The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged and inactive Kidneys, overcoming Backache, Bladder weakness and Urinary trouble of all kinds, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination, especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial, as it is said to do wonders for many persons.

The Scranton (Pa.) Times was first to print this remarkable prescription, in October, of 1906 since when all the leading newspapers of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and other cities have made many announcements of it to their readers.

Olive Hill Literary Society.

One of the most interesting as well as one of the most beneficial organizations of our city is the Olive Hill Literary Society, which was organized several weeks ago by the teachers and patrons of the school, with the aid of several of the lawyers and business men of the city.

It holds its sessions every Friday evening, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Opera house. The programme rendered consists of singing and devotional exercises, recitations, debating, select reading of the society paper known as the "Olive Hill Fun-maker."

Last Friday evening being the close of the month an election was held in which all the officers were re-elected with but one or two exceptions and constitution and by-laws were reported and read by Mr. H. Clay and adopted by the society.

The officers are as follows:—Amos Hall, President; J. O'Daniel, Vice President; Miss Ethyl Eifort, Secretary; Miss Mayme Keese, Editor and Treasurer; and Bro. John Cheap, Chaplain.

After devotional exercises conducted by Bro. Cheap recitations were rendered by Marie Jordan, Hazel James and Mae Davis. Then the question of educational qualification for suffrage was debated by the following:

Affirmative: H. Clay Brown, J. E. Underwood and Roy Blankenship. Negative: A. J. Counts, B. P. Cassady and Jay O'Daniel.

The debate was very interesting and decision given the affirmative.

The society paper read by Miss Maude Scott was easily the hit of the evening, after which the society adjourned.

Much interest is shown by the large audience each session.

Subject for debate Friday evening; Resolved, That capital punishment is unjust, and some good speeches are expected. Session are public and everybody are invited to attend.

W. H. Sparks, of Stark, writes us that he has been assigned to Mobile, Ala., as special agent for the Bureau of Census in census work with the handsome salary of $7.25 a day.

THE NATION'S NEED

The Conservation of Our Natural Resources is Imperatively Demanded.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS OUT

An invitation has been extended to the Governors to meet at the White House to discuss the best means of preserving our basic prosperity.

Washington, Nov. 18.—President Roosevelt has invited the governors of the states and territories to meet at the White House May 13, 14 and 15 next, to discuss the question of means to conserve the natural resources of the country. Invitations are to be extended to the members of both houses of congress and to the important waterways commission. The importance and manner in which the subject is to be considered are indicated in the president's letter to the governors, which follows:

"The natural resources of the territory of the United States were, at the time of settlement, richer, more varied and more available than those of any other equal area on the surface of the earth. The development of these resources has given us for more than a century a rate of increase of population and wealth undreamed of by the men who founded our government without parallel in history. It is obvious that the prosperity which we now enjoy rests directly upon these resources. It is in our interest, therefore, that the vigor and success which we desire and foresee for this nation in the future must have this as its ultimate material basis. In view of these evident facts, it seems to me it is time for the country to take account of its natural resources, and to inquire how long they are likely to last. We are prosperous now; we should not forget that it will be just as important in the future as it is to be prosperous in our time. Recently I expressed the opinion that there is no other question now before the nation of equal gravity with the question of the conservation of our natural resources, and I added that the plain duty of those of us who at the moment are responsible for the inventory of the natural resources which have been handed down to us, to forecast as well as we may the needs of the future, and so to be the great sources of our prosperity, is not to destroy in advance all the means of the prosperity of our descendants."

"It is evident that the abundant natural resources on which the welfare of this nation rests are becoming depleted, and in not a few cases are already exhausted. This is true of all portions of the United States; it is especially true of the longer settled communities of the East. The responsibility of the situation must, I believe, appeal with special force to the governors of the states, because of their relations to the people and their responsibility for the welfare of their communities. I have therefore decided, in accordance with the suggestion of the inland waterways commission, to ask the governors of the states and territories to meet at the White House on May 13, 14 and 15, to confer with the president and with each other upon the conservation of natural resources."

