New and Cheap!
WE are now receiving a fine, large and desirable stock of Dry Goods, to which we invite the attention of Country Merchants, with confidence, believing we can furnish them with many late and desirable styles of goods much lower than the same article was bought in a regular way in the best Eastern Job Houses, at the commencement of the present season. Our stock of Prints, Ginghams, Cashmeres, Muslins, Laines, Tickings, Flannels, Tweeds, Cassimeres, Plaid Linseys, Bleached and Brown Cottons, Drillings and Canton Flannels, is unusually large, well-assorted, and CHEAP, and we feel well assured will compare, as to quality and price, with any market west of the mountains. We have also a very large lot of blue and drab Blankets, large and heavy, Blanket coatings, Cloths, Cassinets, Nonkenes, red Blankets, colored Gumbies, white Goods, Notions, Trimmings, Shawls, black and fancy Alpines, Chameleon Lustres, Irish Linens, Table Linens, Towellings, green and blue Bureaus, Capes, Ladies' Collars, Handkerchiefs, &c. Also—200 Cases Boots and Shoes, good quality;
100 doz. Hats, all qualities;
200 do. Caps, very cheap and fashionable.
To our retail customers we would say, that we desire bestowing special pains in providing for their wants, and hence to receive a liberal share of their patronage. Our friends in the country who may favor us, with others, may rest assured they will meet with prompt attention, and the goods be sent at the lowest possible price.

FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 15.

☞ We are requested to announce JAMES A. LEE, as a candidate for Mayor, at the ensuing election.

☞ The editor was confined to his room, most of the day, yesterday, hence our paper for this morning is less interesting than usual. We hope to see him at his post to-morrow; but if not, we will do the best we can, and our readers, we trust, will be satisfied.

THANKS.—The officers of the packet Boone have our sincere thanks for bringing up our new printing materials, from the "Queen City," and for an hundred other special favors, which we have too often failed to acknowledge. The Boone and Kenton are the boats, and no mistake!

The Shaker Family in the city.
These extraordinary performers arrived in the city yesterday, and will give a most grand and amusing Concert in the Council Chamber this evening, where lovers of mirth and good humor will assemble. The press has uniformly spoken in terms of the highest commendation of this company, wherever they have been, and it is but fair to presume that they will give universal satisfaction to our citizens, who will go to witness the performance, of course.

Enlargement of the Daily Flag.
The materials (thanks to the promptitude of our friend, H. Wells, esq., of the Cincinnati Type Foundry), came to hand on Wednesday evening, and we shall enlarge our Daily to Imperial size on Saturday, or as soon as the editor is able to leave his room to attend to business.

After that time we can boast of a Daily containing four columns more matter than the Daily Herald, and each column much longer. It will be the largest Daily (our of Louisville,) published in the State; and we should hazard nothing in saying that it is the best. We leave that, however, to be said by our patrons. The enterprise must be attended with an enormous expense, and nothing short of a general circulation in the city will sustain it. It is with our citizens to determine, as to the propriety of enabling us to prosecute the enterprise; and we should be exceedingly thankful to all, if they would send in their names without further delay. No effort shall be spared upon our part—let our enterprising citizens do their's and the Daily Flag will grow and flourish like a green bay tree, and our rapidly improving city continue to prosper in the same proportion. Every one must be sensible of the fact that a paper of this description is needed here; and all must, alike, know that it cannot exist, without an adequate support. Come up, then, like you generally do, when any other important matter is to be consummated, and put down your names upon our list!

Two daily papers in Maysville.
We have received two numbers of the "Daily Maysville Kentucky Flag," and one of the "Daily Morning Herald."—The first is a democratic paper, and published by Samuel Pike, esq., and the latter by J. Sprigg Chambers, esq. The Flag is rather diminutive in size, but large enough, we suppose, to contain as much democracy as the people of Maysville desire. The Flag, though small, shows tact, talent, and energy. The Herald is of tolerable good size, nearly as large as the Atlas. It is thoroughly whig, and if the people of Maysville do not sustain it, the fault will lie at their own door; for it is certainly deserving of their support, if a paper, edited with ability, and neatly printed, is deserving of the support of any community.—Lex. Atlas.

