Wets Win In 15 Of County's 19 Wards; City Votes 'No'

Anti-Local Option Forcing Up Hard Battle At Polling Places

NO DISORDERS OR DISTURBANCES REPORTED

Morehead No. 1, Haldeman and McKenzie Fall Into Dry Column

By a margin of almost three to two, Rowan county voters turned down local option at a special election held Saturday.

The vote on the local option question was: Yes (drys) 1,132 No (wets) 1,536. The tally was 11 to 15 in the 26 precincts.

The wets carried Farmers No. 5; Piery by 3; Dry Creek by 5; Brushy by 21; Morehead No. 2; Wagner by 27; Morehead No. 10 by 23; Farmers No. 11 by 40; Cranby by 43; Pine Grove by 64; Plank by 41; Hay by 41; Morehead No. 18 (county square) by 54; and Morehead No. 19 by 51.

Strength in the five Morehead precincts, although the wets did carry four of them and received the majority in the city.

The city precincts voted fairly heavy and were close, the wets carrying them 43 votes. The vote was: wets 588; drys 535.

Rural precincts returned the most imposing majorities for the wets. In many of the smaller county wards the wets received majorities ranging from 4 to 1 to better than 7 to 1.

One of the election was that the drys received 800 less votes than they had signatures on the wets' petition which called for the election.

Some of the banner precincts were the winners with Piery who gave the drys seven and the wets 41; Pine Grove which voted 10 drys and 74 wets; Local option No. 18 which returned 18 drys and 74 wets, and Piery with 22 drys and 41 wets.

Not until the last week of the election did the wets appear to have built up enough sentiment in their favor to be believed that the tie changed at (Continued on Page Five)

WPA Cuts Off 39 Men Employed On County Projects

Move Seen As Possibility Of Other Slashes May Follow

Work Halted At Farmers School Building

Non-Relief Men First To Feel Ax Of Decrease In Expenditures

Thirty-nine men on WPA payroll in Rowan county were cut from the district office at Paintsville.

Local government officials do not know whether there will be additional slashing of the WPA payroll. However, the Rowan school building is closed.

At Washington the President is known to be concentrating on a balanced budget which can only be accomplished through a decrease in expenditures.

The WPA is the first to feel the ax. Non-relief men are the first to be cut off.

The government's slash is expected to have cost $25,000 of men that fall in this classification. County Judge Charles Jennings said this morning that the relief rolls would also probably be cut.

Monday's order caused the cancellation of work on the Farmers graded and high school building on which work had just started.

This school was to have cost $25,000. The order also suspended work on the Rowan county jail which is being renovated.

H. N. Wheeler Will Give Address Here

Will Speak On Forest Protection At Rowan Courthouse December 15

H. N. Wheeler, who will speak on the subject of forest protection at the Rowan courthouse on December 15 at 7 p. m., is a forester of long experience.

Accused of the robbery, Yell was traced to Alabama by County Patrolman Scott Cox, where he was arrested, and returned to Morehead. He confessed the crime and implicated Brown as his partner.

Yell told County Judge Charles Z. Jennings that he broke into McDaniel's home talking "to the old folks." Both men had apparently been good friends of the men they allegedly robbed.

Arrested Tuesday afternoon at Sandy Hook, Brown was returned to Morehead by Sheriff Mort May. He denied having a part in the crime.

Yell was arrested a few weeks ago by Federal revenue agents on a charge of setting up and operating a moonshine still. Arraigned before Commissioner J. W. Riley he was held over at Catelettsburg court. Mr. McDaniel, the man he later robbed, went on bond.

Since this is Yell's second liquor case, carrying with conviction a major penalty, Judge Jennings announced that he would allow Federal officers to take him to Catelettsburg for trial on that charge Monday.

He also notified Federal agents to "come and get him" as Mr. McDaniel desired to cease as security on his bond after Yell's arrest.

Brown is also scheduled to appear in Catelettsburg court Monday on a liquor charge. It is his first offense.

Little 'Gaber,' Wholesale Eating Feature Grid Feed

A sumptuous feast was laid—hundred and twenty-five took seats—there was plenty of enjoyable eating and local specialties.

The program was introduced by Bill Simple, introduced the "M" club. Mrs. Brown introduced the couples, the coaches introduced the captains and the captains—Robert Brashear and Michael Emery introduced the variety and freshmen clubs.

A number of brief addresses were given by the business men. One of the highlights was a musical interlude presented by the Rev. B. H. Kazee, pastor of the Morehead Baptist church.

