Nervous Indigestion The action of digestion is controlled by nerves leading to the stomach. When they are weak, the stomach is deprived of its energy. It has no power to do its work. If you want permanent relief, you must restore this energy. Dr. Miles' Nerveine restores nervous energy, and gives the organs power to perform their functions.

It is surely considered a good recommendation of an article when the proprietor of the store uses it. With regard to medicines, the range of choice is especially large. Yet when Druggist J. M. Hawkins, of Mount Vernon, Kan., got ill and needed a reliable laxative and tonic for his stomach trouble he selected Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he naturally considers the best. This remedy is absolutely guaranteed to do what is claimed, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. There is all kinds of people here you can hear Dixie played on nearly every corner in the season, and the Salvation Army on the street singing Jesus lover of my soul. As this is a seaport city you can see all nationalities of people here, such as Dagoes, Chinese, Portuguese and Nigger-geese and every other kind of Geese.

G. W. WILHOIT

Addresses His Many Olive Hill Friends, From Arizona, thru The Columns of the Times.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 14, 1907

Editor TIMES— As I promised a number of my friends at Olive Hill before leaving Kentucky, that I would write them concerning this country at the first opportunity and as a personal letter to each of them would require a great deal of time and some expense I ask for space in your valuable paper by which I may reach all of them with one letter.

We left Olive Hill on the morning of December 31st and arrived in Louisville at 11:45 o'clock, a little too late to make connection with the Illinois Central for New Orleans so we had to wait in Louisville till 9:30 P. M. before we got a train out, so we spent the night of December 31 on the train and got to Memphis, Tenn., about 7 A. M. New Year's day then all that day we went through Mississippi, arriving at Jackson a little afternoon. We stopped for only a few minutes and continued our journey toward the Crescent City where we arrived a little behind time and so missed connection with the Southern Pacific and had to stop there till 11:55 A. M. next day. We crossed the Mississippi, train, box and baggage, on a transfer of ferry and were soon blowing along through Western La. past great plantations of sugar cane and cotton, also many truck gardens where we saw all kinds of vegetables - growing, green and fresh. Night came on about the time we reached Texas and all the Eastern part of that great State was passed in darkness, so we could see none of it. We arrived at Houston about midnight.

This is a prosperous city and was named in honor of General Sam Houston who did more than any other man to wrest independence for Texas from Mexico. He was the first President of the Republic of Texas and when it was admitted into the Union he was one of its first United States Senators.

We arrived at San Antonio at 8 o'clock next morning. Historic old town with a population of about seventy-five thousand. It has been for years a border town between the Texas farms and ranches. Here is located the Alamo where Davy Crockett, Boone and a great number of Kentuckians and Tennessees lost their lives fighting for Texas independence. It was also near here where the Texans led by the indomitable Sam Houston met Gen. Santa Ana and completely routed his army and made him prisoner. This was the battle of San Jacinto and the result of it gave the Texans their long cherished independence.

After leaving San Antonio we began to cross large rivers with no water and the hills began to get higher and the trees and houses smaller until both trees and houses disappeared altogether, then we traveled over 400 miles through West Texas where there was nothing to be seen but cactus and buffalo grass. When we got within forty or fifty miles of El Paso, Texas, we reached a part of the country which was being irrigated and saw beautiful fields of meadow and orchard with nice large ranch houses. This continued till our arrival in El Paso, which place we reached about 8 o'clock. Here we made connection with the train on the El Paso and Southwestern for Douglas where we arrived Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

I am investigating Douglas and will give you the benefit of my investigations in another letter which I will send you later.

With kindest regards for all my friends, I remain loyal and true to grand old Kentucky.

G. W. WILSOIT.

Simple Mixture Said to Relieve Urinary Troubles.

TROUGH CAMP.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered by an eminent authority, who writes in a New York daily paper, as the finest prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, weak bladder, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the elementary tissues of the Kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictions may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home when asked stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as harmless.

Lurie Hoekersmith was all smiles Sunday. What was the attraction, Willard.

