Kentucky Tobacco Sales Will Resume Monday, January 4

High Average Of Pre-Holiday Buying Expected To Be Maintained

MORE THAN 40 PERCENT OF CROP HAS BEEN SOLD

Belt Average Of $39.99 Made During Sale In All State Markets

Tobacco buyers predict that prices for Kentucky burley will remain at approximately the same high average when sales are resumed Monday.

During the 15 days of sales since the burley tobacco markets opened on December 7, a total of 88,428 pounds of 1936 crop has been sold, representing between 40 and 50 per cent of the year's entire production.

Of the total volume of leaf already sold, Lexington and the other seven markets in Central Kentucky—Cynthiana, Paris, Middlesboro, Harrodsburg, Mt. Sterling, Richmond, and Danville—have sold 38,000,000 pounds, for 43 per cent. Lexington so far has sold slightly more than 30 per cent of the entire volume, or 18,000,000 pounds.

The highest average in the burley crop will prove to be the highest in the history of burley markets.

The highest average for the 1936 crop, which brought $31.34 a hundred pounds over the entire belt, the highest season's average for the belt on record was recorded in 1919-20, when the burley averaged $22.56. For the 1919 crop, the average was $27.06.

The 1936 burley crop was 275 million pounds; that of 1919 was 220 million pounds, and that of 1918 was 250 million pounds. The 1936 crop is variously estimated at from 175 to 217 million pounds.

This crop shortage this year, preceded by two other crops far short of consumption, unquestionably is contributing largely to the current high prices for burley tobacco—a price level which climbed to $46.48 a hundred for the 1935 crop.

Jennings Is Urged To Seek Re-election

Republican Judge Says He Has Not Decided To Be Candidate

Charles E. Jennings, county clerk of Rowan county, was petitioned this week by a number of Republican leaders to seek re-election to the office of Judge Jennings said this morning that he had "not definitely made up his mind whether to run."

Judge Jennings was asked to run, after his friends had intimated that he would not be a candidate for the office. Judge Jennings said this morning that he had "not definitely made up his mind whether to run."

Nine years ago Judge Jennings first entered the political ring when he became a candidate for circuit clerk. He was elected to the office and in 1933 he ran for the Republican nomination for county judge. He was nominated and elected to that office.

Judge Jennings has played a more prominent part in the political news of Rowan county during the past few years than any other man. His name first hit the headlines when he figured in the contest between J. T. Prewitz and D. B. Caudill for the circuit judgeship. Since that time he has been regarded as one of the Republican leaders of the county.

Man Surrenders On Liquor Indictment

Glennie Caudill, charged in United States Commissioner's Court here with possessing non-potable whiskey, surrendered this week and pleaded guilty. He executed a $500 bond for his appearance for sentence in District Federal court.

The warrant for Caudill was issued a few days ago after he allegedly escaped Federal agents on the Christy creek road, leaving a gallon and pint of moonshine in his flight. Stony Linnville, charged with the same offense in the same case, was released.

NYA Supervisor Discusses Progress Made In County

By OSCAR PATRICK, NYA Supervisor

With the holiday season on, it is very encouraging to note the increased interest being shown in our NYA program by Rowan county. This interest is not only due to the anticipation of the NYA checks being received, but because the NYA program is being permanently sold to the people and youth of this community.

Mud, snow, ice, insufficient clothing and food, poor housing conditions, lack of proper sanitation, etc., challenge us to put forth the best efforts of which we are capable.

COUNTY'S FINANCIAL AFFAIRS HAVE BEEN WISELY HANDLED

In this issue of the Independent there appears the financial statement of the Rowan County Board of Education, covering the Fiscal Year from July 1, 1935 to June 30, 1936. Every taxpayer of Rowan county should study this report for it discloses what has been done with the money that you pay for school taxes.

The Board of Education, the County Superintendent and the Teachers are to be commended upon this report. The Board and the County Superintendent are to be congratulated on the fact that they have lived within their income, and have, at the same time, been able to meet much indebtedness that was created before they took office.

Teachers' salaries have been raised in Rowan county. School buildings are in better condition than ever before. The educational standards have been raised. Rowan county occupies a higher place today in the state of ratings of school systems in Kentucky, than it ever has before.