The banquet was so successfully staged from every viewpoint that members of the Arctic club those words were made an annual custom. Next year the ladies of the Methodist church will attempt to outdo the Christians if that be possible—in the manner of providig food.

MOREHEAD CONSUMERS TO BENEFIT FROM REDUCED LIGHT AND POWER RATES

12 Precincts For Atty. Lester Hogge Seen In Selection

Attorney James Clay Carries 3 of 5 Morehead Wards, But Loses County

ATTORNEY E. HOGGE IS PRESENT CHAIRMAN

Likelihood Of Compromise Candidate Held Unprovable By City Politicians

Attorney Lester Hogge loomed as the next Democratic chairman of Rowan county following precinct elections Saturday in which the majority of his candidates won over those supported by Attorney James Clay.

Although Clay did not admit defeat the lineup of the precinct committee and committee members indicates that Hogge will have sufficient votes to put him across at the county convention here Saturday afternoon.

Hogge's candidates won in precincts Morehead No. 1, Piery, Hogtown, Pine Grove, Wagner, Lewis, Farmers No. 11, McKenzie, Dry Creek, Plank, Hayes and Morehead No. 11, McKenzie, Morehead No. 7, Haldeman, Morehead No. 10, Cranston, and Yellhead No. 19. The Farmers No. 2 precinct and Brushy are undetermined.

Mr. Clay and his best strength in Morehead, carrying three of five precincts, Mr. Hogge, however, had the advantage throughout the county.

There is an alteration of support between now and Saturday, but Mr. Hogge claims that he will win easily, and most observers believe that he has the place clinched.

Mr. Hogge is signed with the state administration and was Governor Chandler's campaign manager. Mr. Clay has been with the anti-administration group.

The anti-administration group, however, is the possibility that the county chairman's place will go to an anti-administration supporter.

Many phases of the plan to set up uniform rates prior to the establishment of a single rate-making body such as the Public and Gas Commission.

Things Pick Up!

Jailer Has Some Prisoners; Office Doesn't Pay Living Expenses

Things picked up a little for the Rowan county jailer this week. He had five prisoners behind the bars.

This job of jailer in Rowan county, which paid almost the constitutional limit the preceding term, has developed into a boom-crang fire jailer Sam Stamper. Mr. Stamper is making so little from the office that he was forced to take up living quarters in the basement of the courthouse.

He admits that the office doesn't pay living expenses.

Three or four years ago it was not unusual for the county to have 20 or more prisoners at one time.

The jailer receives a small amount for taking care of the courthouse. The balance of his pay must come from a fee of 75 cents a day for each prisoner.

2 Youths Are Held For Grocery Theft

Rhoda Elam, Jay Harmon Are Charged With Entering IGA and Cut-Rate

Two Morehead youths—Jay Harmon and Rhoda Elam—were held in the county jail today following their arrest by City Patrolman H. L. Roberts on charges of breaking into the IGA Grocery and the Cut-Rate Grocery.

The arrests were made after a fingerprint expert who took prints around the window where entrance had been made, was called in.

At the IGA Store the robbery was the cash drawer of $7 and took six cartons of cigarettes, other tobacco, candy and possibly small items.

The Cut-Rate Burglary netted them $5 in small change, 15 cartons of cigarettes, chewing gum, candies and tobacco.

Board Passes New Ruling On Teachers

Sub-District Trustees Must File Application for County Superintendent

A motion was passed by the Rowan County Board of Education in session Monday requiring sub-district trustees to file with the county superintendent all teachers' applications for rural schools and instructing the superintendent to make a list of all applicants filed and to give the date of filing of each application.

The superintendent was also instructed to refuse to accept an average application until the first had been disposed of by the board.

Since there appeared to be some difficulty in ascertaining just what was needed for the larger meeting of the Baptist church lot at Farmers, the board instructed its Attorney James Clay to start commencing proceedings, if necessary. The lot, which adjoins the present Farmers school building, will be needed for the larger structure which will be started at Farmers within a short time.

Weed Prices Soar Above $28 Average

Reaching a general grade for grade level which was the highest in well more than a decade, the Lexington and tobacco market today surprised warehousemen and gratified growers as it opened the season by recording an average price for the 1,052,428 pounds of leaf which went over its breaks.

The opening day's average this year is the highest recorded since this market averaged $29.29 on the opening day of the season in which the 1928 crop was sold.

A New Year's day gift representing $375,000 yearly savings in the cost of electric service, on the basis of present use, is on the way to customers of the Kentucky Utilities Company, which maintains the Morehead power and light systems.

