About Town With The "NEWS"

Roosevelt Speaking

Many Rowan Counties will be among the thousands that will hear President Roosevelt speak at Harrodsburg Friday morning, at 9:45. The president will be the principal speaker at the dedication of the Pioneer Memorial.

To avoid missing the ceremonies local persons should leave this city early as heavy traffic on all roads leading to Harrodsburg is anticipated.

Hunting Season

When hunters take field today it will be well for them to take a few hints.

In the first place be careful. The first day of the hunting season always takes a heavy toll in lives and permanent injuries. Be careful at all time, but especially so when cutting fences, logs and other stumbling blocks.

Game warden may be active between now and the 24th, searching hunters for quail. It is unlawful to kill Bob White before Nov. 24. And above all procure your license.

Sunday

Morehead is one of Kentucky's hunting spots.

This is especially true in all seasons except winter. Since there is no gas in the city, the burning of coal in all homes makes the town look smoky and smoky.

We are told it is only a matter of time until gas is piped in. With so large a gas field in eastern Kentucky and almost at our back door, it would seem that natural gas could be processed.

IS HONORED

ROY E. CORNETTE

Roy E. Cornette, County Superintendent of Public Instruction of Rowan county, was honored at the recent meeting of the E. K. E. A. by being elected, second vice president of the association.

"Outcast Ladies" Is Cozy Attraction

A new romantic screen team will share the acting honors at the Cozy Theatre Wed. and Thurs. Nov. 14-15 when Constance Bennett and Herbert Marshall appear in the two principal roles of "Outcast Lady."

Though this is the first attraction in which the blond screen beauty and the suave English leading man have been seen together those who have viewed the picture predict that their success will result in their being brought together for additional productions.

The ultra-modern, smart poised Miss Bennett blends so well with the suave, sophisticated polished manner of the personalities created for the screen by Marshall that their future co-starring seems inevitable to those interested in the production of motion pictures.

While as a romantic team these two differ radically from any other combination of screen lovers numerous critics have vouchsafed the opinion that their public popularity will surpass the Gaynor-Farrel combination.

CHARGE FRAUD IN ROWAN VOTE

All but one person held for fraud in Tuesday's election have been released on bond. Six are still sought, while county officials said there would probably be further indictments.

Early Cranfill, Willie Dulan, Norman Brown, Hazel Brown and Margaret Brown were released on $300 bail. Simon Gilliam is held in jail.

The twelve indictments included charges of voting twice, voting under age, voting without restoration of citizenship, and giving liquor at the polls. All those involved in the arrests to date are said to have voted the Democratic ticket at the election last Tuesday, November 6.

C. O. LEACH UNDERGOES OPERATION ON FRIDAY

C. O. Leach of this city underwent an operation for rupture at an Ashland hospital last Friday. After the rupture operation it was found that another operation for the removal of his appendix was necessary. According to reports, Mr. Leach, whose physical condition was poor, is recovering as well as could be expected, considering the nature and seriousness of the operation.

WILL BUY PICTURE

Mr. John Howard Payne and Miss Exer Robinson were visitors in Cincinnati Tuesday where they selected a picture to be hung in Allie Young Hall at the college. The picture is the gift of Senator Ben Williamson of Ashland to the college. Mr. Williamson gave $100.00 to Allie Young Hall for the purchase of the picture.

FOREST CHECKS ARE SENT HERE; ACREAGE HIGH

Eighty-Seven Titles Involved In New Cumberland Purchase

Payment to Rowan County land owners for almost six thousand acres of forest land for the Cumberland Forest Reserve Project, on which the vouchers have been signed, returned to Washington, and the deeds transferred has either been made or will be made within the next few weeks, Tennyson Redwine, local representative said today.

The largest and some of the best tracts were purchased from E. D. Patton for approximately seven hundred dollars. These were four tracts totaling twenty five hundred acres.

The land in Rowan averages $2.47 per acre. Some went as high as five dollars while much of it dropped to $1.98.

Tracts approved for payment besides those of Mr. Patton include: Council Rock Land Co. 5071 acres; E. B. Hicks 361 acres; W. E. Smedley, 189 acres; George Brown, 225 acres; Henry Cox, 228 acres; Rufus Evans, 224 acres; and Henry Bates 117 acres.

Eighty seven different titles are involved in the tracts that have been approved for purchase in Rowan, Mr. Redwine said.

There are still a large number of tracts in this county that are awaiting the approval of the Federal Government, according to Mr. Redwine, in addition to those already approved and for which vouchers have been issued. Additional checks will be received as rapidly as the tracts are approved.

Sea Picture Will Be At College

The Captain Hates the Sea gives you an unusual blend of humor and pathos in the lives of twelve people who are traveling by boat from San Francisco to New York via the Panama Canal. Walter Connaly is the Captain who hates the sea, Victor McLendon is the dumb detective who is looking for a blond thief, whom he supposes to be Fred Keating. Wynne Gibson and Helen Vinson provide the feminine charm while Leon Errol is the entertaining far tender.

The story has comedy, mystery, romance, songs, and the other ingredients of a good picture. It is a lighter liner with fun in every scene and hilarity in every scene. It will rock you with laughs from snipe to stern and make you quiver amidst!

TED SHAWN TO APPEAR AGAIN IN AUDITORIUM

Successful Performance Last Year Causes Return Of Dancer

The unique recital by Shawn's group at Morehead State Teachers College last year aroused such elaborate enthusiasm that the local sponsors are delighted to announce that Shawn is to tour this part of the county again and has been signed up to appear at the College Auditorium on Monday night, December 10.

Without exception the most beautiful, the most thrilling, the most exciting, as well as the most intellectual program that has ever graced the stage of the College Auditorium, there is little doubt that practically all seats will be filled this year. The enthusiasm of last year's audience will no doubt carry over and prove an important advertising factor this year.