The foregoings coupled with a study of the financial statement, as it appears in print this week, presents undisputable evidence of what has been done. It is only right that we should give credit where it is due and it appears that the Board of Education's record warrants commendation.

At the same time we should not overlook the other agency in Rowan county which has control of a large portion of the taxpayer's money. This is the Fiscal Court. In past years, it is lamentable that Rowan county's Fiscal Court, has been forced into debt—by the debt for Rowan county, considering that outside Morehead most real-estate values in the county are low.

MOREHEAD COLLEGE TAKES A WISE STEP

The decision of Pres. Harvey A. Babb to seek a Reserve Officers' Training Corps for the Morehead State Teachers College is a wise move. The institution has needed the R.O.T.C. for years. The opportunity has always been at the finger-tips of the college, and it is unfortunate that the school has allowed it to slip by for so long.

MOREHEAD IS IDEALLY LOCATED

Morehead is an ideally located city. This statement is not made simply as a home-town boost, but it is absolutely true. It is doubtful if there is a town in Kentucky as ideally located as is Morehead.

The systems of transportation make Morehead the hub of a wheel—the focal point for the north-eastern section of Kentucky. Good roads are principally responsible for this. It is less than a 100 miles to Cincinnati, and upon completion of the Morehead-Louisville line will be the shortest cut from Florida and the south to the north.

Morehead is on the edge of the Bluegrass and the foothills of the Cumberland. It is a connecting link. U. S. Highway No. 60, one of the most traveled roads, which runs from the Atlantic to the Pacific, passes through Morehead.

been opened for Morehead through the completion of new roads that make these places only a short drive, whereas they used to be a day's trip. Flemingsburg, Grayson, Owingsville, Mt. Sterling, Olive Hill and Grayson all thriving little cities are within a few minutes of Morehead. However, there are no large cities within a radius of 60 miles, which means well for local business since it means that less Morehead and Rowan county money will leave home.

Some of the fastest passenger trains in Kentucky pass through Morehead while the Greyhound Bus Company, the F. C. Wells Bus Company and the Flemingsburg-Mayville Bus Company operate in Morehead as one of their principal points. Rowan county is not without its natural resources, and has two thriving industrial plants. A great national park is being established here. Morehead's location has meant more towards its steady growth and good business conditions. These conditions can be attributed to its location.

NEW INDUSTRIAL FINANCING APPROACHES NORMAL

"For the first time in five years the volume of new corporate financing has increased enough to bring it into normal relationship with stock market activity," says the November issue of the New York Stock Exchange Bulletin.

"This is hopeful and important because the money which corporations receive from the sale of new stock and bonds is largely spent for rebuilding and expanding plant and equipment. The expenditure of this money accordingly provides employment in the construction and heavy goods industries. One of the acute problems of the depression from which we are now emerging has been the serious unemployment among the workers in those industries, and the city's steady growth and prevailing good business conditions of that problem is indicated by the fact that for recent years new corporate financing has been less than one-tenth of its pre-depression amounts."

This does not mean that new financing has entirely recovered from depression lows, for the Bulletin points out that flotations are still less than 40 percent of what they were in the 1923-25 period. It does mean that industry is moving more rapidly along the road to prosperity, that industrial managements feel that the time is ripe for major new construction and improvement projects, and that the investing public is showing confidence in the securities of our major enterprises.

NEW CARS ARE ON THE MARKET

Last month the automobile shows were held throughout the country. The new cars are more beautiful in design and finish than ever before. They offer much in the way of improvements and gadgets. Their power plants deliver staggering performance—you can push the throttle open and run up to eight or ninety miles per hour without trouble—so as to the mechanics of your car are concerned.

However, the emphasis placed on speed has been productive of one of the gravest national "troubles" America has known—the growing accident toll. And the driver of a car that is so fast is safe because it seems as slow as thirty used to, should think again.

Silent engine performance won't help if we encounter a cement guard rail at high speed. Efforts are being made to not make a head-on crash less destructive. Lack of vibration will not help the underlaker get up together after the wrecking crew gets the body out with blow torches.

But these modern cars are magnificent examples of safety engineering—blue print safety. Brakes carrying a burbling machine amazing short distances, without any for shock. All steel bodies will take a lot of punishment without serious damage. Steering mechanisms are next to fool proof. And the tire manufacturers have done their bit by reducing the blow-out hazard to a minimum.

