

Traffic Was Heavy Accidents Light Over The Weekend

There were fewer automobile accidents in this area over the Memorial Day weekend than during a similar non-holiday period, reports from the Morehead post of the Kentucky State Police indicate.

Actually, only one automobile mishap was investigated by troopers in Rowan County during the weekend, and only two drew their attention during the entire last week.

This record was compiled even though the accident described as "pretty heavy" by a spokesman at the local post. There were no fatalities in the 12-county district served by the local post, and district-wide the accident rate was surprisingly low.

The only Rowan County mishap of the weekend took place Sunday at 10:50 a. m. on Kentucky 37 near Corbin. Trooper Carl B. Slaus said a driver by Robert Vinson of Hall of Wayne, Mich. was struck to a skid when the driver cut sharply to miss a parked car which he apparently thought was going to pull onto the highway in front of him. The car skidded to the left side of the road, striking an embankment, and rolled back into the road, turned a half circle and slid back off the highway on their side.

Damage to the 1963 model auto was confined to the right fender. In the only other accident investigated since last Tuesday, a car driven by Mary Lloyd Dawson, 21 of Morehead, was struck from the rear by a vehicle operated by Charley Gully of Morehead. The Dawson woman had stopped at the intersection of Kentucky 37 and West 1st street, waiting for oncoming traffic to clear before making a left turn.

Trooper Marvin Jennings said the Gully car approached from the rear, skidding 67 feet and striking the Dawson vehicle.

Sue Irvin, Junior At MSC Is Named IFYE To Norway

Sue Irvin, 20, Nicholas County, has been selected as a 1964 International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) delegate from Kentucky. The announcement from Boyd Wheeler, UK Extension 4-H field agent who is Kentucky's IFYE program leader.

The 20-year-old junior at Morehead State College will leave June 15 to spend six months living with rural families in Norway. Sue's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Irvin, Morehead, and her home is a 150-acre Nicholas County farm. She has two sisters and one brother.

As an IFYE, Sue will be learning how the Norwegian people actually live by taking part in the everyday life of her hosts as a family member. A "grass-roots ambassador," she also will be telling her host families about life in the United States. Wheeler points out. When she returns to Kentucky, she may give many talks about life in Norway and about her experiences while living with Norwegian families.

Masonic Lodge Plans Degree Ceremony

The Master Mason Degree will be conferred by Morehead Lodge No. 654, P.M.A.S. Saturday in ceremonies which will begin at 5 p.m.

Jaycee Aid Sought In State Plan

A program to enlist the total membership of the Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce in helping delinquent boys "be re-established in their communities" has been launched by the Kentucky Jaycees with the cooperation of the State Department of Child Welfare.

The project, to be called "Junior Citizens," will be to set up community organizations by the 400 existing Jaycee chapters to give personal attention to boys returning home from the institutions under probation according to Jack Crump, Owensboro, state Jaycee president.

The boys would be helped in their physical needs, in returning to school if they are dropouts, or setting up if they are eligible by age. The boys would be led into meetings, social gatherings and sport participation, and given a word of re-orienting community life, if necessary with a sponsor by some trusty "bank" member.

State Child Welfare Commissioner Richard J. Caudill told the Jaycee leaders that the movement was a dramatic and promising development in serving children in trouble, and their families as well.

Both before and after he became a ward of the court or a troubled child, Caudill said, "the troubled child has an experience of being led, and rejected. He comes to feel that no one cares, frequently not even those in his own home. He has been isolated from the life of his school, the church, the community in general."

Morehead, Sue is a member of Owens and Cap and Gown (honor societies), the college court, and the concert and marching bands. Sue is treasurer of Sigma Alpha Iota music organization. She also was valedictorian of her Nicholas County High School graduating class in 1961. The purpose of the IFYE program is to promote understanding on a "grassroots" level among the people of the world. Wheeler notes. Financed mainly by voluntary contributions, the two-way exchange is conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation on behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service. This summer, Kentucky families will be host to three IFYEs from other lands— young people from Norway, Finland and Ecuador.