Chatanooga boasts a railroad that hasn't killed anybody in 47 years. It is to be hoped that it will never take it into its head to make up for lost time.

In St. Joseph, Mo., it has been discovered that a dead man is on the city pay roll, and has been for years. Even in Phila. they content themselves with merely carrying that class of citizens on the voting list.

Executions are still a few laps ahead of assassinations in Russia.

It will be just like some bachelors to say "This is so sudden" when proposed to by young ladies they have been courting for about seven years.

We arise to insist that that Kentucky Senatorial deadlock be broken with "Marse Henry."

"In discovering that Congressman Hobson makes a good newspaper copy, the Washington Herald leaps at a bound into the class with Columbus as a discoverer" says the San Antonio Express. ### CHANGE IN PRESIDENT'S CABINET.

Notwithstanding the denials, more or less explicit, of the report that Secretary Cortelyou is to resign the Treasury portfolio, information comes from such an authoritative source that Mr. Cortelyou will soon sever his connection with the administration, that evidence must be given it. According to the information obtained, Mr. Cortelyou already has told the President, verbally, that he would resign, and the President simply is awaiting the written resignation of the man who was first Secretary of the President, and then a Cabinet officer, at the head of the three different departments of the executive branch of the government under Mr. Roosevelt.

It is needless to go back to a consideration of the causes that led up to the action of Secretary Cortelyou, or to speculate as to whether it is the result of the recent letter of the President declaring that he would not again be a candidate, with the implied reference to the alleged political activity of Secretary Cortelyou in his own behalf.

Whatever may be the impelling motive, there seems to be warrant for the assertion that Mr. Cortelyou will soon retire from the Cabinet.

George Von Lengerke Meyer, now Postmaster General, is the President's choice as successor to George B. Cortelyou as Secretary of the Treasury when Mr. Cortelyou's resignation takes effect. When questioned about it, Mr. Meyer seemed desirous to evade the subject. Finally, he said: I cannot discuss the matter, for I have not been informed officially of Mr. Cortelyou's resignation.

"Mr. Meyer would leave the P. O. department reluctantly. He is vitally interested in his parcels post plan, and wished to have it adopted by the present Congress. But it is well known that the President regards Mr. Meyer as one business man of his official family, and there is little doubt that the President will give his way."

CURRENCY BILLS UP.

There are now two currency measures before congress, one of which seems to have all the chance of passing and the other but little. It is the more logical and scientific of the last two that seems to stand the least show. The first is what is known as the Aldrich Currency Bill and has been alluded to and described often enough for most people to know in a general way what it is. It is a bill that provides for the issue of national bank notes based on the deposit of state, municipal and railway bonds in the treasury, and aims to supply an additional bulk of currency to be called out when it is needed subject to a heavy enough tax to force its retirement when the necessity for it no longer exists. This bill is now being discussed in the Senate Committee on Finance, and several amendments have been offered to it and provisionally accepted. One of these provides for the amount of additional note circulation to be increased to a maximum of $500,000,000 instead of $250,000,000 as the original bill. With this increase in the amount of the note circulation it is proposed to have the retirement tax based on a sliding scale running up to 10 per cent instead of being fixed at a flat six per cent as in the original bill. The provision for the deposit of municipal bonds also removes the minimum limit of bonds from towns of 29,000 inhabitants and makes any municipal bonds available. This is said to relieve the charge that the smaller towns of the West were discriminated against.

Of course a number of other amendments will be offered both in committee and after the bill gets on the floor of the House and Senate. But they are not apt to change the inherent nature of the measure.

The other bill, which does not now seem to have the backing of anyone much except its originator, is the work of Chas. Fawcett, the chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency. This bill proposes a much more radical change in the banking laws than the Aldrich bill. It would call in all of the government 2 per cent bonds now held by the banks and place them in a guarantee fund, returning the purchase price paid for them to the legitimate channels of trade where it belongs. The government would hold a guarantee fund of about $300,000,000 in bullion in gold and silver and would issue notes against this absolutely guaranteeing the issue. This would save the banks from the loss that would come from the shrinkage of values that would be sure to follow any sort of a war and would give a government-guaranteed bank circulation that could expand and contract according to the needs of trade and would divorce financial operations of the government absolutely from commercial conditions. As has been said there is not much hope that this radical measure will pass, but it has number of scientific advantages over the Aldrich bill, and an attempt will be made to substitute it for the latter bill when that comes up for a vote in the House. The chances are, however, that if it is so substituted, the whole matter will be amended and compromised in conference so that the final bill will not bear much resemblance to the simple scientific measure that is now proposed.

