

LINE OF $20 TO $100 FOR CUTTING TEARING OF MULTILAYER BOOKS

President Lyndon B. Johnson's bill for fiscal year 1967 provides for $54.8 million for the construction of water projects. The bill covers the almost 100 projects which began July 1. State Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlock said the bill provides money for every project requested by Kentucky except planning funds for the Louisville and Hazard City dams.

"We are extremely pleased to receive these appropriations enabling us to carry on planning, studies and construction of locks and dams, flood control and reservoirs," Matlock said.

"Most important, perhaps is the fact that the greater part of the money—$38.8 million—was appropriated for construction, he added. "Of the remainder, $650,000 is for planning and $285,000 is for making surveys determining future needs." Included in the bill for construction include these projects:

- Bartley Dam—$15,400,000 for continuing work on this project on the Lower Cumberland River. Funds allotted jointly to Kentucky and Tennessee.
- McCalli Locks and Dam—$6,365,000 allotted jointly to Kentucky and Ohio for completing navigational dam on the Ohio River.
- Carr Fork Reservoir—$830,000 for dam above Hazard on Kentucky River.
- Cave Run Reservoir—$1,900,000 for dam on Upper Licking River near Morehead.
- Cumberland Local Protection—$490,000 for flood control project on the Upper Cumberland, including channel improvement and drainage for protection of town of Cumberland.
- Fish Trap Reservoir—$18,000,000 for dam on Big Sandy River above Pileville.
- Gray's Reservoir—$3,200,000 for dam on Little Sandy River above Grayson.
- Green River Reservoir—$4,000,000 for dam on Green River above Campbellville.
- Laurel River Reservoir—$550,000 for dam on Laurel River near Upper Cumberland, close to London.
- Sturgis Floodwall, on Tradewater River at Sturgis, $75,000. Funds for surveys include these projects:

Big Sandy River Survey, $41,000 allotted to Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia; Green and Barren Rivers, $60,000; Humphreys Creek (On Columbia and Mississippi Rivers), $20,000; Kentucky River and tributaries, $75,000; Salt River, $65,000; Southwestern Jefferson County, $20,000; Upper Cumberland River, $70,000.

The last appropriations, Matlock pointed out, are all to continue studies with the exception of the Southeastern Jefferson County Survey which is a new project.

Matlock added that about $14,700,000 was appropriated to Indiana for construction of the Cannelton, Newburgh and Uniontown locks and dams on the Ohio River.

COMBATting DISCOUNTERS?

'Bue Law' Enforcement Ordered

Morehead City Council, obviously reacting to rumors that a discount business is planning to set up operations here, has ordered strict enforcement of the state Sunday closing law in the city.

City Attorney Thomas R. Burns said he would be instructed by the city council to file a writ of mandamus with the state court to enforce the law. He said he would also file a writ of mandamus with the state court to enforce the law.

"Most important, perhaps is the fact that the greater part of the money—$38.8 million—was appropriated for construction, he added. "Of the remainder, $650,000 is for planning and works of necessity" may be affected by the above is un-derstandable. However, a number of formalities within the city limits have been open on Sunday for many years. Two, at least one drug store has followed the same practice, as have a limited number of other businesses.

Confusion about the provisions of the Sunday closing law has led to court action in many instances. The Kentucky Court of Appeals has held that only

B&E Charge Fined Against Youth in Station Burglary

Eighteen-year-old Arthur Ferguson Jr. has been charged with breaking into a West Main Street service station and stealing some $500 in cash and other items.

Police Chief Callis Coyle said Ferguson, who is on probation on a federal charge of auto theft, confessed that he broke a window at Leonard's Service Station, the intersection of West Main Street and Flemingburg Road, last Friday and robbed the establishment of $300.00 in cash and about $150 in checks.

Ferguson was arrested here Saturday night by Officers Ed Hall, Fraser, Dal and Carl Johnson as he alighted from a Greyhound bus. He told the policemen he had been in Winchester, having left here shortly after breaking into the service station sometime just before midnight Friday.