METHODISTS MEET — These key figures in the Kentucky Annual Conference of the Methodist Church got together briefly on the Morehead State College campus Wednesday.

ville district superintendent, Bishop Walter C. Gum, who heads the conference, Dr. Russell R. Patton, Ashland district superintendent, and host pastor, Rev. Thomas Ditto, of Morehead's Methodist Church.

Results Not Available Yet On Demo Fund-Raising Gala

The organizer of a United Democratic Fund-Raising Jamboree held more than a month ago said this week he still has no details on the proceeds of their distribution.

"We've never come to any sort of formula," said C. P. Thurman, a supporter of former Gov. A. B. Chandler. He said he has been unable to get together lately with Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, who defeated Chandler in the Democratic primary a year ago and led his full weight in the fund-raising drive.

The jamboree, held Apr. 28 at Freedom Hall in Louisville, had under Secretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was hailed by Democrats as a unifying move to pay the campaign debts of Chandler and Breathitt backers, and possibly to finance the party's congressional nominees in November.

The event was a notable success in attendance—perhaps 2,000 showed up. But Democratic leaders had estimated that 8,000 of 20,000 tickets mailed to various people had been sold—at $25 per ticket—which would be a substantial return.

"It won't turn out to be that much," Thurman acknowledged Saturday. "Our estimate was based on a projection from early returns."

He said an educated guess is that 6,000 tickets may have been sold, which possibly netted a gross of $150,000. Expenses for renting space at the Fairgrounds, paying for the hot dog concession and printing the gross proceeds would reduce the net.

Social Security Card Required Of Students

"Every student who is getting a summer job or graduating from school this year should get his Social Security card now," Thomas B. Thompson, Social Security district manager in Ashland said this week.

Many employers will not hire a student unless he already has a Social Security card. Students who do get jobs should show the card to the employer so that the name and number can be copied correctly. This is important because Social Security tax money must be credited to the correct record, Thompson said.

Duplicate cards will be issued to students who have had cards but have lost them. Cards may be obtained at the Social Security office, 2616 Carter Avenue, Ashland. Students living in a town without a Social Security office can get application blanks at the local post office.

The Social Security office at Ashland is open Monday through Friday from 8:45 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sarah Craig Is Claimed By Death

Mrs. Sarah Craig, a native of Elliott County, died last Wednesday at the home of a grandson, Johnny McVey, of Morehead. She was 91.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Mertie Jenkins Fairborn, O. and Mrs. Verdie McVey, Dunkirk, Ind. Funeral services were held at Concord Church at Despard with Rev. Charles VanSant officiating.

Burial was in Jenkins Cemetery under the direction of Lewis and Ferguson Funeral Home of Sandy Hook.

Farm Potential To Be Studied For Governor

A study of the production potential of Kentucky commercial farming will be used in the State's effort toward an annual billion dollar farm economy.

The study, requested by Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, has been started by the University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Dr. William A. Seay, dean of the college, said he hoped to have a report within a month outlining growth and development patterns in Kentucky's farm income.

Reservoir Level Dropped Sharply Last Week To One-Foot Level

Morehead's water situation — subject of much discussion and considerable controversy in recent months — developed in three directions this week when:

1. The State Department of Health dropped the water treatment plant classification from "excellent" to "provisional" because the plant is operating near its maximum daily capacity.

2. The Morehead State College Board of Regents was reported by a highly-placed college source to have abandoned all plans for expansion of water service.

3. The level of the treated-water reservoir being used by the college and the city dropped to one foot, possibly portending a serious shortage when really hot weather arrives on the local scene.

May 12 inspection of the local plant, owned and operated by Morehead State College, resulted in the lower rating for the water facility. Breathitt, sanitary engineer for the Department of Health designated "satisfactory" ratings to all other phases of the plant including operation and maintenance, mechanical equipment and chemical feeders, and an actual test of treated water, Estill Greene, Rowan County Health Department sanitarian said.

Capacity Is 720,000 Gallons. Maximum daily capacity of the plant is 720,000 gallons, Greene said, adding that the unit operated last year practically at capacity.

Engineers recommend that water plants operate no more than 20-25 hours a day. The remaining time is necessary, they aver, for "housekeeping duties, repairs and similar work."

