Democratic County Chairman's Office At Stake Saturday

Precinct Committeemen and Committeewomen Will Be Selected In Rowan

MEET HERE TO CHOOSE OFFICERS DECEMBER 12

Attorneys James Clay and Lester Hogge Being Boosted By Supporters

Two or more candidates for the office of Democratic chairman of Rowan county appeared likely today with precinct chairmen and chairwomen elections closing Saturday.

Two prominent Morehead attorneys—James Clay and Lester Hogge—are being boosted by their friends and supporters for the place. Although neither has said that he is a candidate for the place, it is generally assumed that the balloting will probably be between these two when the precinct officers meet in the county courthouse Saturday, December 12 to make the choice.

The most important phase in the nomination of a chairman and chairwoman will come Saturday, when Democrats in every precinct will meet at the voting places at 7 o'clock to elect precinct committeemen and precinct committeewomen. All Democrats present at the precinct will be eligible to vote for their choice. The present precinct committeemen will preside at the meeting. In case there is a vacancy in the committeeman the present chairman, Attorney E. Hogge, has the power to appoint someone to conduct the meeting.

There will be 36 eligible voters for the county chairman and county chairwoman two from each precinct. Both the precinct committeemen and precinct committeewomen are eligible to participate in the vote for selecting the county officers.

The present committeemen and precinct committeewomen will hold office for four years or until the first Saturday in December of the next presidential election year which is 1940.

The functions of the county chairman are many. One of the most important is the submission of names for election by ballot in a general election or in a primary election. In the latter, however, 50 per cent of the candidates may be chosen by the Democratic election officers. The county chairman and chairwoman generally lead the fight in a presidential election as well as in many state and county general elections. He shall also preside at any county meetings of the party, and represent the county at the state democratic get-togethers.

Observers Believe Elliott Will Go Dry

Most observers believe that Elliott will go for local option when they go to the polls Saturday. There has been very little fight made either way in that county as compared to Rowan, while Elliott voted dry on the state amendment last year and Rowan voted slightly wet.

Local Option Elections Will Be Held December 5 In Rowan, Elliott, Lawrence and Wolfe counties

The precinct elections will be held all over the county at the same time as in Rowan county.

Attend Educational Meet

Pres. Harvey A. Babb and Dean William H. Vaughan left this week to attend a meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges, held at Richmond, Va.

MOORE STUDENTS HAVE 6-YEAR PERFECT MARK

Eula Foster and Clarence McClure, students at the Moore Rural School in Rowan county, have not missed attending a day of school in six years. They plan to enter high school at Farmers school next semester. The teacher of the Moore school, Virginia Dawson, describes Eula and Clarence as studious, industrious and very apt to succeed in any undertaking.

Sam Branham Held To Bath Grand Jury

Roadhouse Operator Executes $3,000 Bond On Charge Of Fugate Murder

Sam Branham, 59, operator of the Log Cabin tourist camp in Bath county between Morehead and Owingsville, was held to await the action of the grand jury which Branham said he intended to fight. The grand jury met at 11:30 a. m. on Saturday, December 22, when arraigned at Owingsville Saturday.

Branham waived examining trial and executed the $3,000 bond set by the county judge. Fugate was slain by a bullet which Branham said he intended for Joe Day, of Morehead, Rowan county patrolman. The same bullet grazed Day's neck causing a hair wound and penetrated Fugate's jugular vein.

Several eye-witnesses to the fray said that Day had been holding Branham, following an argument between the two men, but at the time the shot was fired, Day was being held by Fugate. Branham who has but one arm, drew the gun from his pocket with his left hand and fired, according to the evidence.

There were several eye-witnesses to the tragedy including a child of people from Haldeman, who were with Fugate. Impressive funeral rites were held at the Log Cabin tourist camp. Fugate was buried in the cemetery. Flowers from the county committeemen were banked about the casket.

G. W. Stacey, George Stacey and C. H. Cheep were seen as sureties for Branham. Branham is a native of Magnolia county and was reared near Salersville, Ky. He was largely self-taught. He was arrested last April from G. W. Stacey, of Morgan county, and has operated it since that time.

Permits Required Of Forest Campers

Cumberland Park Executives Hope To Minimize Fires In This Manner

Announcement was made today by Forest Supervisor R. F. Hennigway that in the future permits will be required for the use of the Cumberland National Forest desiring to build camp fires. This ruling is being put into effect due to the fact that the Cumberland National Forest has had to suppress nearly 450 forest fires since William H. Vaughan largely through the carelessness of smokers, campers, hunters and fishermen.

The permits authorize the possessor to build camp fires on the National Forest according to a few simple requirements which insure the protection of the forests against fire. In requiring forest-users to obtain camp fire permits, it is felt that the number of forest fires caused by carelessness can be materially reduced.