"I give me great pleasure to invite you to take part in this conference. I should be glad to have you select three or four able associates you and to send the complete names as your suggestions or advisers. I shall also invite the senators and representatives of the States to be present at the meeting, so far as their duties will permit. The matters to be considered at the conference are not confined to any region or group of states, but are of vital concern to the nation as a whole and to all the people. Those subjects include the use and conservation of the mineral resources, the resources of the land and the resources of the waters, in every part of our territory.

"In order to open discussion, I shall invite a few recognized authorities to present brief descriptions of actual facts and conditions, without argument, leaving the conference to deal with each topic as it may elect. The members of the inland waterways commission will be present in order to share with me the benefit of information and suggestion and, if desired, to set forth their provisional plans and conclusions."

"Facts which I cannot gain say force me to believe that the conservation of our natural resources is the most weighty question now before the people of the United States. If this is so, the proposed conference, which is the first of its kind, will be among the most important gatherings in our history in its effect upon the welfare of all our people."

A NEW WATERWAY

"From Lake to Lake" is the Cry of Those Promoting This Ambitious Project.

FOR CHEAPER TRANSPORTATION

This is the Argument of Those Who Would Construct a Canal From Toledo to Chicago—Ft. Wayne People at the Head of the Movement.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 19.—"From lake to lake" is now the cry of those who are advocating the deepening of the Maumee river and converting it into a waterway. At a meeting of citizens here Saturday night it was decided to urge congress to construct a canal between Chicago and Toledo, with Fort Wayne as the halfway station. W. J. Logan issued the call for the meeting, and Perry A. Randall was chairman. R. S. Taylor, a member of the Mississippi river commission, addressed the proposed waterway and said it was absolutely necessary that the people of Indiana and Illinois begin to look for sources of cheap fuel and the way to attain it is to provide for transportation of coal from the mines without breaking bulk, through a system of canals, from Pittsburg, Frank B. Taylor, son of Judge Taylor, and a member of the United States geological survey, said that Lake Erie is 572 feet above sea level and Fort Wayne is 750 feet above sea level. Therefore there is about 180 feet of a lift for which locks would have to be provided in the canal. He regarded the canal as feasible.

William T. Harris, civil engineer and capitalist of Chicago, urged that immediate steps be taken to interest congress in the interstate enterprise in order that the canal may be provided for without further delay. Clarence C. Gilliam, member of congress from this district, promised the promoters of the enterprise to give the proposition his most earnest and active support.

AN EAGLE QUILL PEN
Made the Mark That Created a New State in the Union.

Washington, Nov. 17.—With an eagle quill pen, President Roosevelt, at 10 o'clock today, signed the proclamation that makes Indian Territory and Oklahoma a state. No ceremony attended the signing, the effect of which was to put in motion the machinery of the state government at Guthrie, Okla., which, owing to the difference in time, turned its first wheel at 9 o'clock. The pen was turned over to Governor Frazier, who will deliver it to the historical society of the new state.

THE FARMER PAYS

Our Tax System Has Increased His Burden.

Figures That Show Farm Property Pays More Than Its Fair Proportion of State Revenue.

When the last constitutional convention in Kentucky drew up the present organic law of the state it formulated a plan for the levying of taxes which was intended to secure absolute uniformity in the burden of taxes. It, therefore, inserted in the constitution section 171, which says that taxes shall be uniform upon all classes of property within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax. This was done in the belief that uniformity of method would produce a uniformity of result and of income.

It was urged in behalf of this proposed section that it was demanded in justice to the farmer, in order that since his property was of a visible and tangible nature and could not escape assessment, all other property should be put in the same class. No one ever disputed that this ought to be done. The only dispute was as to whether or not it was best to use this method. It was contended that certain classes of property, which were of a kind that could be concealed, would escape assessment and taxation if the burden of taxation put upon them was too heavy, and that the result would be that the farmer's and such visible personal property as the farmer's live stock and the merchant's goods and the householder's furniture would bear an undue proportion of the burden of raising the public revenue.