Yet each year's safety improvements have been followed by more accidents, not less severe accidents, but by more serious accidents, not less severe accidents. Why? Because we, the motoring public, have over-estimated the safety factor of the new cars, just as we have over-estimated the safety factor of wider, better surfaced highways. The cars and the roads are improved—and so we take the chances that lead to disaster.

COMPETITION STRENGTHENS CO-OPERATIVES

Some wise words on the agricultural co-operative movement are found in the Dairymen's League News, the organ of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., which was published in the Eastern dairy co-op field. The News says: "One of the reasons why farmers' cooperative marketing organizations have grown healthfully and become sound business associations is that from the start the cooperative movement in the United States has been a voluntary effort. In addition, farmers' co-operatives have had to meet stiff competition from the beginning. They have had to fight their way up."

"Through co-operative organization the individual farmer increases his independence and his bargaining power as he finds a new economic freedom. When he joins with his fellow farmers in co-operative effort, he helps create a prestige and a bargaining power which is able to compete and successfully cope with that of other organized groups."

"...There does exist an American spirit. It is a spirit of indomitable hope, based upon confident belief in the future of America. It is a spirit of tolerance amid conflicting opinions and proposals. It is a spirit of human kindness and friendship. So long as these qualities can be identified as characteristic of America, we shall manage to keep house and get on."—The New York Times.

THIS WEEK IN MOREHEAD

This is the last column that will come from this typewriter during 1936. Let us then start with that part of Morehead which is very vital to all of us and plays an important part in all of eastern Kentucky—the Morehead State Teachers College.

President Babb realized that affairs had become tangled during the preceding year. Interference in the institution had begun in October, 1935, but was not beginning to map a program for the school until early 1936.

A pair of electric eyes arranged in a new electronic circuit can be used to obtain the speed of any passing vehicle and register it in an office several miles away. When the car passes, it trips the eye and then again when it passes the second eye. The time is translated into the speed of the car. The equipment was on display today at the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Experts explained that there was no human factor involved in this new method of calculating a car's speed and thus it offered a claim. "The cop had it in for me."

A wreath of flowers and well wishes go next to a number of Morehead business men for the past year they broke away from the idea of building shacks and cheap homes that have been the bane of the town and people who have constructed them as an investment, went up in the city during the year. As a result Morehead is a more beautiful town in which to live.

Last week the Independent carried an editorial stressing the placing of another officer on the police force. The day the papers were printed another policeman was added. But the Independent claims no credit for the extra policeman was added before the papers were in the mails.

Those merchants who laid in heavy stocks of Christmas merchandise this year found themselves in the same predicament as the tobacco grower. They were met with brisk sales that cleared their registers and started the cash registers singing the sweet old song that has been sorely missing for so long.

Every city, large or small, has its sordid districts, where many people must live, not through choice but necessity. Morehead has a minimum of such places, but they nevertheless exist. On Christmas eve a number of women entered a barn-like structure in Morehead, which housed a family for every tiny room and a half-dozen small toils for every family. Those women carried with them glad Christmas tidings. They were acting Santa Claus to these under-privileged people. These women left with a tear

61 State Counties Have MC Students

Enrollment During 1935-36 School Year Reaches Total of 1,618 Sixty-one Kentucky counties and four other states were represented in the student body of 1,618 students that attended the Morehead State Teachers College during the school year 1935-36. Heretofore more states have been represented and fewer counties, but during the last few years the institution has concentrated solely for Kentucky students. Counties represented were—Adair, Barron, Bath, Bourbon, Boyle, Boyd, Bracken, Breathitt, Campbell, Carroll, Carter, Casey, Clark, Clay, Elliott, Estill, Fayette, Fleming, Floyd, Franklin, Greenup, Harlan, Henry, Jefferson, Jessamine, Johnson, Kenton, Knott, Knox, Laurel, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Lewis, Lincoln, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Menifee, Mercer, Metcalfe, Monroe, Montgomery, Morgan, Nicholas, Owen, Owsley, Pendleton, Perry, Pike, Powell, Robertson, Rockcastle, Rowan, Russell, Scott, Wayne, Webster, and Wolfe. ELECTRIC EYE MAY TAKE PLACE OF TRAFFIC COPS

