OLD GRADS TO BE GIVEN ROYAL PROGRAM HERE

Football Game Is High Light Of Program Planned For Homecoming

Saturday is checked full of attractions for the thirty-five Teachers' College as the institution awaits the coming home of its gradu-ates. It is annual Homecoming, and Morehead plans on the best celebra-tion of the event they have ever had for the alumni.

The registration of alumni and guests is set for eight o'clock in the lobby of Allie Young Hall. Several hundred graduates and former stud-ents are expected.

A special convocation for the alumni is scheduled for the college chapel at 9:20. At 12:00 o'clock noon the alumni luncheon and busi-ness meeting will be given in the college cafeteria.

The highlight of the day will be reached in the afternoon when the Morehead Eagles encounter Union out at Jayne Stadium. One of the largest crowds that have ever wit-nessed a football game at the school is counted on for Saturday.

Dr. J. D. Falls will deliver the principal address at an alumni ban-quet in the cafeteria Saturday evening. Professor E. V. Hollis will give the welcoming address and Robert Counts, Olive Hill, the answer.

The alumni ball will successfully complete the days program. It will be in the college gymnasium.

ABOUT TOWN

The News

MORE PASTRY

Morehead bread and pastry ad-dicts will have an opportunity to se-cure theirs while it is right off the ovens in a few weeks. The Midland Baking Company, formerly located at Olive Hill, is moving to Morehead. This bakery has been serving the people of the city for sometime, and their coming to Morehead is just one more indication that Morehead is the center of commercial activity in this part of the state.

QUICK WORK

In last week's news attention was called to the decreasing number of robberies, and pointed out that morehead was no longer receiving their places of business to find a window jammed and half their mer-andise carted away.

This article evidently gave some-body an incentive that the time was ripe, so they attempted to enter a house and rob another on Friday night. However, the police cleared the matter up in less than twenty-four hours.

FIDDLERS CONTEST HERE ON SATURDAY NIGHT

There will be an old fiddlers con-test held at the courthouse in More-head on Saturday October 20. The Dixie Dreamers from radio station WCKY will entertain before and after the contest with fiddling, sing-ing, yodeling and harmonica playing. Prizes will be offered for the best fiddlers.

BAKERY LOCATES HERE

The Midland Baking Company of Olive Hill will be located in More-head within the next six weeks, of-ficials of the company said this week. The bakery has started construction of a building on Main Street near Caudill's garage. As soon as it is finished the equipment will be trans-ferred.

For sometime the Midland Baking Company has had products on the local market, and they have met with favor among Morehead people.

KERA BUILDING NEW REFRIGERATOR PLANT

Among the KERA projects to be started immediately is a refrigeration plant which will be built at the rear of the court house. Construction work is scheduled to start on Friday of this week. The project calls for an expenditure of $537 when fifteen carpenters, one painter and fifteen unskilled laborers. Materials will cost $225.

When finished the refrigeration plant will be equipped with electric refrigerator and will be used to care for perishable commodities such as beef, pork and fresh vegetables for distribution in relief work.

Robbers Caught And Sentenced

Quick work on the part of Chief of Police J. H. Adams and the sheriff's force resulted in the arrest of three youths who robbed McKin-ney Shoe Shop and attempted to enter Blair's Department Store. In less than twenty four hours after the crimes were committed two of the robbers were convicted and on their way to the Greendale Reform School while another was under bond.

The youths broke a window in Blair's Department Store, but fled when the noise of the falling glass alerted the neighbors. Their next attempt was McKinney's Shoe Shop where they obtained several pairs of shoes. Officers were so hot on their trail that they dropped the shoes.

Deputy Sheriff Withrow and Chief Adams arrested Daniel, Howard Burton, 14, Dew Burton, 15, and Earl Dean, 18, Saturday morning. All are from near Morehead. Howard and Burton were convicted and sent to Greendale Saturday afternoon in twenty-four hours. Dean filled a $500 bond.

Have A Heart Will Be At Cozy

Another "Cinderella story" has come true in Hollywood!

The youthful charm of Jean Parker, that little more than a year and a half ago graced a poster for the Olympic Games, has carried her to the highest possible position in a screen career. She was recently given a gold star rating on the current Metro-Goldwyn picture, "Have A Heart" with "Have a Heart" as her first starring-vehicle-to-be shown at the Cozy Theatre Oct 17 and 18.

This places Miss Parker in the distinguished group of star notables that includes Greta Garbo, Marion Davies, Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Wallace Berry, Jackie McDonald, Savitree Chevalier, Helen Hayes, Ramon Novarro, William Powell, Constance Bennett and Gloria Swanson.

Daily Bread Will Show At College

Variety is one of the keys to providing theatre patrons with sat-isfying entertainment. Last week the College Theatre gave you a high-class musical film. At 7:30 Friday evening (only) of this week the bill of fare calls for down-to-earth entertainment showing how "earth-shake" lives. It is an emotionalized and dramatized story of how unemployed farmers found a way out of the depression by a return to agricultural pursuits. If you like to see what emotions human beings display in their struggle for "DAILY BREAD" you will be right down your alley.

King Vidor directed this gripping heart searching picture. He is the man who gave you the thrills of "The Big Parade," and the heart-jacking Cooper in "The Champ". In other words he is the master of portraying on the screen the emotion of human beings in the common-place tasks of life.

PRISON TERMS GIVEN FOUR IN CIRCUIT COURT

Light Criminal Docket Tried At October Term; Civil Docket Heavy

The October term of Circuit Court adjourned Saturday after a two weeks session during which two cases of importance on the criminal docket were tried, but a heavy civil docket was run through.

Four pentenary sentences were meted out, and Judge D. B. Caudill sentenced them Saturday. They were Tom Williams, murder, 15 years; Tom Kery, stealing from common carrier, 1 year; Cecil Hay, breaking into storehouse, 1 year; and Emery Conn, false swearing, 1 year. Hay and Conn pleaded guilty Friday. Conn was indicted in connection with testimony he gave in the James Carpenter murder case.

Other cases of any importance tried during the latter part of the week included: Yes Bowling, will full assault, $50 and costs; Elbert Baldrige, assault, $25 and costs; and Allen Conn, striking and wound-ing $100 costs and $50 days.

Tom Williams was making a new trial of his case. He may appeal. The test case of the City of Morehead versus Charles Keeton, in which the city seeks to collect on street paving claims, will be submitted in the near future by agree-ment. Many landowners have been named in the street paving case.

The Clark County National Bank filed notice of appeal in their suit against the County Board of Educa-tion. Special Judge Hanna retained a general demurrer of the de-fendant. Judge Newell had previ-ously overruled the demurrer. The bank sought to recover $8,000 with interest.