And this year there are not six but nine "he-men" in the ensemble, while the program is almost entirely play and ritual activities of primitive peoples, the program is given different. Starting with the work-unit by progressing through various stages of the history of civilization to the modern machine age which is represented by a gripping dance ensemble which portrays the mechanical movements of the dancers, grouping which typify machinery.

The recital this year as last, will be under the auspices of the music and Physical Education Department which is charged with the "Pioneer Mail Orders should be sent to Miss Ernestine Troemel.

Mr. Justice was born in Wyomin County, W. Va., but had lived in Rowan county 32 years, 26 of which he resided in Morehead. In 1910 he married Mrs. Hattie Carter of Carter City, Ky.

FRANCHISE OF TELEPHONE CO. HELD VIOLATED

City Council Holds That Present Holders Failed On Contract

SERVICE WILL CONTINUE

The Morehead City Council in their meeting of Tuesday night proved to be a council of decisive action, rescinding and annulling the Telephone franchise sold last spring to the Kentucky State Telephone Company, and voting to advertise for sale a gas franchise.

According to the telephone franchise sold in May of this year the company agreed to install a new switchboard with automatic phones in every residence. Rates were fixed at the same time somewhat higher than those existing under the old franchise which expired some time ago.

The telephone company agreed in the franchise to have the new system installed by September 1. However they claimed at that time that they were unable to have it completed on schedule and asked for an extension of thirty days which the council granted.

Later, according to the councilmen, they asked for further extension and promised to have the system installed within a few days. However, that period also passed and apparently no action has been taken. Consequently the council ordered that the franchise be rescinded and annulled.

This action, according to the council, was not intended as a criticism of the local management of the telephone company, as Mr. Carr has done everything in his power to maintain the best service possible under extremely trying conditions.

The council has borne with the poor service in the hope that the company would eventually make good on the promise to install a modern and up-to-date system, in keeping with the growth and progress of Morehead. Their action was taken only after it was apparent to them that no action would be taken by the company.

The situation so far as telephone service, first means that the company is now operating without a franchise and that it has no protection under the law, no right-of-way for their posts and line system and no record in case of fire for damages. However, they are permitted to continue in business.

With regard to the gas franchise, the council voted to sell a franchise within the coming month, before the present franchise expires. Gas is proposed to be piped from the North Fork gas field here, according to reports a number of good producers have been brought in, with a supply of gas that is believed to be sufficient to supply this community for a period of at least twenty years.

Should the franchise be sold, it is the intention of those who laid the proposal before the council to start work immediately and to have the system installed within the shortest possible time.

PRESIDENT PAYNE RETURNS TO HOSPITAL

MR. VINSON'S ELECTION

Every two years, Kentucky's elections are marked by the nomination and subsequent election of Hon. Fred M. Vinson. Anywhere you go in the state Democrats and Republicans alike are always conceding the eighth to the Ashland Congressman. His election is about as sure each time as the movement of the sun or the infallible law of gravity.

There must be a reason. The Mt. Sterling Gazette, a Republican organ, has this to say about Tuesday's election.

The re-election of Hon. Fred M. Vinson, of Boyd county, by a majority, ranging around 13,000 votes, is very gratifying to his friends and puts him in the limelight for the nomination of his party for Governor in this State in 1935. Of course, there are many who will laugh at this statement, but we have gone into the situation considerably and find that his victory, so overwhelming over such a man as George P. Ellison, makes him one of the strongest Democrats in the state. It will be remembered that in the election two years ago when the race was made in the State-At-Large, Mr. Vinson led the ticket and polled a tremendous vote in the Western part of the state. His victory this year, adds to his popularity and political strength. Being a member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee at Washington gives him great strength in the Nation and with solid backing of the American Legion, the State Highway Commission, the Relief organization and the Jockey Club interests, he would be a very dangerous man for the Republicans to oppose in November next year. We have nothing personally against Mr. Vinson, instead, we like him for his geniality and his pleasant manner, but politically we are opposed to his ideas. But whether one likes a man or does not like him, he should be willing to accord to him what he is entitled to. In this respect, we therefore warn the Republican leaders that they may have to oppose the Boyd county man in the next gubernatorial campaign, and if they do so they will find him about the hardest political "nut" to crack they have ever encountered. The results of the recent election puts Congressman Vinson in great favor to lead the ticket for Democracy in Kentucky next year. It behooves the leaders of the Grand Old Party to plan to nominate the strong candidate possible, and he must be the choice of the people—not the choice of the bi-partisan crowd in the state. Congressman Vinson is not only extremely popular with the great mass of voters, but he is about the most astute politician in this neck of the woods. Since Tuesday hundreds of expressions have been heard that Vinson must carry the banner of the Democratic party in Kentucky next year to uphold President Roosevelt. The defeat of George Ellison was deeply regretted by every Republican in the District. He is a fine young man, and would have made a good Representative, but he was up against a real Man o' War and could not defeat him.

GOING ROUND AND ROUND

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party." So sayeth the Republican party today.

The initial boomerang to the Republicans was the statement of Senator Erwin (R) that the C. P. could not exist unless reorganized. These words came from the Republican leader following the Democratic landslide of last Tuesday the first time that the administration has won a victory in an off-year election since the civil war.

The general attitude among the Republican heads is that they lost because they criticized the New Deal, but at the same time they were unable to offer a better plan.

The real cause that the Democrats won in Tuesday's election is that the people are satisfied with President Roosevelt and his policies. Taking office while the country was in the throes of bleak depression he has experimented with such sound measures that the people have groped their way toward the top once more.