A new scientific instrument may soon supplant the motorcycle cop on America's highways. A pair of electric eyes arranged in a new electronic circuit can be used to obtain the speed of any passing vehicle and register it in an office several miles away. When the car passes, it trips the eye and then again when it passes the second eye. The time is translated into the speed of the car. The equipment was on display today at the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Door Family Coat-of-Arms

The coat of arms which appears above are those of the Door family. The brothers of the family were first called from Manheim, on the Rhine, and the later Jacques from Layden, came to America to escape religious persecution. Louis embarked for New America in 1675, fifteen years after his brother, and settled in Pabhill, New York. He died the following year being survived by three sons.

Cozy Film Scenes Laid In Panama

A fast-moving, laugh-stuffed farce of gobs and their pals, set aboard ship and in the town of Panama City, moves onto the screen of the Cozy Theatre beginning Sunday when Paramount's "Lady Be Careful" has its opening. Lew Ayres, Mary Carlisle, Larry Crabbie, Benny Baker and Grant Withers have the leading roles in the comedy; Ayres is a timid sailor who accidentally gets a reputation as a woman-killer, and Crabbie is a Marine who spends his hours at sea boasting of his romantic prowess.

The plot of the story revolves around a bet, made by shipmate friends of Ayres', that the timid job can make a date with the most exclusive girl in Panama City, a blonde dancer who hates sailors and has come to be known as "Stone-wall" Jackson. To prove that he has succeeded, Ayres is to return to his ship after shore leave with a ribbon, won by the dancer in a beauty contest. How Ayres gets his date, gets the ribbon, and gets the girl in the bargain, is the story that follows.

Dorothy Parker, Alan Campbell and Harry Ruskin wrote the high-powered dialogue for "Lady Be Careful," and J. T. Reed directed.

National Income of 60 Billion Is Seen United States Commerce Department Says Business To Be Out Of 'Red' Calling the development of one of 'paramount significance,' the Commerce Department at Washington reported today that business and industry in the aggregate probably would be 'out of the red' this year for the first time since 1929. Estimating a national income of about $60,000,000,000 this year, the department said in its annual report that it 'appears probable' that income produced might equal income paid out. Whether industry as a whole operates at a profit or a loss is determined by the relationship between national income produced and national income paid out. When the latter exceeds the former, it means the total expenditures of industry are more than the aggregate value of its products. At $53,567,000,000 last year, national income paid out exceeded income produced by $628,000,000, causing industry to borrow or use up reserves to make up the 61.30. The gap between the two types of income opened in 1930 and remained almost $6,000,000,000 in 1932, but has been narrowing since. Reviewing economic conditions during the fiscal year just closed, the report cited 'marked improvement.' It added: 'Economic conditions broadened this year with acceleration of activity in the durable goods industries and in construction lines, the further rise in recovery and increase in the number of persons employed and the expansion of industrial production. 'The upward recovery was especially noteworthy in the late months of the fiscal year.' Asserting that an unemployment census is needed to give an accurate check of the jobs, the department also noted the desirability of decreasing Federal expenditures to relieve unemployment and at the same time protecting those who are unemployed. Government assistance were withdrawn is recognized by all who are interested in this subject.' The report discussed the new trade agreements concluded during the last fiscal year as 'a major step toward recovery and foreign trade on a definite and equitable basis.' The department also said American business had come to realize 'the importance of the trade agreements program in restoring channels of international expansion severely limited by official restrictions.'

LIBELED LADY. Synopsis—Bill Chandler, libel man on the Evening Star, is rehired to Warren Haggerty, who had seduced him, when the papers draw a $5,000,000 damage suit by Connie Allenbury, to frame Connie so she can be sued for husband-stealing—their marriage was charged with in the libelous story. Chandler is not married and needs a wife to sue for alienation of affections. Haggerty prevails upon his fiancée, Gladys Benton, to marry Bill and then get a divorce after Connie's exchange of fishing lure. "I've been withdrawn or quashed. Bill goes to England, and I'll render a service to Connie as she boards the boat for home and to get them to have dinner with him." Chapter Five ONE FISH ESCAPES! They had trout for dinner and Chandler seized upon that fact to talk fishing with Mr. Allenbury and succeeded not only in gaining his attention but in making a good impression. Connie was so obviously bored that when the band struck up, Chandler asked her to dance. Bill was but a fair dancer while Connie was a magnificent one. "I'm afraid I'm not a very good dancer," he said, turning on all his Irish charm. "So I see," she replied coolly. "I'll be frank, too. You dance suggestively."

