Parks and in nationally-known chain restaurants.

MRS. KENTUCKY, Betty Paek Cox, Richmond, is one of thousands of Kentucky citizens who help promote Kentucky's travel attractions. The shopping bag she displays here was borrowed from the supply used by the Kentucky Department of Public Information at travel shows this spring in other states.

From All Over Nation Tourists Explore Kentucky

Kentucky is host to millions of out-of-state tourists each year in its State and National parks and at such outstanding attractions as the Kentucky Derby.

The Travel Division of the Kentucky Department of Public Information is currently receiving from 3,000 to 5,000 letters a day from people in other states asking about Kentucky's attractions. Local tourist promotion groups also receive thousands of inquiries.

Kentucky is being promoted by colorful movies, advertisements in newspapers and magazines, travel show exhibits, systematic release of feature stories to all media and a score of other methods.

Promotion by the State and local organizations is a quick-return investment to attract tourist dollars to Kentucky's public and private attractions.

Kentucky's tourists come from every state in the nation and many foreign countries, with two-thirds of the total from Illinois, Tennessee, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, Texas, Virginia and Florida.

NEW ROADS MAKE TRAVEL EASIER, SAFER

The new Western Kentucky Parkway stretches from Elizabethton to Princeton and the Mountain Parkway from Winchester to Salyersville. These and other new and improved highways have set national road-building records for Kentucky.

Parks Head Is Lexington Man

Robert D. Bell, of Lexington, is commissioner of Kentucky's State Department of Parks.

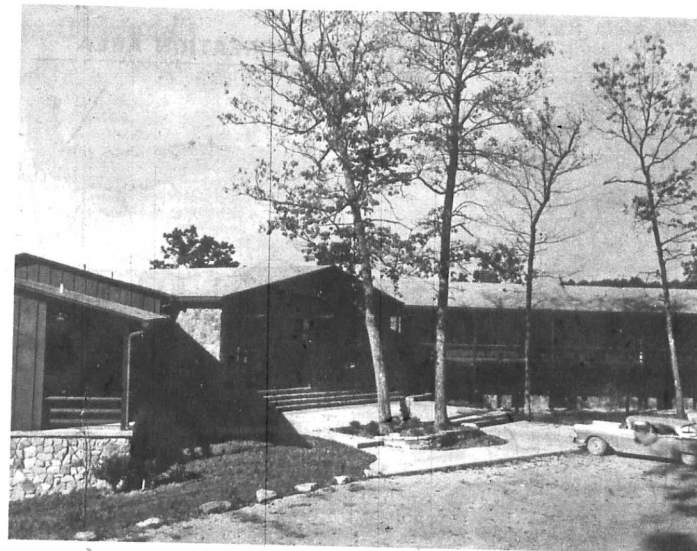

The 34 parks, rated best in the nation, are a prime factor in Kentucky's growing tourist industry. Bell's task is to make the parks even better magnets for tourist dollars.

Diamonds In Your Own Backyard

If you are planning a vacation, don't overlook the diamonds in your own backyard.

Kentucky has outstanding vacation attractions and most Kentucky communities have one or more good tourist lures.

Well-developed tourist attractions are the backbone of a major Kentucky industry. Out-of-state visitors spent $220 million in this state in 1963.

This state now has among its 34 State parks and shrines 13 vacation resort parks recognized as the finest resort park system in the nation. Among other major attractions are three National parks — Cumberland Gap at Middlesboro; Lincoln Historical Birthplace Site near Hodgenville, and Mammoth Cave; Breaks Interstate Park, near Fikeville; Cumberland National Forest, and seven State forests; 11 giant lakes and recreation areas including 170,000-acre Land Between the Lakes National Recreation area being developed between Kentucky Lake and Barkley Lake.

Besides these public facilities there are scores of attractive, interesting, privately-owned attractions and vacation accommodations in Kentucky.

Consider Kentucky First

In recognition of the importance of the tourist industry to all Kentuckians, this eight-page "Vacation in Kentucky" supplement is presented as a special feature by the Morehead News as a public service in cooperation with the Kentucky Department of Public Information.

Kentucky has over 300 tourist attractions and this special section is designed to acquaint Kentuckians with the possibilities in selecting a place for a vacation.

If you plan a vacation this year and have not seen the scores of interesting attractions Kentucky offers, explore Kentucky first!

FROM ALL OVER THE NATION came the 16,765 campers at Carter Caves State Park last year. The average number of campers in each party totals five and their average stay is two days. Last year 3,865 camping permits were issued at Carter Caves.