Seventy-one true bills were re-turned by the Grand Jury, most of them on misdemeanors.

The Grand Jury report was brief and contained little of importance.

Downing May Alter Lineup

Dissatisfied with the defensive performance that the Eagles dis-played in their game against Rio Grande, Coach Downing indicated this afternoon that he will make several changes in his line for the Homecoming game with the Union College Bulldogs Saturday after-noon.

Morehead showed plenty of offe-nensive power against the Ohio team, ringing up 15 first downs. However, the visiting backs stepped through continuously. Morehead has plenty of drive in the game, but of-ten it was not sustained.

The largest crowd of the year is expected to see the Eagles tackle Union. The game is an annual pil-grimage of grads back to the cam-pus, and the football game is the stand-out of an all-days program.

Union may expect a barrage of passes. Morehead may demoralize that they are a menace all the way with a deadly aerial attack.

Guy Snyder - "A Citizen And Leader" Says Rev. H. L. Moore In Sermon.

The following is a copy of the funeral sermon delivered by Rev. H. L. Moore at the services held in honor of Guy Snyder last Friday.

IN MEMORY OF GUY SNYDER

We come together today, as we often do, from our various occupa-tions at the call of death, an event that is constantly occurring around us and within the range of our fam-ilies and acquaintances. Within the circling years of a century, all at some point will pass away. Death is one of the common ever recur-ring events of human affairs. Those whom we have known are known no more. Those we love are taken

LEE CLAY LABOR DISPUTE COMES TO FINAL CLOSE

Working Agreement Adopted As Planned By E. F. Sailer

Following the walk-out by the Lee Clay Products Company plant last Wednesday evening, and the ar-rival of Mr. E. F. Sailer, Federal Labor Arbitrator and a representa-tive of the Brick and Clay workers' Union, a working agreement was drawn up and accepted by both the management of the Lee Clay Pro-ducts Co. and the committee of the union, representing the workers.

Under the agreement accepted by the members of Local Union No. 486, of the United Brick and Clay Workers of America will appoint a committee of one man from each de-partment, mines, shop, setting and yard to represent them when grievance arises. If possible the committee member from each de-partment will settle the grievance in that department. If this is im-possible he will submit it to the committee in its entirety. The com-mittee on reporting to the management fails to reach an agreement, it is to be submitted to a Committee of Arbitrators selected from the citi-zens of Rowan County, one member of which is to be selected by the workers committee, one by the man-agement of the company and the third by the two members selected.

It was also agreed that the senior-ity rule would be accepted by the management of the company.

The agreement holds good until October 12, 1935.

BISHOP'S ONE CENT SALE

At this season, or any season, one of the outstanding sale events is the One Cent Sale staged semi an-nually by the C. E. Bishop Drug Store. This sale is now going on and as usual is attracting attention. The news agencies in this issue of the News give you an idea of what may be purchased at this great sale.

Organize To Help Protect Property

Several business men in Morehead have united in the forming of a so-called "Merchant Club" the pur-pose of which is to thwart robbery on their stores. They have agreed to band together, in the donation of money, not to exceed $5.00 for the apprehension and conviction of any person robbing a member's place of business. The money may be used for fingerprint, rewards, etc.

The following merchants have joined in the club: Hartley Batts-on J. S. Pratt, Lester Sparks, O. E. Her-ron, Harry Goldberg, W. L. Jayne, Blair Bros. and Co., C. E. Bishop Drug Co., Elam and Wheeler, C. L. Bruce, J. M. Clayton, V. D. Flood, G. C. Nickell, A. B. McKinney, M. F. Brown, Williams-Nickel Oil Co., Citizens Bank, Hall and Miles, S. M. Caudill, J. B. Calvert, Consoli-dated Hardware Co., and C. B. Daugherty.

Each member voted to give one dollar each to John Adams and Everett Withrow, who Saturday ar-rested three youths who attempted to rob Blair Bros. store.

Harlan Powers Jr. Is Buried Friday

Funeral services for Harlan Powers, Jr., 18 years old, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Powers, were held from the home Friday morn-ing. Burial was in the Lee Cem-tery. Rev. Farn was in charge of the funeral rites.

Harlan was born on November 16, 1915. Besides his parents he is sur-vided by four sisters, Katherine Norma, Lottie and Ernestine, and one brother, Tommie. Burial was at the funeral home of Elwood Allen, Dixon Street. Lawrence Johnson, Jack Lewis, Dennis Caudill, Edd Williams and Wallace Fannin.

LOCAL RIFLE TEAM DEFEAT OLIVE HILL

The Morehead Rifle and Revolver Club defeated the Olive Hill Club by 9 points in a match here. The two clubs will meet in another afternoon at Olive Hill next Saturday afternoon.

Following are the scores of the three highest on each club:

Thomas O'wring	91
Earl May	90
Emmett Lewis	88
Oliver Hill	87
Devey Osborne	83
Jack Wagner	83
W. D. Foster	84

Mrs. Rosie Clark Is Laid To Rest

A great man and a great citizen left Morehead bereft last Wednes-day, when Guy Snyder died at his home here following a short illness. Mr. Snyder, although he has been failing for several years, was about town Monday and visited with his friends as usual. Tuesday he was confined to his home with a slight cold, and Wednesday afternoon his death occurred; chiefly, as he had lived, quietly.

Mr. Snyder was one of More-head's first citizens. By that we do not mean that he was an old settler. He came here in 1906, as construction engineer for the More-head and North Fork Railroad. But he was first in community work, first in thought of the future of Morehead, first in constructive work for future generations. For those reasons Guy Snyder must be regarded as a first citizen.

Born in Clearfield, Pa., where he received his education and where he spent his youth, Mr. Snyder was essentially a Kentuckian. He came here in 1906, expecting to remain only until the construction work on the Morehead and North Fork was finished, but he came to love these rugged hills and the quality of their mountain folk, to such an extent that he decided to cast his lot with them to grow with them or fall with them as fate decided. Time has proved that he grew with them and became as much a part of them as the very hills themselves.

It has been said that there was no man in this entire section who had as many friends and as few enemies as Guy Snyder. Literally that must be true because he had yet to learn of any man who failed to call

Farmers Receive Tobacco Checks

County Agent, Chas L. Goff, re-ceived on Oct. 15th several eight checks totaling $1275.29 in pay-ment of the first benefit payment to members of the Rowan County Tobacco Production Control Association. Mr. Goff is expecting 150 more checks for approximately $250.00 to fol-low these immediately. Farmers whose checks have arrived are being notified by mail and can obtain their checks at the County Agent's office.