Assignment of the "provisional" rating to the plant because of the amount of time it is being operated points up the central fact which has emerged from recent discussions between city and college officials — that the plant may shortly be unable to provide sufficient treated water for both the city and college needs unless it is expanded.

However, the city has declined to participate in a program of underwriting part of the college plant's expansion through an increase in the rate the city pays for water, and has moved, instead, toward construction of a municipally owned water treatment plant and transmission line.

Regents Abandon Plan. And as a result of the city's move, a highly placed source at the college said this week that the school's Board of Regents has abandoned all plans for expansion of water service.

Engineers for the college have estimated that the present plant will be adequate for college use for 10-12 years, if the school disciplines serving the city.

Warm Days May Bring Trouble

However, a long string of exceptionally warm days when school is in session could cause consumption to exceed the water plant's 720,000 gallons a day capacity.

Figures back Rice's earlier estimate that the crisis point could be reached this summer. They show 1964 consumption running a minimum of 1,500,000 gallons a month ahead of the same period for 1963.

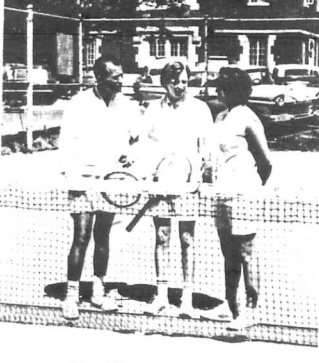

The comparative figures:

Table with 3 columns: Month, 1963, 1964. Rows: JANUARY (17,207,600 vs 18,672,100), FEBRUARY (16,554,000 vs 20,149,000), MARCH (17,823,000 vs 18,672,100), APRIL (16,905,400 vs 22,800,000).

Grand Jury Seeks Additional Parking

A recommendation that additional parking space be provided at the Rowan County courthouse, using part of the vacant lot on the east side, highlighted the report of the May grand jury, presented last Wednesday.

The panel, headed by businessman Roy Corlette, also returned 26 indictments during the two days it was in session; inspected the county buildings and found them in "acceptable condition."

Bids Are Asked On Surfacing At Airport

The Morehead-Rowan County Airport Board this week asked for bids on the surfacing of some 2,600 feet of runway at the Farmers Airport.

Specifications call for the blacktop to be 7 1/2 inches in width. Completion will be required within 45 days after the start of work, which is expected to begin 10 days after issuance of a work order by the board.

Elliott Farmers In Feeder Pig Profits

It's probably not unique, but it's not even unusual, that a small group of Elliott county farmers has something going for it that Elliott county farmers can't afford to lose.

This is a feeder pig project, embodying the axiom: "In union there is strength."

According to county agent Logan Lunderback, nine Elliott county farmers with Darrell Fink as chairman, have organized into the Elliott County Feeder Pig Association. Through this contracting agency, the men buy all their feed as a unit and sell their pigs likewise.

By purchasing and selling in quantity, they get lowest prices for feed and highest prices for their pigs.

Pete Horton said: "By sticking together, we are protected at both ends."

To indicate how well these producers are protected, they are under present arrangements, guaranteed 15 cents per pound for 50-pound pigs not matured what the market is elsewhere.

The general feeder pig market is higher, they will get more, of course. If it is less, they are still guaranteed their 15 cents.

This organization was formed a little more than a year ago with six producers who own 174 pigs. The first year these men produced 2,619 pigs. These sold for $39,150. Now, with nine producers and approximately 300 sows, Lunderback says the estimated income for feeder pigs in the county this year was around $80,000.

The success of this feeder pig association, which uses cooperative feed buying and pig marketing, has resulted in some elaborate pig-producing establishments.

Pete Horton, for instance, has just completed a $10,000 farrowing house and pig nursery believe the most modern in the eastern United States. It has built-in heating pads, self feeders and other recommended fixtures. This building area accommodates 16 sows at a time. Horton expects to keep the building filled to capacity all year.

There are several other houses of similar design in Elliott county, in which a lot of capital has been invested. Consequently, as Horton comments, "we are in a position where we can't afford to lose."

With that being the cold fact of life, it's unlikely there will be any loss. It also could mean something else, that Elliott county could become the leading feeder pig producing county in eastern Kentucky.