It is a foregone conclusion that it will be a long time before the United States will reach the high standards of living it did after the World War, especially during the administration of Calvin Coolidge. That was a condition that would have existed no matter what party was in power. The quicker the rise, the more sudden the fall, and it happened exactly this way. When the stock market crashed in 1929 the country skidded from a pinnacle of financial independence to monetary failure. The Republicans failed to make any progress in their fight for economic recovery.

Many of President Roosevelt's policies have been criticized but it must be admitted that he has tried, and in most cases succeeded. When the voter goes to the polls and casts his hands into his pockets he votes accordingly.

Money makes the world go round and the absence of it during the regime of Hoover is today making the Republican party go round and round into submissive defeat.

MAYSVILLE TOBACCO FESTIVAL

Maysville will stage a huge tobacco festival at the Burley Warehouse from November 21 to 24, inclusive.

This fair, held indoors, is one of the highlights of the late fall season for Maysville and much of Northern Kentucky. It is well worth attending.

There are many premiums to be awarded. For the entertainment seeker there is a varied program each day, in addition to a midway. There will be free acts, and a full days entertainment during the entire festival.

An invitation has been generously extended to Morehead and Rowan County people, which they will do well to take advantage of.

NEWS FLASHES OF INTEREST

ECCLES GETS APPOINTMENT

A staunch advocate of Administration policies that have brought obvious displeasures to some conservatives was named by President Roosevelt to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Only 44 years old, small, brisk and quick spoken, he is Marriner S. Eccles of Utah, who has been assistant Secretary of the Treasurer. He succeeds Eugene R. Black of Atlanta, who resigned some time ago to become an official liaison man between the Administration and the banking world in general.

Eccles and Secretary Morgenthau have gotten on well. The transfer of the Utah financier to head the powerful Reserve Board was regarded by those in intimate touch with the situation as indicated closer cooperation between the two agencies in the future.

BUSINESS REPORTS PICK-UP

From far and near come reports of expanding business activity. In sharp contrast with the autumn slump of 1933, most business barometers have slowly gained since Labor Day.

Retail trade has quickened markedly in the past ten weeks, prompting merchants to prepare for the best Christmas season in three or four years.

November and December normally are months of slackening operations in the Nation's factories, but the strength of the current situation leads business analysts to look for the smaller than usual year-end let-down in manufacturing, while goods already produced are distributed to Christmas shoppers.

This is because inventories in most business lines have been sharply reduced, and consumer demand should penetrate quickly to the manufacturer. The situation was radically different at this time last year. Industry had just come through a summer of hectic artificial stimulation, as goods were turned out at a feverish pace to meet rising material prices and higher operating costs under the edicts. This year a pronounced lull developed late in June and the autumn resumption has been slow and cautious.

10 POINT PLAN GIVEN

A ten point plan through which the Administration hopes to take men and women out of soup lines and poor houses and keep them out is gradually taking shape under the guidance of the Committee on Economic Security.

The ten points are: Unemployment insurance. Provision for old age security. Provision for meeting economic risks of illness. Public Works as a means of economic security. Employment opportunities. Special measures for economic security of children. Survivors insurance. Dependency and relief. Economic security for farmers and agricultural workers. Handling and investment of reserve funds.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

Martial law was invoked by Gov. B. B. Meaur of Arizona in an apparent attempt to stop the Federal Government and the Metropolitan Water District of California from building a diversion dam across the Colorado River.

Twenty machine gunnets and 40 infantrymen were ordered out to the scene. The troops were instructed to repel the threatened invasion of the sovereignty and territory of the state of Arizona.

A declaration that Arizona's Government might find himself in the position of using National Guard troops to fight the United States Government was made by one California Water District official.

WILL RECEIVE 30 PERCENT

R. R. Revill, receiver of the first National Bank of Greenup, Ky., has announced that the depositors of that bank will be paid a dividend of thirty percent.

Schedules and checks have been forwarded to Washington and as soon as they can be compared and checked in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency and the checks signed, they will be returned to the receiver for distribution to the depositors. This is the second dividend declared for the depositors of that bank, they having previously been paid a dividend of forty percent.

SEND TROOPS TO HARLAN

Aroused by the reports that an attempt would be made to disperse an Armistice Day celebration of union mine workers in Harlan county to-morrow Gov. Rife Laffoon authorized Adj. Gen. Henry H. Detar, head of the Kentucky national guard to dispatch a group of guard officers to the southeastern Kentucky county.

The officers, headed by Brig. Gen. Elmore W. Carter, were instructed to act as observers and if any outbreak occurred to determine the responsibility. At the office of Governor Laffoon and the effect that threats had been made the United Mine workers of America will be prevented from holding a meeting near Harlan in memory of members who lost their lives in the World War.

REPUBLICANS SPLIT

A grim struggle already has developed, within the remnants of the Republican party and in the wake of its crushing defeat last Tuesday, for control of these remnants and future party policies. In New York State, where the O. G. Guard several months ago rebuffed the Liberal, elements and took over the State organization, the fight is already virtually out in the open, with the Liberals demanding the standpatners abdicate and make way for a new party deal.

MAINE GETS WHISKEY

Governor Louis J. Brann signed two liquor bills providing for state liquor stores and hotel, club and restaurant sales for consumption on the premises Sunday.

Passage of the bills with other measures allowing the licensing of breweries and distilleries and repealing the law prohibiting advertising of liquor came after a lengthy night session of the legislature which was convened last Tuesday in special session.

With the signing by Governor Brann of the four bills, Maine, a pioneer prohibition state, followed the mandate of its electorate which on Sept. 10 repealed the 50 year old constitutional prohibitory act.

HOLD UP ASHLAND STORE

Flourishing revolvers and a sawed off shotgun, three bandits held up Steckler's Men's Shop at Fifteenth and Winchester avenue Saturday night and escaped with about $150 in cash, while hundreds of people milled around in front of the store unaware of what was transpiring.