Members of the Rowan County Tobacco Production Control As-sociation have received a little more than $3700.00 and the paymen-t due will be approximately the same. Another payment due after the 1934 crop is sold will probably be above $4000.00. The 220 tobacco

Dixon House Is Given Position

A letter received this morning by County Judge C. E. Jennings, an-nounced the fact that on recom-mendation of Judge Jennings, Dixon Shouse had been appointed as field engineer of all KERA road pro-jects to be laid out in the future. The letter explained that Mr. Shouse will have charge of the prepara-tion of projects carrying out the surveying necessary to each and will then submit plans of the proposed construction. The plans will then be submitted to the district engineer, Mr. L. H. Meredith of Paintsville, for his approval.

Mr. Shouse will have his office at the Court House. The first project to be started under Mr. Shouse's supervision will be the Morehead and North Fork Grade road extending a distance of ten miles from Clark Mountain Tunnel to Craney Creek. The road from Clark Mountain to the tunnel has already been surveyed and the construction order for its building has been issued. Mr. Warren Fletcher who will build the section with CCC camp labor.

Mrs. Rosie Clark Is Laid To Rest

Mrs. Rosie Clark died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. O. Lech'sign Thursday evening of last week. Mrs. Clark has been an invalid for several years, and has been bed fast for a year.

Mrs. Rosie Clark was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Pig-man and was born in Letcher county Kentucky April 18, 1854. In 1864 she was married to Mr. C. O. Lech of Rowan county where she has since made her home. In 1876 she was united in marriage to James A. Clark, who preceded her in death by thirteen years. Mrs. Clark was one of the prominent women of the nineties in this section and the Clark family had much to do with the growth and development of this section of Kentucky.

Mrs. Clark was the mother of nine children, three of whom died in infancy. A daughter, Mrs. Ezra Lame died in 1918. Those surviving

A LEADING CITIZEN GOES ON

Morehead bowed its head in sorrow last Wednesday afternoon when news of the death of Guy Snyder was given out. And not only Morehead, but Rowan and Morgan counties, where Mr. Snyder's work was done, sorrowed. For every man and woman who knew him realized that a friend had been lost.

This is not intended as an eulogy. Guy Snyder's life was its own eulogy. It is not intended as an appreciation. His myriad of friends will write their own appreciation. It is only a recognition, a placing of ourselves on record.

"I regard Guy Snyder as our first citizen," said one man. What more could he have said of any man? It was the highest compliment in his power to pay.

This may be added: If when we pass on, after our work is done, as well as Guy Snyder's work was done, those who remain will say of us the things they have said of him, then we may be satisfied that "our lives have not been lived in vain."

HCME COMING DAY

The Homecoming Day at the Morehead College is not only an event for the student body of that institution, but quite an interesting one for the merchants and townspeople.

Every year we look forward to seeing all of the old faces that we know so well that were among us for four years. It is a pleasure and a real homecoming joy when we find out all about these friends, what they are doing, and the interest they are showing in their alma mater in coming back.

The originator of homecomings meant it to be a gathering of former buddies and always friends and it has certainly fulfilled his plans.

CCC CAMPS WILL CONTINUE

President Roosevelt's announcement that the CCC will be continued should be gratifying to the nation, and particularly to Kentucky, which has seen the realization of its dreams of years in the work done by CCC units in its state parks and in the forests of the eastern Kentucky federal forest reserve and Mammoth Cave national park. Not only have thousands of boys had the physical training that only open air life can give, but they have been profitably occupied in the nation's conservation program and their families have received the major portion of their pay, thus relieving federal and state relief agencies in large measure.

Probably the greatest asset derived from this national program is the building of morale in young men whose thoughts and action are so clearly diverted in the stress of national recovery from the depression. Crime has increased during this period. Unemployment has brought a new problem and a new menace. That the youthful enrollees in the CCC enjoy their work and take a pride in the organization is evident from letters written home, from their lively articles in "Happy Days", the national newspaper that goes to all the camps, and from their own individual publications.

The CCC has made good. President Roosevelt has one outstanding achievement, at least, in his credit and one his critics may well take step when surveying the field for campaign speeches.—Lexington Herald.

The above editorial expresses the general sentiment of thinking people in this community who have reason to know at first hand just what the CCC camps mean. Locally it has meant business to the business men. But of even more importance, it has meant the building of roads that otherwise would not have been built and the opening up of trade territory that otherwise would remain closed perhaps forever. Discontinue almost any thing else, but let the CCC go on.

A NEWSPAPER PROGRAMME

We like the platform of a weekly newspaper expressed thus: "This paper is whole heartedly for every home enterprise and it will be found first and always for Morehead and Rowan county. The function of a real newspaper is to boost the home enterprises, to give full credit to every citizen for every worthy endeavor, whether the paper likes him or not; and the paper doesn't dislike anyone very much. Newspapers are about the most forgiving set in the world. It doesn't fall out with anyone who disagrees with it. That's their privilege and they may be right at least part of the time."

NEWS FLASHES OF INTEREST

PASTORS FACE ARREST

Like early Christians in the catacombs, Germany's Protestants went apprehensively to church Sunday. Spies and secret service men surrounded them as 16,000 opposition pastors took their cause "against the powers of anti-Christ" to the nation's pulpits.

Police were everywhere, but Pastors, stung to a point of defiance, assailed the authority of Chancellor Hitler and his henchman, Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller, to establish a dictatorship over the church. They spoke freely, most of them, though their leaders are suspended and under arrest and they themselves face a like fate.

A manifesto holding Reichsbishop Mueller and Dr. August Festung, commissioner of Protestant churches in Prussia, responsible for the "triumph of violence and hypocrisy," was distributed to congregations. Of the two Nazi churchmen the manifesto said, "Through them Satan does his work."

GIRL FOUND IN FLAMES

The burned body of 5-year old Nancy Jean Costigan, of Forest Hills, N. Y., was found in the flames of an apartment house furnace, and Lawrence Stone, a discharged handyman was held by police for questioning.

Stone, 24, was taken into custody but not formally arrested. After Charles Hutchinson, doorman at the apartment house, told officials the man had left a side entrance of the building with blood on his clothing and hands.

MURDERER IS SUICIDE

Sidney Frostad, 39 years old, shot and killed himself in a house two miles from where his wife and mother-in-law were slain Sunday night, police announced. Frostad had been sought for the killings. Police said he had been dead several hours when his body was found. Mrs. Frieda Gunderson was shot to death and her daughter, Mrs. Clara Frostad, fatally wounded Saturday night only few hours after they had returned from California.