Camp fire permits may be obtained at no cost, upon application from the district rangers at Mt. Sterling, Berea, London, or Williams. They are largely issued through the Cumberland National Forest. Permits will be issued to adults and to children under seventeen who present an application endorsed by their parent or guardian. Permits will not be required on improved camp grounds and recreational areas.

Persons building camp fires on National Forest land who do not possess a permit are subject to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than 12 months, or both.

BOARD MEETS MONDAY

The Rowan County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting at the office of county superintendent Monday morning. Among other things, the board will discuss the Christmas holidays in the consolidated schools will be fixed. The rural schools are allowed only Christmas day off.

Short Crop Kentucky Burley; Sale Opens Monday

Food Grades Expected To Bring Above $35; Average Sure To Go Well Above $20 According To Estimates Made By Tobacco Buyers

Warehousemen on the Lexington tobacco market have completed all arrangements for opening of the 1936-37 sales season. Most buyers and now have but to meet Saturday to draw places in the sales circuit to be ready for the first cries of the auctioneers as the four sets of buyers meet on Saturday at the station for the current year's crop on December 7.

Operators of the 24 warehouses in the market are making plans to care for a large crowd of farmers and others who are expected to come from all sections of the burley belt to witness the sales opening here.

In addition, the Lexington market opening will be broadcast by radio for the benefit of those growers and other interested persons who are unable to be on hand. The broadcast will begin at 8:45 and continue until 9:15 (Central Time) and will be carried over station WLSA, the station of The Lexington Herald, operating on 1420 kilocycles. Also there will be broadcast over the same station every night during the season, except Sundays, at 7:30 o'clock, a review of each day's action in the Lexington market, including trends, etc.

Because of the shortness of this year's crop of burley tobacco, and the view toward increased cigarette consumption during recent years, especially in 1936, much interest is being shown by the market prospects for the current crop. Practically everyone is anticipating higher averages this season, the best being near $30 per pound to $20 to $25 or $27 a hundred pounds. Tobacco men who buy

Basketball Season Opens Here Tonight

Breckinridge Plays Camargo In Lid-Lifter For Morehead Fans

The sports curtain on basketball will rise on act one here this evening when one of Morehead's best basketball teams, the Breckinridge basketball club, will play the Camargo basketball team at 7:30 p. m.

The Breckinridge basketball team is the most potent factor in eastern Kentucky for the last three years, will have the honor of playing first. They meet Camargo High school at 7:30 p. m.

Coach Bobby Vaughan has good prospects for a winning team at Breck this year. His roster of players includes Frederick Pritchard, Walter Allen, Calvin Crockett, Walter Hubert, Robert Fraley, Harold Carr, Harry Caudill, Charles Fraley, Wendell Brown, Clyde Hines, George Jackson, Ben Johnson, Buddy Judd, Creed Patrick, Robert Caudill, Milton Caudill, John Paul Messer, George McCullough, George Jackson, Bobby Hodge, Bobby Holbrook, Earl Fraley, Billy Black, Paul Whitted, Hubert Allen, Earl Boggs and Leo Nickell.

On December 7 Breck plays Frenchburg here; December 11, Soldiers; and December 14, Erving here. The schedule after the holidays has not been completed. The fights will come among other teams, during the season Mt. Sterling, West Liberty, Washington, Grayson, Paintsville, and Haldeman.

COLLEGE INN SLIGHTLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

The kitchen of the College Inn restaurant and Greyhound Bus Station on Main and College Boulevard was slightly damaged by fire Monday morning. Members of the Morehead fire department extinguished the blaze before it gained much headway, with chemicals.

Vaughan Traces Century of Normal School Progress

Writing in November of The Peabody Reflects, publication of the George Peabody College for Teachers, William H. Vaughan, dean of the Morehead State Teachers College stresses six distinct achievements in the history of the normal school during their 100 years of existence.

In the article, headed "A Century of Progress," Vaughan sets out the following accomplishments in schools similar to the Morehead State Teachers College: (1) The normal school has been an agency for spreading education theories; (2) the normal school has been a center of development of departments and colleges of education in the colleges and universities of the land; (3) the normal school has been a center of the nation's educational progress; and (4) the establishment of the training school; (5) the normal school has set the pace in raising the requirements for teachers; and (6) the normal school and teachers' college have given us a new college student body.

Dean Vaughan forwards his article to the Peabody Reflects, which is being published in connection with the 150th anniversary of the signing of the declaration of independence was held in Philadelphia. In 1926 the famous Century of Progress, and this year the Texas Centennial.