Checks taken in the burglary were destroyed, officers said the youth told them.

Ferguson waived examining trial Tuesday and was held to the November grand jury.

'Murder' At Farmers Just Gentle Jest

Customers in a restaurant at Farmers Sunday were witnesses to a "murder" which turned out to be a murder at all.

Sheriff Curt Lewis said a car loaded with young men pulled up in front of Johnson's restaurant there and two of the men left the car.

Suddenly, in full view of the restaurant full of people, one of the pair whipped out a large revolver and fired it point-blank into the chest of his companion. The victim slumped to the ground and the other man jumped out of the car, along with a shotgun which he slung across his body into the vehicle, which then sped away to the west.

Johnson and other law enforcement officers in this section were notified of the killing and their investigation determined that the "murder" had been a hoax, perpetrated by the carload of Bath County youths, using a gun firing blank cartridges.

Dems Outregister GOP By 2-1 Margin

Mr. Ham filed in that applications for absentee ballots in the November election must be in the hands of the clerk at least 20 days prior to the election.

State Says Flannery Fails to Report On Driver Convictions

County Judge W. C. Flannery said today "I have no comment on the conviction of a driver who is one of the 14 county judges who do not report traffic violation convictions to the State Department of Public Safety."

The Louisville Times said in Tuesday's edition that Rowan, along with Allen, Carroll, Carter, Green, Laurel, Letcher, Mason, Perry, Rowles, Taylor, Whitley, Wolfe and Woodford counties are those in which county judges do not make such reports, from which the Department of Public Safety compiles records of points assessed toward operator's license suspension.

FACES BUTLER SATURDAY

Penny Pessimistic, Probes Problems

After three days of intensive practice, Morehead State College football coach J. J. Penny is more pessimistic about the Eagles opening game on Sept. 12 with Butler University.

"Early practices have turned unworkable problems into problems at the guard and tackle positions," he said.

In a game-type scrimmage Saturday the reserves scored three touchdowns against the first and second defensive units while dominating the Butler type offense.

"Lack of depth will push the reserves to the attention to be at their peak," he enunciated percent, according to Swift, who said Flannery convicted 120 cases, filed away two, and considered 28 outside his jurisdiction during the first quarter of this year.

Flannery also declined to comment on the conviction rate, but is known to feel that anything approaching a 100 percent conviction rate would be a travesty against justice. He makes the position that State Police, as well as anyone, cannot make errors in judgment in issuing citations, and that his responsibility as county judge is to mitigate these errors as well as to convict.

The Rowan County conviction rate is by no means the lowest in the state. Green County Judge Finis Durrett's rate is pegged at 10 percent, while Pike County Judge Ervin Pruitt has convicted 15 percent.

John F. Carter, Clatsop County, has a lower figure than Flannery—26 percent, as do a number of other judges in the state.

MILLIONS FOR TV Senator Goldwater's advisers are making a major television campaign, and keeping flexible to counter any major Democratic moves in the race for the White House.

Goldwater is to present our candidate in a positive, favorable way. The broad casting effort will cost $4,500,000.

The conviction rate in Rowan County Court was pegged at 27 quarterback slot and juniors Tally Johnson and Dennis Brown at the halfback.

The freshmen who have shown promise and will play against Butler are: halfbacks Tommy Gray, and Frank Rink, quarterback Tommy Eads and Joe Cox, end Bill Hurdge, center Ron Swift, and guard Paul Connor.

Injuries have been moderate but have hit key positions. Injured are halfbacks Tally Johnson and Scotty Reddick and end Jack Smith although Johnson and Smith are expected to be ready for the encounter with Butler.

Butler's only loss of the 1963 football season was an opening game defeat to Morehead in the Shrine Game at Morehead. The Bulldogs went on to their fourth straight Indiana Collegiate victory in a line-backer position and junior Mike Fleisher at the defensive guard position.