SEE KENTUCKY FIRST

WESTERN KENTUCKY

THREE COMPLETE vacation resort parks (Kentucky Dam Village, Kentucky Lake and Pennyville State Parks), a giant new national recreation area, numerous other attractions and scores of private boat docks, restaurants, motels and barbecue pits make Western Kentucky, a mecca for mid-America's vacation-bound. Fish-rich Kentucky Lake with 2,350 miles of shoreline yields ground-dragging strings of fish. Crappie and bass, in particular, are abundant. Besides boating, camping, fishing, picnicking, swimming in pool or by the beach, there's golf, tennis, water skiing, horseback riding, shuffleboard at the big State park in this area. Travelers reach this vacationland by plane, boat, bus or auto. There are two airports and good, new roads into the region.

$35 Million Project Under Development

COMPLETION of Barkley Lake in 1965 will give Kentucky three of the ten largest man-made lakes in the world. A 38-mile-long peninsula of 170,000 acres between Barkley and Kentucky Lakes is being developed as a National Recreation Area by the Tennessee Valley Authority. T.V.A. officials plan to develop as many different types of outdoor recreation on the peninsula as possible, including 6,000 individual camp sites. The $35-million project is expected to draw millions of visitors per year by 1966, when most of the facilities will be completed. Barkley and Kentucky Lakes combined will have over 3,200 miles of shoreline.

LAND BETWEEN THE LAKES NATIONAL RECREATION AREA

VARIETY IN WESTERN KENTUCKY

NINE OF KENTUCKY'S 34 State parks and shrines are in Western Kentucky, offering a variety package to vacationers. In 1963, Kentucky Dam Village attracted the largest single-park visitation, 2,215,605 persons; famous Kentucky Lake State Park drew 881,605 persons; and Pennyville Forest State Park at Dawson Springs — the favorite of many Kentuckians — drew 365,949 visitors. "Stars in My Crown," a drama about Western Kentucky, is presented in the Kentucky Lake Park amphitheatre.

OVER 1400 ACRES of beautiful woodland and grounds at Kentucky Lake State Park provide carefree days for the year-round fishermen. In the park visitors enjoy golf, tennis, swimming in pool and lake, sunbathing, boating, horseback riding, picnicking, hiking, shuffleboard and planned recreation. Kenlake Hotel has 60 attractive guest rooms. Completely equipped vacation cottages are located in wooded areas. There are excellent privately owned motel accommodations nearby.

KENTUCKY DAM VILLAGE State Park is a complete holiday resort that pleases the entire family. The 56-room Village Inn and cottage accommodations are modern and first class, the food excellent. The park has a big sandy beach, unexcelled boating, horseback riding, and one of the world's best year-round fishing. Kentucky Lake, impounded by Kentucky Dam, the world's biggest man-made lake.

Drama Under The Stars

OUTDOOR DRAMA is a summer treat for vacationers in Kentucky. There are outdoor plays at four State Parks, and again this summer Pioneer Playhouse, Danville, offers 10 new plays on a Wednesday-to-Monday schedule from June 25 to September 7. Shakespeare in Central Park is offered free by the City of Louisville Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings from July 12 to August 22.

Wednesday-to-Monday schedule from June 25 to September 7. Shakespeare in Central Park is offered free by the City of Louisville Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings from July 12 to August 22.

"The Stephen Foster Story," at Bardstow (June 20 - September 6) plays every night except Monday. The rollicking, toe-tapping show sparkles with 50 Foster songs.

"Home is the Hunter," at Harrodsburg, is a rip-roaring thriller about pioneer life. With colorful dances, it plays every night from June 27 to September 6.

"Stars in My Crown," at Kentucky Lake State Park, Hardin, is a rousing, colorful pageant of life in Western Kentucky. Each night except Mondays, June 19-August 30.

"The Book of Job," at Pine Mountain State Park, Pineville, plays nightly except Sunday; June 25-August 29. Based on Book of Job from the Bible, it is exceptional.

Three National Parks In Kentucky

ABRAHAM LINCOLN National Historical Birthplace Site, near Hodgenville, contains the birthplace cabin of America's beloved Emancipator. Favorites here include the museum and the ancient boundary oak, a landmark at the time of Lincoln's death.

THE PINNACLE OVERLOOK in Cumberland Gap National Historical Park, near Middlesboro, surveys mountain grandeur. Discovery of this pass through the Allegheny Mountains, resulted in the start of the conquest of the American West.
