MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Lt. Col. Edward Balda, Jr., newly-appointed professor of military science at Morehead State University, is a living advertisement for Army ROTC.

The career officer has degrees from Loyola College and the University of Missouri at Kansas City and both resulted directly from ROTC. "I came through school in an ROTC program and I liked what I was doing enough to make it a career," he recalls. "And I have always wanted to stay in the Army."

As PMS, Balda supervises the training of men who become junior officers in the Army. And he loves what he is doing.

"The opportunity to earn a college degree and a commission at the same time is too good to miss for someone who wants to be a leader," he said.

How does he sell ROTC to college men and women?

"We really feel a young college graduate would have a hard time beating the beginning equivalent salary of $10,800 per year," he said. An "equivalent salary" includes benefits such as medical care and subsistence allowance.

Would students like to learn to fly? Col. Balda did through ROTC. Would they like to see the world? Col. Balda, a native of Baltimore, Md., has lived in several different countries.

"The hardest thing for any family man or woman is the separation time," he added. "I've had three unaccompanied tours myself and its tough. But the Army doesn't hide these tours when they try to recruit you. It's just part of the job."

The new PMS is a family man. He is married to the former Carolyn Ritger of Baltimore and they have four children. And, like anyone else, his wife's feelings about the job are important to him.

"My wife likes the Army," he said. "She likes meeting new people and making new friends."

Does he believe in Army ROTC?

"Absolutely. If I didn't, there are many other places I could be right now. But Morehead State has an outstanding ROTC program and I'm glad to be part of it."

Two December graduates of Morehead State University were among four college students killed early last Friday in an automobile accident near Tullahoma, Tenn.

They were Geraldine Ison, 21, of Sandy Hook, and Sharon Fields, 21, of Stephens. Both completed degree requirements at MSU in December, majoring in mathematics and data processing.

They were attending a science institute sponsored by the University of Tennessee.

Also killed were Mark Stowe, 22, of Manchester, England, and Enice Hutto, 26, of Oklahoma City. Marshall Hutto, 25, of Oklahoma City, was critically injured.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol said the auto in which the students were riding went out of control and struck a tree.

Miss Ison was the daughter of Mrs. Laura Ison of Sandy Hook. Miss Fields was the daughter of Mrs. Delmas Fields of Stephens.

Both were to have received bachelor's degrees at MSU's spring commencement.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Bids will be opened Feb. 20 in Frankfort for the renovation of Allie Young Hall at Morehead State University.

MSU President Adron Doran said the project is estimated to cost about $1.6 million and require one year to complete.

Built in 1925 and used as a women's residence hall until 1974, the four-story structure in the center of the campus will be converted to academic and administrative use.

The first floor will house a centralized printing and duplicating operation and facilities for photojournalism. Located on the second floor will be a new student health center. The third floor will contain a placement center and faculty offices. The fourth floor will house classrooms and offices for the journalism program.

The building was named for the late Sen. Allie Young of Morehead, the state legislator credited with influencing the selection of Morehead as the site of the school in 1922.

"This project will permit us to provide better health care for our students and alleviate a shortage of offices and classrooms in several areas and enable us to consolidate other university-wide services in a modern facility," Dr. Doran said in announcing the bid opening.

(Special to The Morehead News)

Morehead State University's basketball record is even at 11-11 following weekend losses at Western Kentucky and Middle Tennessee.

MSU's Ohio Valley Conference fell to 7-5 with two games remaining.

The hot-shooting Hilltoppers of WKU avenged an earlier loss to Jack Schalow's young cagers with a 100-82 win on Saturday night in Bowling Green.

Western hit 64 percent of its field goal attempts and limited high-scoring Eagle freshman Herbie Stamper to four points, his season low. Sophomore forward Andre Jones paced the MSU scorers with 31, his best effort of the year. Ted Hundley added 16 and Mike Russell had 14.

The flu bug kept two Eagle starters out of the lineup Monday night in Murfreesboro as the home-standing Blue Raiders romped to a 93-76 win, also repaying an earlier loss to MSU. Stamper was hospitalized and Brad Lemaster was held out of the game.

Russell and Jones each had 20 points for the Eagles and Hundley grabbed 10 rebounds.

MSU wraps up its regular season home schedule on Thursday night when East Tennessee visits Wetherby Gym. "Herbie Stamper Night" and "Parents Night" will be observed at halftime. The tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

The Eagles visit Tennessee Tech on Saturday night.

The cast includes Tom Butler, Jeanette Minion, Victor Simon, Kevin Randolph, Teresa Logan, Cathy Figg and Jan Simon.

The UBS choral department is participating in a regional music festival to be held March 27 at MSU.