The reductions will apply to nearly 400 communities and rural areas in 69 counties with an estimated population of 410,000. Mr. Watt said, they will include domestic, commercial and agricultural and municipal street lighting services.

WE WANT STRICTER ENFORCEMENT IN ROWAN

Saturday's Local Option election in Rowan county is a matter of record. The majority of the people have spoken, and in so voicing their sentiments through the power of the ballot have decreed that the county shall keep legal liquor, operating under the same laws as today.

During this campaign the Independent took no sides. Now that the campaign is over and the people have spoken the Independent comes out with a staunch statement, which is as fair to the wets as it is to the dries, and, we believe what the majority of the people want and should have. We demand strict enforcement of the liquor laws in view of the fact that there has been some laxity in the past in enforcing them.

The liquor laws under which this county is now operating provides that there shall be no sales between the hours of midnight and 8 o'clock in the morning; that liquor shall not be sold on Sunday; that it is illegal to sell liquor to anyone who is already under its influence; that it is illegal to drink liquor sold in packages on the premises or in any public place; that it is against the law to sell intoxicating drinks to any person who is known to be an habitual addict.

It is unfortunate truth that in the past all dealers have not complied with these laws. Many places have been selling all day Sunday; most of them allow drinking on the premises, while drinking at the place where it is being purchased has been general throughout the county. The 12 o'clock closing law has been only partially observed.

If these laws are promiscuously violated without prosecution in the future we can hold two different groups responsible. First of all the dealers themselves will be guilty and should be closed up; if nothing is done about it the officers are equally as guilty.

Unless the liquor laws under which we are now operating are observed and carried out we recommend the formation of a temperance society with the co-operation of the law is observed. We dare say that hundreds of these people who gave the liquor interests a vote of confidence in Saturday's election by voting 'No' will be among the first that would sanction and lend their support to such an organization. We all want what is best for our county and community, but this can only be accomplished by strict enforcement.

There has been and will continue to be complaints on a number of roadhouses in Rowan county unless their tactics are changed. It is just criticism, and it should come before the attention of the officers if it has not already been placed before them. It is up to the officers to act, and if they fail to carry out their duty we may reasonably expect a flare-back. It is taken into due consideration that it is a difficult task to do this, but at the same time it must be admitted that it can be done.

It is within the power of the county officials to fail to recommend permits for many of these places, where conditions have been bad, when their licenses again come due. Six places were closed in July on these grounds, which should sound a warning to others that only by running a decent, orderly place in observance of the law is the only means of protection against the ax that an honest county official holds over them.

We should all work together for the best in Rowan county. With a number of adjoining counties likely to go dry there is the possibility of additional money coming into this county. However, the good citizens of this county are so conscientious that it can be obtained in strict accordance with the law and without 'rowdyism' and disturbances that could accompany it.

The proposition is up to the liquor and beer dealers of Rowan county. If they do not heed, it lays before the county officers.

CHRISTMAS STOCKS ARE BETTER

A number of Morehead stores already have their Christmas wares on display. As a general rule the merchandise is of a better grade with a wider range in price and assortments than it has been in past years.

There seems to be no question that the upward trend of business during this presidential election year will bring a more bountiful Christmas with a larger volume of shopping. In these editorial columns many times it will pay you to look over the Christmas stocks that are being offered in Rowan county stores before going away to do your Christmas shopping. We can't guarantee that you will find everything you want to buy, but we believe that you will be able to get most of it right in Morehead or some other store in this county.

FARMERS CHEERED WITH WEED MARKET PRICES

Although there is not a large crop of tobacco in Rowan and adjoining counties this year and the weed is of a grade inferior to that of normal years, farmers will find some holiday enjoyment from the fact that it is bringing a price far above that of last year.

The Lexington market opening this week paid a good price for tobacco, and buyers estimated that it might go higher if the crop is as short as expected. There seems to be a great deal of variance in the weed crop as estimated by the government, newspapers and buyers. Heretofore the latter group has been able to make the most accurate estimate and since theirs is the lowest this week there is every indication that the price might go above what it is. Other estimates tend to make the crop bring a little less if past sales are taken as an indication of future prices.

Kentuckians are fortunate in having any of several markets on which to sell. Mayville and Mt. Sterling are the closest to Rowan county. Lexington, however, generally gets a good portion of the tobacco grown in eastern Kentucky.