THIS TRIO—Jack Smith, L. Jim Osborne, C. and Russ Campbell will lead Morehead State College into the Shrine Game at Morehead against Butler University at Indianapolis. Smith, a prime candidate for all-conference honors, caught 20 passes for 272 yards in three touchdowns last season. Osborne, a 250-poor tackle who has been closely watched by scouts from both professional leagues, is regarded as the star of the team in the middle of the Eagle line. Campbell was the second leading yard gainer for Coach Guy Hildebrand last year, picking up 347 yards in 83 carries.

Enrollment in the Rowan County School system stands at 9,592. Farley and Director of Personnel Carson Castle said the figure is essentially a complete one.

The new total is an increase of 44 from last week's tentative figure, and almost exactly on par with the figure previously indicated at that time.

Traffic Sub-Normal Over Weekend; Five Accidents Reported

Labor Day traffic through this area was lighter than that on a normal on-holiday weekend, State Police in Morehead said today.

No reason for the abnormal situation was readily available. Most of the traffic through this section came on Friday, with the remainder of the three-day period being classified as light.

Normally, Labor Day weekend is about the same amount of traffic as other summer holiday weekends.

Five minor auto accidents were reported from Friday through Sunday.

A car driven by Edgar L. Roe, 32, of Hamilton, O., drove into the path of a vehicle operated by Corbet L. Gullett, 71, of Slick Friday morning.

Trooper Marvin Jennings said Roe pulled out of U. S. 60 from old U. S. 60 at Blaine.

A car driven by Joyce Ann Fultz went out of control Saturday evening on Ky. 32 and overturned.

The Fultz woman, 22, of R. 4, Morehead, told Trooper James A. Farley that the auto went off the highway on the west side, returned to the pavement and overturned. The vehicle was demolished in the mishap which occurred 5.3 miles north of Morehead.

Trooper B. Buckner, 23, of Clearfield, was the driver of a

Shrine Game Tickets On Sale, Are Scarce

Tickets for the Shrine Game between Morehead State College and Marshall University are now on sale in the College Business Office.

Bill Pierce, ticket manager, said that 180 reserved seats priced at $2, 50 and 250 general admission tickets at $2 are now on sale.

The game, sponsored by the Eta Iota Temple of the Ashland Shriners, is already to sellout in Ashland and the tickets on sale at the college are the only tickets remaining.

Pierce pointed out that the tickets will be sold on a first-come first-served basis and that sales have already been brisk.

Fire Danger Building Up In Forests
 Because of a prolonged dry weather, with only scattered thunder showers for some time, the woods and fields have dried to the point where the danger of fire's rapidly building up. Last Sunday a small fire occurred on Buck Creek in Merrett County and was controlled by hikers before Lookout Alley Hunt from later. Kenneth Merrett, who is being held to determine the person responsible for the origin. On Monday, another small fire occurred near the headwaters of Lee Branch, about one-half mile north east of the new Stratton Sports Center, where a fire started in the forest service fire control perimeter investigating the smoke found a small fire which had escaped to the woods from a burning down dead tree. Investigation determined that the fire in the dead tree had been started by three small boys playing with matches in Merrett. Names of the youngsters are being withheld due to them all being juveniles. Appropriate action is being taken by the parents.

Last Sunday seven family reunion groups met at the Auburn recreation area for annual reunions. The Wells-Holbrook, Eys, Lewis, Skaggs-Singleton, Stephens, Martin-Ellington and the T. H. Caudill family reunions were all in progress at one time in addition to several small picnic groups. In all about 600 people participated at Rodburn Sunday. Cars bearing license plates from several states were noted. Up until this season Sunday before Labor Day usually was the biggest day of the season for Rodburn. However, this season a considerable number of Sundayers met the area on several days. Most years, Labor Day night is the peak of the picnic season and the number of picnickers declines to the end of the season depending on weather conditions.