Choral Director Roy Pyle said the schools will not compete against each other. Instead, soloists and ensembles will be rated on a superior-to-poor scale.

The boys basketball team finished its regular season with a 20-16 record.

The Eaglets won the 61st District and finished second in the Eastern Kentucky Conference. Graduating seniors are Skipper Holly, Jim Morrison, Tom Queen and Tony Jones.

The UBS band and choir is performing March 30 at 8 p.m. in the Breck auditorium. The program consists of a medley of "West Side Story" and Olivia Newton John songs.

The senior choir will sing "One Less Bell to Answer", by Burt Bacarach and a Latin tune, "Cantate Dominol".

(MORE)

The group will also perform "Winds of Spring" and a French selection, "LL Est Bel et Bon".

The junior high choir will sing "Mother Country" by John Coates and "I Write the Songs," arranged by Arnold Freed.

A bicentennial medley concludes the concert.

A tobacco barn was leveled and five other structures damaged on Saturday night when high winds struck Morehead State University's Derrickson Agricultural Complex on Ky. 377, north of Morehead.

MSU President Adron Doran said no persons or animals were injured and that the damage is covered by insurance.

Damage estimates were not available, pending the arrival of insurance adjustors.

In addition to the flattened tobacco barn, sections of roofing were stripped from a stock barn and livestock pavilion. Doors were damaged on three other buildings and several trees were uprooted.

A pony was trapped inside the collapsed barn but workmen cut through timbers and freed the animal Sunday morning.

Dr. Doran said no damage was reported on the main campus.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Nearly 400 contestants from 41 counties in Kentucky and two in Ohio are expected to enter the 13th annual Northeast Kentucky Regional Science Fair Saturday, April 10, at Morehead State University.

Elementary, junior high and senior high school projects will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Laughlin Health Building.

The first place winner and his teacher receive an expense-paid one-week trip to the International Science and Engineering Fair in May in Denver.

MSU awards two academic scholarships to high school seniors with outstanding exhibits. All results will be announced at 4 p.m. in Wetherby Gymnasium.

Other major prizes include The Eastman Kodak Award for the project making the most effective use of photography and certificates and awards from the U.S. Air Force, Army and NASA.

Prizes are awarded for the best projects in biology, mathematics, chemistry and geosciences. Other awards go to the outstanding student projects on elementary, junior high and high school levels and to teachers on each level.

The fair is supported through contributions by regional industries and MSU.

Dr. W. R. Falls and Dr. Maurice Esham of MSU's Department of Science Education are co-directors of the fair.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Gov. Julian Carroll has been invited to participate in groundbreaking ceremonies Tuesday for three projects at Morehead State University.

Included are an addition to Johnson Camden Library, expansion of the Wetherby athletic-academic complex and renovation of Allie Young Hall.

The ceremonies will follow a 12:30 p.m. luncheon involving past and present members of the Board of Regents, past presidents of the Alumni Association, other top government officials and representatives of the news media.

The Board of Regents will hold its regular quarterly meeting at 10 a.m. in the UN Room of the Adron Doran University Center.

The library project consists of a tower addition estimated to cost $2.4 million. Expansion of the Wetherby structure is expected to cost $5.5 million. Renovation of Allie Young Hall for conversion to academic and administrative uses will cost $1.6 million.

Funds for these projects were included in the executive budget approved by the 1976 General Assembly and signed by Gov. Carroll earlier this month.

"These are our first major building projects in four years and they represent the fact that the University is keeping pace as an ever-expanding regional institution of higher education," said MSU President Adron Doran.

Tuesday also will be the 22nd anniversary of Dr. Doran's appointment as MSU's seventh president. He is the dean of Kentucky's public college and university chief executives.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Morehead State University is hosting the Central Kentucky Horse Show Association Training Seminar Saturday, April 10 at 1:30 p.m. at B. F. Reed Hall.

Primary purpose of the seminar is to improve the quality of the local horse shows on the Central Kentucky circuit.

Each local show is required to send at least one person for the three classes in the seminar -- show managers, show secretaries and ringmasters.

To be sanctioned by CKHSA, all local shows must use personnel who have attended the training seminar.

The seminar is being held in conjunction with the MSU Agriculture Club Horse Show April 9 and 10 at the Derrickson Agricultural Complex.

"Speaking on behalf of the more than 18,000 graduates of the University, with 90 per cent of that number receiving degrees so far during Dr. Doran's presidency, we are tremendously proud to be a part of this effort to honor the distinguished president of our alma mater and his charming wife," Rammelsberg added.