Heretofore, Elliott's agricultural economy has largely depended on tobacco. Statewide in 1962, it was 11th in yield per acre and 2nd in quality. Now with the future of tobacco somewhat uncertain, there is a greater interest in feeder pig production.

Some Game... TV and film starlet Chris Noel is said to have created great interest in golf by appearing as queen of the recent Tournament of Champions golf classic.

Control Methods For Insect Pests Given By U.K.

Three insect pests are attacking tobacco plant beds now, says R. Miller, University of Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service entomologist. They are flea beetles, cutworms and grubworms.

These are control methods recommended for the three:

Flea Beetles: Use DDT 50 percent strength wettable powder or spray, or a 10 percent strength DDT dust. Treat immediately, if many beetles are in plant beds, and again in 14 days if flea beetles are still present. One day before transplanting to field, make another (third) application. Serwin dust or wettable powder may be used on plants not yet in the third or fourth stage. Thorough coverage of plants is essential; plant bed covers should be raised in spraying operations to obtain the best control.

Cutworms: When plants are observed cut off near the ground, dust beds with the 10 percent DDT dust, or mix a spray of the 50 percent strength DDT wettable powder with 20 percent of the 10 percent DDT dust. Thorough coverage of plants is essential; plant bed covers should be raised in spraying operations to obtain the best control.

Grubworms: These are the larvae from the green June beetle. They frequently are in plant beds high organic matter; the grubs feed on this matter, and in so doing, uproot young seedlings. Use DDT 50 percent wettable powder in a spray of one pound of the wettable powder in 100 gallons of water for each 100 square yards of bed.

Employment In State At Record

Kentucky's string of consecutive record employment months was continued in April as non-farm jobs climbed past the 700,000 mark for the first time in 1964.

State Economic Security Commissioner Earle V. Powell said the April job total was the 27th consecutive monthly record, surpassing April 1963 by 15,529. He said employment in business and industry during April was 12,200 higher than March of this year and totaled 703,900.

While the employment level was climbing, the average Kentuckian in manufacturing industry was working 40 1/2 hours per week during April and earning $98.98 for his efforts.

The average weekly earnings for April also represented a $4.24 increase over the average rate for March of this year and a $3.71 increase over April last year for the manufacturing industry of Kentucky.

The proportion of Kentucky's insured unemployed moved downward during April to 5.6 percent, compared with 6.8 percent during March and closer to the national average of about 4.5 for April.

On the average week in April there were 26,314 claimants who received an average of $31.60 in weekly unemployment insurance.

Animals Give Adjustors For Insurance Firm Fits

Antics of animals and humans give insurance adjusters national-wide views of life that are stranger than fiction.

Take the extent to which the animal kingdom contributes to the unpredictable.

A motorist parked his car under an oak tree but couldn't get it started later. The mechanic, answering the distress call, found the starter unclipped with 113 screws poked through a hole in the housing by a squirrel.

Man's best friend, meanwhile, figured in a claim relating to a girl's best friend. The canine, a poodle, ate two diamond rings. The claim for $11.50 included jewelry repair and a fee to dog hospital.

In another instance, a rat built a nest inside a radio, causing a short circuit and fire.

But the king-size prize for variety goes to a chimp who monkeyed around the damaging way for a spell before being detected.

According to the report on file at a major insurance company, this is what happened:

The chimp, cast in a movie, escaped from his cage on the lot. He fled to a residential area, entered a kitchen, ate everything in the refrigerator — then took it apart. Next, he emptied a five-gallon water cooler on the floor and refilled the bottles with his fingers. Thereafter, he ran to a hill where, after letting air out of the tires, he happily banged the car's front foot. He was caught in the act.

The firm's report on oddities received also included the following:

• A newly married couple received a pair of tickets to a bit show. The accompanying note said "Guess Who." Not two to one gift-giving — although they found the apartment, with all its new furnishings and wedding gifts, locked. On the napole there was another of the unsigned messages. It said "Dear Sirs,"

• A man visited his bank to look into his safe deposit box. While going over papers he picked up what he thought was an ordinary fountain pen. It wouldn't write so he increased one end. A few seconds later he was on the floor, overcome by a young man was taking a bath. His mother was giving a party over papers in the tub, tumbled through the window and landed in the first party embarrassed, of course.