But the general property tax was included in our constitution, and we have been trying it harder than ever for the sixteen years that have elapsed since the constitution was adopted, and it has proved anything but uniform and has not served to distribute the burden of taxation equally. Under the present system a great deal of property in our cities escapes taxation. In spite of the activity of auditor's agents, much of it is hidden away, and these people are chiefly the farmers.

The farmer pays more tax on personal property in proportion to real estate than does the city man under the present system. In the 100 counties in the state there are 42 cities, 21 of which are in the first and second classes—Jefferson, Kenton, Campbell, Fayette and McCracken. The assessed personal property is 26 per cent of the total assessment. In the rest of the state it is 24 per cent of the total assessment. The five counties named, which may be called urban counties, contain 16.62 per cent of all the realty in the state and assess only 21 per cent of all the personalty.

The amount of money, bonds, accounts and similar personalty, assessed by these counties, is 10 per cent of their total assessment. In the rest of the state the amount of such property assessed is nearly 14 per cent of the total. Manifestly it is true that the man in the country does not feel it so easy to conceal his personal property, and he has no incentives furnished by a high tax rate to conceal it.

In the county of Jefferson, containing the city of Louisville, personalty is 22.5 per cent of the total assessment. In Kenton county, containing the city of Covington, personalty is 11.2 per cent of the total. In Campbell, with the city of Newport, it is 10 per cent. Fayette county, with Lexington, does better, its personalty being 12.4 per cent of the total, but it is well known that the rural portions of Fayette county contain an amount of wealth amounting in any agricultural community.

On the other hand, take the following counties, which are distinguished as agricultural, and note how much larger the percentage of personalty than in the strictly urban counties:

Barren county	25 per cent
Harrods county	25 per cent
Allen county	25 per cent
Marion county	20-25 per cent
Adair county	21 per cent
Knox county	23-25 per cent
Monroe county	25 per cent

Through the entire state the rule generally holds and where the contrast is not so marked, the exception will generally be found due to unusually high valuation of farm lands.

Who Pays the Freight?

There is still another way of determining that the present system does not make things easier for the farmer. For the year 1906 the assessment of the state divided itself as follows:

Farm lands	42 per cent
Farmer's personalty (live stock, implements, etc.)	7.1 per cent
Mercs, etc., assessed to farmers	2.3 per cent
Total for farmers	51.4 per cent
Town property	27.7 per cent
Town personalty	14.8 per cent
Total town property	42.5 per cent

In arriving at the percentage, mercs, etc., are set down as assets in farmers for taxation, only that gives in by counties having no town farms, but the sixth class is included, and a small percentage of this character of personalty given in by counties having larger towns and yet distinctly agricultural. The figures, given are under, rather than over the mark. Farm property, therefore, by a conservative estimate pays more than its fair proportion of the state taxes exclusive of franchise taxes, while town property pays only about 47 per cent. Of the state revenue collected by the state of the state from assessors' lists, 42 1/2 per cent is paid by farm lands, 34 1/2 per cent by town lots, about 2 1/2 per cent by money and securities, and 7 1/2 per cent by live stock and farmer's implements, etc., and 6 per cent by other personalty. It is interesting to note that the present system bears heavily upon him. Equivalent to 10 Per Cent Income Tax. The tax assessment of the state of California has this to say about the operation of the general property tax on farmers in that state: "The taxes are equivalent to an income tax of 10 per cent. This is in contrast to many other states, where the taxes are paid by manufacturers, which amount only to 2 per cent on income. The persons engaged in agriculture, with an average yearly income of about $500, pay 50 per cent more in taxes. The persons engaged in manufacturing, with an average annual income of $570, pay $17.50 per capita per annum. The California system here demands that his property was of a visible and tangible nature and could not escape assessment, all other property should be put in the same class."

FARMERS IN MANY STATES WANT RELIEF FROM UNFAIR TAXATION.

Constitutional amendments are being given through attention by farmers of the country. In Ohio, Hon. P. A. Dornish, master of the State Grange, is discussing a proposition to amend the constitution so that the source of tax revenue should be defined.