NUDISTS RETURN HOME

With their exteriors tanned by cold Northern Ohio winds, nudists from eighteen states departed for the warmth of their homes from Columbus, Ohio, determined to induce their legislators to acquiesce themselves with nudist standards and practices. Huddled in the nude around a camp fire after breakfast, the 30 men and women delegates to the International Nudist Conference, unanimously adopted a resolution asserting that the values of nudism are little known and understood by public officials and members of the judiciary.

$2,500 JEWELRY STOLEN

A wholesale burglary, one of the largest in Lexington recently, was staged at the residence of Dr. Walter Wright, 1222 Richmond road, sometime between Friday afternoon and Saturday morning when jewelry, clothing and silverware valued at more than $2,500 was taken, according to a report made to police Sunday.

U. S. BUYS SILVER

The United States has politely but just as firmly informed the Chinese Government that it can make no promises about its silver buying programme since the operations are carried out under a mandatory act of Congress.

The Nanking government had complained that the buying operations had caused an increase in the price of the metal which was lowering Chinese purchasing power. The request was made that the Treasury confine its purchases of silver for the present, at least, to the metal already in the United States "to avoid further promoting the drain from China."

HONOR SLAIN KING

Submerging its former political feelings against the country's King, Yugoslavia bowed its head and gave itself up to weeping as the body of the slain Alexander arrived from Split on its sad return to native soil.

The dead King's homecoming had a peculiarly significant meaning at Zagreb. It was here that three Croats, in December, 1933, attempted to assassinate Alexander during a visit which he intended to be a Christmas gift to the Croat people. To give the city a genuine aspect of mourning all the electric lights were extinguished when the funeral train arrived.

Thousands of streaming torch-lights carried by Croat peasants illuminated the faces of the crowd that came forth to see the procession, lending an almost ghostly appearance to the scene.

All the way from Split, lines of pious, weeping peasants and mountaineers knelt in prayer as the royal train proceeded along its way.

ADMIRAL BYRD RETURNS

Little America, Antarctic, Oct. 12 (Via Mackay radio)—Admiral Richard E. Byrd, his uncle being a little prayer, returned to this base today after a stay of almost seven months at the Bolling advance weather base.

The commander of the expedition to the south polar regions was brought back by a plane piloted by Bill Dowling, who made a round trip flight through misty uncertain weather.

Admiral Byrd seemed to have recovered almost completely from his illness in Jane. He had regained from 20 to 25 pounds in weight since the tractor party went to his relief.

Admiral Byrd was in high spirits when he stepped from the plane here. He greeted all members of the station by name and teased them about their beards.

Kennel Murder Case

Interrupted? In a way perhaps Vance himself seemed puzzled. Still there are no signs of a struggle, and he is reclining on an easy chair at the end of the desk. Further more his features are quite serene; his eyes are closed peacefully—and the door was bolted on the inside. Very strange, Markham.

He walked to the shaded window and back, smoking leisurely. Suddenly he stopped and fixed his head looking Markham straight in the eye. Interrupted—yes! That's it! But not by any outside agency—not by an intruder. He was interrupted by someone more subtle—more deadly. He was interrupted while he was alone. Something happened—something sinister intruded—and he stopped writing, he dropped the pen, forgot to rise, and seated himself in that easy chair. Then came the end swift and unexpected—before he could change his shoes—Don't you see? Those shoes are another indication of the terrible interruption.

And the gun? asked Heath contemptuously.

I doubt if Coe saw the gun, Sergeant.

A Startling Discovery

At this moment the front door stairs opened and shut with a bang, and we could hear a rather strident feminine voice address the butler.

Morning, Gamble. Take my clubs and tell Liang to rustle me up some tea and muffins.

There came a sound of footsteps on the stairs, and Gamble's appealing voice said.

But, Miss Lake, I regret you must wait a moment please.

Tea and muffins, came Miss Lake's voice curiously, and the footsteps continued up the stairs.

Markham and Heath and I stepped toward the door just as the young woman reached the upper landing.

Miss Hilda Lake was a short, somewhat stockily built woman of about thirty, strong, resilient and abiding looking. Her blue gray eyes were steady and I, thought, a trifle hard; her nose was broad and to small for beauty; and her lips were full though unemotional. Her yellow-brown hair was cut short and combed straight back from her broad, low forehead. She wore a tweed suit and heavy brown oxfords with rubber soles. A white shirtwaist with a green four in hand added a final touch of manliness to her appearance.

As she reached the head of the stairs and saw Markham, she came forward with a swinging stride and held out her hand.

Greetings, she said. What brings you here so early? Business, with uncle, I suppose.

Something seriously wrong, Miss Lake, Markham replied, trying to bar her way into the room. If you will be so good as to wait—

But the young woman, with an aggressive gesture, brushed past us and entered the room. The moment she caught sight of Archer Coe she went swiftly to him and knelt down putting her arm about him.

He? Don't touch that body!

Heath stepped quickly to her and put his hand on her shoulder—none too gently, pulling her to her feet.

She swung toward him angrily, her feet wide apart.

Markham stepped diplomatically into the breach.

Lake, he explained, until the medical examiner arrives.

She regarded Markham calculatingly.

Is it also against the law to tell me what's happened? she asked.

We know little more than you do, Markham returned mildly. We have just arrived, and we found your uncle's body returned as you see it.

She turned and contemplated the inert figure a the arm chair.

Well, what do you think has happened? She put the question in a hard even tone.

There is every appearance of suicide.

P. T. A. Will Be Organized At Morehead High

At the regular October faculty meeting last week plans were worked out to organize an active P. T. A. in the school. A meeting was called for Thursday night of this week in the high school building at 7:30 and personal invitations were sent to parents urging them to be present at this meeting.

The great value of a P. T. A. to a progressive school system has long been recognized. It is the medium through which teachers and parents come to a better understanding of their common interest—the highest possible mental and physical development of the child.

Parents and teachers must work hard to achieve this goal. It is the duty of parents to visit their children during school hours and see if the training they receive is as they would have it be, to see if they are working under proper conditions. (Continued From Page One) and to see the progress made by the child. Much of this can be accomplished through P. T. A. If you are interested in your child, invite it to him by coming to the Morehead High School Thursday, Oct. 18 at 7:30.

M. H. S. Alumni To Organize Here

A few of the members of the various graduating classes of Morehead High School, 1927-1934, met together in the school gymnasium on Thursday evening. Plans were discussed for the organization of a Morehead High Alumni Association.

It was decided to meet again Monday night, October 22, at 7:30, in the gym. Invitations will be mailed to all the alumni. At this next meeting, officers will be chosen, a constitution adopted, and a Home-Coming Day planned. Everybody turn out!

High School Class Enjoys An Outing

The high school seems to have had a yen for hiking. Three of the classes had gone on hikes during the past week.

