A LARGE ENROLLMENT

Again the Morehead State Teachers College can well look forward to an increase in enrollment for the second semester which opens Monday. An upward trend in economic conditions, especially pronounced in the raising of the pay of school teachers, is bringing people to Morehead this year that have been financially unable to attend college for several years.

THE NEW BAKERY

Your writer thought he would take advantage of the Midland Baking Company locating in this city by buying a hot loaf of bread. Since the bakery is located at one end of the city and at the other it was quite a walk. Imagine our mouth watering as we entered the bakery since bread, appetizing and steaming hot, was just coming out of the ovens.

AT THE THEATRE

In glancing over several back issues of the News the hewers' proficiency and originality in penning the heads for Morehead Theatre is worth passing on to you. Here is to way some of them run: ONE NIGHT OF LOVE AT COLLEGE THEATRE THREE BEAUTIES ARE AT LOCAL SHOW SHE LOVED TWICE

TOM FOOLERY

Speaking of heads we recently heard one of our dyed-in-the-wool former friends and readers, who does not go in for sport, unless it is with a horse (and not a pony) commenting on the paper he just picked up. The headlines he was reading, and wondering at were:

MOREHEAD READY FOR BATTLE EASTERN EAGLES SWOP DOWN TO TEAR PANTHERS APART

He perused the articles expecting to read of a bloody battle, a fight between an Eagle and a Panther or another John Silver episode. After reading them he turned and commented: "Some more damn tomfoolery!"

Midland Baking Company Shows Business Increase First Week Here

Already the results of their recent move to Morehead have been indicated, according to Mr. W. E. Stephens, manager of the Midland Baking Company, which opened their plant here last week. Mr. Stephens stated to a News reporter that in the week just closed the first week they were running here, the sale of their products had almost doubled. The bakery opened last Monday, January 14, doing their first baking Sunday night. At that time they baked the equivalent of 5 barrels of flour into bread. On Sunday night of this week they baked over eight barrels, and the output has been steadily increasing since that time. One thing they have noticed, ac-

The decision on whether the Morehead college theatre will continue to operate now rests in the hands of the Grievance Board of National Code on Motion Pictures.

THEATRE CASE TRIED MONDAY

Prof. E. V. Hollis Represents Morehead Theatre Before Grievance Board

The decision on whether the Morehead college theatre will continue to operate now rests in the hands of the Grievance Board of National Code on Motion Pictures. Professor E. V. Hollis, manager of the Morehead Theatre, went to Cincinnati Monday where he presented the institution's side of the affair, which all came about when Paul Hoover, owner-manager of the Trimble Theatre, Mt. Sterling, laid a complaint before the Grievance Board that the Morehead theatre was operating "non-theatrical," since it was in a state institution, tax free and enjoys other advantages that a private concern does not.

Local Dealer Sees Frigidaire Showing

J. M. Clayton, dealer for Frigidaire Corporation, subsidiary of General Motors, attended a general pre-showing of 1955 products, advertising and sales plans, held on Monday in Cincinnati, where Frigidaire's district headquarters are located.

Local Dealer Sees Frigidaire Showing

J. M. Clayton, dealer for Frigidaire Corporation, subsidiary of General Motors, attended a general pre-showing of 1955 products, advertising and sales plans, held on Monday in Cincinnati, where Frigidaire's district headquarters are located. "Frigidaire headquarters in Dayton," Mr. Clayton said, states that Frigidaire believes 1955 will be a building year for improved business and that the new products and plans actually are sensational in their scope. This information coming from the world's largest producer of refrigeration and air conditioning equipment, indicates the belief in general business improvement held by our organization. Mr. Clayton was accompanied to the pre-showing by Clyde Smith and Curt Bruce.

Dr. Evans Elected Head of Medico's

The Rowan County Medical Society held its meeting Monday evening Jan. 18, 1955. Dr. Everett D. Blair, Dr. M. G. Garret and Dr. G. U. Dorroh were taken in as members.

Judge A. W. Young Reported Sick At Office In Louisville

Noted Statesman Is Greatly Improved; Wife Is At Bed Side

Friends of Judge Allie W. Young, who has been seriously ill in Louisville, Kentucky for the past several days will be particularly interested to know that his condition is not so serious as at first feared. A telephone conversation with Mr. Young who is with her husband in Louisville, brought the welcome news that he was showing considerable improvement.