Long Speeches Are 'Taboo' At Business Men's Get-Together

Speaks Will Be Limited To 2 Minutes At Banquet Friday Evening

MSTC FOOTBALL SQUADS TO BE GUESTS OF HONOR

Mark Bowne, Lee Clay Manager, Acting Toastmaster; Many Introductions Slated

Long, drawn-out speeches are "taboo" at the business men's banquet for the members of the variety and freshmen football teams, coaches and athletic council of Morehead college at the Christian church Friday evening. The program committee set that down as a rule in mapping out the program this week.

The speakers will be limited to two minutes each. Business men have adopted the idea that people don't go to a banquet to hear a speaker but to enjoy the company of those who are there. Therefore, they have concentrated their efforts on the food to be served and not on the "guys" who will be making the speeches.

Nevertheless the program committee did not fail to come through with a few public appearances, but most of them will be in an introductory capacity. M. S. Bowne, manager of the Lexington Products Company and president of the Arctic club which is giving the banquet, will be the first to appear. The invocation will be given by the Rev. G. H. Fern.

Enrollment In WPA Classes Reaches Peak

The largest enrollment in WPA classes in Rowan county was reached during the month of November. An enrollment of 288 pupils recorded the largest enrollment in the county since the beginning of the adult program under the Works Progress Administration. Enrollment in the classes has shown a steady increase since the first of July and prospects are good for an even greater enrollment during the coming months.

It is estimated that more than 100 persons have been taught to read and write in these classes since its beginning under the WPA. In addition to this many have received valuable instruction in vocational and cultural subjects. A permanent program of special education is in sight and will be continued through the educational leaders the present school system may be extended so that the best educational opportunities for all the people instead of the few reached at the present time.

Holbrook Predicts Good 2nd Semester 5

Morehead High School Coach Roy Holbrook predicted a good second semester for the school. He said that the school has made much of a basketball team early in the season, but he believed it would develop into a club with a tennis team and a chess club after the second semester. Milton Davis and Charles Tatum will be invited to the second semester. The Vikings' open against Olive Hill next Wednesday.

Members of the Viking squad will be invited to the second semester. The Vikings' open against Olive Hill next Wednesday. Members of the Viking squad will be invited to the second semester. The Vikings' open against Olive Hill next Wednesday.

LIGHT VOTE SEEN IN ROWAN LOCAL OPTION ELECTION

School Children Guests Of College

Rowan county schools which show an increase of attendance of five per cent or more over the preceding month will be the guests of the Morehead State Teachers College theater. A number of the rural schools have already reached this mark, and have either attended one of the shows in the group, or have been extended the invitation. This group includes Old House Creek, McKenzie, Clearfield, Mount Hope, Dittney, Perkins, Rock Fork and Sharkey.

Weather To Affect Results; Both Sides Claim Rural Edge

Should Saturday be cold there is likely to be a last minute rush for doves to place in voting boxes. The weather may play an important part in Saturday's balloting. With fair weather prevailing the vote may reach 2,000, but if it is a light vote it is doubted if it will over 2,000. More than 4,500 are expected to participate.

Woman's Club Is Lauded For Drive

Praise was heaped upon the Rowan County Woman's club today by Superintendent Roy Corbett for his commendance Officer Abel Alfrey for the club's efforts and achievements toward clothing children of needy families in Rowan county.

The school officials said that the Woman's club had already made up 17 packages of new clothing for children. The bundles include underwear, shoes, overalls, shirts, dresses and stockings. However, this is not the forerunner of more clothes to come for the Woman's club is sponsoring an old-clothes drive which is expected to net at least 50 more bundles.

Attendance in Rowan county schools this year has reached a record. Robert Bradshaw will introduce the variety team. Coach Miller will present the captain of the basketball club who will introduce the members of the 'M' club who are present. Mr. Sample is president of the 'M' club.

The introductory festivities next include the athletic council and coaches, Ellis Johnson and Len Johnson will present Coach Miller will introduce the variety team. Coach Miller will present the captain of the basketball club who will introduce the members of the 'M' club who are present. Mr. Sample is president of the 'M' club.

Red Cross Roll Call Continues

Although the Rowan county chapter of the American Red Cross has reached its quota the drive is, by no means, finished. Local chairman Mrs. N. L. Wells said today in calling for new memberships.

It is requested that persons who have not been solicited for this worthy cause—and it is probable that many must have been overlooked—contact their dealer with the local newspapers if they cannot immediately get in touch with the Red Cross chairman or work.

The majority of Kentucky counties are believed to have reached their quota. For the state as a whole, Kentucky has reached 104,000 members. While this was almost double that of the previous year, it was felt that not nearly all those who were able to help, and who would want to help, the work of the Red Cross in Kentucky, had had opportunity to contribute. And so the larger quota was agreed upon.