Dr. Doran was appointed to the MSU presidency in 1954, becoming the seventh man to hold the office. Now into his 23rd year, he has served more than three times longer than any of his predecessors.

Mrs. Doran, always active as the First Lady, became a full-time staff member in 1969 by founding and directing the Personal Development Institute.

Both have received international recognition for their achievements at MSU. Dr. Doran accepted the Horatio Alger Award in 1971 and Mrs. Doran the 1974 Citation Award of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security (IAPES).

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- A record number of 465 high school, junior high and elementary students from 43 counties in Kentucky and Southern Ohio entered exhibits in the recent 13th annual Northeast Kentucky Regional Science Fair at Morehead State University.

They brought projects ranging from "animals that live around my house" by a Pike County first grader to "a survey of Kentucky's soil for antibiotic producing fungi" by a junior at Owen County High School.

Many exhibits were developed for a year or longer and some would rate as master's degree thesis, according to Dr. Maurice Esham, fair co-director.

"The quality of the exhibits was far better than any time in the past," he observed.

When all exhibits had been inspected, investigated and scored by about 60 judges, the top prize went to Julie Ann Marsh, a 17-year-old senior from Harrison County High School in Cynthiana.

By winning first place in the senior high division she received an all expense-paid trip to Denver in May to compete in the International Science Fair.

(MORE)

Accompanying her will be her teacher, Phillip Jones, a 1972 graduate of Morehead State University.

Miss Marsh's project was entitled "Determination of the Concentration of Chloroamphenicol for the Production of Anemia in Oryctolagus Cuniculus (Rabbit)." She also won awards from the MSU Biology Club, a plaque as the best biology project and the best project in senior high zoology.

The next two awards went to coeds from Notre Dame Academy in Covington. Mary Jo Reed took second place and her classmate, Martina Schultz, was third.

Miss Reed received an electronic calculator and a certificate of excellence from the U.S. Army. She had the best senior high project in chemistry.

Miss Schultz received the Navy Award and a certificate from the MSU Mu Phi Club. She had the best project in the senior high math and computer division.

Awarded Morehead State University academic scholarships for their projects were seniors Cheryl Scott of Harrison County and Mike Cooper of Carroll County.

Teachers awards went to Mrs. Donna Sue Johnson of George Johnson Elementary School in Pike County, Randall Sales of Harrison County Junior High School, and Don Sundys of Fleming County High School.

Other individual first place winners included:

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Morehead State University President Adron Doran, dean of Kentucky's public university chief executives, Monday announced his retirement effective Jan. 1, 1977.

The 66-year-old educator asked the MSU Board of Regents to release him from the remainder of his existing four-year contract which expires June 30, 1978. He has served 22 years in the post.

In requesting retirement, Dr. Doran said to the Regents:

"I have worked harder and accomplished more during the past year than in many of my previous years. I think I could do as much more and do it as well for the remaining years of my contract. However, I feel that Mignon and I owe it to ourselves and to each other to leave the next 22 years of our lives freer of labor, toil, strife and stress."

He continued:

"I have seen university presidents remain in office too long for the welfare of the universities and for their own physical and emotional and mental well being. I do not want to run this risk by remaining until the compulsory retirement age of 70 years."

Dr. Doran, who has served as president nearly four times longer than any of his predecessors, said he would not participate in the selection of his successor.

The board voted unanimously to "regretfully accept" Dr. Doran's request for retirement and to constitute itself as a search committee. Named chairman was Lloyd Cassity of Ashland.

Dr. Doran said he was giving the board nearly eight months of advance notice to facilitate the search process.

"This period will permit the board ample time to look within and without the university for a replacement and to establish a valid process by which various facets of the academic community may be involved in the selection of my successor," he stated.

Dr. and Mrs. Doran will be honored at Friday night's Alumni Banquet which was planned before the announcement as an evening of tribute. It is sponsored by the MSU Alumni Association.

Before assuming the MSU presidency, Dr. Doran served in the public schools of Western Kentucky as a coach, teacher and principal. He had four terms in the General Assembly, including service as Speaker of the House, and spent more than two years in the Kentucky Department of Education.

The Kentucky Press Association named him "Kentuckian of the Year" in 1959; Gov. Edward T. Breathitt selected him for the "Distinguished Kentuckian Award" in 1966; and Gov. Louie B. Nunn declared "Adron Doran Day" statewide on September 1, 1971.

The highlight of his public recognition occurred also in 1971 when he became the fourth Kentuckian in history to receive the Horatio Alger Award from the American Schools and Colleges Association.

At that time, he said:

"Much of what little success I have known should be credited to my wife, Mignon, whom I married while we were in college 40 years ago. She has been at my side unflinchingly since that time."