The Junior Class, chaperoned by Mrs. J. J. Jent, left at 8:00 and walked to Knob Hill, having a picnic, roast and returning about 9:30 p. m. About 20 people enjoyed the hike.

The Sophomores sponsored by Buell Hodge, left about three miles down the Midland Trail, Wednesday afternoon, October 3. The twenty reported an enjoyable time.

The Freshman class, accompanied by Miss Ella Mae Boggess and Miss Jewel Allen, hiked to the C. C. C. depot Tuesday, Oct. 9. They started at 5:30 and got back in town at 7:00. All reported a nice time.

HOME COMING

The program for homecoming at the Morehead State Teachers College this year is more attractive than ever before. It is drawn along practically the same lines as heretofore, but the events promise to be better, and there are more of them. Hundreds of alumni will come home again and Morehead is prepared to royally welcome them:

Funeral services were held from the Leach home on Saturday afternoon, with Rev. B. H. Kazes, assisted by Rev. H. L. Moore, Rev. G. M. Fern and Rev. T. F. Lyons. Burial was made in Pine Grove Cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Ernest Fisher, W. T. Johnson, Ewing Basford, S. P. Wheeler, W. E. Kegley, W. H. Vaughan, R. D. Judd and Everett Randall.

farmers will receive this money in return for reducing the tobacco acreage on their farms this year from 33 1-3 to 50 percent of their average acreage.

The tobacco reduction program affecting other types of tobacco which have gone on the market has resulted in a much higher price for these tobaccos. In most cases more than doubling the 1933 prices. A considerable increase in Burley prices is expected. The Burley Tobacco Program may be continued in 1935 under the contracts signed last spring if the Secretary of Agriculture finds it necessary. The continuation of the program is desired by the Rowan County Farmers.

MOORE'S SERMON

surprised to find the man, poor whom we supposed to have been rich; the man whom we thought honest is sometimes found to be short in his accounts. When the records of some men are cremated in the fierce furnace of post-mortem criticism, we are amazed at the small residuum, and that is nothing but ashes. But there are men who are not so when they die. There are some that are found entire in their characters and records when submitted to the fierce heat of judgment; so indestructible that we cannot reduce or diminish them by any examination. I believe that we are commemorating today the life of a man that looks larger when he is dead than when he was alive. There are reasons for this. One was the exceeding quietness of the man; he sounded no trumpets, made no noise, called no attention to his doings. He was one of the stillest men in church. He was a silent worshipper in the house of God, sitting with prayerful and earnest face, doing his work peacefully, quietly, with absolute fidelity. He was a quiet man in all his activities. It was said of Abraham Lincoln: "that as he passed along life's way he plucked the thistles and planted roses"; the same can be said of our dear friend.

In the midst of grief and sorrow we rejoice in the life and immortality that is brought through the light of the gospel of Christ. Thanks be unto God who giveth us victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

This grand and silent life has passed out of mortal sight, will be missed and mourned but its lessons are precious. His life brings sweet memories as well as hope. We rejoice and thank God for a life which leaves behind a radiance of purity, goodness, and peace. Few bequeath such a rich heritage to those who survive.

Friends, such a man as this never dies. Cannot we say that he was a good man in the sight of the Lord, a true friend, a loyal citizen? The work that he did, and the words he spoke, and the character he built, and the influence he set into motion will outlive and outshine the stars. I believe that this man has kept the faith, has finished the course, thus there is laid up for him a crown of glory. Has he not heard the heavenly host sing, Enter ye in to the joys of the Lord.

with the coal mining industry developed in Morgan county near Wrigley and Redwine. He was a pioneer in his connection with the Lee Coal Company and with the Clearfield Lumber Company in its day. When the Lee Clay Products Company was being developed, he was the pioneer in developing the clay properties of the company. He attained a directorship in the Morehead and North Fork and in the Lee Clay Products Company.

During his years in this community he rose to prominence in Masonic lodges, serving at various intervals in the capacity of Past Master, High Priest and Worthy Patron of the O. E. S. He was a member of the Knights Templar as well, and was a Mason worthy of the name.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs.

Gertrude Snyder, and by two sisters Miss Eva Snyder of Clearfield, Pa. and Mrs. C. F. Jaxox of Dubois, Pa. And so a good man, a good citizen passes. Yet he has not gone from among us, but lies on the hills facing the work where he spent the best years of his life, at the edge of a great arterial national highway which he helped to build.

him his friend. The best proof of that was the fact that he was not "Mr. Snyder" to many, but to all was simply "Guy".

Born on February 8, 1875 at Clearfield, Pa. He was united in marriage on June 28, 1905 to Miss Gertrude Shunk at JJohnstown, Pa. The following year he and Mrs. Snyder came to Morehead where they have since resided, where they have built and made their home. Transplanted from their native soil, they have become an integral part of the community, perhaps more so, because they were born in another state.

Following the close of his connection with the construction of the Morehead and North Fork, Mr. Snyder became connected in turn

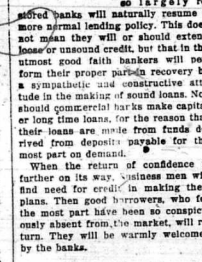

STRONGER BUSINESS AND STRONGER BANKS

By F. M. LAW
President American Bankers Association

During the crisis when confidence was shattered, bankers were proposed in liquidation. Their main thought was to prepare to meet any demand for withdrawal of funds. They were more interested therefore in collecting loans than in making them. For this they cannot be justly blamed. It was a proper procedure.

Now that confidence has been so largely restored banks will naturally resume a more normal lending policy. This does not mean they will or should extend loans or unsound credit, but that in the utmost good faith bankers will perform their proper part in recovery by a sympathetic and constructive attitude in the making of sound loans. Nor should commercial banks make capital their loans are made from funds derived from deposits payable for the most part on demand.

When the return of confidence is further on its way, business men will find need for credit in making their plans. They good borrowers, who for the most part have been so conspicuously absent from the market, will return. They will be warmly welcomed by the banks.

Hallow'en Devils

YOU should have a touch of the Devil in your dishes on Hallow'en when imps and hobgoblins are supposed to be abroad. In fact, the safest thing to do with them is to eat them. So here are some recipes to show you how which you will find, incidentally, delectably good.

Red Hot Devils: Mix well together the contents of a 3-ounce can of lobster spread, three tablespoons mayonnaise and two tablespoons chopped sweet pickle. Split open small, hot baking powder biscuits and butter them. Spread with the mixture, and lay over a bit of lettuce. Put on tops of biscuits and serve while hot.