This newspaper will be glad to receive and to pass on to the proper persons the dollar of any man or woman who desires to have a part in the work of the Red Cross coming year by becoming a member. Half of each dollar contributed has been previously acknowledged, remains with the local chapter for local use. The other half goes to the American Red Cross national organization.

The Red Cross organization in Kentucky expresses its appreciation of the work of those devoted men and women who volunteered

SCARLET FEVER EPIDEMIC CHECKED IN OLIVE HILL

An epidemic of scarlet fever and septic sore throat in Carter county, centering around Olive Hill, has been checked, according to Dr. Don Wilder of the Carter County Health Department. Of the 30 cases reported 29 were at Olive Hill on a boarding school in Olive Hill.

DOLLARS THAT HAVE WINGS

There are only 17 more shopping days until Christmas!

This is the time each year when more money is spent than at any other period. Merchants and business men anticipate the heaviest trade.

In the part it has been unfortunate that a great deal of this Rowan county money has been going elsewhere. There were two reasons for this. One was that the local merchant was not providing what the shopper wanted, and the other was that the shopper, particularly women, had been going out of the county so long for Christmas shopping that it came as a habit to them.

This year many more thousands of our dollars will leave Rowan county. However, it is safe to assume that more of it will stay here than before. The reason for this is that one of the aforementioned drawbacks has been partially overcome. The merchants in Rowan county are becoming more conscious of these dollars that have wings. They are putting in stocks of merchandise to meet the Christmas needs of the majority of the shoppers.

It will pay Morehead and Rowan county shoppers to look around at home before spending money to go to some other city to do their Christmas shopping. You will find most of the things which you desire to purchase in this county.

THE WORKING MAN GETS AN INCREASE

Employment and payrolls of Kentucky industries increased in October over September. The tabulation of reports of 1,249 establishments received by the Employment office at Washington show. The comparative report indicated that employment increased 3.6 per cent in October over September. Payrolls advanced 6.4 per cent in the same period.

It is that last statement which interests us most. It shows that wages are being bumped all over the state. It is an economic law that the wage-scale is the last to advance after recovery from a national depression. Wages dropped in the same proportion as was the business let-down during the depression from 1929-34. They did not fall as rapidly, however, and likewise they do not return to normal as fast.

The Kentucky Fire Brick Company of Haldeman announced a wage increase averaging approximately 15 per cent. This was in keeping with announcements from concerns all over the United States of bigger pay envelopes. These companies are making money and are therefore enabled to pass it on to their employees.

At the Haldeman plant the raise was 44 cents a day to every employee, regardless of what he was previously making. The little man benefited as much from it as did the higher-salaried individual.

In non-manufacturing industries in Kentucky the payroll increased from $962,245 in September to $1,029,425 in October. This is for 945 concerns.

Whether we believe that recovery is here or not, it must be admitted that the inflexible economic law of wage increases is a yardstick that shows it is.

NO WONDER THE FARMER OBJECTS

The farmer is fast becoming disgusted with the gradually increasing number of hunters. They have a right to feel the way they do.

Many so-called sportsmen take little precautions in shooting, many times hitting live stock and fowls. They go through and over the farmer's fences, tearing them down as if they owned the place. As a result many farmers have posted their land against hunting.

The hunter should be careful to not endanger the farmers home, property, or live stock. He should not hunt close to homes or in fields where stock is grazing. Sadly, very few heed this.

ROOSEVELT TO PEACE CONFERENCE

At this writing, President Roosevelt is on his way to the Inter-American peace conference at Buenos Aires, where he will make a speech the first day and then return. He was preceded south by an imposing American delegation headed by Secretary of State Hull—implacable fighter for better commercial and diplomatic relations between countries.

There has been considerable discussion concerning the value or the futurity of the conference. Some point out, with truth, that there is no danger of a war arising in North or South America, that Europe and the East are the danger spots.

However, it is the President's belief—which is shared by many—that if the nations of the Western Hemisphere show Europe that a round-table discussion of issues can lead to amicable settlements and agreements, some progress toward world peace will be made. And it is likewise believed that if the present takes a forthright and aggressive stand for peace and throws his vast prestige against armed conflict, heads of powers which are now close to war may think again before giving the command to open hostilities.

The President's trip to Buenos Aires is thus in the nature of a gesture in a world which was never nearer to armed chaos. As a matter of fact, in recent months there have been more occurrences contributory to war than there were in 1912 and 1913.

Everyone hopes that gesture will be productive of good. In the meantime, it seems that every seasoned news commentator and every old-time war correspondent, is certain that war in Europe and Asia is inevitable—one of the leading correspondents recently stated, on departing for Europe, that he was going to cover the next war.

The Italo-German recognition of the Spanish rebels has further widened the cleavage between these powers and France and Russia. The greatest force existing today in both Europe and Asia is the force of hatred.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

In a newspaper there are hundreds of items about the business, the happenings, the social, religious side of every community. The weekly newspaper mirrors the very existence of a community. In itself, it is every town and every county's best advertising medium.