GOP 'Watchdog' Committee To Study Parks

A Republican watchdog committee has hired a Louisville accounting firm as its fiscal analyst and plans to examine the state Parks Department's annual audit report.

Rep. Don Ball, R-Lexington, committee chairman, said the firm of Hendricks & Darst will help the committee check its findings.

Ball said the committee found "areas of question" in the parks audit, made last year, and decided to expose what he called "existing questionable procedures." No details were given.

Ball said the committee's report, which will be released in June, will show that the GOP is interested in the parks system.

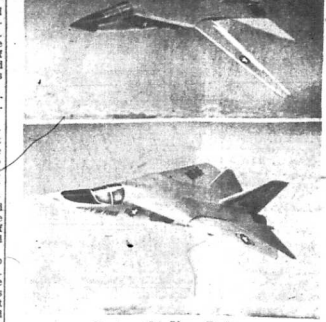

"We feel we have made substantial progress in improving the administration and operation of the system and are delighted that the Republican party is going to help us advertise that progress," Ball said.

Income Tax Rate Calls For Review

The Revenue Act of 1964 effected major changes in both tax liabilities and the withholding rate. Therefore it is desirable for wage earners in the middle and upper wage brackets to review their pay-as-you-go status for 1964.

Under our pay-as-you-go system the vast majority of taxpayers—typically two out of three—are entitled, to refunds at the end of the year because the taxes withheld from their wages and quarterly payments on declarations of estimated tax exceed their liability. A third of all taxpayers owe additional taxes at the end of the year. Attempts to reduce the withholding tailor-made to the needs of each individual taxpayer so he would come out "even" at the end of the year would of course be almost impossible and would impose a substantial hardship on both employees and employers.

The withholding rate dropped from 18 percent to 14 percent at the end of the year under the Revenue Act of 1964. This Act provides for a two-step reduction in individual income tax liability rates: the first to be effective for the calendar year 1964; the second for calendar year 1965. In the initial version of the bill passed by the House of Representatives, there was also a two-step reduction in the withholding rate. The rate to be put into effect as of January 1, 1964 was 16 percent followed by a 14 percent rate as of January 1, 1965.

However since the Revenue Act was not adopted until February 1964 the 18 percent rate was necessarily continued during this interim. The over-withholding at the beginning of 1964 permitted immediate transition to the 14 percent rate, which was originally prescribed for 1965. This action relieved employers of having to make two successive changes, one for the balance of 1964 and the other to take effect in 1965, and also avoided the additional over-withholding that would otherwise have occurred in 1964.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt recently earmarked $250,000 of the 1976 bond issue going on the ballot in November 1965 for a new state library and headquarters for the Department of Libraries.

The governor's announcement drew heavy applause from some 225 librarians, library trustees, and members of the Friends of Kentucky Libraries who gathered in Frankfort for the first Governor's Conference on Libraries.

For the construction of local library facilities, Breathitt said he has urged President Lyndon B. Johnson to appropriate funds under the recently passed Library Services and Construction Act. "It is my sincere wish that the President's recommendation for an appropriation of $55 million be accepted by the Congress soon. To this amount, Kentucky would receive $300,000," the Governor said.

Breathitt added that specialized help for libraries in Eastern Kentucky will be forthcoming with approval of the Appalachian bill introduced in Congress recently. Breathitt said he will testify later this

Governor Marks $650,000 Sum For Library Work

Cash grants-in-aid to local libraries have been increased 40 percent to $140,000 in 1964-65, Breathitt added, and will go to $145,000 in 1965-66. The increase, he said, will provide extra payments to counties voting or petitioning for permanent local support of libraries and to upgrade salaries of local librarians in regions. Thirty bookmobiles will be replaced with new vehicles during the biennium beginning July 1, 1964, 10th anniversary of the Bookmobile project in Kentucky, Breathitt added.