Hot Devil Sandwiches: Spread the contents of a 4-ounce can deviled ham between slices of buttered bread cut in any desired shape. Toast on both sides and pour over the following sauce.

Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour and one cup milk. Heat one can tomato soup to boiling, add a few grains of soda, and pour the hot soup slowly into the white sauce, stirring constantly. Season to taste with salt and pepper and garnish the sandwiches with fans of pickles, water-cress and ripe olives.

A Drink and Dessert

Devil's Brew: Melt two squares chocolate in double boiler. Smooth two teaspoons cornstarch with two tablespoons cold water, add one-half cup sugar and a few grains cinnamon, and add to melted chocolate. Add two cups hot, strong coffee, and cook until creamy, stirring constantly. Then cover and cook ten minutes.

Chili: Add two and a half cups chilled evaporated milk, and serve in tall glasses with a dab of whipped cream on top.

And how about Devil's food cup cakes as a dessert?

THOUSANDS of visitors to the Ford Building at a Century of Progress have been awed by the sight of the largest photo mural ever made, which encircles part of the rotunda of the building.

Nearly a mile of photographic paper 40 inches high, 12,000 square feet of pressed wood, 12,000 square feet of canvas, and 12 tons of steel angles were called into play in the construction of the huge 600-foot picture.

The scenes depicted consist of 17 settings, presenting a coherent story of the huge Ford plant. The photographs, enlarged from 8 by 10 negatives, are mounted upon canvas applied to warp-proof pressed wood panels, fitted upon a steel frame.

To avoid distortion and obtain perfect clarity in making the enlargements of the photographs, it was necessary to do most of the work during the hours between midnight and morning, when street traffic is at its lowest. During this time vibration is reduced to a minimum, and the electric current used in the great lamps of the enlarging machine is at its steadiest.

The mural emphasizes the progress made in photography since the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1894, when the largest photograph in existence was only ten feet long by two feet high.

FROM UNIVERSITY OF KY. EXPERIMENT STATION

Sort out all ear- and branched potatoes, store the separate, and use them first. It pays to handle potatoes, carefully, especially where they are to be stored for a long time. Storage ventilation is important, particularly for sweetpotatoes, or milk is available, see that the abundance of it. Milk or meat products should be fed in addition to corn or wheat, oyster shells or lime stone, and salt. Egg prices are likely to be comparatively good this year.

Bean tops may be harboring millions of Mexican bean beetles and old tomato vines may carry disease that will live over to make gardening difficult next year. Many people now burn the remains of all crops and weeds around the edges of the garden.

Long winter evenings are good times to make the man of the house help remodel and upholster stools, chairs, couches and other furniture. There is much old furniture that could be worked into beautiful pieces. See a home demonstrator for suggestions.

All exterior metal parts of buildings made of material which are subject to corrosion, such as gutters, down spouts, tin roofs, flashing and exterior hardware, should be kept covered with protective coating of paint.

Apples contain vitamins A and B and C, and the minerals calcium, phosphorus iron, which are necessary for health and growth. Because they are high cellulose, they have laxative qualities and are easily digested. There is then really something to the old adage, "an apple a day keeps the doctor away."

CORN EAR WORM

Clipping the silks and husks that protrude beyond the tip of the ear, just after pollination was completed, resulted in practical control of the corn ear worm on sweet corn, in tests made at the Agricultural Station at Lexington.

Pinching the tips of the ears about the time pollination was complete and again two weeks later reduce the damage from worms about 5 percent. The report of the Station says that these inexpensive methods of control appear to be practical for the home gardener and an attempt will be made to develop them for use in commercial plantings.

Mrs. John Land, a Garrard county 4-H club leader and publicity chairman of the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers, recently won an automobile by writing an article about her club activities.

In her four years of 4-H club leadership, Mrs. Land has guided 79 boys and girls in foods, clothing, canning, poultry, calf, tobacco, sheep, corn, dairy, pig and potato projects, and has trained four home practice demonstration teams and three farm practice teams. She received a certificate for leadership and her club was awarded the county achievement prize by the Lancaster Rotary club.

FALL SAVAGE

In the past few weeks the storing of the various vegetables has been discussed particularly with reference to the principles that govern. Today details are given especially for the similar forms of vegetable storage.

The most usual way to keep the root vegetables is to bury them in a pit or mound but this is not always successful. One reason is the relatively mild weather of the past few winters, causing the potatoes to sweat and spoil and even to grow out of the pile. The weather is not wholly to blame, however, but the location of the pit and the absence of means for taking care of ventilation of the pit contribute.

Generally, the potatoes are buried close to where they were produced. When it is recalled that potatoes are planted in the earliest part of the garden where all advantages may be taken to the spring sun, it is not difficult to see why the contents of the pit may become much too warm to store well, even in mid-winter. The pit should be put in the shade of a building or of a tree.

Ventilation is assured in this way. After the location for the pit has been leveled, two ditches about 12 inches wide and 6 inches deep should be dug to cross at right angles, and covered with planks or with flat stones. Where they cross is the center of the pit to be made. Next should be spread a 5 inch layer of straw and the potatoes piled about the stack as steeply as they will stay.

The potatoes should then be covered with 5 or 6 inches of straw or litter, and then with 15 inches of earth. The ends of the ditches under the pit admit fresh air to replace the moist, foul air that rises through the pit and escapes the stack. The intake vents may be closed with a shovelful of earth, and the outlet assuring control of the ventilation stack, by stuffing it with sacking of the pile and if its temperature, as explained last week.

A form of storage midway between the pit and the outlet cellar may be made by digging a hole about 6 feet wide, 10 feet long, and from 2 to 4 feet deep, the sides sloped so as not to cave. Steps into it should be dug at one end. One or two length of the pits a roof should be constructed after the manner of a tent roof and at the ridge a stack of chimney of the same dimensions in inches as the floor is in feet should be placed. The materials for the roof may be merely sapling, the odds and ends of lumber; the roof is then covered with the earth that came out of the hole, to a thickness of 15 inches. At the step end, a tight door should be fitted, and another at the foot of the steps, also tight, open, stuffing a sack into the hole in its feet, or a blanket may be hung to clear the floor so as to have an opening of that size. Change outer door and the ventilation is open; stuffing a sack into the stack and closing the outer door close the storage against dangerous temperatures.

An ideal storage, next to a suitable house cellar, is an outside cellar, perhaps built of stone and concrete, with a watertight roof of either material, although as those satisfactory makeshift may be made better described in circular 266 than they could possibly be in this space. It is suggested that those who want to build a really suitable vegetable storage write the College of Agriculture at Lexington, Kentucky for a copy of this circular.

A plea to plant trees about the farm home is made in a circular of the College of Agriculture, called "How to plant shade trees."