In addition to the clerks there were about fifteen customers in the store when the hold up occurred, but none of the customers were molested.

CANADA'S TOBACCO CROP VERY SHORT

Additional reduction in the 1934 Canadian tobacco crop has been caused by heavy frosts, according to a report to the Louisville district office of the Department of Commerce. Uncult tobacco to the extent of 1,000,000 pounds has been destroyed. The short crop combined with the fact that all surplus tobacco has been removed from the market is expected to bring the growers much better prices than last year, especially in view of the high prices prevailing in the United States.

GERMANY MAKES BIGGEST WINE VAT

The world's largest wine vat, recently constructed at Bad Duerkheim, Germany, is made entirely of domestic raw materials, says a report to the Louisville District office of the Department of Commerce. A lumber yard used in the construction of the mammoth container. The staves measuring 49 feet in length were made from Black Forest pines which were originally from 95 to 130 feet high. Four iron hoops weigh 11,600 pounds were used to hold the staves together. The complete structure is bedded in four heavy concrete supports. The total length of the vat the reports show, is 49 feet and the diameter 44 feet.

U. S. RUBBER EXPORTS SHOW BIG INCREASE

Exports of rubber goods from the United States in the first nine months of 1934 registered a value of 38 percent and 31 per cent, respectively, compared with the corresponding periods of the two preceding years, according to the Louisville District Office of the Commerce Department. Rubberized fabrics and mechanical rubber goods showed the largest percentage advance.

What Vocation Shall My Boy Choose?

By A. B. Clemens, Director, Schools of Mechanical Engineering, International Correspondence Schools.

We live in a changing world. Opportunities for success in the future will differ from those in the past. A boy's wise choice of his life work may do much to determine success or failure. How shall he choose?

The Internal Combustion Expert

The Burlington Zephyr and Union Pacific stream-line trains have provided dramatic demonstrations of the expanding field for internal combustion engines, and it is safe to say that no field promises wider or more rapid development than the use of internal combustion power units operating on oil, gas or gasoline.

Internal combustion engine operating on low cost liquid fuel, gas furnishing power for lathings and electric power plants, tractors and flour mills, locomotives and dredges. If the use of such power continues to expand during the next decade as rapidly as it has in the past, the field has been occupied only on its fringes.

It is, however, a field that requires the young man anxious to become an expert in the operation of the engines. For the young man interested chiefly in designing the engines, a first step would be a junior position in a drafting room. In such a position he will be required to supplement experience.

The internal combustion engine is unquestionably man's greatest achievement in harnessing the maximum amount of power to be obtained from liquid or gaseous fuels. Without it we would have neither the airplane nor the automobile as we know them today. As its development progresses, no man can foresee the ultimate limits of its

Kentucky Farm News

FROM UNIVERSITY of KY. EXPERIMENT STATION

Kentucky's total production of tobacco, of all types, in 1934, is estimated at 287,457,000 pounds in the November crop - report issued here by the Kentucky office of the U. S. Division of Crop and Livestock Estimates. This would be about 13 percent less than the 330,715,000 lbs. produced in Kentucky in 1933, and 17 percent less than this state's average annual production of 347,291,000 lbs., during 1927-1931 inclusive.

Ten hens that averaged 261 eggs in a year were a feature of the recent annual meeting of farmers and poultry raisers at the farm of W. E. Pyles in Mason county. Two of the hens laid more than 300 eggs each, and the pen ranked third in an egg-laying contest in Michigan. Another hen in the Pyles flock laid 311 eggs in a year. She was in a pen entered in a Florida contest.

The program at the meeting consisted of talks on poultry care and improvement, and a tour of the Pyles poultry plant and flocks.

The Kentucky Farm Improvement Association is sponsoring a state-wide program that is adding to farm incomes and putting Kentucky in the front rank of poultry producing states.

Membership in the association includes 1,700 approved flock owners, 16 approved hatchery owners, 60 certified flock owners and two certified hatcherymen.

Accreditation is done by inspection licensed by the Experiment Station, and certification by a field agent who also is a member of the poultry staff at the college. This field agent supervises the hatcheries and licensed inspectors.

The $4,000 expended annually by the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association to further poultry improvement work is a testimony by the poultrymen of the state of their confidence and interest in the educational program of the extension service of the College of Agriculture. This money is turned over to the college in quarterly payments and is administered in the same manner as other university funds.

Raising 1,200 chickens at a profit of $500 is one way of getting to college. That is what Cyril Kelly, a Pendleton county 4-H club boy, did last summer. Now he is a student in the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

Kelly rented an old log cabin across the road from his father's farm. In it he put roosters, ventilation and a floor. By using old lumber, he built two Kentucky type houses at low cost.

Following the advice of the county agent, Robert White, I purchased eggs from high producing flocks, he said. I also fed a balanced ration. We produced most of the feed on the farm. Broilers sold for 75 cents each and fryers for 50 cents. Eggs brought a fair price, too.

It wasn't such a hard job, because I have been raising poultry for more than 10 years and know the knack of it.

Kelly plans to continue to pay at least a part of his way in college by raising chickens.

Hogs weighing 175 to 200 pounds are considered best for home killing. Heavier hogs usually have too much fat to yield the best cuts. Keep the hog off feed at least 24 hours before killing, but allow it free access to water.

Due to the need of accurate figures when part in the agriculture adjustment program, many farmers will make inventories during the coming winter, and keep books next year. Interested persons should see their county agents before January 1.

The grape is one of the surest fruit crops in Kentucky, because it usually blooms after spring frosts are over. While spring is favored as setting time, still many farmers start them in the fall. New vines may be propagated by bending a cane to the ground and covering part of it with soil so roots will form.