UNBELIEVABLE
 Many a television commercial is far from convincing. For example, scarcely anybody believes that a young man's use of a certain shave lotion will attract a girl and cause them to become highly amorous.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War In Kentucky

By Joe Jordan (Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week, the appointing of an investigating commission brought to an abrupt end a 51-day reign of violence in Western Kentucky. The commission was selected as had been made by Gov. Bramlette and many others.

Paine, a West Point from Ohio, had resigned from the Regular Army the year after his graduation from the military academy, to become a lawyer and politician. He had been active in the Ohio militia, in which he had gained his rank within five years after he had named the military life. At the outbreak of the Civil War, he had been commissioned colonel of the Ninth Illinois Infantry, and 53 days later had been promoted brigadier general. It had been at the request of the Western Kentucky chapter of the Union League of America that he had been named the Western Kentucky commander and given a "free hand," as the Union Leaguers specified.

The commission's report said of Paine that his "violence of manner terrified some of the best citizens into leaving their homes" and that he "continually uttered scurrilous and brutal threats, and the execution of some guerrillas (or persons charged with that crime) give such color to his threats as to alarm the entire country."

FARMERS— Want to Stretch Your Seed Dollar?

Read How You SAVE MONEY With SOUTHERN STATES Quality SEEDS

● Pay Less For Pure Live Seed
 Southern States Quality Seeds cost you far less in terms of seeds that can grow to be harvested. Don't pay seed prices for trash such as sticks, straw, other crop seeds and weed seeds.

● Cut The Cost Of Weeds
 It costs you money to fight weeds carried to your fields by inferior, improperly-cleaned seeds. With Southern States high-purity Seeds you cut the cost of spraying and cultivating and get big yields from clean fields.

● Economical Lower Planting Rates
 This low germination of inferior seeds forces you to step up the planting rate. So where's the saving? With high-germinating Southern States seeds, you use recommended planting rates. You save seeds and money.

● Crops Cost Less To Produce
 The bigger yields you make with Southern States Quality Seeds result in lower production costs. You pay less to produce a ton of forage or bushel of grain than with inferior seeds. You're dollars ahead.

● Avoid Variety Mixing Losses
 When you plant home-grown, neighbor-grown or so-called "bargain-price" seeds, the presence of unwanted varieties can cause expensive problems. Winter-killing, Disease losses. Varying heights and maturities. None of this with true-to-variety Southern States Quality Seeds.

When The Best Seeds Actually Cost You Less, Why Gamble With Home-Grown Or Cheap So-Called "Bargain" Seeds?

Claig Sprout ... And His Friend, TIMOTHY TUGMUTTON ... Sez

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Me and my old lady, as they say in the papers, "observed" our 45th wedding anniversary last week. We "observed" it just like the other 44, by getting up and starting the morning chores. We've got along pretty good all through the year, comparative speaking. For instance, I was reading where a feller in Denver didn't like the way his wife cooked his eggs for breakfast, so he "threw" 'em in her face. Whereupon she whinnied him over the head with the frying pan. That's a mighty pore way for a married couple to start off the day. I learned to watch out that if I didn't like my old lady's cooking, to eat it with gusto, as they say on the society page.

I also learned about 40 years ago they ain't no percentage in a feller arguing with his wife. As the old saying goes, you can come up with a ton of logic and she'll beat you every time, to a chance of ten. And I ain't never been a feller, Mister Editor, to oulence the impossible. My old lady does the talking at my house and I do the listening and I've found this to be a mighty peaceful arrangement. I recommend this system high. For married couples that ain't sitting along too good.

In the nital, family life has a name of a heap more than a young'un the baby-sitter was in the papers where some baby-sitter had kidnapped a young'un or had murdered or somerpan. I was 30 year old afore I ever heard told of a baby-sitter. When I was a young'un the baby-sitter was the next oldest child. We had a step ladder system in the family, and they was always a baby-sitter from about the 6th year of marriage up till the 20th. And when I was a boy the father used to hold his pants up and his kids down. Times has changed. So has the kids. Moving on to bigger things, I see by the papers where the Democrats and the Republicans was to the point in tie campaign where they was accusing each other of stealing. Both sides is perpetrating a depression. I like the north side. If a depression comes, I hope the Lord will take care of the rich. The pore laws how to take care of their selves.