Trees carefully selected and correctly located, not only furnish shade but add materially to the appearance of the place and to its value, it is pointed out.

Home owners should select the kinds of trees they like, keeping in mind that good hardwood varieties are slower to grow and develop but make better trees and live longer.

Foods for Fall

Of course you're not going to serve the same foods to all as you have been serving all summer. The change in temperature naturally calls for a change in diet. But what different foods have you particularly in mind? Kidney beans, beet, oxtail, tomatoes, pumpkin, cider, sweet potatoes, sauerkraut, apple butter, wine fruit salad, oysters, codfish, tuna, salmon, frankfurters, veal roast, nuton brot, apricots and pears. How's that for starters? You can go on from there your- self. And here are a couple of inexpensive recipes which include some of these foods.

Beets with Vinegar Dressing: Heat the contents of a No. 5 can of sliced beets, drain and keep hot. Mix four tablespoons sugar with one teaspoon vinegar, and add with one tablespoon butter, three tablespoons oil for about a few grains of salt to the beet liquor. Cook till creamy, and pour over the hot beets. Cost about fifteen cents and serves four very liberally.

Beets Spiced with Sauerkraut: Wash and drain one and a half pounds sauerkraut, dust with salt and pepper, and place in a baking pan. Pour two-thirds cup water over, and bake in a moderate oven for one hour, basting occasionally. Heat the contents of a 2 1/2 can sauerkraut, and stir in center of a hot platter. Arrange the sauerkraut around the sauerkraut, less than forty-five cents and serves four.

Kentucky has a climate of a well adapted to the growing of a large variety of excellent trees of different sizes and shapes. Some of them are elm, hard maples, oaks, walnut, ash, sweet gum, black gum, linden, poplar, poplar, hickory, wild cherry, etc.

The selection of the individual trees and methods of handling at planting time are important. A tree that is from 1 to 2 inches in diameter, 8 to 12 feet high, with a good root system and wellshaped top, is the best to plant.

The circular was written by N. R. Elliott, extension landscape specialist for the college. Copies may be obtained from county and home demonstration agents or by writing to the college and paying the cost.

The following statement of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration concerning the uses of contracted wheat acreages has been re- traced through the state compliance office at the Experiment Station. The land to be designated as contracted acreage for the crop year 1936, under wheat adjustment contracts may be used as follows:

(a) For the seeding of any grass or legume crop other than emergency forage crops without restriction as to use for hay, pasture or seed production. (Such crops shall include timothy, red top, blue grass, meadow fescue, orchard grass, rye grass, lespede, alfalfa, sweet clover, lespede, and similar pasture and hay crops).

(b) For the seeding of emergency forage crops for hay, pasture or roughage only. (Such crops shall include soybeans, cowpeas, field peas, millet, sudan grass, forage sorghum, barley, rye, oats and similar crops). Such forage crops grown on the contracted acres shall not be used for the production of seed nor shall such crops be allowed to reach maturity. (c) The contracted acreage may be summer fallowed, planted to forest trees or left unplanted, if such action will not cause serious damage from soil erosion and provided that noxious weeds are controlled.

(d) The contracted acreage shall not be used for the planting of any crop declared as a basic commodity under the Agricultural Adjustment Act as amended, except that such a crop as barley, oats, rye, or other grains except wheat, may be used as winter cover crops if pastured or harvested before maturity or clipped when green and allowed to lie on the ground.

(e) The contracted acreage for 1936 shall not include land which at the beginning of the 1935 crop year was already in pasture or meadow, nor shall any waste land, gulched or eroded land, or the like, be designated as contracted acreage. The contracted acreage for 1936 shall be the acreage of that on which wheat is ordinarily raised on this farm and shall be a part of the cultivated acreage of the farm.

Better Breakfasts

VACUUM PACKED COFFEE

HAVE a breakfast you'll scramble for these first days of sharp weather. Begin it with a baked apple. Then have cereal and cream. Slow away some sausage with scrambled eggs, and a cup of coffee which completes a mighty good breakfast. The sausage should have a steaming hot sauce. Here's the way to make that delectable dish known as Moroccan Sausages: Remove the pork sausage from a small can, and fry in their own fat. Remove to a hot platter. Add to the sausage fat two tablespoons dried celery and one tablespoon dried green pepper, and fry a few minutes. Add three tablespoons chili sauce, heat and pour over sausage. This serves three or four.

Important Coffee

Breakfast coffee is all important. It should taste just right, and the most important means of attaining this end is to serve coffee that is vacuum packed. Fortunately there is a way of being always sure that your coffee is fresh. That is to buy one of the many brands of vacuum packed coffee. You'll see the words "vacuum packed" on the cans containing these brands in every grocery store, and when coffee is vacuum packed the air can't get in to make it deteriorate and the taste can't go out to dissipate your coffee. Every bit of coffee in a can with those words on it comes out as fresh as the day it was made. You'll enjoy it. Pick out a that brand and try it if you haven't done so before.

College Eagles Meet Union Bulldogs Here In Homecoming Tilt

The crowning highlight of student activity at the Morehead State Teachers College is slated for Saturday at the annual Homecoming Day. The leading feature of the day's events will, of course, be the football clash between the College Eagles and the Union College Bulldogs. A crowd that will fill Joyce Stadium is expected for this classic meeting between these two S. L. A. A. opponents.

The Union team will be favored this year. Last season they whipped the Eagles, and appear to have a much better eleven this season. Their latest achievement was a 20-7 victory over Eastern at Barbourville last Saturday.

Cochran Downing was gratified at the offense the Eagles showed in the Rio Grande game, but feels that his team will have to be bolstered all around to hold the fast charging Union backs. Morehead is especially adept at flipping the Rio Grande game, but feels that the same time the visitors drop the line consistently and do a good job of passing on the score.

The Morehead Union game scheduled to get under way at 2 o'clock.

Methodists Meet November 2nd

The third annual meeting of the Kentucky Federation of Methodist College students will be held at Richmond Kentucky beginning Friday evening, Nov. 2, and continuing through Sunday morning, Nov. 4. The meeting will open with a banquet at Eastern Normal Teachers College and immediately following, the keynote message of the conference will be delivered at the Richmond Methodist Church. The theme for the conference will be: "There We Be Christian in Our Economic Age". A number of the outstanding student leaders of the churches will appear on the program. Discussion groups on subjects relative to the theme will be special features of Saturday's program. Approximately 150 students from various colleges throughout the state will be in attendance.

Morehead Is Loser By 5-2

By playing heads up baseball, hitting at opportune times and taking advantage of every scoring opportunity, Flemingsburg evened the Kentucky State League play-off series here Sunday afternoon, beating Morehead 5 to 2. Each team has now won one game.