We thank friend Fennell for the above calm and dispassionate notice of our little sheet; for it gives evidence of that good nature which we have long ben endeavoring to make him familiar with. Hope, however, that he will not speak of our Daily as being "diminutive," after this week, when we shall not only eclipse the Herald, but the Atlas also.

Our friend seems to be entirely ignorant of the demand which exists for democratic papers, in this city, and we hope he will call down and let us convince him. The people have found out that they are the only papers upon which they can rely for the TRUTH!

The Crisis in Ohio.

The Cincinnati Daily Enquirer, of Wednesday morning, contains a call for a public meeting of the citizens, to be held at the court house on the evening of that day, for the purpose of devising ways and means to avert the disgrace which the Federal leaders are endeavoring to bring upon that State. We shall look for the proceedings of that meeting with deep solicitude, believing, as we do, that a crisis has now arrived when Freeman should not only assert but maintain their rights.

We shall speak of this subject more freely hereafter.

☞ We observe our friend Pike, of the Flag, has commended the publication of his paper daily, the two first numbers of which we have received. This enterprise will do much in promoting the commercial and general business of the flourishing city of Maysville, and ought to be well sustained by the citizens of that place. It will also be a valuable newspaper, as the editor possesses the requisite talents and industry to make it so, and will deserve a general circulation on all the daily mail lines from that city. Price of the daily 10 cents a week.—Frank Yeoman.

THE DAILY MAYSVILLE KENTUCKY FLAG.
—A small daily paper, with this title, has just been commenced at Maysville, by PIKE & RUSSELL. The Flag is Democratic in politics; but the publishers say they intend to make it acceptable to the business men of the place generally.—Maysville is a thriving business place, and we know of no good reason why it should not support the Flag and a Whig daily also.—Covington Journal.

MORE RICHES FROM CALIFORNIA.—Among the specimens of the mineral wealth of California which were brought to Washington on Thursday by Lieut. Loeser, were some grains of metal supposed to be platinum, one of the heaviest of metals, and also a rich specimen of cinnabar, or the ore of quicksilver, (very heavy.) They are transmitted to the mint, with the gold of California, also to be submitted to analysis. Some suppose that the quicksilver mine of California may prove more valuable even than its placers of gold. The high price of quicksilver, so important a material for extracting gold from its combinations, has hitherto prevented the working of many of the mines. Should this treasure continue to be as abundant as it promises to do, and as this specimen of cinnabar indicates, the quicksilver mines of California will probably prove the richest in the world.—Washington Union.

From the Baltimore Sun.
Important from Gen. Taylor.
The following letter containing an extract expressive of General Taylor's opinion on the slave and other questions, was furnished by our correspondent on Wednesday morning. For reasons which it is unnecessary to explain, we withheld the publication, but as we now find it in the Philadelphia papers we lay it before our readers, with the annexed remarks of our correspondent, referring to the parties named in the correspondence.—
[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23, 1843.
Governor Brown, member of the House of Representatives from Mississippi, arrived here to-day, and since his arrival has received a letter from Natchez, relative to the present opinions of General Taylor on the slavery question, from which I am permitted to make the following extract:

NATCHEZ, Nov. 15, 1843.
Hon. A. G. BROWN—Dear Sir: As all parties concede that General Taylor is elected President, I hasten to inform you that he has thrown off all disguise, and conceals no opinion.

S. S. Boyd, whom you know to be radical on the slavery question, and who often says that Stephens' position is obscure, called Bingham and myself to one side yesterday, and told us that "he had spent some hours with Gen. Taylor, and that he was right on all the points, and without speaking of the territories, the old gentleman distinctly and earnestly declared that when the North attempted to interfere with the slave question, he was for drawing the sword and throwing away the scabbard!"

About this, Boyd says there is no mistake, and he does not hesitate to pronounce "Old Zack" perfectly sound. Of all this you may rest assured. What change other influences may make in his mind, I cannot say, but his southern friends, who hear him talk on the subject, say he is not the man to give up an opinion deliberately formed.

"He will go with the free States on the tariff and internal improvement questions, and with the slave States on the Free Soil question. * * * Yours truly,

F. L. CLAIBORNE.

General Quitman, the Mr. Boyd above mentioned, and other Southern gentlemen, I heartily stated, entertain the opinion that the South should take the extreme ground on the slavery question, and then compromise. They are for extending slavery to California and New Mexico, and compromising by yielding the right to state representation in Congress.