Winter is a good time to make some repairs, especially to install additional conveniences. Many kitchens need sinks, work shelves, cabinets and other equipment. Ample closet space is needed in many houses. Repairs and additions often can be made at small cost.

Bananas suitable for eating should be well ripened, of deep yellow with no traces of green on the tips. If green when purchased, they should be ripened at room temperature, not put in the refrigerator.

Lepedeza is undoubtedly the most valuable cover crop and soil protector available for poor soils. It restores fertility, keep down weeds and prevent erosion. Shortage of seed for other legume crops is expected to increase the demand for lepedeza seed next spring.

The poultry department at the Experiment Station believes it may pay Kentucky farmers to put a good finish on turkeys this year, since grain is scarce in most of the big turkey producing states.

A few rapid growing and low-set birds should be selected. Few breeders and not fattened. It is considered a mistake to fatten early turkeys and save the late maturing ones for breeding.

Those to be fattened should be kept in a small pasture of alfalfa, clover or bluegrass. Abundant green pasture during the finishing period will reduce the feed bill by a fourth.

A dry mash is essential to proper finishing. A well-balanced poultry laying mash is satisfactory. A simple one is made at the rate of 300 pounds of mil run wheat feed, and 100 pounds each of ground yellow corn and meat scrap. Add one percent of salt to the mixture.

Shelled corn should be fed in open hoppers or self feeders along side the mash, permitting the birds to adjust their own proportion of grain and mash. Low grade wheat and wheat screenings may be fed with the corn. Good wheat is worth too much to feed to turkeys.

Finish turkeys on old corn; never on new crop. New corn, obtained in a near by field may not hurt them, however, if their appetite for grain has been satisfied before they are turned out.

C. O. Graves, of Scott county, made the first entry from Kentucky for the 1934 International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago. He is fitting 10 purebred Herfords for the big show. Several other entries have been made from this state.

The Kentucky Seed Improvement Association has issued a list of certified lepedeza, soybeans, tobacco and feed seed producers including corn wheat. Interested persons should address the experiment station.

The Korean lepedeza seed crop in Kentucky is placed at a little more than half of last year's production of 12,000,000 pounds. Tennessee and North Carolina have normal crop, and Missouri a small crop of seed.

The November egg standard for the farm flock is 6 eggs per bird. Early hatched pullets should lay 10 eggs each that month, and old hens one or two eggs, and the average for a flock of half hens and half pullets should be about 6 eggs.

Parents who constantly restrain a child in wholesome activities, and allow him to do as he pleases and give him every wish and desire, are developing a disobedient, spoiled child who will have to be punished to correct his faults.

Warm and dry quarters for hogs during the winter pay big dividends. Hogs will not do well and make progress shivering about in the mud. They should have a dry floor in a barn, and be supplied with water of moderate temperature as well as proper feed.

Plenty of soft, clean water helps out on wash day. For each gallon of moderately hard water, add two tablespoons of a solution made by dissolving a pound of washing soda in a quart of water. Add water softener before using soap.

The Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington recently purchased from Forward Farm in Fayette county the Jersey bull Noble Plymouth Gauntlet. Formerly owned by G. S. Weimer in Bracken county, he was head at Weimer Farm in Massachusetts and is out of an important cow with a record of 658 pounds of butterfat as a junior 4-year-old. His two year old daughters are producing well in the Forward Farm herd.

The Experiment Station herd has completed its first year on herd test with an average production of 376 pounds of butterfat per cow. The Jersey herd, made up largely of two year old and three year old daughters of Remarkably Raleigh, averaged 365 pounds; and the 10 2 year old and 3 year old Holsteins, all sired by Ames Inha Lad Zeta, averaged 416 pounds.

Examine hosiery with care before buying, especially noting the size of the foot, length of leg and elasticity of material. Cheap hose often have short measures. Full-fashioned hose has a seam up the back of the leg, at the bottom of the foot and across the toe.

While age is only one factor in the quality of seed, all old seed should regard with suspicion until it is proved to be good.

TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Jack Wilson Editor Rowan County News Morehead, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Wilson Emory Johnson who lives in Elliott County, near Ellitsville made application to the Federal Land Bank of Louisville for a loan for the sole purpose of re-obtaining his farm.

After they refused the loan Mr. Johnson called on W. G. Jones who lives near Ellitsville, and asked him if he knew of any course to pursue to obtain the loan and save his home.

This course was followed and a re-appraisal was ordered at the Federal Land Bank's expense. On November 5 a re-appraisal was given and there is every likelihood that Mr. Johnson will receive the loan and his farm saved, by our generous hearted President.

Sincerely, A Rowan County Citizen

Lady Says CARDUI

Eased Pain In Side

Cardui helped an Oklahoma lady, as described below, and many others have been benefited in a similar way. "I had a burning pain in my lower back," writes Mrs. Bill Stewart of Dewar, Okla.

"I had a burning pain in my lower back, and it stopped my hurrying and built up my strength. I took 11 bottles and I am fast better."

"My Cardui for pain, cramps, nervousness, indigestion, and all kinds of ailments of women. I feel like a new woman."

"I feel like a new woman."

YOUR STOMACH

It's time to do something when: You can't look a meal in the face; Eating always means stomach pain; Gas, belching, bloating give you daily discomforts.

You're nervous; you lose sleep; You're dragging around "half alive."

If that describes you, then you already know baking soda and salts like that don't do any lasting good.

Every day your body must purify itself of certain wastes and impurities that otherwise result in sickness and pain. When it cannot do this vital work properly it must have help.

Many already have found this help in Cray's Water-Crystals. Thousands of them have written us: "I can eat what I like once more. I am sleeping soundly. I feel ten years younger."