The Flemingsburg team, however, contributed largely to their victory. Flemingsburg broke on top and never was in serious danger although they threatened in the eighth inning.

Morehead down with 9 men on the field, but they were unable to get a run in the eighth. One of his blunders, however, was in the first single and Gray deep left field again in the base on a squeeze play.

Wilson effectively stemmed Morehead's batting thunder until the eighth inning when Day, Spence, McKenzie and Raley put 4 singles together for 2 runs. Wilson halted the rally by striking out Fugate.

The Pirates mild rally in the ninth ended when Aris threw Carter out as he attempted to stretch a single into a double. Claude Clayton, Flemingsburg catcher, was the hitting star of the afternoon with 3 hits to his credit, that drove in three runs.

Wilson effectively stemmed Morehead's batting thunder until the eighth inning when Day, Spence, McKenzie and Raley put 4 singles together for 2 runs. Wilson halted the rally by striking out Fugate.

Breckinridge Loses Series Will Continue 6-0, In Hard Fight With Sunday Game

The Breckinridge Training School football team fought an uphill battle from the first quarter here Saturday and deserved a tie although they dropped the decision to Mt. Sterling 6 to 0.

An intercepted pass on Morehead 20 yard line accounted for the only touchdown of the afternoon. Breckinridge dug into a pile of bricks in an effort to overcome the six point lead of the visitors, but met a stubborn Mt. Sterling eleven.

The Breckinridge team, outwitted at practically every position, fought hard. Their tackling was good and their defense airtight. Except for the pass which should not have been attempted when they were backed almost to their goal line, the training school team might have come out with a scoreless tie. Morehead looked good, much better than most fans supposed the small boys would.

The third game of the Kentucky League series will be played at the Flemingsburg ball yard Sunday afternoon. The managers, optimistic as to the weather, and glancing unfavorably toward the red figures recorded on the attendance at the opener which was played on a week day, decided to take a chance and play the third game on a Sunday. Reb McKenzie of Morehead and Wilson, Flemingsburg, will probably be the starting pitchers in the third game.

EAGLES WIN OVER OHIO TEAM BY AERIAL ROUTE

The Morehead College Eagles soared into the air with a barrage of passes that netted them one touchdown and led to another, to fly over Rio Grande here Saturday afternoon in an inter-sectional football game. The score, Morehead 13 Rio Grande 8, just about represents the difference between the play of the two eleven.

Rio Grande fought out the touchdown splurges of the Eagles in the first quarter, and then in the second period opened an offensive drive that netted the first touchdown of the afternoon. The Ohioans with Smith carrying the ball on at almost every play, drove from midfield to the eighteen yard line. The Eagles held for three downs, but on the fourth, McClure flicked a pass, which a tall lad named Callahan took on the one yard line and was dived in his tracks. On the second the marker, but McClure failed on his attempted dropkick.

A pass, Clayton to Alley, good for 45 yards, but the Eagles on the 15 yard line to the same quarter. With Clayton paving the way, they gained first down on the two yard strip. Clayton plunged over to knot the score. A bad pass from center ruined all chance of the extra point. Morehead came to the twenty yard line in the third quarter, and Clayton passed to Ryan in the end zone for a touchdown. The same

Pirates And Flemers Are Tied In Series With 1 Game Each

Vikings Lose To Greenup Friday

The Morehead High School Vikings' outwitted and outplayed by a good Greenup team went down in noble defeat Friday afternoon. The score was Greenup 19; Morehead 7.

A lack of headwork on Greenup's part gave the Vikings their touchdown on the first kick-off of one of the game. Morehead lost the toss, and Greenup elected to receive the kickoff over the goal line and Greenup let the ball lay in the end zone and a Viking player covered it for a touchdown. If Greenup had covered the ball it would have been a touchdown and brought out to the twenty yard line. Alfrey converted from placement to give Morehead a seven point lead.

On the next kickoff Greenup got away for forty yards and pushed it over the goal line the remainder of the distance on power plays. They kicked over the goal line to the count 7 to 7.

The half ended with the second and Morehead holding their own. Greenup pushed over a touchdown in the third period and made it more decisive with another in the fourth quarter. Both attempts for extra points failed.

The Vikings appeared badly off form. Brown was especially adept at tackling and blocking. Carter, star Morehead halfback was injured and could not put his best into the fray.

Sport Splurges

The Kentucky State League play-off series is now tied—one game for Morehead and one for Flemingsburg. The tie games represent about the difference in the play of the two teams so far.

Both teams have scored eleven runs so far. Morehead has four more hits than the Flemers, but Flemingsburg has run bases better, and has played heads-up baseball more so than have the Pirates.

After watching both games, we still stick to our prediction. Morehead has the better hitting team—the fastest team—and the best fielding team. Flemingsburg has the better hurling staff, and smarter baseball players. Flemingsburg clearly demonstrated that they could match Morehead's youth with brilliant tactics in Sunday's game here.

The play of the Morehead College Eagles in the Rio Grande game was surprising from one angle. The Eagles were supposed to have a good defensive team and little scoring power. Against Rio Grande they had the punch when in possession of the ball, but they wilted on numerous occasions when the Ohioans started their offensive maneuvers. The Eagles had a good pass offense and an equally poor defense against an aerial game.

Morehead won the ball game and won it on merit. They outgained the Ohioans and played more consistently. The five point margin just about represents the difference between the teams. The Eagles will have to go a long way to take Union, Transy and East Tennessee Teachers.

Eastern, traditional rivals of the Morehead school, have lost three straight games, and appear to have a much weaker team than the glowing preseason predictions on the Maroons indicated.

It did our hearts good to watch the Breckinridge Training School

Morehead and Flemingsburg renew their Kentucky League championship series at Flemingsburg Sunday afternoon.

The games now stand even, the Pirates whipping the Flemers in the opener 9-4 and losing here Sunday 5 to 2. The teams appear evenly matched.

MOREHEAD WINS 9-6

Two home runs by Luster Oxley, Morehead shortstop and probably the most improved ball player in the Kentucky State League, provided the spark that put the Pirates side the pitcher's battle both teams enabled them to take the first game of the loop series at Flemingsburg Friday afternoon. Democratic Nominee For Congress Eighth Congressional District Re-elect A Man That Is For The People's Interests

Down at the University of Kentucky they don't know just what kind of a football team they have. They sank to the depths of despair when Washington and Lee beat them 7-0 and then rose on a tidal wave as the Wildcats clawed a University of Cincinnati team to pieces. Last Saturday they walloped Clemson 7 to 0 but this margin was not satisfactory to Kentucky followers.