Mr. Claiborne, who writes the above, is Francis Lee Claiborne, brother of the former distinguished member of that name, and a good democrat of the Southern school. Mr. Bingham, named in the above, has been a candidate for Congress on several occasions, and was among the earliest supporters of Gen. Taylor for the Presidency. So also in regard to Mr. Boyd. He is a distinguished Taylor "stump orator" in Mississippi, and one of the most eminent lawyers in that State.

The letter-writer here, who has recently come over from Cass to Taylor, may endeavor to throw cold water on Mr. Claiborne's letter, and express, also, doubts as to its authenticity, or if admitted to be authentic, as to the "reliability" which should be placed upon it. The name of the gentleman to whom it is addressed, is a sufficient guaranty for its authenticity—the names of the other gentleman involved are equally entitled to consideration, so far as the views of Gen. Taylor to them are concerned—so emphatically expressed, and so particularly repeated by these, his ardent personal and political Southern friends and advocates. I conceive this to be one of the most important letters which has been given to the public since the appearance of that to Captain Allison.

The Cholera.

As we know not at what time this terrible scourge may fall upon us like a thief in the night, we deem it our duty to publish the following remedy, which is said to be infallible. We translate it from the "Courier de Constantiople," of 14th October, for which we are indebted to the politeness of an intelligent friend: "Translated from the Courier de Constantiople"

We read in the "Impartial" of Smyrnia, of the 6th of October, No. 430, the following:

"Nothing which relates to the treatment of the Cholera should be neglected by science. We hasten to submit to it the following letter: happy, as the honorable former consul general who addresses it to us says, if mankind can have at last found an efficacious remedy for this terrible scourge:

"SUEBIA, (at the mouth of the Oronte,) October, 1843.

"To the Editor:

"Sir: Having become, through Providence, an humble instrument in discovering an infallible remedy for the cholera, even in the most desperate cases, I hasten to give to your estimable paper the treatment by which, with God's assistance, this disease may be cured. It is as follows: As soon as the vomiting and diarrhea commence, place the legs of the patient up to the knee in water not too hot to the touch: throw in six or seven handfuls of coarse salt; cause the legs to be rubbed violently by two persons with both hands; open the large vein in both feet, and allow the blood to flow in the warm water for 12 to 20 minutes, according to the age or sex of the patient, or of the stage of the disease.

"During this time keep the water of the same temperature that it was when the limbs were first inserted, by adding more warm water. The natural animal heat of the body will be immediately restored and felt; the patient will commence at once speaking, and asking for nourishment. He will be perfectly prepared to resume his duties in a day or so.

"Of sixty laborers attacked with cholera, whom I have attended, several had been suddenly seized while at work in the field; others, after having retired in perfect health, about day-break have been aroused from sound sleep with the usual symptoms at the greatest height. Aid could rarely be obtained under half an hour, or an hour and a half. (sometimes six or seven hours, and in one instance ten hours had elapsed); still, after giving this remedy a fair trial, was the cure so perfect, that they were enabled to return to their labor in five or six days after the attack. In some cases the very next day, or the day after, saw them restored.

"It has occurred, in some rare cases, that the blood not flowing sufficiently at the time, the patient was bled a second time. In such cases the second bleeding must take place in the arm, and not in the feet. In no case has this treatment failed.

"A remarkable feature in this remedy, is the immediate and perfect re-establishment of the health of the patient, who, instead of losing his strength, seems, on the contrary, to have acquired new vigor.

"Henceforth a visit of the cholera will inspire less fear than such an epidemic as the gripe.

I have the honor to be, &c. &c.
JOHN MARKER,
Former Consul General of England in Egypt."

☞ Senators Benton and Butler have become reconciled to each other. Benton, on the day of the meeting of Congress, advanced, the correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says, and offered his hand to Mr. Butler which was accepted.

The Legislature of Virginia organized on Monday last by the re-election of Dr. Scott, Speaker of the Senate, and Henry L. Hopkins, Speaker of the House.

THE IRISH HEART.

BY THE LATE WM. N. STANTON.