Cray's Water-Crystals are taken from a great cleansing, purifying mineral water—they were prepared by old Mother Nature herself. They are not some human being's idea of how this cleansing water to be done.

This cleansing means a great deal more than just moving the bowels. This mineral water—made at home with Cray's Water-Crystals—cleanses the system—not just the digestive tract. The part played by the kidneys in this purifying work is as great, or greater than that of the bowels.

And drinking this mineral water increases elimination through the kidneys, as well as through the digestive tract.

This explains why so many thousands of victims of other troubles by sides stomach disorders—many of the aches in muscles and joints which they call "Rheumatism," "Arthritis," or "Neuritis;" terrible backaches; headaches; loss of sleep and extreme nervousness; and some things less serious, like ugly skin, foul breath, etc.—less the very name "CRAZY." The way is up—root a trouble like this is to get right at its cause.

We do not believe Cray's Water-Crystals are magic. They are not a cure-all. But if your life is being made miserable by one of these troubles, give them a thorough honest trial. Get the package today. Save with them a month, at least. It will cost you only a few pennies a day, at the most. And then let your own common sense tell you how much better you feel.

That's problematical, Doremus straightened and screwed his face into a perplexed frown. He might have remained unconscious for twelve hours, and he might have come to in a few minutes. All depends. But that's not what's bothering me. There are a couple of small abrasions on the inside of the right hand fingers, and a slight cut on the knuckle and they're all fresh. I'd say he'd put up a scrap with whoever cracked him over the head. And yet his clothes are certainly neat no sign of having been mused and his hair is combed and slicked down.

Yeah and there was a gun in his hand, and he was sitting restful and looking peaceful, added Heath with puzzled disgust. Somebody must have dolled him up after the battle. A swell situation.

But they didn't change his shoes, put in Markham.

Which explains him still wearing his street shoes with his bathrobe, Heath addressed this remark to Vance. Vance gazed mildly at the Sergeant for a moment.

Why would anyone re-dress a person he had just knocked unconscious and then comb his hair? It's sweet, kind hearted thought, Sergeant, but somehow it's not the usual procedure, is it? I'm afraid we'll have to account for Coe's coiffure and sartorial condition other lines.

Heath studied Vance critically. You mean he changed his clothes himself and combed his hair after his head was lashed in?

It's not impossible, said Vance. In that case Markham asked, why did he not also change his shoes? Something intervened.

During this speculation, Doremus had turned Coe's body over so that it now lay on its face. I was watching him and I saw he suddenly lean forward.

Stabbed, by George he announced excitedly. We all drew close to the bed and leaned down at the area on the body at which Doremus was pointing.

Just below Coe's right shoulder blade and near the spine was a small diamond shaped wound about half an inch in diameter. It was a clean cut wound etched with black coagula blood. Apparently there had been no external bleeding. This fact was unusual, and Markham must have received the same impression.

for, after a moment's silence, he asked Doremus about it. All wounds do not bleed externally, Doremus explained. This is especially true of clean, quick stabs that pass through thin membranes into the viscera. They frequently do little or no external bleeding. This stab closed immediately and the lips of the wound adhered. An internal hemorrhage was caused. Very simple. Now we have an explanation of everything.

Vance smiled cynically. Oh, have we now? We have only an examination of the cause of Coe's death. And that explanation complicates the situation horribly. It makes the case even more insane.

Markham shot him a quick glance. I can't see that, he said. It's a little on the outside, we have been discussing. We now know what stopped him in the middle of changing his clothes.

I wonder, Vance crushed out his cigarette in an ash-tray on the night table, and picked up the dress gown which Coe had been wearing when he found him. He held it up to the light and inspected it minutely. There was no cut or hole of any kind. We all looked on in stupid fixed silence.

No, Mr. Markham, Vance said, placing the gown over the foot of the bed. Coe didn't have on his dressing gown when he was stabbed. That change was made later.

Still and all, Heath argued the guy might have had his hand under the robe when he did the shooting. Vance shook his head ruefully.

You forget sergeant, that the gown was buttoned tightly and that the belt was neatly tied around Coe's middle. But let us see if we can verify the matter.

He walked quickly to the clothes closet in the west wall, whose door was slightly ajar. Opening the door wide, he stepped inside. A moment later he emerged with a clothes hanger from which depended a coat and waistcoat of the same somber material as that of the trousers Coe had been wearing.

Vance ran his fingers over the coat in the vicinity of the right shoulder and there was revealed a slit in the material the exact size of the wound in Coe's back. There was a similar slit in the back of the waist coat, coinciding with the one in the coat.

These holes, he said, are slightly stiffened at the edges, as if some substance had dried on them. I think that substance will be found to be blood. There's no doubt that Coe was fully dressed when he was stabbed, and that the blood on the dagger, or knife, soiled the edges of these two coats, when it was withdrawn.

After a moment Markham expressed the thought uppermost in our minds. That being the case, Vance, the murderer must have taken Coe's coat and vest off, hung them in the closet, and then put the dressing gown on the stabbed man.

Why the murderer? Vance parried. The indications are that some one else came here after Coe was dead. I couldn't this other hypothesis, even if I were true, which, of course, we don't know. And I'll admit it sounds incredible. I merely made the suggestion by way of indication that, at this stage of the game, we should not jump at conclusions, the more cautious we should be. This is not, my dear Markham, an obvious case.

Does that theory help, us any? Markham asked gruffly. Not a bit, Vance cheerfully admitted, even if I were true, which, of course, we don't know. And I'll admit it sounds incredible. I merely made the suggestion by way of indication that, at this stage of the game, we should not jump at conclusions, the more cautious we should be. This is not, my dear Markham, an obvious case.

Doremus was becoming bored. He gave a cavernous yawn, stretched himself, and reached for his hat which he had placed on the floor beside the bed.