SURVEYS THAT SAVE LIFE AND MONEY

Few people know that there is an organization, with headquarters in New York City, that sends its engineers to cities throughout America for the purpose of making surveys that save lives and property—and does not make a charge for this service. This organization is the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Each one of the engineers sent out to a city is an acknowledged expert in that part of the survey in which he engages. These engineers inspect buildings, groups of buildings and whole blocks to ascertain the possibility of a sweeping fire, and are desirable to bring the "conflagration breeders" to the attention of the authorities. They inspect and test the fire apparatus in all stations and gauge the efficiency of the personnel of the firemen. Also, the supply and pressure of water are inspected and tested, as well as the number and availability of hydrants.

A completed survey gives an accurate picture of just how safe a city is from the menace of fire and a detailed report on the conditions found is made, along with definite recommendations for improvement. Written copies are placed in the hands of city officials. And when these recommendations are accepted and acted upon, the town becomes a safer place in which to live and work.

Thousands of cities have been visited by the engineers for these surveys—some of them several times—and it takes little imagination to visualize the number of lives that have been spared since the property that has escaped destruction by fire as a result.

WHAT OTHER KENTUCKY EDITORS ARE SAYING

Greenleaf for Federal Judge

The Madison County Bar has endorsed and urged appointment of J. J. Greenleaf, one of its members, to the recently created federal judgeship in Kentucky. Most of these are the legal specialists of the county. Mr. Greenleaf, who has first hand information concerning his superb legal abilities, should call attention to his superior fitness for this important judicial assignment.

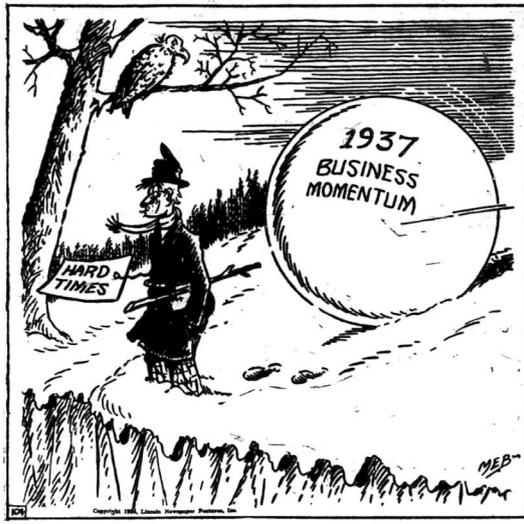

Endorsement given Mr. Greenleaf by his legal associates was a voluntary expression of their appreciation and confidence in his qualifications for the position. He has refrained from the usual practice of seeking extensive endorsements in an effort to promote himself for the appointment. His attitude has been that there is questionable propriety to mobilizing influential support or attempting to apply pressure methods of approaching a legal question in a completely detached attitude, weighing cautiously all the law and facts which have a bearing on the questions involved. His passion for accuracy in legal interpretation and impartial administration of justice are qualities especially pronounced.

The Richmond enquirer has a pleasing personality. He is a cultured gentleman of unquestioned integrity, with a high sense of honor and justice. He is a cultured gentleman of unquestioned integrity. He is genuinely liberal in his thought and thinking—liberal in the highest and best sense of the term. Our intimate acquaintance with him convinces us that he possesses in abundance those qualities of heart and mind that ideally fit him to make a great judge.

We disclaim any inclination to disparage the qualifications of other applicants as expressed in the opinion that none excel Mr. Greenleaf in ability or character. We are confident that appointment of the gifted Richmond attorney would place upon the federal bench a man superbly qualified to discharge its duties and responsibilities. He should be appointed. We believe he will be appointed. His appointment will reflect creditably upon those of whose wisdom it is expressive. The Richmond Register.

The ideas of a great many men would never be known unless they were owners of newspapers.

HIS DOWNFALL?

THIS WEEK IN MOREHEAD

CLAIMS: A number of leading Democrats are making a plea this week for harmony when the 19 precinct committeemen and committeewomen meet Saturday at the courthouse to pick the county chairman who will serve for the next four years.

Harmony is the keynote, but it is very doubtful if the meeting can be held in line without some kind of flare-up. Both Attorney Lester Hogge and Attorney James Clay claim that they have sufficient votes to win. On an unbiased study made by the writer of the precincts in the county, Attorney Hogge appears to have the inside track with 18 of the 19 precincts. However, there does exist some doubt in a few precincts, and there seems no question but that the winner will be nominated at the convention.

There was a harder fight for the county chairman's place than most people realize. The battle was a subtle one from both sides, with most of the work being of the silent or "behind-the-scenes" variety.