OPERATION UNNECESSARY

Reports circulated here were to the effect that Judge Young was suffering from what appeared to be a mastoid, which was considered very serious. However, according to Mr. Young, an X-ray examination disclosed that there was no such trouble, that the head was entirely clear of an obstruction. It was feared that, if such trouble had developed, an operation would be necessary. However the examination cleared away all such rumors and fears.

Well Known NBC Star Here Under Auspices Of Local Organization

Mr. Theodore Beyers, baritone, of New York City, will give a concert of musical comedy and semi-classical songs Jan. 30, at the auditorium of the Morehead State Teachers College at 8 p. m.

800 GIVEN TESTS FOR SCARLET FEVER HERE

With a scarlet fever epidemic threatening last week, the Rowan County Board of Health conducted a series of tests at the college with the result that more than 800 college and training school students were given the Dick Test, a test designed to determine susceptibility to scarlet fever and inoculated 38 patients showing signs of positive susceptibility to the disease.

Cold Wave Brings Snow, Sleet To Morehead; Fear Flood Damage Here

The Licking River at Farmers, swollen by week-end rains and Monday night and Tuesday's snow, is nearing the flood stage, and if the snow melts fast it may endanger many homes on the river banks in this county. For a short time Sunday the Licking got over a part of U. S. Highway 60, but traffic was not halted. Steady rains fell in Rowan County Saturday, Sunday and Monday. A cold wave, which swept from Northwestern Canada to practically all sections of the U. S., reached here Monday and the rain changed to sleet and then to snow, with 6 inches of snow covering the county Tuesday, making many country roads impassable except by horse or wagon. The weatherman predicts rising temperatures during the remainder of the week. No serious automobile accidents have been reported, although all Morehead streets and county highways are covered with snow that has been beat down until it is slippery. The cold wave was mild here compared to the havoc it wrought further north. Fifteen are known dead. The temperature dropped so low that Mercury in thermometers in Northern U. S. from Reading in the North Central states showed from 40 to 55 degrees below zero.

Second Semester Enrollment Will Reach 1200 Mark

College Officials Predict More Resident Students Than Ever Before

Such an increase would mark the largest number of residence students the institution ever had. Advance reservations for rooms in Allie Young, Fields and Thompson Halls have almost exhausted the supply. To meet this increase three new instructors have already been added and others may be placed on the staff, to give Morehead College its largest teaching staff.

DORMITORY ROOMS FULL

Dean William H. Vaughan is frankly optimistic towards Morehead College. He believes that Morehead is the coming college of Kentucky and its students will increase in numbers until it is on a par with any state teachers college in Kentucky. Reviewing a bit of history as has been done in the past, it will not come amiss to remind the public that Morehead is the only state school that has enjoyed a decided increase in enrollment every semester over the corresponding semester of the previous year since its foundation as a state college. Starting out in 1925 with a meagre enrollment, the increase since that time has been of the steady kind that tends to be permanent. It has not been a mushroom growth, of the kind that flares up into the sky and then shrugs. Neither has it been of the "boom" kind. But each year has seen a decided and satisfactory increase over the preceding year and the preceding and corresponding semester.

SEVEN MONTHS OLD BABY DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Funeral services are to be conducted today for William Keeton, Jr., 7 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Keeton. The child passed away in a Lexington hospital Tuesday night, a few hours after he was rushed there in the Ferguson ambulance when his condition became critical. He became ill of pneumonia three days before his death, and his condition rapidly became worse.

WOMAN FINED IN COUNTY COURT FOR GOSSIPING

County Judge Jennings said he wished to call attention to the fact that there is a law against gossiping, and that the penalty runs from $10 to $100 and from 1 to 60 days in jail, or both. Recently a Circuit Court jury was instructed to return indictments against wholesale gossipers.

TEACHERS MEET FRIDAY MORN.

Rowan County's representative for the annual Courier-Journal state spelling contest will be selected at a spelling bee of county children in Morehead Friday morning at 10:00 A. M. at Morehead. A meeting of all teachers will be held at the same time. Immediately after the spelling contest the teachers will have an open discussion about the closing of the rural schools on February 1, and plans for the future. The teachers will conclude a study of the curriculum, which has been the topic of discussion at five district school teachers meetings at Farmers, Morehead, Fine Grove, Ellettsville and Middlesboro. The topic for the 7th and 8th grades have been prepared, and Superintendent Roy E. Cornette urges that teachers secure this material at once, if they have not already done so, as they should be given before January 25, and turned in at the teachers meeting. How the Free Text Books should be checked into the Superintendent's office will also be explained at the meeting. In speaking of the school year, Superintendent Cornette said he felt they had had a very successful year, with the teachers cooperating to assure the most benefit.