O, blame not Erin's son, if still
The heart that beats here
Its slighted faith on freedom's shrine,
Clings unto one more dear;
For though Columbia claims his sword,
Yet Erin hath his tear!

What'er his fate—in humble cot,
Or 'neath the glided dome—
Self-exiled from his native land,
Still, while his footsteps roam,
His heart hath but one dwelling place,
His own green Island-home.

He, like the roving vine that seeks,
Far from its parent soil,
Some sheltering tree whose branches hide
And nurse its purple spoil,
Gives for protection all his path—
His gratitude and toil.

Upheld by Freedom's outstretched arms,
Her welfare is his own;
But linked to Erin firmly still,
He lives for men alone—
And death can only sever ties
Thus with his heart-strings grown.

Then blame him not, if thrills his soul,
When Erin's praise is sung,
And more than words tributed falls
From an unwary tongue;
For his warm heart is rooted in
The soil from whence he sprang.

Old Innocence,

Or the man that always played 'on the Square.'

All who have travelled on the Mississippi have, doubtless, seen something of a very pleasant game at cards called "poker," and perhaps many who will read this have "suffered" occasionally, in their efforts to initiate themselves into its mysteries. The game, I believe, originated on the Mississippi—at least the monarch of rivers claims it—and you rarely make the trip from New Orleans to St. Louis, or Cincinnati, without seeing, almost every day and night, three or four poker parties in the gentlemen's cabin, to say nothing of divers choice coteries among the "deckers."

Coming up, a month since, upon one of those floating palaces that navigated that great highway of sand and water, it was my fortune to find myself one of about four hundred passengers, the bulk of whom were discharged soldiers, returning from the campaign in Mexico.—Some of the boys were flush, as the saying is, having hoarded up their pay for a spurge at home, and, as if it would be out of the question for a soldier to let his money remain in his belt, or for a chance to double or lose it at gaming, some half a dozen were constantly in full blast. For the first two days, our hero had the fun all to himself, but, soon after leaving Memphis, one of the parties found itself increased by the addition of a new player, who said "he knew very little about the game, but didn't mind losing a few dimes, by way of passing the time pleasantly."

This acquisition was a man of about forty-five, square, with black hair and eyes a very pale face, and very white neck-cloth, and at the first sight looked very much like a Tennessee Methodist preacher. The first night he played very badly. The cards didn't seem to run in his favor, and when he held a good hand, he was sure to be very much agitated, and always "spilled" it, as he very emphatically expressed it. And he was very particular in urging upon the other players the propriety of playing "on the square," he always did it, and he never played at a table where there was a "sporting man," if he knew it.

After breakfast, the next morning, the cards were again brought out and our soldier friends, pleased with their good luck the night before, invited the gentleman who so scrupulously played on the square, to take a hand. Old Innocence, as he was afterwards called, allowed himself to be drawn into the game, and, at dinner time was slightly winning.

After dinner the game was renewed, and the strange gentleman had extraordinary luck. He held three white cards so often, that the soldiers, who were all bleeding pretty handsomely, began to think he had some sort of influence over papers; for certainly a man who was so very scrupulous, and always insisted on "a good shuffle" and a "cut," would not attempt to cheat them. The game went on bravely till supper, and after that was over, was renewed with increased interest. One after one, the soldiers were victimized, and left; but others supplied their places, to follow in their bad luck. One little fellow, whose stature would never gain admittance into the line during a peace establishment, had lost an hundred and thirty dollars, and was nervously rattling his pile, some fifteen or twenty dollars, still hoping to win back his cash.

About ten o'clock a heavy rain began to fall, and the passengers flocked into the cabin, and surrounded the tables.—Among these were a couple of officers, in citizen's dress, who stood behind Old Innocence, looking upon the play with apparent indifference. At length one of them proposed to play a few hands for the little soldier who had been so hard a sufferer, which was agreed to by the crowd. Several deals passed without any betting of consequence, when Old Innocence ventured a half. The officer, whom we will call Jones, went back a V, which was met by Old Innocence and an X better. This exhausted the little soldier's pile, but Jones, pulling out his purse, lent his banker a couple of eagles, and went them over, all the time keeping his eyes fixed upon his opponent's hand. The old fellow proved grit, and met the sum, and came back another twenty.