MOREHEAD VOTES: In Morehead Attorney Clay held an estimated grade of six votes to four for Attorney Hogge. The candidates supported by Clay won in precincts and with-out opposition, while precinct seven also ushered in the Clay backers. The Hogge group had a walkaway in precinct No. 18 which is east Morehead and Christy Creek while their majority was a substantial one in precinct No. 1.

SPLIT: A definite split, which has been brewing for sometime, and was not a surprise to most local politicians came Saturday. Z. T. Young, son of the late Sen. Allie W. Young and Allie Mannin, who has been playing active parts in many campaigns, came out for Clay against Hogge. Heretofore they have been identified with the other group, but the rift has been spreading over a period of months.

IN BRUSHY: In Brushy precinct which has always voted according to the wants of the group supporting Clay, is a precinct that is likely to go for Hogge Saturday. This is not based on actual fact or findings but is a conjecture on the basis of the precinct committeeman and committeewoman that was elected.

COMPROMISE CANDIDATE: There appears little likelihood that there will be a compromise candidate in the county chairman's race. It will either be Clay or Hogge if the election of the precinct committeemen and committeewomen is taken as a basis. A victory for Mr. Hogge would be a feather in the cap of the administration and Governor Chandler. Should Mr. Clay come through to gain the place, it is a victory for the anti-administration group which is now being headed by Ben Johnson, Rubly Laffoon, John Y. Brown, several congressmen, Senator Logan and the Taylor faction in Jefferson county.

THE 1937 PRIMARY: It is well known that Democratic politicians are eyeing the 1937 primary which comes in August.

A united front is desired by both groups for neither feels that it can win in the final election without the support of the other. A compromise slate appears more probable with the passing of each month, but the real test will not come until after the first of the year.

MAY NOT RUN: The rumor is going the rounds that County Judge Charles E. Jennings who has been in the spotlight more than any other Rowan politician during the last four years may not run for re-election. There may be some truth in this, but Judge Jennings' best friends say he has not made up his mind. Regardless of whether he is a candidate or not Judge Jennings is sure to figure prominently in the GOP campaign.

ENFORCEMENT: Leading liquor leaders who were victorious by a substantial majority in Saturday's local option election may go before the officers of the county and ask for strict enforcement of the present liquor laws. On the face of it this appears improbable unless one has all the facts in hand. The wets, for the most part, believe they can operate more profitably if a few places which are violating the law are made to enforce it to the letter. Likewise there would be built up a better sentiment in their favor, probably forestalling local option elections in the future. The matter rests with the officers from here on out.

WORLD FARMERS BUYING MORE U. S. EQUIPMENT

Exports of farm equipment from the United States during September were valued at $2,806,881 compared with $2,718,987 in September, 1935, according to a report to the Louisville district office of the department of commerce. Tractors and parts accounted for 49 per cent of the total. Export trade in tillage equipment was valued at $419,856 compared with $256,479 in September, 1935, an increase of 63 per cent. A 17 per cent increase was recorded in the September foreign sales of the so-called seed separator group, comprising threshers, corn shellers, and other separators and parts. A charter granted to Mt. Sterling Grocery Company, Mt. Sterling, capitalized at $30,000.

Stopping preventable waste in lumber would save yearly half as much as now grows every year.

Your Family Coat-of-Arms

The Wamton family of Huntington County, England, bore the coat of arms here shown.

This family, who settled in Rhode Island, became prominent in the state politics. John Wamton was governor of Rhode Island in 1726 and his son Gideon was governor of the same state in 1745. On their official seals they used the device that appears in the above coat of arms.

Other impressions of the seal together with the signature of John Wamton is attested to a certificate of the Commissioners for determining the New York boundary. The arms also appeared on a tombstone of the wife of a George Wamton in the Old North Burial Ground at Newport who died about 1736.

FARMING BY IMPROVED METHODS

Written by the Staff of the University of Kentucky Agricultural Extension Work, College of Agriculture

1937 Conservation Program Much Like One Now In Force

J. B. Hutson, assistant administrator of the Agricultural Conservation program, told county agents at their recent meeting at the Experiment Station at Lexington that the 1937 program probably would be similar to the present one.

It now seems likely, he said, that there will be somewhat less emphasis placed on the diversion of food and feed crops and somewhat more stress put on soil building and soil conserving practices. It is probable that the 1937 program will specifically provide for payments for tobacco diversion, as in 1936.