Congress meets and organizes - for the first time in January. That change is significant because the lame ducks are out of office and their places have been filled with members who were chosen in the last election.

It is noticeable that the South wields the greatest power that it has had since the Civil War. The South has always been consistently Democratic and now it collects the reward for remaining faithful.

The legislative branch of our government isn't functioning normally. Congress returns to Washington with instructions from the people of this county to "follow the President". Thus we have a virtual dictator in the White House. But it is a dictator because the voters of a democracy want it that way. The dictators of the European countries usurp their power. That is the difference between our Nation and nations abroad.

The thinking and talkative Senate is ready to conform to the Roosevelt program. In fact its leaders have been actively engaged in cooperation with Roosevelt to make the program.

The House is overwhelming Democratic but around 40 and 50 members of that party have showed up rebelliously. They want to be "independent". But the House has organized and the organization has pledged itself to stand by the White House. What the president wants, he will get!

It's not there he announced. I thought Brisbane might be in his room. But the bed's not been slept in and the lights are out. He sat down wearily. His room's empty. The sergeant plucked himself in front of Vance.

Look here, Mr. Vance, even if he did miss the Lake Shore Limited, he's probably on his way to Chicago. Anybody might forget a stick. His suitcase ain't here —

Vance leaped to his feet. The suitcase — that's it! What would he have done with the suitcase if he had not taken the early train and had intended to go on to Chicago later.

He would have checked it in the station wouldn't he?

Exactly! Vance wheeled to Gamble, described that suitcase. It was quite an ordinary case, sir, the man replied in a dazed tone. Black sealskin, leather lined, with rounded corners and the initials 'B. C.' in gold letters on one end.

Vance turned back to Heath. Can you check on that in the parcel room at the station, Sergeant? Its important.

Sure I can. He beckoned Snitkin with a jerk of the head. Got the dope?

— I — I yes, he rumbled. A cinch. Then hop to it, ordered Heath. And phone me pronto, Make it snappy. Snitkin disappeared. Where do you think Brisbane Coe fits into this affair? Markham asked Vance.

I don't know, I'm not sure. He spoke quietly, without turning. But many strange things happened here last night. Certain plans went awry. Events overlapped one another. Nothing happened on schedule.

But Brisbane Coe, persisted Markham.

Vance turned slowly back to the room.

There has always been bad blood between Archer and Brisbane, for some reason. I've understood it. By the by, maybe Miss Lake could enlighten us while we're waiting for Snitkin's call. I say Gamble, ask the young lady to be good enough to join us here.

The butler went out, and five minutes later Hilda Lake came swinging into the room.

Sorry to have kept you waiting and all the usual amenities, she said, sitting down and crossing her knees; but I hadn't quite finished doffing my golf togs when the faw from admirable Crichton summoned me. Anyway I should be furious with you. Why was I denied my muffins and tea?

Vance apologized. We've been using Gamble a bit intensively. Gamble, take tea and muffins to Miss Lakes quarters.

The man who had been standing in the door, bowed and disappeared and Vance turned pleasantly back to Miss Lake. By the time your breakfast is ready we will let you return to your rooms. Then he added with a serious mien. There are a few questions we would like for you to answer. What was the cause of the intimacy between Archer and Brisbane Coe?

Egg Weight In Relation To Hatchability. Halberstaben and Muschel (1922) noted that abnormally large eggs did not hatch as well as the abnormally small ones. Eggs in the medium group hatched best, that is, eggs hatched weighing 45 grams gave an average chick weight of 30 grams or 65 percent of the total weight of egg. Eggs weighing 65 grams produced chicks weighing an average of 41.5 grams or 64 percent of the total weight of the egg. Jull and Haynes (1925) experimented with Barred Plymouth Rocks and found no relationship between egg weight and hatchability. Kimura (1931) investigating a chicken in Manchuria reported to lay 4 ounce eggs each found the hatchability of these eggs to be low as only about one-third of the eggs produced chicks. In other words, he found that the greater the egg weight the lower the hatchability. Kimura obtained only a few chicks from eggs weighing 80 grams each. An eighty gram egg would weigh slightly less than 3 ounces.