They was two things you can predict for shore in politics. When candidates on both sides fit in the farm country they always blame the farm program on the other party, and when they get in the cities both takes credit for the big prosperity in the nation. And second, if you see a feller walking down the highway with a bundle on his back, the "outs" has won the election and the "ins" was coming home from the public trough. In November I ain't to watch the highways. It's faster than getting the returns on T. V.

INCREASED COLLEGE LOANS
The Senate has voted a big increase in funds for college student loans as it passed a bill extending a broadening the National Defense Education Act. The Senate's version of the bill extends until June 30, 1967, the program of federal grants to school districts burdened by heavy enrollment because of federal installations.

Job Totals Continue Upward 30th Month

The crest of 30 continuous monthly increases was continued during July by Kentucky non-farm employment with a total of 709,900 workers on the job, Economic Security Commission. Commissioner Earl W. Powell has announced.

The July work force was 7,700 less than during July of 1963 although the usual decline from July did take place. Non-farm jobs were down 3,600 between June and July 1964, Powell reported. July was also 36,400 jobs higher than the same month of 1962.

Powell said the drop is caused by school closings which affect the employment total most during July. The summer vacation for schools meant a decline of 6,300 in that category, he said.

The record total for all manufacturing and business during July was a continuation of the trend which began in February, 1962.

The record total for all manufacturing and business during July was a continuation of the trend which began in February, 1962. Each month since that time has been a record for that month of the calendar, the commissioner explained.

The seasonal drop in education was balanced partly by sizeable increases in trade and construction. Wholesale and retail trade increased 1,400 during the month and contract construction was up 1,100.

Powell said bituminous coal mining employment rose 100 and cigarette production gained 800 in July. At the same time, the commissioner reported decreases of 700 in Federal employees, mostly because of the end of operations in Louisville

Vacation-Type Parks To Close Nov. 1; 4 To Remain Open

All State vacation-type parks will remain open through Sunday, November 1, and four parks will be open during the fall and winter seasons, State Parks Commissioner Robert D. Bell has announced.

"We feel that the best season is one of the most attractive periods for Kentuckians and out-of-state during the fall and winter. This has been our best fall season," he added.

The following vacation-type parks and their overnight facilities and dining rooms will remain open through November 1: Kentucky Dam Village at Gilbert's Hill, Kentlake near Murray, Rough River which is between Leitchfield and Hardin counties, Pennycuik near Dawson Springs, Lake Cumberland near Jamestown, Cumberland Falls State Park, General Butler at Carrollton, Natural Bridge at Slade, Carter Caves near Olive Hill, Buckhorn between Booneville and Hazard, Jenny Wiley at Potosburg, and Pine Mountain at Pineville.

All these parks have lodges and dining room facilities and will be kept open throughout the winter season.

The four vacation parks to be kept open throughout the winter are: Kentucky Dam Village in Western Kentucky, Cumberland Falls in South-Central Kentucky, General Butler in North-Central Kentucky and Jenny Wiley in Eastern Kentucky.

Based on past experience, four parks have the greatest out-of-season demand. Give us a good geographical distribution and are ideal as sites for the new state schools which will be conducted this year for city personnel from all parks, Bell explained.

Boat dock and golf course services at all parks will be available to the public throughout the winter.

Bell said that there would be a number of special fall weekend promotions at the various vacation parks during September and October, similar to the "Fishing Unlimited" weekend which was held at Lake Cumberland State Park in early spring. These special promotions are to be introduced at a later date.

Picnic areas at Falmouth Lake State Park, near Falmouth; Lake Malheur Park near Lewisburg; Falmouth-Belmont Battlefield Columbus; Big Bone Lake, in Boone County; and Cherokee, near Hazard, will remain open as long as weather permits their use.