THE PANAMA BOND ISSUE.

Interest in the Treasury Department is now divided between the personal course of the Secretary of the Treasury and the response that he is making to the demand on him for information about the recent Panama bond issue. Secretary Cortelyou denies that he has had any row with the President or that he contemplates resigning from the Treasury. Mr. Satterlee of the Krickerbocker Trust Company of New York has modified his original statement about the Presidency of that company having been offered to Mr. Cortelyou and says merely that it "may be offered to him." This change of report as to Mr. Cortelyou's cabinet status may be taken for what it is worth. At any rate there does not seem to be any immediate prospects of change.

There is a good deal of interest in the report that he is preparing at the instance of Congress as to the recent issue of Panama Bonds. There was a great deal of criticism of the Secretary of his course in issuing these bonds. It will be remembered that on the morning after the worst day of the panic when it was announced that the bonds were to be issued, there was a general waiver of acclaim for the Secretary as the financial savior of the situation and all that sort of thing. Then when the panic passed there was a great deal of criticism of him. It was said that he had exceeded his powers, that there was no need for the bond issue anyhow, as indeed there was not after it had been announced that the government stood ready to make it. But it is said that the Secretary has in his files a large number of interesting letters received from Congressmen of many grades and degrees praying for the assignment of bonds in quantities varying from $5,000 to $5,000,000 in their localities. These letters would make interesting reading in case of serious criticism of the Treasury Department and it is said that the Secretary intends to incorporate them in his report. If this is the case Congress is likely to get more information than it thought that it would when the resolution asking for a report was passed.

A Daily Thought.

"I do you live in peace and patience, without fear and hatred, and to the oppressed and to the lonely, and to be the friends of men, so that when you are dead it will be said: 'He was one of those who brought down heaven to earth for a little while.'—William Morris."

Chicago Working Woman's Home.

A whole family can keep itself in health by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Pepsin Syrup, because it is a laxative that works mildly and surely, and a member of the family is almost always in need of such a remedy. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what we claim, and if you want to try it before buying send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 112 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by N. M. Hodgins at 50c. and $1 a bottle.

"I was a young man who had been afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance for several years. I doctored with a spell of medicine, but it did me no good. I finally called on Dr. Miles' Nervine, and after taking a few bottles, I was cured. I had been told that it was a humbug, but I had taken eleven bottles and was well and strong as ever."

EDWARD D. BEAM,

North Webster, Indiana. "Our little boy Harry had spasms for five years, and although we doctored with many physicians, he continued to have spasms in one worse until he had five years. We began about that time to use Dr. Miles' Nervine. It did not seem to do much, but we kept on using it. After the fourth bottle we had had, the spasms had almost entirely disappeared, and he has not had any since. We are now well and strong as ever."

ABOUT THE TIMES.

The TIMES, at the first of the present year, adopted some new resolutions, the foremost being that it give its readers in the future a much better, cleaner and more interesting paper than it has in the past, and to live up to this resolution, it has adopted several new and valuable features, which are now running.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—Congress is now in session at Washington and some bills will be brought before Congress this session the most important that was ever before the body. The Panama Canal Appropriation Bill, Federal Central Bank, Philippine Tariff, etc. We have secured a special correspondent at Washington to furnish us a column or two each week during Congress. When Congress is over he will continue to write on subjects of National interest.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.—The Kentucky Legislature is also in session, at Frankfort, and we have arranged for a special news service of the Legislature that will, each week, tell you what the week has brought about in the Legislature. As a citizen you should watch the doings of your State Legislature.