Inexpensive book processing — cataloging, adding book pockets and cards, binding with plastic jackets — will be available to all libraries in the new function processing center to be begun soon at the Department of Libraries' headquarters in Frankfort.

During the afternoon session, Robert Richie, Department of Libraries' business manager, outlined the department's plans for using new funding under the Public Library Services and Construction Act.

24 Grants Awarded For MSC Institute

Twenty-four persons have received grants from the National Science Foundation to attend a summer institute in physiology and chemistry on the Morehead State College campus.

The institute, made possible by an NSF grant of $1,882.50, is being held from June 15 to Aug. 21.

Ten hours of graduate credit may be earned in the institute whose major objective is the improvement of subject matter competency of secondary teachers of biology.

Dr. William B. Owsley, chairman of the Morehead State College Division of Science and Mathematics, is director of the institute.

Other members of the staff are: Dr. James F. Egan, a associate professor of Biology at Morehead; Dr. L. M. R. B. Fry, assistant professor of Chemistry at Morehead; and graduate assistants Dennis Corneilus and Joe E. Wells.

Other members of the Morehead State College faculty will also participate in the institute in an advisory capacity.

Morehead State College received a $1,325.50 grant from the National Science Foundation to conduct the institute. The college also was awarded $36,187 grant to conduct an institute in the Ecology of Cumberland Forest Region.

Bath County Group Fights Licking Dam

More than 60 people attended a mass meeting May 30 in the Bath County Courthouse to protest the construction of Falmouth Dam, which may be built nine miles upstream from the Penitentiary County seat.

Mayor Robert Gilmore and County Attorney Jimmy Richardson led off the meeting by suggesting an organization be formed to oppose the dam. A number of landowners present cited the reasons for their opposition. "What will the people do when all our farmland and timber is taken away," said one. Others pointed out the loss of tax money for the county.

Ferrest Roberts was named chairman of the opposition committee and it was his contention that Falmouth is the second in a four-reservoir chain planned along Licking River basin.

"When the Corps of Engineers ran into strong opposition to Cave Run Reservoir and Falmouth Dam as one project, they altered their strategy along the divide and conquer line," Roberts said. "They simply piggy-backed Falmouth and got the Cave project rolling. Now that Cave Run is going ahead as planned, they are ready for the second link of chain."

Roberts said there were 1657 in opposition to Cave Run and 3110 against Falmouth with a total of about 6,000 opposing the whole reservoir system of the beginning in 1957. He said, the Corps of Engineers decided to split the opposition by making Falmouth and Cave Run projects. "We must fight the system as a whole," Roberts told the group.

Chester Stevenson presented statistics at a meeting, showing water levels during flood stage at Sherburne at Ft. Pleasant Valley, 68 ft.; Wyoming St. E. if the high level dam is constructed it is estimated that 11,000 acres of Fleming County land will be covered by water during flood stage.

Why wait for water to heat?

no "cold spells" with an electric water heater.

Next time you're halfway through a mountain of dirty dishes — and your hot water runs out — just dry your hands and go see your electric appliance dealer. He'll show you the modern way out of those "mountains."

A fast-recovery automatic electric water heater delivers hot water constantly, hour after hour. And because it's flameless, it's safe. Safe, clean, flameless and at special low rates.

So get an automatic electric water heater. Avoid those "cold spells" for good.

BUY YOUR ELECTRIC WATER HEATER NOW. WE'LL HELP PAY YOUR WIRING BILL!

It's as simple as 1, 2, 3... 1. 100-ampere service and install an electric water heater. We'll pay 10% of your wiring bill. 2. 200-ampere service and install an electric water heater. We'll pay 15% toward additional wiring needed. Offer good to June 30, 1964. Save your KUP or ODP manager for eligibility.