The conscientious weekly editor seeks to uphold the community. The good that it does is reflected by the character in which the paper is held in the place of its publication. The dailies play up the murders, suicides—the dreary side of life for it is more sensational. The weekly has a different aim. It is the furthest thing possible from yellow journalism. It is one of America's greatest institutions. The good that it accomplishes cannot be measured.

One Year Ago This Week

J. J. Thomas, Owensville, Democrat, defeated Representative of the Bath-Rowan district on the issue of returns, filed a suit in Rowan Circuit Court charging that fraud and intimidation caused his defeat and the election of his Republican opponent J. T. Jennings. Thomas alleged that C. E. Jennings, county judge of Rowan county, had guards placed at polling places to insure the election of his father.

Congressman Fred M. Vinson advised officials of Morehead college that a WPA loan-grant of $181,000 for a new dormitory had been approved. College administrators said that Vinson's influence enabled them to secure the loan-grant.

Work on stone voting booths for Rowan county was started.

Tobacco prices averaged slightly over $20.

The Morehead Civic Chorus presented "The Messiah" in the College auditorium.

A large crowd of Morehead people attended the inauguration of A. B. Chandler as Governor of Kentucky in Frankfort.

WHAT OTHER KENTUCKY EDITORS ARE SAYING

Food For Thought

The business man who does not advertise is not only losing the benefits to be derived in his own business but removing dirt from the very foundation upon which big business is built. Every nationally known product found on the shelves or floors of local business men are in existence today because of well-laid advertising plans and persistent newspaper advertising. That this is true, no one will deny. Even merchants themselves, even though they do not admit the value of advertising, and steadfastly refuse to advertise their merchandise, will not stock or attempt to sell any product that is not Nationally advertised.

If advertising doesn't pay, why is the merchant so particular about stocking non-advertised merchandise? The answer is apparent. It will admit no argument.

Advertising in your home town paper reaches the homes of your prospective customer. It is a silent salesman, speaking constantly in your behalf, telling your friends of the merchandise you have and the price at which it may be purchased, and, best of all, it talks to the man or woman who does the buying and who has the money with which to purchase the articles you have to sell.

Newspaper advertising is the best and cheapest method by which the business man can carry his message into the home. What would it cost to hire a man to visit the thousands of readers who see your advertisements each week?

What would it cost to circulate the entire county with postcards alone?

A careful estimate of the cost, plus the effectiveness of an attractive advertisement, will reveal how little it is necessary to spend each week to have your home town newspaper carry your message to thousands of readers.

Why delay longer? Prepare now to start 1937 with a well-laid advertising campaign to boost your business. It will pay dividends far above the return on most investments. A trial will convince.—Springfield Sun.

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SOCKING EARLY!

THIS WEEK IN MOREHEAD

PREDICTIONS: The wet and dry campaign or the local option election in Rowan county comes to a climax Saturday when the voters shall make the decision. No matter who wins there will not be another local option election in Rowan county for three years, as provided by law. It is doubtful if there will be another one for many years to come.

Fecularly, both the dries and the wets want a bright, sunny day for the election. Both seem to be in question but that the sentiment is very definitely divided. Either way you take it there probably won't be a landslide.

It's just another one of these great American questions, and akin to anything else there seems to be no question but that the sentiment is very definitely divided. Either way you take it there probably won't be a landslide.

THANK'S GIVING: It will henceforth be an annual custom for the Morehead State Teachers College to dismiss from Thursday morning until Monday every year on the week in which Thanksgiving falls. Here-

Your Family Coat-of-Arms

Reproduced here are the coat of arms of William Throop. These arms were changed as was the name from the original "Scrope". Political strife in England brought about the extinction of the recognized Baronies of Scrope in the Peasage of England.

William Scrope fleeing for his life and property fled to Hartford, Connecticut, in 1650, and later the emigrant settled at Bristol, Rhode Island. His name was changed to escape pursuit from his father's enemies, and to insure his freedom in the New World.

Descendants of this family include the New York Governor, Enos T. Throop. Description of Arm: A silver bar and two chevrons on a crimson shield. Crest: A naked arm grasping a coiled serpent. Motto: They did their duty.

another bright spot of cheer that Christmas brings.

FEDERAL CHANGES: In the administrative offices of some of the relief offices is not due to an investigation demanded by several leading Democrats. Rather, the word reliably comes that the same changing-around is being done in practically every county.

The Democrats still claim the Republicans are "hogging" the show, but the whole thing, like everything else, is shimmering down with the passing of time.