The civics class of Haldeman High School accompanied by Professor Laughlin and Miss Maggard spent last Saturday visiting points of interest in Lexington and Frankfort.

Our first stop was at Winchester, Kentucky and we were amused by the nice campus which the Wesleyan College has. While gazing at the beautiful scene one of our mates remarked, "I wish our campus were like that."

Then from there we motored to Lexington where we visited the Transylvania University which was very attractive. And then we went through the Eastern State Hospital. As we went into Frankfort we visited the Feeble Minded Institute which was back upon a bank with plenty of shade trees and a large play ground. As we went on down the hill we got a birds-eye view of the State Penitentiary. From there we went to the State Capitol which proved to be a very interesting place.

Our day ended with thrilling adventures that we will not very soon forget.

The P. T. A. at Haldeman is very active. It has already raised around $75.00 for the purpose of putting running water into the school, a project which is sponsored by Emogene Hogge and Mrs. John Kelly, two of the teachers.

It is the plan to use a part of this money to take the Dramatic Club on an outing in the near future.

The girls have arranged a girls reserve club with Mrs. Kelly acting as sponsor. They hope to do great things this year. It is not the girls intention to allow the Hi-Y to beat them at any thing.

The play "Deacon Dubbs" was a great success. Both Miss Stewart and Miss Maggard were well pleased when they played that evening and that the returns had brought them $32.50. Miss Stewart, the salesman had sold 75 reserved seats.

Mrs. Kelly accompanied her sister to the hospital recently.

Through Miss Harris, a residential teacher in Louisa when Mrs. Kelly and Miss Hogge are taking a class under the school has been able to get help from the State Board of Health in solving their water problem. Two men from the Sanitary Engineer Department have been trying to locate sources of pure water. They found two possibilities. They will determine which of these to use and the work will probably start next week.

The attendance at Clearfield School is holding up well, despite the fact that cold-weather has started.

Freshmen Meet, Centre In Last Match On Card

Fans will have this last opportunity to see a Morehead football team in action, when the Eagles, College freshmen eleven tangle with Centres freshmen at Jayne Stadium.

The Morehead freshmen will be playing to average two things Friday. In the first place the Centre freshmen ruined a perfectly good season for the Morehead freshmen in basket ball.

Despite a good freshmen grid team down at the Danville institution, the Eagles will be favored Friday. The play of the locals against Eastern first year team will be the chief reason for this.

Raceland Defeats Training School

Under sheer man-power Edna McNabs, Raceland Ramblers, co-leaders of the Little Eight Conference, were down Breckinridge Training School in a game here last week.

Weight and experience were bound to tell in the long run, with the results that Raceland picked up 23 points in the last quarter to beat Roy Holm's fighting eleven 38 to 0.

The Breckinridge team fought defensively the first half and held Raceland to a single touchdown.

Raceland added another 6 points in the third quarter and then opened up a power house attack in the last to run the count up on the weakened Training School team.

Sport Splurges

Morehead's football teams won more games last week than they had during the entire season.

The College Freshmen started everything off in fine style as they swamped the favorite Eastern Baby Maroon team 24-0 at Jayne Stadium that was on Thursday.

Morehead showed more football in the last half of that game Saturday than they have all year. For once they got on their horses and galloped in a style that brought the smallest crowd of the season to their feet with more spirit and praise than ever before.

The only sad part about the game was that Claude Clayton finished eight years of playing for Morehead and has played so much under Coach Downing that it is doubtful if things will look the same to Devex next year when he starts practice without Claude.

Great things are seen for the varsity basketball team at the College that started practice this week. They have all the regulars from last year's team, except the high scoring Combs, and a lot of good men coming up from the freshmen.

Every berth on the team is open and some of last year's first string men may find themselves warming the bench this season. Morehead should have a much better team than they had last season.

The college schedule includes practically every team in the S. I. A. A. in Kentucky.

There are three other basketball teams that may be seen here this year. They are the College freshmen Breckinridge Training School and the Morehead High School.

All are expected to have fairly good teams. The college freshmen should be exceptionally strong.

Claude Clayton Leads Morehead Last Period To Victory 13-12

Morehead's Flying Eagles lay dormant for two quarters, batted out in the third period, and then sank their talons into a wavering East Tennessee Teachers team in the last quarter in two frenzied concentrated attacks that gained a pair of touchdowns and a 13-12 victory here Saturday afternoon.

The game was a brilliant and deserving finish for Claude Clayton, Eagle back, who played his last game Saturday after being a first string man on eight teams for the Normal School and the Teachers College.

Although Clayton was the stand-out, there were several others on both teams who were hard to handle. Boyer, captain and halfback for the visitors was knocked out in the third quarter when Brashear made a driving tackle, but he had turned in some of the nearest running seen here this season.

For Morehead Grinstead, Alon Brashear were the linemen that caused East Tennessee the most grief. Grinstead's game was never stopped although the Tennessee substitutes four times trying to find a man to halt him at center.

His number 9 flashed in every tackle. Captain William Mocoabe threw the passes that netted over two hundred yards, besides nice generalship. Hackney, substituted end played the best game of his career and was on the receiving end of most of those passes. Reynolds was unusually successful the second half in plugging the line, while Allie's defensive play saved much yardage.

It was East Tennessee football game the first two quarters, but Eagles by even a wider margin in the rest of the time. With the wind in their favor, the visitors gained on every exchange in the last period until they had it on Morehead's thirty yard line.

On an end run around play Mocoabe gained 12 yards, and Boyer passer to Anderson on the three yard line. Morehead held for three downs at this point but on the fourth play Hunt made 8 1/2 inches. Taylor failed to kick the extra point as the wind carried it wide.