Mr. Hutson expressed satisfaction with the way farmers participated in this year's conservation program, and indicated that he anticipated even greater cooperation next year.

According to records at Washington, farmers of Kentucky participated in this year's program to a larger percentage than did farmers in most of the other states in the east-central region.

A total of about 125,000 Kentucky farms came under the provisions of the Agricultural Conservation program, with nearly 240,000 producers benefitting. These farms represent more than 85 per cent of the productive capacity of the crop land in the state.

In the case of burley tobacco, considerably more than 90 per cent of the tobacco farmers will receive payments for diverting tobacco acreage to soil conserving crops.

Kentucky farmers will receive approximately $10,500,000 in benefit payments in this year's program.

Kentucky Joins In Dairy Improvement

Co-operating in nation-wide plans to develop dairying, Kentucky herd improvement associations will have their cows ear-tagged and production recorded by the United States Bureau of Dairy Industry, it is announced from the College of Agriculture at Lexington. The purpose of the work is to secure accurate records of production and to prove sires.

Kentucky has 150 herds containing 3,000 cows in dairy herd improvement associations. Records will be kept in the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

Census figures indicate an increase of 100,000 dairy cows in Kentucky in the past five years. Greatest increases have been in western counties. Graves having 2,500 more cows than it had in 1930. Ohio county has 2,200 more, Hopkins county 1,900 more, Warren county 1,700 more, Todd county 1,400 more, and nearly all western counties, as well as many counties in other parts of the state, show increased numbers of milk cows.

More Honors For 4-H Club Members

A Percy Adams, III, Bourbon county, has been named the Kentucky state champion in the national 4-H meat animal project, and has received a gold watch from Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, it is announced from the College of Agriculture at Lexington.

Thirteen other county champions received medals. They are Ray Hayes, Christian county; Walter Kent, Shelby county; Jas. Bogle, Warren county; Haskell Dalton, Wayne county; James Stokes, Fayette county; Lawrence Townsend, Harrison county; Chas. Patterson, Grayson county; Ruth May Hudson, Montgomery county; J. E. Arnold, Washington county; J. C. Broadus, Garrard county; James Thornton, Owen county; Gerald Scheffer, Union county, and Donald Heady, Davess county.

Teeth Reveal Age Of Sheep

How to determine the age of sheep by examining their teeth is told by Richard C. Miller in Kentucky College of Agriculture extension circular 286, "Ewes for Commercial Flocks."

A lamb has eight temporary front teeth; four on each side of the lower jaw. These are smaller and whiter than the permanent teeth. At about 14 months of age, the center pair are replaced by two larger permanent teeth. Two more temporary teeth on one side of the center pair, are replaced with permanent teeth at about two years of age, a pair at about three, and the fourth and last pair at about four years. The teeth usually show wear at five and begin to spread or break by the time the ewe is seven.

Kentucky's Soybean Crop 150,000 Acres

The College of Agriculture at Lexington estimates Kentucky's soybean crop this year at approximately 150,000 acres. Nearly 5,000,000 acres were grown in the United States.

Soybeans have many things to commend them. An annual legume they fit well with crop rotation, make excellent hay, furnish good silage, have few diseases and pests, are resistant to the chinch bug and are heavy producers of seed and of value for meal and oil. Of all known vegetables, soybeans rank among the first in protein content.

Not the least of the soybean's virtues is its oil-rich liquid when confronted with a drought. During July and August when

STRANGE and INTERESTING FACTS

Mammoth Cave Kentucky is said to have been discovered by a hunter named Hutchins. The story goes that Hutchins pursued a bear into the entrance of the cave.

The cave is a fantasy of subterranean beauty. Its inhabitants are wingless grasshoppers with extended antennae, colorless crickets, and a species of fish found in the pools of the cave which are all blind.

To be sure, the first biologists that were in the cave had eyes but being in total darkness for years gradually lost their sense of sight.

Co-operative Features, Inc.

moisture is short the plants may cease to grow, apparently waiting for more favorable weather, and following fall rains they shoot up into maturity with an excellent crop of beans.

The crop requires a good seed bed, the ground should be plowed in the early spring, and the soil worked down previous to seeding time in order to kill as many weeds as possible. Planted as an emergency drouth crop in this state, many farmers have found that it makes good silage.

Soybeans leave the ground in such excellent condition for erosion that serious losses from that source are almost sure to occur unless a cover crop is sown immediately following harvesting of the beans. It is largely because of the danger of soil erosion following soybeans that the crop should be considered primarily an emergency crop in Kentucky.

