

Sheriffs Confer With Army Men

The part that sheriffs are expected to play in the state defense set-up was featured at a sheriff's conference with Army officials at Syracuse Friday afternoon. Sheriff Harrison Adams was one of the 19 county law enforcement executives present.

The principal speakers at the conference were Brig.-Gen. R. K. Robertson, provost marshal of the Second Corps Area, and Col. Willis G. Shippam of Fort Ontario, commander of the central and southern military districts.

The need of increased staffs was emphasized by many sheriffs, and hope was expressed that the Legislature would pass a pending bill that would permit a 50 per cent increase in deputies.