Hatchability In Relation To Shape And Color Of Egg. Benjamin (1920), Halberstaben and Muschel (1922) and Jull and Haynes (1925) concluded that egg shape where nuptial eggs are involved, does not affect hatching qualities. The above investigators also found that color of eggs was not associated with hatchability. It might be said under this heading too that Hays and Sumbardo (1927) found no relationship between hatchability of eggs and the following factors, length, diameter, fresh weight, specific gravity, and thickness of each the shell and the inner and outer shell membrane. Kaupp (1924) mentions that in his work he found that eggs with normal shells hatched much better than those with thin shells, and those that were ridged or mottled.

Hatchability In Relation To Fertility Of Hen's Eggs. Pearl and Surface (1909) found a very small relation between hatchability and fertility, in Barred Plymouth Rocks, Hays and Sanborn (1934) and Jull (1928) working with Rhode Island Reds found no relationship between hatchability and fertility. Knox (1928) working with Barred Plymouth Rocks found a very small relationship between hatchability and fertility but his findings are not significant. Card and Lamson (1920) in their studies relate that fertility in hens is associated with individuality, that is, some hens run high in fertility while others run low. Hays and Sanborn (1928) state that the fertility of a hen behaves as an individual characteristic with a fair degree of constancy from year to year. They also found that fertility is not inherited while hatchability is inherited.

Hatchability In Relation To Age And Fecundity. Age is an important factor that is now being given considerable thought in poultry production. If we could produce layers that would hold up in production for at least 5 years, the farmer would not be confronted with replacing a portion of his flock each year. In lengthening the span of life of a bird as well as its production period, one should give careful thought to the percent hatchability of eggs. If ability is inherited it is ideal to combine both of these in the flock. There is often a prejudice among practical poultrymen against the use of young breeding stock. Some are afraid to use pullets and cockerels as breeding stock. Others seem to think that pullets are in heavy egg production during the hatching season and thus could not produce vigorous offspring. The following is some of the work done along this line.

Hays (1928) considered the influence of the factor, age of stock upon hatchability. His work shows with Single-Comb Rhode Island Reds that the same males used as cockerels and as yearlings with different females on succeeding years gave a hatchability percentage of 68.8 and 79.5 respectively. A second test gave 65.2 as cockerels and 79 percent as yearlings. In neither case was the difference statistically significant. Erbe and Hall (1932) found that hatchability was highest in the first year as pullets and diminished as the bird became older. In other words, pullets showed higher hatchability than did birds, two, three, or four years old. Even as far back as 1909, Pearl and Surface found little difference between the hatchability of Barred Rock pullet eggs and hen eggs in the second year. Warren (1934) working with White Leghorns noted that there is a tendency for hatching quality of egg to decrease as the age of female producing them increases. No evidence was found for any influence of the age of the male upon hatchability of eggs which he fertilizes.

Hatchability In Relation To Production Of Daughters. When the Hatchability of Dams is Known Jull and Byerly (1933) probably did the first work along this line with White Leghorns and Rhode Island Reds. With the Leghorns there were 177 dams and 849 daughters while with the Reds there were 214 dams and 897 daughters. In every case except with one daughter, where the dam's hatchability record was above the average the hatchability of each pen was higher. The results suggested, on one hand, that high egg production is possible in daughters whose dams showed relatively low hatchability, and on the other hand, dams whose hatchability is relatively low produce daughters whose average egg production may be as high or higher than the average egg production of daughters of dams whose hatchability is relatively low. The work showed that breeding for high hatchability is not antagonistic to breeding for high egg production.

NEXT WEEK: Part III Hatchability in Hen's Eggs.

Write or see a county agent about making a brick brooder. They cost where properly operated, and are little to make, give satisfaction one of the biggest boons to poultry raising developed in recent years.

Save hatching eggs from hens of medium size, good type and color, and which show ability to lay well. Separate a pen of such hens from the rest of the flock, feed them well and mate them to a male from high tier stock.

Bleaching clothes can be done by means of sunlight, Javelle water or commercial bleaches. Sunlight is the least harmful to fabrics. Commercial bleaching should be used with extreme care to avoid injuring the fabric.

There are many farms where by-products can be used to supply water to houses and barns. A depth of 2 feet from the spring to the main is sufficient, but the amount of fall required depends upon the volume of water needed and the height to which it is to be pumped.