KENTUCKY NEWS.—Through this service we give you practically as good service as the dailies. 3 columns each week of Kentucky news, most interesting to you, briefly but intelligently summarized.

"BRIEF AND BREEZY," by "Uncle Jeremiah." This is a feature that belongs to a class of papers of a high degree. Accompanied each week of witty and breezy paragraphs. Something profoundly sensible and at the same time a piece of original humor and wit, rare in richness.

And as a local paper we try to gather every item of interest in town and in our community, and through the TIMES, with such a new service as we have, each week, the news you are so glad before you in a neat and readable manner.

We invite you to subscribe if you are not already a subscriber, and if you are, hand this to some one else, as a favor to us and we will appreciate it as the same. Rates: $1 a year, advance.

The New Post Office Rule

The post office department, on the first day of January, 1908, put into effect a new ruling, which actually prohibits us sending the TIMES to any person at the regular newspaper postage rates if that person is in subscription arrears.

This is now a postal law and if we continue to mail the TIMES we must comply with it. If you are in arrears one year or more that explains why your paper has been stopped.

Renew Now so as to get advantage of our clubbing propositions. On another page we list a number of the best dailies, weeklies and monthlies which you can get at a special club rate when taken in connection with the TIMES.

Doings In The Hall of Our Legislature.

By a special service we will give under this heading, each week, summary of the past week's work of the Legislature now in session at the State Capitol. This will probably be the most interesting session of the Legislature ever convened, and will deal with some very important subjects as now confronts the state. A month subscription to the OLIVE HILL TIMES will bring you the work of the whole Session. Begin today and don't miss a single week. See what the man you elected is doing.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 21.—The predicted and expected deadlock in the race for United States senator is now a certainty, and it may continue till the end of the legislative session. Since the following began on Jan. 11 all the Republican members of the legislature have steadily voted for their nominee, former Governor W. H. Bradley, while six Democrats have declined to vote for their nominee, former

J. C. W. BECKHAM.

Governor J. C. W. Beckham. That is the situation in a nutshell, and of course there is still arranged speculation as to the probable outcome, but as a matter of fact no one knows what the result will be. A dark horse may win any day, or the election may not even till the next legislature, and meanwhile all legislation will be neglected.

If the senatorial race could be settled next week there would be a great bit of feeling over the proposed ten percent legislation. Senator Rives of Christian has already introduced two important temperance bills that will be fought along with the liquor interests. The first bill is one to make the county and town law agents to every county in the state, whether the county contains a city or not. The second bill is more extensive than the first, for it proposes to give the people a chance to vote on an amendment to the constitution which will permit the whole state to vote on a dry, as was done in Georgia and other Southern states. Only two proposed amendments to the constitution can be voted on at any one election, and as more than a half dozen bills proposing a vote on all these amendments are already pending, it will be a great feat to do so. The lucky few to get to the polls. This may hamper the changes of the state prohibition bill from being passed, as the first of our other measures will work for their own best interests.

The first to put the American Tobacco company, Kentucky is the tobacco trust, out of business in Kentucky has already begun in the legislature. Representative Crockett's bill, Pendleton county has introduced a bill which makes it unlawful for any company or any other trust or combine of its kind to do business in Kentucky. If the trust violates the provisions of the bill the amount of the fine inflicted will be multiplied, as it is left to the discretion of the jury in the case. The bill also seeks to prevent the agents or buyers of the trust from purchasing tobacco in the state, as a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment for one year is provided for such offense. Mr. Crockett also introduced a bill providing a penalty for anyone who breaks his contract to pool his tobacco or other crop. It is understood that the American Tobacco company has several influential agents in Frankfort who will make every effort to have these bills defeated, but the temper of the legislature indicates that they will be passed.

An effort will be made at this session to reduce the rate of state taxation from 20 cents on the $100 to 15 cents on the $100. Representative Gus Richardson of Meade county has already prepared such a bill. In addition to the proposed reduction in the rate the bill proposes to abolish the present tax warrant system and will fix the first day of January each year as the first day upon which taxes can be paid. This will give the taxpayers two months more than they now have, as the last day under the present law is Nov. 1. The Richardson bill also proposes to change the manner of taxing dogs by placing dogs on the same footing as horses and other livestock, which are taxed as property, so if a man owns a $30 dog he must pay the same tax on the dog that he pays on a $30 horse. There is so much prejudice against any sort of a dog tax, however, that it is hardly probable that this feature will be adopted, though it seems assured that the tax rate will be reduced unless the senatorial race defeats all important legislation.