Mrs. Doran, a noted Kentuckian in her own right, founded MSU's unique Personal Development Institute in 1969 and serves as its director.

She was selected for the 1974 Citation Award of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security (IAPES) and served two years as president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. She was named "Woman of the Year" in 1972 by Cardinal Key National Honor Sorority.

Active in national education circles, Dr. Doran was chairman of the Legislative Commission of the National Education Association which helped write the landmark Elementary and Secondary Education Act and served as a member of the Education Professions Development Commission at the appointment of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

A minister of the Church of Christ, he serves on the Board of Directors of Freed-Hardeman College and holds three honorary doctoral degrees. He has earned degrees from Freed-Hardeman, Murray State University and the University of Kentucky and each institution has honored him with an outstanding alumnus award.

Dr. Doran's paternal and compassionate administration has led MSU to more than 30 statewide precedents in dealing with ethnic minority groups. He received the Lincoln Key from the Kentucky Education Association for "Integration without fanfare."

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Doug Pierce went away to college and decided he belonged in the U.S. Army.

The Valley Station senior at Morehead State University Friday received a bachelor's degree in radio and television and the gold bar of a second lieutenant earned through MSU's voluntary ROTC program.

This is happening to someone who came out of high school without any interest in college or the military.

"When I first came to MSU I was interested in broadcasting but not in going to school," he recalls. "I talked with several people in Army ROTC and they showed me how to earn a degree and a commission at the same time.

Pierce became so motivated, in fact, that he has been awarded an Army ROTC Fellowship. Given only to the top five per cent of ROTC graduates who have accepted Regular Army Commissions, the grant will allow him to attend graduate school for two years and receive full pay and benefits during the entire period.

Pierce, who is scheduled to report for active duty on May 14 at Ft. Knox, is the only ROTC cadet in Kentucky to receive such a fellowship this year and the first in MSU's history. He plans to serve two years on active duty before enrolling in graduate study in business and administration.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Peirce, 11503 Pierce Way, Valley Station, and is a graduate of Jesse Stuart High School. A standout athlete, he has lettered four times as a pole vaulter on the MSU track team.

Pierce is uncertain about making a career of the Army.

"Right now, the answer is yes, but two weeks ago it was no, " he said. "Of course I do have some time to see what the Army is like before making that decision."

Regardless of his choice, history indicates Doug Pierce will do what's best for his future.

Ms. Cupp, a graduate of North College Hill High School, doesn't like to think of her victory as a blow for women's liberation.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Dr. Morris L. Norfleet, Morehead State University's vice president for research and development, Monday was named the school's acting interim president.

The MSU Board of Regents unanimously approved a leave of absence for President Adron Doran from July 1 until his retirement date of Jan. 1, 1977, and his recommendation that Dr. Norfleet manage the institution during that period.

The 45-year-old Norfleet, a native of Pulaski County, was named a vice president in 1968. A graduate of Purdue University and the University of Kentucky, he joined the MSU faculty in 1962 as director of student teaching and became director of research and program development in 1965.

In his statement supporting the temporary appointment, President Doran emphasized that he did not intend for Dr. Norfleet to receive preference in the search for a new president.

"There are many young administrators here who could handle this assignment," Dr. Doran said. "Dr. Norfleet is best suited to be acting interim president because his regular duties are not as pressing as those of our other key administrators."

Later, the Regents assembled as the presidential selection committee and announced that applications and nominations for the presidency would be accepted until Sept. 1.

Committee chairman Lloyd Cassity of Ashland said the vacancy would be advertised statewide and nationally and that notices would be sent to all member institutions of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Dr. Doran, MSU's seventh president, announced last month that he would retire Jan. 1 after more than 22 years in the position. The board has named him president emeritus, effective at retirement.

In other action, the board:

Approved the awarding of honorary doctoral degrees to five persons at summer commencement on July 29. Nominated by Dr. Doran were Wendell P. Butler, secretary of the Kentucky Education and Arts Cabinet; Troy R. Eslinger, president of Lees College; Basil Overton, vice president of International Bible College; and Wade M. Robinson, president of Central Midwestern Regional Educational Laboratory, Inc. Recommended by Mr. Cassity and also approved unanimously was an honorary doctorate for Mrs. Mignon Doran, founder and director of MSU's Personal Development Institute.

Adopted a policy statement concerning confidentiality of student records.

Authorized expenditure of $180,865 for various minor capital construction projects.

Approved appointments of Dr. Alban L. Wheeler as dean of the School of Social Sciences, effective July 1, and Mrs. Carolyn Flatt as director of the Personal Development Institute, effective Jan. 1, 1976.