Fruit Valuable Addition To Diet

When faced with the necessity for cutting down expenses wise homemakers use care in determining what to eat. For instance, it may be false economy to decrease the amount of fruit in the diet, according to the home economics department of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. The five to ten per cent of mineral salts, vitamins and residue in fruit usually is worth the price paid for it.

Fruit is valuable for four reasons: It tones up the appetite and digestion. It stimulates the processes of elimination. It helps to neutralize the acids of the body. It helps to maintain vitality and prevent disease.

Fruit contains the appetite-provoking vitamin D. There are 40 or more common fruits and by their aroma, flavor, color and texture start the potent "appetite juices" flowing, thereby aiding digestion.

All of the fruits, because of their mineral salts, help to maintain the neutrality of the body tissues, with the exception of cranberries, rhubarb, prunes and plums. Foods that leave behind them an acid residue are meat, fish, eggs and cereals, including all breadstuffs. Fruit counteracts acid.

With regard to maintaining vitality and resisting disease, it has been found that a simple and easy way to "get your vitamins today" is by using fruit. Deprived of the vitamins, people become listless, tired, lacking in mental alertness, depressed, irritable and open to attack by disease. Most fruits have the greatest value for the of wool present, while part wool indicates that from 5 to 25 per cent of the material is woolen, with 5 per cent as the minimum. More than 25 per cent should be labeled with the minimum guaranteed to be present. Above 90 per cent is listed as all wool. If the blanket is not labeled, ask the sales person to give this information and include it in written form on the sales check, Miss Latzke advises.

Often material is called wool without saying whether it is virgin or reworked wool. Reworked wool may make satisfactory clothing or blankets if it is used right, that is, good grades of reworked wool combined with the right kinds of new wool fibers produce pleasing fabrics at reduced cost. If virgin wool is desired, it should be specifically requested. The weight may be taken to indicate the quality. For a cotton and wool mixture the tensile strength should be known.

In judging blankets, the feel is revealing: all wool blankets are warm, wooly and springy; cotton is heavier, very soft, dead and lifeless. Good nap is heavier and thicker than is a poorer quality. The blanket should have a firm, even pull with the yarns not separating or coming apart. Blankets may be bought in 12 sizes, with 90 inches the desirable length, as the strain of regularly pulling up a blanket that is too should often breaks the thread.

Kentucky Utilities Reduces Light Rate

"In making these reductions we not only help to promote farm electrification, but we also fulfill the promises we have made to many mayors and city councils in recent months.

"The reductions are being made in the face of steadily increasing taxes on our property and income, and of rapidly rising costs of operation and construction, Mr. Watt stated.

"We will continue to co-operate with the Public Service Commission, as we believe this orderly program will, in the long run, assure our customers the best and

One of the fleet of Motor-Testing Cars which is in Town for a brief stay.

LOCAL motorists will have an opportunity to see and examine an unusual "motor doctor" this week while the Cities Service traveling Power Prover is stationed here. The compact, white car which rolled into town yesterday houses one of the newly developed Power Prover units—the unique machine that analyzes automobile exhaust gases and has proved the most effective weapon in detecting and checking dangerous quantities of carbon monoxide gas. The work of this "robot mechanic" is cooperating with health authorities and insurance companies in acquainting the public with the menace of this poisonous gas and showing how it can be reduced by proper motor adjustment.

The car now at Cities Service stations here is one of hundreds now touring the country to acquaint the public with the new service of tracing and correcting engine faults by analyzing exhaust gases. In addition to the Power Prover and tuning tools, the car contains exclusive devices for duplicating driving conditions. By this method engines can be adjusted to expel a minimum of CO and exploit a maximum of fuel.

cheapest electric service possible. "It will also reflect great credit on public officials who want to protect fully the consumer's interests without destroying our companies, which pay into the public treasury upward of a million dollars a year in taxes.

"Frankly, however, the success of the rate-reduction program depends on a constantly increasing amount of electric service business. Our price reductions should greatly enlarge the demand for service. Then, as the volume of our business grows, further reductions in rates can be expected," Mr. Watt declared.

Wets Win In 12 Of County's 19 Wards

(Continued from Page One) that point and from then on until election day the wets gained ground. Throughout the campaign the wets showed far more activity than did the dries, which, no doubt, was a contributing factor in the final result. The campaign was not heated enough to bring out a heavy vote. However, almost 2,700 cast ballots, which is considered as a good vote in an off-election.

There were no disturbances at the polls in any part of the county.