"winkle in Connie's eyes." "Murmured Bill, "Gypsy music—" "The wine was drugged, of course!" "Not a bit of drugged wine on the boat. I shopped every place." "You mean you were going to depend on your sheer personality?" "Strange as it may seem, I did not try to get you to my state-room for the reason you think. I know I drove you to your cabin for three days. I wanted to know why I've had my face smashed, been called choice four-word names, but up to now I'd never lost out to a circulating library."

Van Arsdale and Babe. "I hope we are not late," gushed Mrs. Van Arsdale, entering. "It was sweet of you to send a message by Connie asking us to have cocktails with you. She isn't coming—she has another headache."

"She asked you to..." Bill recovered from his bewilderment. "How stupid of Miss Allenbury—that was tomorrow night!" "When he at length succeeded in breaking away from his uninvited guests, the disgruntled Bill had dinner by himself, went up on deck an hour or so later, and there found Connie in a deck chair enjoying the moonlight. He was embarrassed but quickly recovered his aplomb. "The ubiquitous Mr. Chandler!" said Connie with an amused air. "How was the cocktail party?" "A delightful—just right!" Charming people, the Van Arsdales. I was very glad you didn't come."

"Oh, were you?" Surprise colored with resentment glared her voice. "Yes, I admit my plan was to look at them alone—and you knew it!" "Ah, you are a mind-reader... So am I. I saw your room at seven o'clock, just as though I were in it, shades drawn, subdued lights—" "Practically semi-darkness,"

JOHN, YOUR HAIR IS A FRIGHTE HERE, USE MY FOM-OL. FOM-OL. More than a shampoo — treatment!

Wives, mothers, sisters—they're often loath to point the way to hair health to their men folk! For women know that a healthy head produces handsome hair! And that's why women everywhere are pointing to Fom-ol, the remarkable foaming oil shampoo which first nourishes the scalp, then takes the dull parched hair and brings it back to glowing health. Fom-ol is so economical; a little goes a long way. Ask your druggist for the regular 50c size. Or, write for a generous trial bottle, enclosing 10c to cover packing and postage. FOM-OL. More than a shampoo — treatment!

"Oh, so the Van Arsdales told you." "In passing. And a reputation worth five million dollars is a little too precious. In fact, I think any girl who puts that valuation on her reputation should be kept in a glass house." "Bill drew hastily away. "Sorry—I'd rather not get too near you." "She looked at him for a moment in sheer amazement, clouded by a new and growing interest. Then she turned on her heel and walked away." "Bill's eyes followed her, the corner of his mouth twisted into a smile of satisfied superiority. (To be continued next week)

Representatives Pass Social Security Bill

Unemployment compensation for Kentuckians approached a step nearer reality this week when the house of representatives passed an amended administration compensation bill without a dissenting vote. Final legislative action on the measure this week was virtually assured when the senate staved in session long enough to give the house measure first reading. A spirited fight in which administration leaders found themselves on the losing side preceded house passage of the bill by a vote of 83 to 0. The fight was on an amendment to the bill which would have dealt with the powers of the director of unemployment compensation provided in the bill. Previously the administration statutes committee had refused to approve the amendment, but instead urged adoption of a change that the house itself turned down. Past months saturated with chemical fertilizers to produce a balanced mixture which have been on the German market for several years are becoming increasingly popular with fruit and truck farmers.

WE SAY GOOD-BY
 We say it for an hour or for years,
 We say it smiling, say it choked
 with tears,
 We say it coldly, say it with a kiss;
 And yet we have no other word
 than this,
 "Good-by."

We have no dearer word for our heart's friend,
 For him who journeys to the world's far corners,
 And sears our soul with going,
 this we say,
 As unto him who steps but o'er
 the way—
 "Good-by."

Alike to those we love, and those we hate,
 We say no more at parting at life's gate,
 To him who passes out beyond
 earth's sight—
 We cry, as to the wanderer for the night,
 "Good-by."

—CHARLES DICKENS.