'Rights' Conference Scheduled June 12

Kentucky's fourth annual Governor's Conference on Human Rights is set for 10 a.m. Friday, June 12 at the Health Department auditorium in Frankfort.
Keynote speaker at the one-day conference will be James McBride Dabbs, Mayorville, S.C., past president of the Southern Regional Council, Inc., Atlanta. The council, a civil rights organization formed some 50 years ago, has affiliated Human Relations Councils in 22 southern states, including Kentucky. Dabbs is the author of "The Southern Heritage," a book on race relations in the South published in 1958.
Gov. Edward T. Breathitt will address the conferences on Friday afternoon. The gathering has drawn attendance of 250 to 300 persons during the past few years.
The theme of this year's conference is "Challenges in 1964: Federal, State and Local." Discussion topics during the morning session include:
● Developing support for State human rights legislation;
● Creating a new city commission;
● Strengthening the programs of existing city commissions;
● City enactment of enforceable ordinances.
In pointing out the importance of the conference, Calvin Martin, executive director of the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights, said: "The recent bi-partisan amendments to the Federal civil rights bill further emphasize that State action will precede Federal enforcement procedures where State laws apply. Kentucky will want to study ways of taking advantage of these accented State priority principles. Copies of the amendments will be available at the conference."
The Very Reverend Robert W. Estill, commission chairman and dean of Christ Episcopal Cathedral, Louisville, will preside during the conference.
Invitations are being issued to local commission members and others. But all interested persons are urged to address their reservations to Kentucky Commission on Human Rights, Capitol Annex Frankfort, Ky. A small charge will be made for luncheon at the Health Department building.

Natural Bridge Lodge Opened Memorial Day

The new Hemlock Lodge at Natural Bridge State Park, near Slade, opened Memorial Day. State Parks Commissioner Robert D. Bell said the 23-room lodge and dining room opened ahead of schedule "after unexpected construction progress."
Each of the completely furnished guest rooms has its own telephone and private balcony. The new lodge at Natural Bridge is the ninth completed in the State parks system since the $20 million expansion program began in 1961. Eleven State parks now have lodge accommodations.
Overnight facilities at Natural Bridge also include completely-furnished vacation cottages and tent and trailer camping areas, all now open.
A new swimming pool and bathhouse are also open. Other recreation at Natural Bridge includes horseback riding, boating, and guided nature walks.
Another new lodge in the State park system, at Buckhorn Lake State Park in Perry County, is scheduled to open in July.

Ranger's— (Continued from page 4) such as coal and iron ore, which are so essential to industry. A large part of our slope recreation centers around lakes and streams. The total amount of water that falls on the American continent in the form of rain and snow each year far exceeds our present use. Some of the excess creates ferocious and destructive floods that ravage homes and industrial plants dependent upon a sick watershed for their water supplies may experience floods in the spring of the year and water shortages in late summer. In contrast, a healthy quater precipitation provides usable water at all seasons of the year. While it is true that floods may occur under exceptional conditions, even a watershed in good condition will see that healthy watersheds will materially reduce the severity and damage from floods.

The 1st National Forests straddling the major mountain systems of America, and movements to a form of multiple-use conservation that is designed to preserve the watershed while providing timber, recreation, wildlife and forage. The city dweller, with his back to the oak water of the Pacific Ocean, depends upon what falls as rain or snow in the highlands of the National Forests for his drink. The desert farmer looks up from his irrigated fields at distant snow-capped peaks on the National Forest for his crops and for his household needs.

We understand that the male staff from Fort Knox who concluded this fine program at Lexington will be invited to speak at Morehead in concert upon performance you should not miss.

COMPETITION—It is no longer a secret that construction of 164 through Rowan County, and this part of Kentucky, is on the tail-end of Frankfort. In a private conversation the referee figures, and money snigger Henry Ward, Meswinville, U. S. 32 from Huntington to Cincinnati, although this is 50-50 matching state and federal funds, instead of nine-to-one money. Ohio is trying to retain an attract, industry in the southern part of the state instead of relinquishing it to our part of Kentucky.

WAS HE PROUD?—Morehead banker J. Roy Caudill (par three) hole at Mayville Country Club recently with a number six iron. The ball hit the edge of the green, bounced once, and then trickled in for a hole-in-one. It didn't happen at a more opportune time as scores of club members were on the country club terrace and many state and federal Editor Wilson tells us that a hole-in-one is a 450,000 to one possibility. This Kentucky Publisher's Pen... Fisher played the same hole and ended up with a five.