"There is a common ground upon which we can all stand. We must have an increasing amount of revenue, and that means a more just return of the property in the state. Whose is the injustice of laying a reasonable tax on the deposits reported by the banks of the state, the same to be levied on deposits in other states, but they enjoy the protection of our laws and in large measure draw their interest from the protection of our laws."

"This could not be done with realty, deposits, and they would be followed from the protection of our laws. The Kentucky State Grange has this same subject before it at the meeting held in Frankfort, October 21 to 23. Mr. P. W. Wood, Master of the State Grange, discussed the question in a very interesting manner, as follows: "The order has been most active in the half of the last revolution of taxation, recognizing that the farmer is losing money from our present system and has more to gain from the establishment of a just and equitable system of taxation than has any other class of citizens. The order is recognizing the agricultural class, always endeavors to be fair and honorable with all other interests, and has the right to demand like treatment in return. In nearly every state in the Union the cry has been loud against the farmer's revenue laws, and states are being taken to remedy the evils."

"Various State Granges have, by their action, decided it wrong to legislate into the organic laws of a state any provision which shall exempt from taxation property aggregating vast sums in the possession of the wealthy, and often kept by them invisible, thus leaving the small holders of the assets to bear the burden of doubled taxation. The present constitution of Kentucky binds us to the general property tax—that is, to the system of levying the same tax upon all classes of property for all purposes. There should be an amendment to our constitution which will allow the legislature to separate the sources of revenue—that is, to raise the state revenue from certain classes of property, leaving other classes of property to be taxed for local purposes only. It has just been proposed by some that this should throw too much power into the hands of the legislature, should such an amendment prevail, then would it devolve upon the voters of the state to pay stricter attention to the selection of their representatives than has obtained in the past in both city and country."

The Kentucky State Development association and other organizations have launched the Grange's plan. It is a joint committee on taxation, a member of this order as representative of the agricultural interests of the state, and it is important that the views and demands of the farmers be clearly defined at this state session. It is recommended that this body promptly and emphatically take action in favor of just and equitable revenue laws, and for the establishment of an efficient tax commission, to be composed of five members—four representing respectively the great industries, agriculture, manufacturing, mining and commerce, and a fifth member voted for by the highest integrity and for superior legal ability.

From Rev. Hoverton, Louisville, Ky., Nov. 18, 1907. Editor:—As I am waiting for the train on the I. C., and take the pleasure to express to my many friends the pleasures of the day. As the train on the C. & O. sped along I soon found myself among many newly made friends by the time I had reached Lexington I had formed the acquaintance of three Baptist preachers and one Methodist preacher, all from Louisville, so we discussed Bible topics and had a real minister's conference as two of the younger minister friends had presented them with some nice fruit, so it added much to our comfort. It was soon found that we were all single but it was our decision not to remain in this condition through life. After arriving in Louisville I visited the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and found among her students many friends of former day. After having taken supper with one of my friends from Muhlenberg county, I then called on my old friend on 311 W. Walnut and had a pleasant evening in their pleasant home. As it's almost train time I bid my many friends in Olive Hill good night and take the fast train for Central City. E. L. HOWERTON.

For Sale. 1 Sprig Piano, A good Refrigerator, Various other household goods. Call at G. W. WILHOIT'S residence. MOCABEE—JAMES.

William H. Mocabee, of the firm of Jacobs & Mocabee, of town, and Mrs. Anna James, of Olive Hill, were married at that place Thursday. Squire L. L. Taylor officiating. The happy couple arrived home here Thursday night at 9 p. m., to find that Mr. Mocabee's daughter, Miss Jennie, had arranged an elegant supper in honor of the event. The Bohian Orchestra were out in the "bell crowd" and serenaded the happy couple. Mr. Mocabee, with true Kentucky hospitality, invited the Orchestra to the feast that had been prepared for himself and bride, which invitation was gratefully accepted.

Mr. Mocabee is one of Grayson's leading business men, who, before going into the mercantile business, was Clerk of the Carter County Court.

The bride is made welcome among Grayson's matrons.—Grayson Tribune