The excitement that had been gradually rising with the bets, now began to exhibit itself in various ways. The little soldier, who had seen Old Innocence's hand, wanted to get a peep at Jones', but the latter refused; saying he might betray him. Every body seemed interested in favor of Jones, but all had their misgivings, for the old man's luck seemed too strong to be beat—besides he had shown his cards to several of the bystanders. Jones kept his face, and after hesitating a minute, still keeping his eye on his neighbor's hand, forked up the requisite $50, and called, "Full hand," responded Old Innocence—"Three aces and two fives," and he carefully exhibited the papers.

"Wonto do," said Jones, raking down the diabro, "let's look at your other cards!"

The old gentleman began to grow nervous, and demanded a sigh, but Jones rather abruptly caught his hand, and exposed an additional card, that had been carefully covered by an ace. "Six cards!" cried the bystander—"I thought he had extraordinary luck," said one. "And that handkerchief on his lap looked suspicious to me," said another.

"He delt 'em himself," said Old Innocence, "and I claim the money."

Jones very coolly reached across the table, and pulled a king out of the old gentleman's waistcoat. In a moment more, a reasonable heavy chair, though wielded by the little soldier, came down rather vigorously on the head of Old Innocence, and he went sprawling amid tobacco juice upon the floor. The old fellow was then raised to his feet, and a committee very quietly relieved his well filled pockets, returning their losses to the soldiers, and dividing the remainder in like manner. In a moment after, three taps of the bell announced that the boat was approaching a wood yard, and in five minutes she moved off, leaving Old Innocence sitting upon a cotton-wood log, in as pretty a rain storm as ever drenched a man who "played on the square."—Pennsylvanian.

An Ordinance To provide for the thorough cleansing of the Streets, Alleys, and other parts of the City:

Sec. 1. Be it ordained by the City Council of the city of Maysville, That there shall be appointed a Street Commissioner, whose term of service shall continue for one year, unless sooner dismissed by the Council, and who shall receive for his services, the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars per annum.

Sec. 2. The said Street Commissioner shall have power, and he is hereby authorized to employ a suitable number of horses and carts and men, and proceed to cause all the streets and alleys of this city, whether paved or not paved, to be thoroughly cleaned, and kept clean. He shall cause all accumulations of dirt and ashes, manure, and filth of every kind to be removed from said streets and alleys, and deposit the same at the places he hereinafter designates.

Sec. 3. That when said streets and alleys are too dry to be scraped, the same shall be regularly swept, so as to prevent any and all accumulations of dirt or filth in the same.

Sec. 4. That the said Street Commissioner, in the discharge of his duty, shall employ a committee of three persons in each Ward, or either one of them, may, and shall, from time to time, enter upon the premises and examine, between sunrise and sunset, any building, cellar, lot or yard, vault or privy, which they may know, or believe to be foul, damp, or otherwise prejudicial to the public health; and they, or either of them, may direct the cleansing, or altering the earth, or the removal of all nuisances; and every person who shall refuse, obstruct, or hinder said officers or either of said committeemen, or shall fail or refuse to remove any nuisance on their premises or cleanse the same, when notified to do so by the city officers or either of said committeemen, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty dollars, to be recovered before the Mayor.

Sec. 5. That it shall be unlawful for any person to throw into the streets, or any alley or lot of the city, any dirt, dung, or dead carcasses, or filth of any kind, or any foul or noxious soil or liquid; and any person doing so, or permitting the same to be done by any member of his family, shall, upon proof thereof before the Mayor, be fined in any sum not exceeding $50; and he is hereby made the special duty of the Street Commissioner, to report to the Mayor all infractions of this section of the ordinance.

Sec. 6. That it shall be unlawful for any person to throw any filth, ashes, or dirt of any kind over the bank in front of the city, or to deposit over said bank any snavings, rubbish, or earth, and any person so doing, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined any sum not exceeding twenty dollars, at the discretion of the Mayor.

Sec. 7. That from and after the 1st day of January next, no hog-pen shall be allowed within the city limits, and any person keeping any hog or hogs within the city limits, contrary to this ordinance, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding twenty dollars, upon conviction before the Mayor.