It is not advisable to use tobacco leaf stalks or stems as a fertilizer for tobacco because of the danger of transmitting disease. The College of Agriculture will send upon request, a circular on the use of tobacco stalks and low soil as fertilizer. In most cases they should be supplemented with superphosphate to make a balanced fertilizer.

Pork should be cooked well done, as a health precaution. It sometimes carries the trichina parasite which, if not destroyed, causes illness. This organism is killed at 137 degrees, but a temperature of 182 degrees is recommended.

Curtains and shades should not interfere with ventilation and light. Curtains should be simply made of easily laundered materials, well hung in harmony with the color scheme. Shades should be light in color and should roll easily.

Libraries

Many high school library surveys disclose that a large percentage of the book collections are unsuited for school use. Modern teaching, with broad references to matter on every subject taught, makes the problem of proper book selection a grave one. This problem has been intensified with the recently imposed school economies.

As an aid to those in charge of selecting books to meet the demand of high school curriculum, the Office of Education has issued Pamphlet No. 57, edited by Miss Edith A. Latrop, Associate Specialist in School Libraries, of that office. This pamphlet is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., at five cents per copy.

The 300th anniversary of high school or secondary education is to be the theme of the program for the department of secondary education at the National Education Association convention.

The first morning will review the history of secondary education. The second meeting that afternoon will discuss the private and public secondary schools at work today. Secondary education as an essential

Oratory Contest Set For February

The annual college oratorical contest is scheduled to be held Friday, February 22, at the convocation hour, with the winner in the men's division receiving the President's medal, awarded each year by Dr. J. H. Payne, and the honor of participating in the State Oratorical Contest, sponsored annually by the Kentucky Oratorical Association, Emmett Bradley, instructor in the department of English and sponsor of the local contest announced last week.

A similar contest is held each year for the women with the best oration being delivered in the women's division of the state contest. The men's contest is scheduled to be held Saturday, March 16, and the women's contest Saturday, March 22, according to W. R. Sutcliffe, head of the department of speech at the University of Kentucky and recording secretary of the association. The site of the contest this year has not been determined as yet.

BASKETBALL MENU OFFERS ONLY SCANT CARD DURING WEEK; UNION WILL MEET EAGLES AT LOCAL GYM

Morehead High School Should Win Its First Game At Expense Of Greenup Basketeers

Only six games are offered on the week's basketball card in this section. Examinations at the Morehead State Teachers College limits the play of the varsity and freshmen, while Breckinridge plays once. Morehead High plays two games, while Haldeman also meets two opponents during the week.

The schedule.
Friday January 25
Morehead H. at Grayson — 7:30.
Haldeman at Hitchens — 7:30.
Saturday January 26
Morehead H. Vs. Greenup here 7:30
Breck Vs. Grayson, here — 7:30
Sunday January 28
Eagles Vs. Union, here — 7:30.
Tuesday January 29
Soldier at Haldeman — 7:30
Unfortunately every Rowan County team, is the underdog in every match except one. Morehead High school should break in the victory column at last at Greenup's expense. The Greenup team were blanked twice last week. Russell topping them 19-0 and Racialand 18-0 for something of a record. Racialand barely defeated the Vikings so Morehead should have the upphand in the Greenup engagement.

The Morehead College-Union game should be a close one although Union is favored by virtue of the Teachers defeat at Berea. Union whipped Morehead 38-34 in three overtime at Bourberville. If we were picking we would say Morehead by 3 to 10 points, despite their mediocre standing at all but a couple of games.

Grayson is apparently strong enough to take Breck High. Both teams will be strengthened the second Dr. H. L. Donovan, commenting on the resignation of Coach Hughes said, "I have the highest regard for Mr. Hughes. He is a splendid man and has a wholesome influence on the young men with whom he comes in contact."

No one has been chosen to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Coach Hughes. should prove the more interesting. The fire and lava side that has played been with the Calder Haldeman games will be considerable luck when they play next week, since the Leopards do not have their usual strong quintette while Allie Holbrook has his best team at the Panther school.
Morehead High is given little or no chance of topping Grayson Friday.

CARDINALS WIN IN FAST GAME

Cardinals Take Lead In Initial Period And Score Easy Win

The Eagles lost their fourth game in five starts against S. I. A. A. competition at Louisville, January 16, when they bowed to the University of Louisville Cardinals 34 to 25. The Cardinals were away to an early lead and coasted through the remainder of the game for an easy win. They were ahead at the half, 19 to 11. The Eagles fought hard but their plays failed to click and they seemed over anxious to shoot upon gaining possession of the ball.