POSSIBLE—Morgan County are asking if Cave Run Dam can be raised above the engineers recommendation (120 feet) so that West Liberty will benefit. Personally, we think the dam can be raised above the request because this revision should bear a favorable benefit-cost ratio, all important in Congressional appropriations. Look for a knock-down-and-drag-out battle over Falmouth Reservoir with spirited opposition from Fleming and Nicholas counties. However this will not affect Cave Run. The Falmouth project, as originally planned in 1937, would back water from the Licking River near Morehead. Cave Run should be finished in 1965 or 1966, but we doubt if the Falmouth project

As the population increases, the need for multiple-use management on the watersheds of the National Forests becomes more apparent. Single use management is possible in George Washington's time when there were only four million settlers on the continent. Today, with a population of over 180 million, and a rising standard of living, the land must yield its maximum usefulness if we are to meet the increasing needs. Under multiple-use management, this can be done while preserving the quality of the water.

last week. City Council voted to go ahead with the project on a 4-3 vote which found Mayor Eldon T. Evans breaking the tie in favor of the project, rather than underwriting the college's plant expansion through increased rates.

The city's application for the grant is practically completed, Clay Sneedgar, chairman of the Utility Plant Board said Tuesday. Plant Board Superintendent Clyde Johnson, and Atty. James E. Clay conferred in Lexington Tuesday with engineers for the plant board on final details necessary for completion of the bid.

No firm estimate on the amount of time necessary for the process, of the application by the Atlanta regional office of the concerned government agency has been given.

As a result it is not possible, Sneedgar said, to arrive at a target date for a start of construction.

Employment In State Is On Rise

Total non-farm employment in Kentucky climbed to a new high for the month of March, the 28th straight monthly record, State Economic Security Commissioner Earle V. Powell has announced.

With the number of non-farm jobs at 691,660, the state has experienced an increase of 15,000 in the working force since March of 1963, Powell said. Employment was also 5,900 higher in March than in February of this year, he said.

The high employment figures are below that figure including agriculture, which in March, a decrease of 4.2 percent from the February 1964 figure and much below the 7.3 percent unemployment average for March of 1963.

The national average for industry and construction for the month of March was 4.8 percent. Some areas of Kentucky were below that figure, including Louisville, Mayville, Lexington, and Covington.

"Kentucky appears to be making significant progress in creating new jobs," Powell said. The high employment figures and the relatively low unemployment would indicate that we are beginning to ride the crest of the recovery trend of the state's economy," Powell said.

Most of March's significant employment increases were in "non-manufacturing" industries. The buying rush of pre-Easter brought retail clothing and department stores an increase of 1,900 jobs. Eating places also recorded a slight increase.

Lake Kelly Named Loyola Assistant

The New Orleans Times-Picayune's May 24 issue carried the following story concerning Lake Kelly, who was formerly an assistant basketball coach at Morehead State College.

Lake Kelly, 30-year-old Freshman basketball coach at Florida State University, has been named game assist at Loyola University.

Announcement of Kelly's selection was Saturday by Bill Hardner, athletic director and head basketball coach of the Wolfpack.

"I'm awfully happy to have an honor of Lake Kelly's basketball experience and academic background at Loyola," said Hardner. "I know he will be a definite asset to our program."

Kelly won four basketball letters at Georgia Tech, graduating in 1956 with a B. S. degree in industrial management. He later obtained a masters Graduate Training School, Morehead, Ky. in 1958. The following season he had a 13-5 record as head coach at Amelia (Ohio) High.

During the 1960-61 season he served as varsity assistant and freshman coach at Morehead State. That year Morehead completed a 17-9 record and participated in the NCAA Tournament.

In 1961, Kelly served a hitch in the U. S. Army during which time he served as head coach of the basketball team at Ft. Clark, Ark. The team of former college and pro players was runnerup in the Fourth U. S. Army championships and participated in the 25-4 finished the season with a 25-4 record.

Kelly returned to Morehead as basketball assistant and physical education instructor in 1962 and last year took over as varsity assistant and freshman coach at Florida State.

A native of Flemingsburg, Ky., Kelly is a 1952 graduate of Columbia Military Academy. He and his wife, Martha, have two children.

Kelly will assume his coaching duties at Loyola Sept. 1.