ARCTIC CLUB: A group of Morehead business and professional men met at the N. E. Kennard Hardware Company a few days ago to make preparation for a banquet honoring the Morehead college football team which finished the season with the best record of any Kentucky club. Someone suggested the group ought to have a name. Evidently inspired by chilling temperatures outside someone suggested naming it the Arctic club. And so it was unanimously chosen.

This organization may develop into something besides a club to give a football banquet every year. With Mart Bowne, its president, paving the way the Arctic Club may become a very influential and growing organization of which we will hear more in the future.

INSECTS CAUSE $100,000,000 DAMAGE TO U. S. FORESTS

There are 200,000 kinds of trees attacking insects, and their attacks upon the trees are going on all the time. It is estimated that these insects cause a loss of $100,000,000 every year.

Keen demand for mules shown in sale of one animal for $250 in Franklin county, Ky.; 37 saddle horses brought $45,770, or average of $1,120, highest record since 1929.

LIBEL LADY

ADAPTED BY LEONARD MITCHELL From the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Picture.

Chapter One
THE BRIDGE ROOM IS DELAYED.
High above the roaring of the gigantic presses turning out the second edition of the New York Evening Star, shivered the instant clang of a gong. The press room gang stiffened into surprised attention. The electric power was instantly shut off, but the presses continued to operate with a slowing rhythm.

With extreme deliberation the last copy of the Star dropped from the dying press neatly folded once, displaying a three column picture of Connie Allenbury, a socialite young woman whose name and portrait had a habit of getting frequently to print.

hat. The telephone on the night table jangled insistently and Ching started to take it up.

"Let it ring!" commanded Haggerty, a tall, good-looking young man wearing thirty. "I've had enough gags pulled on me this morning!"

"Maybe Miss Benton again," suggested Ching diffidently. "I'm afraid maybe she—"

"You're afraid?" interrupted Haggerty grimly. "I'm marrying her, and you're afraid! Now, that's what I call loyalty!" He took the receiver off the hook, shoved it under a pillow on the bed.

"She say before, if you late, she tear down church," said Ching dubiously.

"Even that won't stop it! Oh, it's no use Ching. I said I'd meet her at the altar at the stroke of twelve. There'll be no reprieve from the Governor this time."

"I hope you be velly happy," said Ching mournfully. He watched Haggerty put on the high hat and consult the mirror again.

"Velly plitty."

"Pretty? I'm supposed to be the bridegroom, not the bride! Take my advice Ching, don't ever marry."

"Maybe not so bad, Mr. Haggerty."

"What's the gag this time?" demanded Gladys.

ty. My mother and father they get mailled."

Haggerty poured himself a drink. "To the last mile," he said, lifting the glass.

"A molly mullage and many huge comebacks."

The door bell started to ring, kept on starting, and Ching, after one startled glance went into the living-room. As he opened the door the office boy Walden had dispatched, ran past him to Haggerty who appeared in the doorway.

"Oh, Mr. Haggerty, come quick!" panted the boy. "You're wanted at the office!"

"Ching, I'm wanted at the office!" beamed Haggerty. "Good old Governor! Good old office! Huddle over to the church, Ching and tell Miss Benton I've been delayed. Tell her to call me at the office." When the Chinese had departed, shaking his head dubiously, Haggerty asked the boy what had happened.

"It's awful! I bust up your wedding, but there was a story they had to kill and—"

"What story?" Haggerty became all attention.

"The London correspondent called last night a swell story on the Allenbury girl."

"Connie Allenbury! What kind of a story?" Haggerty was plainly worried.

"Jackson cabled she was mixed up in some scrape at a garden party—tried to steal another girl's husband."

"Not Connie Allenbury?" cried Haggerty incredulously.

"Yes sir," replied the office boy. "All right, then what?"

"Jackson cabled this morning it was all a mistake. It was somebody else. She wasn't even at the party."

"And we printed it! Good jumping—!" He buttoned his coat and vest rapidly, and started to rush out, calling: "Come on!"

"Wait a minute, Mr. Haggerty."

They said not to stop for anything, but you gotta have your pants!" Haggerty pulled on the gray-striped trousers that went with his formal attire and made a run for the elevator.

Reporters, re-write men, copy-readers all pretended to be busily at work as Haggerty strode up to the city editor's desk, but their cast covert glances at Walden, some in sympathy, some in pleasure that he was going to catch it from the managing editor.

Haggerty began to shout twenty feet from Walden's desk: "Can't I stay away from here for a day without someone pulling a bone? You call yourself a newspaper man! Your nose should have told you better! Why, the story fairly reeks of alcohol—Jackson was drunk."

"I knew the boss hated her father," began Walden, eager to clear himself.

"And her father hates us," said Haggerty grimly. "He'd give his right eyes to blow us up, and you hand him the dynamite! The one girl in the world we must handle with gloves you smear clear across the front page!"