Under the present statute another local option law cannot be held in Rowan county for three years, and only then after the circulation and presentation of another petition.

MAIL ROUTE NO. 2-29

On mail route No. 2-29 Where I've traveled a long, long time The loads were heavy, not very few That made this route so lonely and blue.

The people along this route Must have thought me very stout They ask me to carry everything loose Except an elephant and a bull-moose.

I sometimes think I'd rather be in jail And have no one to go my bail; Than to travel this mail line That has a number of 2-29.

In act about the seventh They changed this number to 2-27. Some of these days about eleven I'll leave this route and go to heaven.

And when I get to that heaven There'll be no route No. 2-29. Then my crown how it will weigh I'll not travel a mail line.

To my friends so good and kind On this route No. 2-29 To them all I have been true I hope that they see Jesus too.

I love my wife and children seven And my mail route No. 2-27 Before me they fall in line While I pass by on No. 2-29.

U. S. BUSINESS INCREASES WITH THE NORSEMIEN

Participation of the United States in Norway's foreign trade has notably improved during the current year, according to a report to the Louisville District office of the Department of Commerce. Norwegian exports to the American market in the first eight months of 1936 were valued at $142,425,000 against $127,225,000 during the corresponding period of 1935, while exports totaled $103,700,000 and $95,000,000 respectively for the corresponding periods, the report states. Great Britain ranks as both the largest buyer of Norwegian goods and the most important source of Norwegian imports, with Germany ranking second. The United States in the period under review was the third largest export outlet and the fourth largest supplier, being outranked by Sweden as a source of imports, according to the report.

Chapter Two
A CALL FOR BILL CHANDLER
His Holles Bane turned to leave his managing editor's office, Gladys grabbed the whiskey bottle on her fiancé's desk and was in the act of hurling it at the publisher's back when Haggerty grasped her hand.

"Nix, nix—that's Mr. Bane, the owner of the paper! I've got to see him at once. We're facing a big libel suit."

"You're facing a breach of promise suit? For two years I've played second fiddle to this paper? You don't want to marry my just say so."

"Tell the preacher to wait. I'll phone you. We'll get married today—the minute I'm free. That's a promise."

"And this is supposed to be the happiest day of a girl's life!" exclaimed Gladys bitterly.

Mr. Bane, thin, jaundiced, irritable, in his sixties, was speaking querulously into the telephone when Haggerty entered the publisher's office.

Mr. Bane, thin, jaundiced, irritable, in his sixties, was speaking querulously into the telephone when Haggerty entered the publisher's office.

"Well, why doesn't London answer?" Mr. J. E. Allenbury, Bane's hung up, rose to his feet and started pacing nervously. "This is terrible, Haggerty. What are we going to do? A mistake like that can ruin the paper."

lobby of the Grand Plaza when he saw Bill Chandler turn away from the mail desk, reading a letter. Chandler, tall and staid, with a slightly supercilious smile, started towards the door. Haggerty went close behind him, gave him an artful jab in the back with his elbow, all ready to apologize and then recognize him, but instead of turning, Chandler shouted:

"Warren Haggerty! From Brooklyn to Bombay, a stab in the back spells Haggerty!"

"I never stabbed you in the back, Chandler!" exclaimed Haggerty, forgetting the polite procedure he had planned. "And I want no insin—Well, after all, that's a long time ago and we should—"

"Bury the hatchet? Or was it a knife? queried Chandler. "Get this, Chandler, once and for all, I didn't knife you—"

"That's right," soothed the libel reporter. "You only tried to." Haggerty glared. "Besides, it was two years ago and we should—"

"Let bygones be bygones? Well, good-bye. Nice to have seen you. Oh, my regards to the office. The Old Man hasn't got wise to you yet? Some day you'll be out on your ear and then the Star will be a first class sheet!"

"Say, listen here! If you're trying—by the way, what are you doing for yourself? Bill?"

"Just finished a book, Warren. Treating my foreign adventures, and the early hardships of my newspaper days and the rats I met running about. I said rats! He looked Haggerty straight in the eye.

"Listen, if you mention me in that book—"

"Dene!" cried Haggerty. "You are on the payroll!"

"Oh, no more philanthropy. No more 125 bucks a week. There's the proposition. I drew it up yesterday. I've been expecting you for the past twenty-four hours."

The memo he handed Haggerty stipulated payment of $5,000 down plus expenses against $50,000 in delivery. "You're crazy! It's robbery!" cried Haggerty.

"All right, forget it. Read any good books lately?"
