The area which is presently named Annville was formerly known as Chinquapin Rough because of the numerous Chinquapin (sic) trees. As I understand a blight destroyed the trees since very few if any remain. (sic). In the late 1890s a man by the name of 'Ned' Johnson was postmaster in this area. His wife's name was Nancy Ann. It was he who named the p.o. Annville honoring his wife. I learned this from two elderly citizens of Annville. The change of the name was not done by any government request as some have indicated. Annville is a small village with the houses located mostly along (Ky. 30)... Besides the few stores and garages, Annville Institute, a school founded by the Reformed Church in America in 1909, compose the greater part of Annville." (Letter to me from Betty DeJong of Gray Hawk, Ky., 4/10/1969.) Edward W. Johnson was pm from 1/23/1889 to 9/26/102. (...) (NA)

DK when settled. 7 mi. from McKee. Named for the "many gray hawks which abound in that section." (WPA). (pron. "Grahawk" => Hohk")

There's a story that Mssrs. Gray & Hawk owned land around that community and they named it that. But Jess Wilson has not found any record of this. This is the 1st time he ever came across anybody actually named Hawk associated with the place so it might have been named for a Hawk also. He knows there were Grays living in that vic. It's a village with a bldg. supply house, 3 churches, middle class homes. Nice looking place. (Jess Wilson, 7/9/77);

LETTER BOX (or Parrot, Jackson Co., Ky):
"Parrot is named for a family. And the local name--it was the Letterbox School but it was the Parrot p.o. And the reason it's called Letterbox is that there used to be a letter box tacked on the side of a tree on the route from London to McKee. And the people locally would get their mail--the mail carrier would leave it in this letter box. (How long ago was that?) That must have been back around the time of the Civil War. It would have been somewhere when the county was first formed...after 1858." (Jess Wilson, Possum Trot, Clay Co., interview, 7/9/77)

SANDGAP (Jackson Co.)

p.o. est. as Collinsworth (sic), 6/10/1886, Wm. N. Hurst...later was spelled Collingsworth (which is correct?)....n.ch. to Sandgap (sic) 2/15/1902, Abel P. Gabbard...(NA)

Named for a sandy gap between the Cumber. and Ky. River watersheds. (acc. to Stephen Farmer, in a letter to Steele, 10/13/1923). (pron. "S(ae)nd G(ae)p") Not actually a gap. Right on top of a ridge. Though there may be a little depression close by there. And it's very sandy; this was very obvious before the road was paved. In places, it would even be a foot deep. (pron. "K(ah)l/(ih)nz/weŘth") Hurst was a local family. (Jess Wilson, 7/9/77);
SAND GAP (Jackson Co.): A natural trail thru there. Otherwise you get into awful rough country. Easier to come up over this ridge and follow the ridge. In that sense it might be considered a gap. A pretty goodsized vil. ther now. Several stores. Some very nice homes and some of the worst shacks in the country. DK if the name is one or 2 words. DK when est. but sometime before 1860. Growth spurt as a town with coal dev. in the 1930s and when the road was paved in c. 1927-8. Before that it was a crossroads settlement with 1 or 2 store (Jess Wilson, 7/9/1977);
SAND GAP (Jackson Co., Ky): Wanda Morris is pm and Emma Lee Marcum runs the local grocery. (ca. Jan. 1997); "This vil. with po is centered at the jct. of US 421 and Ky. 2004, 5½ (air) mi nw of McKee. The commu. dates from pre-C.W. times. The local po was est. on 6/10/1886 and named Collinsworth, probably for a local family, but was renamed Sandgap in 1902 for a slight but very sandy depression in the ridge that forms the dividing line betw. the Cumb. and Ky. R. watersheds." (Book-P. 264);
SAND SPRING (Jackson Co., Ky): PO operated from 1879 to 1886 (P&G); Acc. to Henry H. Gabbard, 3/1879, this prop. po would be 2 mi n of S. Fk, 7 mi nw of Locust Br po, 9 mi se of McKee po. Not a vil.
