THE GOVERNMENT OF THE STATES, AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE. Mayville, Kentucky, Thursday Morning, July 23, 1840.

BY AUTHORITY. LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES PASSED AT THE FIRST SESSION OF THE TWENTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

(Private No. 17.) AN ACT making provision for the payment of pensions to the executors or administrators of deceased pensioners in arrears.

Enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. That in any case where a pensioner shall die, leaving children, but no widow, the amount of pension due to such pensioner at the time of his death shall be paid to the executor or administrator of the estate of such pensioner, for the sole and exclusive benefit of the children, to be by him distributed among them in equal shares, and the same shall not be considered as a part of the assets of said estate, nor liable to be applied to the payment of the debts of said estate in any case whatever.

SEC. 2. And he is further enacted, That in case any pensioner who is a widow shall die, leaving children, the amount of pension due to her at the time of her death shall be paid to the executor or administrator of her estate, as directed in the foregoing section.

SEC. 3. And he is further enacted, That in case of the death of any pensioner, the amount of pension then due to him, or each of them, as they may prefer, without the intervention of an administrator.

R. M. T. HUNTER, Speaker of the House of Reps. R. H. HUNTER, Vice President of the United States and President of the Senate.

Approved, June 19th, 1840. M. VAN BUREN.

AN ACT to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, and disbursement of the public revenue.

Enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. That there shall be prepared and provided, within the new Treasury building now erected at the city of Washington, convenient rooms for the use of the Treasurer of the United States, his assistants and clerks; and sufficient and secure fire-proof vaults and safes, to be under the immediate control of the Treasurer, which said vaults and safes, are hereby constituted and declared to be, the property of the United States.

No. 11.

From the Lexington Gazette. WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS WAS A BIRD.

On Sunday, the 22nd inst., a large number of persons, including the Hon. Mr. W. H. Harrison, and others, were present at the opening of the new building at White Sulphur Springs. The building is a fine specimen of modern architecture, and is well adapted for the purposes of a public school. The building is situated on a high and healthy spot, and is surrounded by a beautiful landscape. The building is a fine specimen of modern architecture, and is well adapted for the purposes of a public school. Mr. Harrison, in his address to the assembly, alluded to the building as a fine specimen of modern architecture, and as well adapted for the purposes of a public school. He also alluded to the building as a fine specimen of modern architecture, and as well adapted for the purposes of a public school. He also alluded to the building as a fine specimen of modern architecture, and as well adapted for the purposes of a public school.

There was then a general call for Mr. Harrison to rise, and he was accordingly called to the front of the assembly. He then addressed the assembly, and alluded to the building as a fine specimen of modern architecture, and as well adapted for the purposes of a public school. He also alluded to the building as a fine specimen of modern architecture, and as well adapted for the purposes of a public school.

After the address of Mr. Harrison, the assembly adjourned until the next day. The building is a fine specimen of modern architecture, and is well adapted for the purposes of a public school. The building is situated on a high and healthy spot, and is surrounded by a beautiful landscape.

It was the most quiet and orderly assemblage of the kind we have ever seen. There was neither quarrelling nor fighting, nor any other disturbance.