In the second quarter Allie fumbled a punt on Morehead's thirty yard line, and East Tennessee turned it into another touchdown. Burleson was the big boy in this match as he drove 21 yards in three plays. He and Hunt then carried it to the one yard line, where Hunt went over for a 12-0 lead.

East Tennessee elected to play a defensive game the second half, but Morehead's passing, coupled with Clayton's end skirret and Reynolds line plunging proved too much.

Strictly speaking the game was won on passes. East Tennessee even tried using six men in the backfield on defense and still were unable to stop Mocoabe's passing.

Morehead drove to the eighteen yard line in the third quarter on passes but lost the ball on a fumble. Hackney started another aerial game that brought them knocking at the touchdown portals before they were stopped on downs.

A few minutes of the fourth period slipped when Morehead started an aerial drive from their own 48 yard line. A pass to Hackney netted 12 to Alley 10, then Clayton picked up 11 off end and Reynolds eight.

Clayton took the ball on the 9 yard line and sent the receivers to score the Eagles first marker. Reynolds missed the extra point.

The winning touchdown came three minutes before the game ended. Mocoabe shot three passes to Hackney and Clayton took the ball on the Morehead forty yard line.

Clayton and Reynolds came through with some precious yardage, and then Mocoabe shot a pass that Hackney almost stood on his head to get on the seven yard line.

Clayton pulled the identical play that scored the first touchdown, and it worked exactly the same way for the tying point. Reynolds faked a placement kick and Clayton took the ball on a power drive and slipped off one tackler for the extra point.

Messing caught two long passes near the end of the game to put East Tennessee down on Morehead's twenty, but the Morehead team held for three downs, and Taylor's placement kick for a field goal was low and wide.

During the last half Morehead piled up sixteen first downs, giving them nineteen for the game. East Tennessee made six first downs the first half and three the last. The Eagles gained 166 yards on running plays and lost 30. The Tennessee made 110 yards and lost 123 by the same route.

Morehead completed 15 of 27 passes for a total gain of 137 of 7 for 60 yards. The visitors had 8 over Morehead by a good margin in kicking, getting an average of 10 yards more on punts, 18 yards more on kick-offs and a better return on both.

On their first touchdown the Eagles made four straight first downs and five on their second march. Last year East Tennessee beat Morehead 7-6.

RABBIT SEASON OPENS IN KENTUCKY TODAY

Hundreds of Rowan County sports men and thousands of Kentucky hunters will take to the field today in search of bunnies. Today November 15 is the first day that rabbit season can be legally hunted.

The Game Warden has repeatedly called attention to the new game regulation which may not be killed until Nov. 24. The quail season closes January 9, 1935. To hunt in January, hunting license for 1935 must be procured.

Migratory waterfowl hunting requires a Federal Duck Stamp. Migratory birds can be hunted only on days specified by the Federal Government.

Freshmen Win Over Eastern

Using a diversified attack with the deadly aerial game as its apex, the Morehead College freshmen had little difficulty in drubbing Eastern's youngsters here Thursday afternoon by a 24-0 count.

Although the entire Morehead team played their best game so far, it was Jerral Vinson, Big Sandy flash from Louisiana, that furnished the scoring punch in all four touchdown drives.

The first quarter the Morehead team drove 49 yards to the one foot line, from where Burton crashed through for a touchdown on the first play of the second period.

In that drive Vinson gained 16 yards to start it off, and then passed 20 yards to Dale to put the ball on the fifteen yard line. Dale made six off tackle, and Burton and Vinson added four apiece.

Another touchdown came a few minutes later as Vinson hurled a 45 yard pass into the hands of Vayon on the 18 yard line.

Morehead was penalized 15 on the next, but Vinson shot a thirty-eight yard heave into the hands of Mowery on the goal line.

Eastern seemed to find new strength after an intermission and were down to the 12 yard strip before they lost the ball on downs.

On almost straight football, the Eagles power drive started at this point, and in distance negotiating the distance as Morehead line cut big gaps in the Maroons forward wall.

Prewitt fell on a blocked kick on the eighteen yard line, and from that point Morehead advanced for the touchdown. Eastern temporarily halted it on the five yard line, but on a double reverse Vinson went over on the fourth down.

Although the game was Morehead's most of the time, there were several flash plays from the visitors, thirty yard line three times.

Basketball Starts At Morehead T.C.

Varsity basketball practice started at Morehead College Monday afternoon when apparently twenty aspiring basketekers reported to Coach Downing.

Prospects for a winning combination are better than they have ever been before in the Eagle domain. Paul "Mouse" Combs and Oakley Wojten, regulars of last year's team, are the only lettermen lost by graduation and there is apparently ample material to fill their shoes.

This year's team is expected to be built around the men left from last season. In addition to some good prospects from the freshmen, Roy Caudill, Luster Oyley, Tom Ryan, Fred Caudill and Doc Adams, of last year's varsity will again be competing for places on the first team.

Practice for the freshmen team will start next week under the tutelage of Cap. Seewig.

Basketball Begins Next Week

Morehead High school can look forward to a better basketball season than they had on the football field this year.

Although graduation cleaned the ranks of lettermen taking the first six on the 'net square' Coach Austin Riddle has some players that are good prospects.

Those lost by graduation are: Tatum, Eam, Kessler, Calvert, and Hall.

The best prospects this year are Ted Davis, center; Austin Alfrey, guard; Edwin Turner, Forward; James Justice, Harold James, Jack Carter, Luster and Lloyd Brown.

Substitutions: Morehead, Vinson, McCookin, Wyant, Smith, Ison, Caine, St. Taylor, Linda, F. Marnett, Cales, Adams, Eastern, Molsberger, Everling. Scoring touchdowns: Burton, Mowery, Vinson (2).