My Old Kentucky Home, Bardtown, and its gift shop will be open all year, Bell said, but will be closed on Mondays during November, December, January, and February.

The William Whitley House, near Stanford, also will be open all year, but closed on Mondays from Labor Day to Memorial Day. Jefferson Davis State Park, near Paducah, will be open Nov. 1, and open on weekends during November, December, January and February.

The Central Reservation Service, inaugurated this season, will be maintained in September and October for the convenience of those who have made reservations for the fall season in the vacation parks, Bell said. The telephone number is Frankfort 223-2326.

Commissioner Bell reported that this season's attendance had broken all records. He called the demand for overnight facilities and tent and trailer camping sites during the period from Memorial Day through Labor Day "overwhelming."

We now look forward to the fall season with expectancy and great optimism. We believe that we will have an extremely

Down 70 Percent In Decade

One-Teacher Schools Fade Out

A decrease of 38 percent in Kentucky one-teacher schools during the past year and a decline of 70 percent in the last nine years are indicated in statistics released by the State Department of Education.

Last year, there were only 635 one-teacher schools, as compared to 843 the year before. Dr. Harry M. Sparks, State superintendent of public instruction, said the 1963-1964 total of one-teacher schools is less than a third of the 2,428 reported nine years ago for the 1954-1955 year.

Meanwhile, as more of the two and three-teacher schools also were discontinued, the total of those with four or more teachers has increased to 1,497 last year. In 1954-1955, there were only 1,180 schools with four or more teachers.

The consolidation trend is toward larger schools with a minimum of eight or more teachers. "Don Bale, assistant State superintendent in charge of instruction, pointed out, "We are very reluctant to approve a new school unless there is a teacher for each grade. He pointed out that progress toward larger schools is beneficial in several ways. "Not only are we able to make more enriched curricula available to more pupils. We also are able to provide better-trained teachers and more modern equipment to those students in these schools. Even more progress is indicated for the 1963-1964 school year, he said.

The heavy concentration of the one-teacher schools is in the 44-county Appalachia region in Eastern and Southeastern Kentucky, where 80 percent, or all but 28 of the 635 were located last year. Floyd County, where 54 one-teacher schools operated last year, largest number in any Kentucky county, will decrease that total to 28.

Pike County, largest county in the state and also with the largest number of schools, 107, will cut the total of its one-teacher schools from 419 to 407. "A one-teacher school does not necessarily mean a one-room building," Bale explained. "We use that designation because that is how their reports are submitted. In some areas because of dwindling population and also because of consolidation, only one room of former two or three-room schools may be used now."

The pattern of consolidation also is evident in the continuing decline in the total of high schools. Bale pointed out. Last year, there were 422 high schools in Kentucky as compared to 432 the year before, 479 five years ago, and 539 in 1954. Of the 1963-1964 high schools, 341 were public, 76 private or parochial, and nine Federal or regional, such as at Fort Knox and in the Fort Campbell area, Jefferson County, including Louisville, is a glaring exception in Kentucky to the pattern of fewer high schools. Because of the population growth there, there are now 36 high schools in the city and county as compared to 25 in 1964, Bale said.

WHO CARES

"Only who posted today in 35 will be able to get a job on a farm," says Interior Secretary, Udall. And he won't want it.

Filling Washed Out Spots Aids Erosion Control

Fill in washed-out spots in grass waterway, or other spots of the farm, before fall rains begin.

This will prevent much erosion, says Lyle Leonard, University of Kentucky Agriculture Extension Service soil conservationist.

"Grassed waterways sometimes get a good deal of punishment during summer farming operations," he says. "They are often handy to use as farm roads. Then there may be washed-out spots from last spring's rains. Small channels with no grass in the bottom will get most of the water when fall rains start. Small overfalls are likely to get worse with every hard rain."

Leonard recommends filling these washed-out spots a little above ground level, and seeding. A measure which will help protect the soil until sod gets started, and will fertilize the young grass. In bad spots, he notes, it may pay to lay sod over the soil that is filled in.