The ringing of a phone on his desk started Walden the rest of

The balling out, but his relief was short, for he began almost at once to mutter humbly: "Yes, sir, and 'No str's' into the moutpiece."

"The boss is here, Haggerty. He wants to see you right away."

"Does he want me—or my job? Got a drink?"

Allen, Haggerty's assistant, back from his taxi trip to the church, said: "There's a fresh bottle on your desk. I thought you'd need it."

"And how!" Haggerty strode into his office, had poured a stiff drink and was raising it to his lips when the door flew open and Gladys Benton, a strikingly handsome blonde, in conventional satin wedding gown with train, carrying orchids and lilies, came wrathfully in.

"I knew I'd find you with a glass in your hand!"

"What are you doing here?" demanded Haggerty, putting down the glass. "Didn't Ching tell you?"

"Sure, Ching told me, and I told him, and now I'm telling you—I won't stand for it! You can't do this to me! The first time it was that fire at sea, next time the kidnapping..." She kicked the train of her gown out of the way, stared at him, hands on hips. "What's the gag this time?"

"It's not a gag. The paper's made a terrible mistake."

"So his little Gladys? Engaged to a newspaper man! Joe Simpson never treated me like this!"

Haggerty was stung. "Then why did you divorce him?"

"I've asked myself that plenty of times! First you said a trip to Bermuda. Then you said Europe. If I wait another year it'll be Little America!"

The door opened again and Mr. Bane, the managing editor, appeared.

"Get rid of that woman and come to my office!"

This Question Does Not Have Two Sides, and there can be but One Verdict.

We have challenged those favoring Local Option to show one sane and safe reason why it should be adopted in Rowan County. They have failed to show this, and what's more they cannot present one good reason because it does not exist.

The evidence which we have submitted during this brief campaign has been irrevocable that they know they cannot dispute. They have not even tried. Again we challenge them to show reason why Rowan County should vote in a law that is termed Local Option. THE FACTS HAVE BEEN PLACED BEFORE THE VOTERS. THEY ARE NOT HERE-SAY OR IDLE PROPAGANDA. THEY ARE TAKEN FROM THE RECORD.

Those things upon which we have laid our campaign have been such that we have repeated them hundreds of times through many means to the voters.

- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 1 That Local Option will mean the return of the bootlegger and the moonshiner. Can they deny it? Can you deny it? It is so obvious no one can say it is untrue.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 2 That Local Option will make criminals of many Rowan County boys and girls. Can they deny it? The court records speak for themselves. Lie swearers is an awful term, but there is no question but that prohibition made men and boys who under any other condition would tell the truth was, in themselves. The court docket is one-third of what it formerly was. Is there any better proof.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 3 That Local Option would take away $19,000 in taxes. The report of the state tax commission verifies this. Again we find no denial or rebuttal. The fact is too obvious.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 4 That conditions are better now. They have not denied this. You know yourself whether they are better and it is up to you, as a voter, to judge for yourself.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 5 That on the county lines surrounding Rowan there would be a string of liquor stores. They would get the money and Rowan County would get nothing except reckless drivers—people who take their automobile across the county line and come back endangering the highways. They do not deny this.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 6 That surrounding counties want Rowan to vote in Local Option. They want our money and our revenue. No one can deny this.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 7 That no one but a fanatic could have written the present Local Option Law, which provides that a man's property and all belongings can be sold and the informer gets 10 per cent of the proceeds. Can they deny this law. Here has been the comeback—"They won't enforce such a law as that!"... and yet the very people who say this, are the ones who have been kicking about law enforcement, saying that the officers do not enforce the law. The law is on the statutes and IT MUST BE ENFORCED for the informer can make the court, whether it wants to or not, enforce it so that he can get his 10 per cent. You study this law—go to the courthouse—and if it is not on the statutes we'll concede the election without ever going to the polls.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 8 That it is safer to hold church in the rural parts of Rowan County. Grand jury reports substantiate this and the rural people know it is true.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 9 There were no deaths now from moonshine liquor. It is self-evident there is no denial of this.
- WE HAVE SAID ———
- 10 That the moonshiner and bootlegger will vote for Local Option as they wish to resume operations. There, likewise will be no denial of this.

We have laid our campaign before the voters. All that we ask is you study the facts, analyze the Local Option law and vote for the best interests of yourself? Your neighbors? Your friends and your county.

We have challenged those favoring Local Option to meet the facts as we have given them to you. Unfortunately they have made no statements for we would like nothing better than to take any statements they may make in favor of Local Option, pull it apart, and show just what flimsy evidence they have to go on.