Parley and Shuey played stellar games for the Eagles but the others members of the team were off form. Masterson, Louisville center, was best for the Cardinals as he scored 12 points and controlled the tip-off and rebounds throughout the game.
The line-up

Haldeman Defeats Salt Lick's Team

Lawrence Frasley's Haldeman High School Leopards broke in the victory column after a string of defeats by beating Salt Lick 43-15. B. Jones, Haldeman guard was the scoring gun for the Leopards with 20 points. Haldeman led 23-4 at the half.

Charles T. Hughes, head football and basketball coach at Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College since 1929 has tendered his resignation to Dr. H. L. Donovan, President of the college, effective July 1, 1935. The resignation of Coach Hughes was accepted by the board of regents of the college at a meeting here last week.

HUSKY THROATS

Overtaken by speaking, singing, sneezing, coughing, smoking.

Morehead Akami, far and near, read with a hearty smile of the victory of the Morehead College basketball team over Eastern Friday by an overwhelming 44-20 score.

It was not so much that the Maroons were such a strong five to beat, but rather that Morehead, at last seemed able to top the Richmond team in basketball after a string of fruitless years. Time and again those stanni have seen the Morehead five go down before Eastern, many times by a close score. E. began to look as if the Maroon jinx was just too much for Morehead to overcome, either that or Eastern was onto Morehead's style so well that the Eagles were handicapped from the start. To victory represents the greatest feat that Morehead ever accomplished in the athletic field. Perhaps it was just that.

Carry Spicer who refereed the game said afterwards that he never saw a team get as hot as did Morehead during part of that second half. Perhaps he did not know that every ball that slipped through the hoop from a Morehead's players fingers was like wine to a harassed team so far as both the Morehead players and fans were concerned.

After the Morehead freshmen had lost to the Eastern first-year team in the preliminary we chance to overhear one local fan comment. "Morehead couldn't beat Eastern picking up chips," he declared. "Morehead just doesn't have the stuff."

When the Eagles began piling up that big second half advantage, we have no doubts but that person cheered as loud and got just as much enjoyment from every point he Blue and Gold registered, as did anyone in the house.

It is not that Morehead fans be come disloyal. Rather, they were baffled so long like a small boat in a raging storm, that eventually they gave up hope.

The metropolitan newspapers played up the Morehead victory every word of those write-ups were dignified, and in many cases clipped out to be placed among fond memories.

Boxing is a new sport at the College. For several weeks Carlos Wyant, who plays on the Eagle football team, has been drilling a

Berea Swamps Morehead 45 to 20 in S.I.A.A. Match

The Morehead College basketball team, who have a habit of playing one good game and then showing a reversal of form in the next, lost their fifth of seven S. I. A. A. games Monday evening by a 45-22 score.

Berea grabbed the lead at the outset running up a 9-0 advantage before Morehead registered. The Mountaineers led 26-9 at the end of the first half.

Morehead played its best game the second half, scoring nine points before Berea run its first string five back in to again pull away from the Teachers. The saddest part about the Eagles entire performance was their failure to hit free throws. Out of 22 tries they managed to sink four. The field goals were fourteen for Berea and nine for Morehead. Berea made 17 of 20 foul tosses.

Shuey was the only Moreheadian that was on form and he collected group of boys in the pugilistic field. Tuesday evening they appeared on a regular card against the Clearfield CCC camp.

Everywhere the return or rise of boxing as a college sport has been predicted. With the start already made, Morehead should be able to get in on the ground floor if the sport comes into its own with Kentucky.

Austin Riddle is having a tough job keeping his basketball team in temperance. With the start already made, Morehead should be able to get in on the ground floor if the sport comes into its own with Kentucky.

Eastern College's Maroons defeated Wesleyan's Panthers 32 to 27 at Richmond, January 7. Paced by Riddle with 19 points, the Maroons were off to an early lead and held it through the remainder of the game. Taylor and Compton with nine points each were best for Wesleyan.

The Centre College Colonels pulled away in the final minutes of the game after Powell, Georgetown center, had been disqualified and the Tiger defense had crumbled, to defeat the Georgetown quintet at Danville, Kentucky, on January 15. Kidd was best for Centre, with 19 points and Powell starred for Georgetown. The Eagles play Centre next week.