Sec. 8. That all dirt which may be taken from the streets of the city, above Sutton street, shall be removed to the lower end of Limestone street and there deposited, so as to widen said street, and that taken from the streets below Sutton, shall be taken to the river bank below Short street.

Sec. 9. That it shall be the duty of the Street Commissioner to direct the removal of all ashes which may be found in the streets or alleys of the city, and if the same are not removed by the person who caused them to be placed in the street or alley, within 24 hours from such notice, the said Commissioner shall cause the same to be removed at the expense of an offender.

R. COLLINS, P. C. C.
JAMES A. LEE, City Clerk.
Adopted in Council, Dec. 3th, 1848.—5-31.
N. B. The following are the Committeemen appointed under Sec. 4:
CALEB WHITE, Upper Ward.
ROBERT POWELL, Middle Ward.
WM. THOMPSON, Middle Ward.

Miner & Crutenden,

WOULD say to their numerous patrons, that they desire to bring East on Christmas day, and that they are entirely dependent on them for the "needful," to replenish their stock. We have employed an accountant to draw off our bills, and are now prepared to settle every account, by CASH, if possible—otherwise by NOTE. For the mutual benefit of ourselves and patrons, we start a month earlier than usual; and we earnestly hope they will appreciate our wisdom; especially, those whose notes and accounts have stood over the usual time.

Dissolution.

THE partnership heretofore existing between Ricketts & Strely was dissolved on the 11th inst. The books and notes of the firm are in the hands of T. K. Ricketts, at the old stand, who is authorized to settle the business. Those indebted, either on book account or note, are requested to make payment without delay.

Boone Clothing Store, No. 1.

SIMON MEYER is, as usual, on hand with a Store
Of beautiful Clothing, and soon will have more;
His assortment embraces all things in the trade, and he warrants to fit, and likewise well made;
He has Coats of all colors, all patterns, all makes,
Which he sells at all prices, and they go like
"hot cakes";
His cloaks, vests and pants are good as the best,
And the fault is not in the folks do not go wrong;
Shirts, cravats and bosoms, he keeps always on hand,
With a thousand & cetera, which you'll understand;
So when you want dressing, as most people do,
Just pop in at the Boone, and take a fair view;
If you do not get suited, the fault is your own,
For his prices are cheaper than ever were known.
In short, he's determined, without any let or hindrance, to sell off his clothing at some price or other;
So, if a great bargain you wish to obtain,
Just give him a call, and you'll sure call again;
For he makes it a rule to let no one retire,
Without having a bargain of that name.

Hemp Magazine.
 THE undersigned having without regard to cost, built the most extensive fire-proof Hemp Warehouse in Kentucky, are now ready to bale and store Hemp for such as desire to employ them in this way. The doors and windows of the house, are cast with plate iron while the frames of both, are cast of solid metal. The roof which is of Tin, will be finished by the application of two coats of metallic paint, and every other precaution, calculated to secure its contents from fire, adopted. Under the Ordinance of the City regulating the Storage of Hemp, no fire in any shape is permitted to cross the door sill of a Hemp house, and the stringent regulations prescribed by them in the construction of the house having been complied with as will be seen by their Certificate published below, we now tender the use of it to Farmers, Dealers and Shippers upon terms which are deemed satisfactory, and will be made known upon application at their Store on Market street.
 J. P. DOBYNS & CO.

Messrs. J. P. DOBYNS & Co. have now Ready and complete a Fire Proof Warehouse, suitable for the Storage of Hemp, and such the ordinance of the City Council of the City of Maysville, has required. We therefore give this certificate that he is entitled to bale and store Hemp in said House.

KEEPS constantly on hand all the various articles usually found in a Confectionary Store—all manufactured by himself and warranted pure.
 Weddings and Parties of all descriptions furnished at the shortest notice, and in a style not to be surpassed East or West of the Mountains. As his terms are very moderate, he invites all to give him at least a "passing call," before purchasing elsewhere. His Store is situated in the "NO. 3, HERALD BUILDINGS," and also on "FLAG ROW," as announced in one of our city papers. When the three houses comprising the row were finished, it was agreed by the owners and occupiers to call them the "HERALD BUILDINGS," and the fact that the "Herald Office" has been removed, and the "Flag Office" taken its place, does not change the name of the buildings—and like OLD ZACK, I never will surrender!