GO TO THE POLLS SATURDAY AND VOTE MENTALLY AND MORALLY RIGHT. VOTE ACCORDING TO THE EVIDENCE. YOU ARE THE JUDGE AND THE JURY, AND WE MUST ABIDE BY WHAT YOU, THE CITIZENS AND TAXPAYERS OF ROWAN COUNTY DEEM IS BEST FOR US ALL.

VOTE NO!

Notice to Contractors

Sealed bids for Science Building equipment will be received at the offices of Joseph & Joseph, Architects and Engineers, 404 Breslin Building, Louisville, Kentucky, by the Board of Regents, Morehead State Teachers College, Morehead, Kentucky, until 11:00 A. M. of the next Standard Time, December 8, 1936 at which time they will be opened, publicly read aloud, and tabulated.

The project in general comprises the following groups: A-B-C-D-E and F for Science Building Equipment, Movable and Fixed.

Bids must be made on all these groups under one proposal. Owners reserve the option of awarding or rejecting any portion of a bid or the entire bid or any of its bids, and to waive irregularities.

1. Bids will be received and contracts let on any projects financed in whole or in part by the Public Works Administration, subject to all provisions of the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1935. Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum rates as prescribed in the Construction Regulations must be paid on the Project.

2. Plans, specifications and contract documents may be examined at the office of W. H. Rice, Superintendent of Buildings, Grounds, Morehead, Kentucky, or at the office of Joseph & Joseph, Architects, 404 Breslin Building, Louisville, Kentucky, or may be obtained from Joseph & Joseph, Architects, 404 Breslin Building, Louisville, Kentucky, upon deposit of $25.00. The deposit of contractors making legal bids will be returned upon the return of documents in good condition within one week after bids are opened. Other deposits will be refunded with deductions made for the actual cost of reproduction of the documents upon return of same in good condition within thirty days after the date of opening of bids.

3. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof. After the tabulation of bids has been made and the lowest acceptable bidder determined and approved, all other certified checks or bonds will be returned.

4. The award of this contract is contingent upon the securing of an acceptable bid which will fall within the amount of funds available for the construction of the project.

Board of Regents, Morehead

Beware Coughs That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchitis, if you can't get relief now with Cremonium, serious trouble may be brewing which you cannot afford to take a chance with anything less than Cremonium. Cremonium is the only medicine that soothes and heals the inflamed membranes as the germ-laden phlegm loosens and is eliminated. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, your Cremonium is authorized to guarantee Cremonium and to refund your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Get Cremonium right now. (Adv.)

State Teachers College reserves the right to make such changes in the design and the extent of the works as may be necessary to reduce the cost of the project to within the limit of the funds available; provided such reduction does not affect the total estimate more than 20 per cent, and further reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Each bid must be accompanied by bidders bond or certified check drawn on a responsible bank, and the cash to the Secretary of the Board of Regents, Morehead State Teachers College, for a sum of not less than 5% of the bid.

Contractor will be required to furnish Performance Bond in amount of 100% of the Contract Price.

Character Actor Appears As Self

"There's a catch in it somewhere," said J. Edward Bromberg when informed that he was not going to make up for his role in "Star for a Night," Twentieth Century picture, which opened at the play at the Cozy Theatre with Claire Trevor, Jacob Darwell, Arline Judge, Evelyn Venable and Dean Jagger.

Bromberg was wrong, however, and in the film he appears naturally as the first scene since he came to Hollywood. Despite the fact that he is only thirty-two, Bromberg almost invariably portrays much older men. He started playing character parts when he first embarked on a theatrical career, and the great wit his artistry that he won the New York critics' award for the year's best acting when he played the aged Dr. Hochberg in the stage version of "Men in White."

Marlene Dietrich, Charles Boyer Star

For Friday, December 4, the College brings to the screen one of the most beautiful and artistic productions of screen history in "The Garden of Allah" which stars Marlene Dietrich and Charles Boyer.

This is a story of two troubled souls who meet in the edge of the Sahara desert, legendary Garden of Allah. The man has yielded to the temptation of the flesh and broken his vows and fled from a monastery. The woman is seeking an ethereal happiness which only God and she knows is in her heart. Together they come under the mystic enchantment of the Orient as their mortal hearts call to each other. A stirring passion dance, vividly executed by a desert siren, sets to the temptation of the flesh and marry. The beauty of their love, portrayed in sequences which are the ultimate of good taste and dramatic propriety, tumbles into the dust of earthly love when the man's identity becomes known.

There is no bitterness in the heart of either man or woman as the man, confessing sin to God and woman, cleanses his soul and is surrendered to his monastery by the woman. Both see beyond the horizon of temporal existence a greater happiness in another life.

For Sunday, the feature is "Come Closer Folks," and features James Dunn and Marian Marsh. The Sunday show begins promptly at 2 p. m. and the use of high quality selection of short subjects will be given preceding the main show.