Senator Barnum of Madison county has introduced a bill providing for a vote on the question of annexing the constitution that each bona-fide homestead shall have 224 square feet of dwelling or appurtenances exempt from taxation. This will likely prove a very popular bill for what the average property owner knows more every thing else is to escape as much taxation as possible. As a matter of fact, though, such a law would greatly encourage thousands of renters to purchase houses.

At every session of the legislature from 1892 to now bills are introduced and the author of each bill makes "cheap talk" about his bill being the most important one of all for the people, and so on, but very few of these bills ever pass beyond their second reading, and only about one-tenth of them become laws. Over 200 have already been introduced this session, the titles of the most important being as follows:

- Bill making it a penal offense to sell fish with dynamite or other explosive.
- Bill requiring railroads to carry adult passengers at two cents per mile and one cent per mile for children under twelve years of age.
- Bill to repeal the registration law so far as it applies to fifth and sixth class towns.
- Bill providing that property of non-residents in the hands of a trust company or trustee shall pay taxes at the home of the owner and not at the home of the trustee.
- Bill appropriating $75,000 for the establishment and maintenance of a state tuberculosis sanatorium.
- Bill appropriating $400,000 to complete and furnish the new statehouse.

and $50,000 for a new mansion for the governor.

Bill to prohibit the making of baseball on Sunday.

Bill to add the words "manufactured articles" and "fire insurance premium rates" to the statute on "goods, trusts and consignments."

Bill repealing the law requiring registration certificates to be issued.

Bill to prohibit the use of Paris green or other poisons on growing tobacco and to regulate the sale of Paris green.

Bill to prohibit the dealing in futures or on margins on stocks and bonds. (Aimed to kill the bucket shop.)

Bill making an assignment of wages or salary illegal unless accepted in writing by the employer.

Bill creating county boards of education with power to build and maintain schoolhouses and employ teachers.

Bill providing for heavy fines for the operation of poolrooms and gambling telegraph and telegraph companies from furnishing them information as to horse races.

Bill to prevent the manufacture and sale of impure or deleterious foods or drugs in this state.

Bill to create a board of bank examiners and providing for a periodical examination of all state banks.

Bill to prohibit betting from "troughs" on the racetracks in this state.

Bill to amend the insurance laws so that its insurance companies may be organized with $50,000 capital stock. This is done to permit smaller companies to organize to take the insurance on tobacco that has recently been cancelled by the big Eastern companies.

Bill to allow pay to jurors who are summoned but not accepted on the panel.

Bill to increase the salary of circuit judges to $5,000.

Bill substituting electrocution for hanging of convicted criminals, the electrocution to be accomplished in one of the penitentiaries.

Bill permitting farmers to pool their crops and authorizing them to employ agents to sell the pooled crops for them.

Bill to prevent the importation of strike-breakers into this state.

Of course all the authors of the above bills are busy electorating with other legislators trying to lodge enough votes to pass his bill and there are lots of "disinterested" lobbyists on hand to boost certain bills and to delay and defeat others. These politicians' promises are of the airy variety, easily broken, and many of these bills will never pass either branch of the legislature. All of which reminded a legislator who has had some experience of an apt story. He said his story was trying to teach a little eight-year-old negro the catechism and a few facts about historical characters. She was putting him through the questioning one day and the little negro had answered very well, telling her that Samson was the strongest man, Methusalem the oldest man and finally she asked, "Who was George Washington?" "You never told me nothing 'bout him, Miss Lucy," he replied. "Well, I will tell you now. He was the man who could not tell a lie," said Miss Lucy. The little negro scratched his head for a minute as if puzzled and then asked, "Miss Lucy, what wuz de matter wid him?"