FARM BUREAU in Action. Lewis Boycott Kentucky Farm Bureau Fed.

Consumers won a victory when the U. S. House of Representatives recently rejected an Administration-backed bill to permit the United States to participate in the International Coffee Agreement—a price-fixing cartel aimed at keeping prices high for Latin American coffee producers.

Housewives in many cities who have been smarting from the increase in bread prices resulting from the present wheat program may find the victory on coffee prices a temporary one. There are indications that pressure may be put on to reverse the House action and sell out American consumers to keep foreign coffee growers prosperous.

The Coffee Agreement covers 39 producing and consuming countries and is an international supply-management mechanism controlling export quotas to establish artificial shortages. The U. S. as purchaser of 50 percent of the world's exportable coffee production would be the chief victim of the pact.

The Coffee Agreement was set up in 1962 and formally ratified by the Senate November 14, 1963 as a treaty. However, Congressional approval of a ratification enforcement legislation was needed before this country could fully participate in the cartel.

The rejection by the House on Aug. 18 of a conference report favoring enabling legislation climaxed months of debate in which both Democrats and Republicans charged that rising coffee prices would go even higher if the Coffee Agreement were approved.

President Johnson was charged by Congressman Wilbur D. Mills, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, of trying to put the agreement into effect without waiting for approval by Congress.

The president chose to ignore

193 Companies Started, Upped Operations

Questionnaires sent to 750 farm product processing businesses reveal that 193 firms expanded or started new operations in Kentucky in 1963, State Commerce Commissioner Katherine Peden has announced.

She said two new plants and eight branch operations were started with a total capital investment in new and expanded facilities amounting to $11,380,666, and that 940 new jobs were created in the plants.

The commissioner pointed out that the growth of processing operations last year was paralleled by a rise in marketing of products from Kentucky farms. Farm marketings in 1963 were $89,677,000 above the 1962 total of $626,755,000.

More than 15,000 workers are employed in the processing plants which reported expansion in 1963. Total employment in all such plants in Kentucky is approximately 58,000.

Types of expanded processing plants in the 1963 total, and the number in each category, were: Feed and milling operations, 98; processed foods, 32; breweries, 22; red meats, 14; distilling, 10; bakeries, 11; poultry, 3; tobacco, pecans and popcorn, 1 each.

'Death March' Survivors At 6th Reunion

Survivors of the Bataan-Corregidor Death March, representing 20 states from Michigan to Louisiana, turned out for the sixth annual reunion held at Fontana Village in the Great Smoky Mountains last week.

More than 115 survivors and their families registered for the three-day program, reuniting the 1942 veterans of the Philippines. Dr. Norman Tant of Morehead, was among those attending.

Next year's Bataan-Corregidor Survivors reunion will be held at Fontana Village Resort Aug. 26-30, 1965, a site chosen unanimously by the veterans and their families.

"America's most exclusive veterans organization," Wayne Garringer of Robbinsville, N. C., convention chairman, dubbed the group, pointing that eligible membership increases each year. Dan Irwin of Ft. Myers, Florida, who organized the group in 1959 and has since served as its president, had accumulated a mailing list of approximately 100 names. It is believed that upwards of 500 survivors will be on hand for the reunion in 1965.

The report of his special assistant for consumer affairs, Mrs. Esther Peterson, who told a House subcommittee that housewives were complaining about the sharp increases in coffee prices in May of 1964 over the previous year. Congressmen estimated that higher coffee prices had hurt consumers a half billion dollars.

This is not the first time that international commodity agreements have meant higher prices at the grocery counter. Sugar prices doubled in 1963 under the government supply-management program for that commodity.

Even some int-model equipment already is old before its time—due to lack of weather-protection, neglect of engines and cooling systems, insufficient servicing and poor-grade lubricants. You can double your equipment's useful life by asking the Standard Man to prescribe the right care for your machines. Call him today!