Berea College overwhelmed Transylvania 53 to 32 in a basketball game at Berea, January 15. Campbell, Berea's all S. I. A. A. forward scored 23 points to capture individual scoring honors of the contest. Berea and Transylvania both meet the Eagles in the near future. The University of Kentucky's Wildcat power-house defeated University of Chattanooga, 66 to 19 at Lexington, January 15. Lawrence, Edwards and Lewis buried the Tennessee team under an avalanche of field goals, Lawrence and 23 points, Edwards 24 and Lewis, 11.

MOREHEAD WINS INITIAL BASKETBALL GAME FROM EASTERN IN SEVEN YEARS

Eagle Stars Fall On Easterners In Final Stanza Of Hardwood Classic To Triumph, 44 to 20

Eagle stars fell on Eastern Friday afternoon to break the jinx that has haunted Morehead teams for years as an inspired band of basketeers, wearing the Blue and Gold, fought its way to a grand victory over its traditional foe. Hundreds cheered the gallant stand of Morehead's men before the confident charge of Kentucky's only unbeaten college basketball team, but cheers changed to roars as the frenzied crowd saw the Eagles rout the Maroons in the last half of the hardwood classic and win, 44 to 20.

Broadway Bill Is College Offering

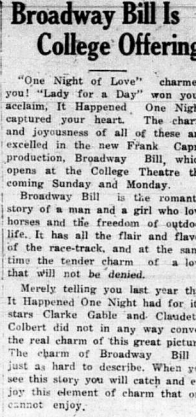

"One Night of Love" charmed you! "Lady for a Day" won your acclaim! It Happened One Night captured your heart. The charm and joyousness of all of these are excellend in the new Frank Capra production, Broadway Bill, which opens at the College Theatre the coming Sunday and Monday.
Broadway Bill is the romantic story of a man and a girl who love horses and the freedom of outdoor life. It has all the flair and flavor of the race-track, and at the same time the tender charm of a love story that will not be denied.
Merely telling you last year that It Happened One Night had for its stars Clarke Gable and Claudette Colbert did not in any way convey the real charm of this great picture. The charm of Broadway Bill is just as hard to describe. When you see this story you will catch and enjoy this element of charm that one cannot enjoy.

Lemon Drop Kid Featured At Cozy

If you enjoyed "Little Miss Marker" and "Lady for a Day", the new Damon Runyon picture, "The Lemon Drop Kid," which comes to the Cozy Theatre Friday and Saturday will be sure to please you. With Lee Tracy in the title role, and Helen Mack, William Frawley and Minna Gombell heading the supporting cast, this new Paramount picture is a lively, humorous and often dramatic story of fast talking, self-assured guy who, following an unpleasant escapade at the race track, is forced to settle down to the quiet-life of a small town.
"Kid" Falls in Love
This he attempts to do with varied success until a charming and unsophisticated girl tries to reform him and make him take a job at fifteen dollars a week. At first the "Kid" rebels, but when he discovers that his little "country girl" means a great deal to him, he resigns himself to his fate and actually takes the job.
The "Kid" is resourceful and since work has never agreed with him, he plans a counter plot of his own with results that bring him his greatest happiness and his deepest sorrow. In "The Lemon Drop Kid" you will find an expert blending of comedy and drama that carries the picture along at a fast pace, capturing in an unusual climax.
In the title role Lee Tracy is an ideal role, one that affords him the chance to do all those things that have made his many screen roles so effective. Helen Mack as the girl is sincere and convincing and also very beautiful in her most important portrayal since she first appeared in pictures.

Russel Theatre New Boy Featured

To the Shirley Temples, the Jackie Coopers, the David Holts, the Mickey Rooney and the other child prodigies of Hollywood must now be added another "great" name the name of Freddie Bartholomew, ten year old, late of London, England.
Three months ago it was a name absolutely unknown outside a very tiny circle of friends and playmates. Today it is one of the most famous names in the world.
For Freddie is the lad who has shined the world with his magnificent performance as the boy "David Copperfield" in the picture of that name which comes to the Russell Theatre, Maysville, Sunday and Monday January 27-28.
In one bound, in his first appearance on the screen, little Freddie has outstripped most of his competitors among child actors, for he is hailed as the greatest "discovery" and the finest child actor since Jackie Coogan rocketed to fame with Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid."
