SHOOT THE DOG

There are a lot of heart-breaks around Morehead at present. And most of the heart-breaks broken are the hearts of little kiddies. Just about every dog killed in the raid on unkept dogs during the past week has been the cause of a broken heart. Of course the dogs had to be killed, in protection to the community. For after the mad dog scare of last week it was impossible to take a chance. But the heart-breaks were there, just the same.

ANOTHER ONE

It would seem that the signs at the end of the Allie Young Highway and the danger warnings and signs erected along the highway at the intersection with Route 50, would give ample warning that there is an intersection at that point, but still the wrecks continue to occur. Last Sunday one drove into the ditch and had to be hauled out.

FIRE CALLS

If one were suspicious he might decide that a fire bug of some description was about town, not with the News, but with the necessary kindling to start the fire siren going. During the past month or so there

ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY OF VAN HOGGE STORE

William Perry and Charles Fray were taken into custody on Thursday of last week charged with the robbery of the Van Hogge store on Christy creek which occurred several weeks ago. Perry was taken by sheriff Mort May and his deputies at his home near Morehead, Fray was taken on another charge, that of striking and wounding John Kelley in an attempt to rob him. Later he was connected with the Hogge robbery, and is being held on both charges.

TOM BILL RILEY HAS HONOR OF BEING 1st TO GET NUMBER 1000

Mr. Riley enrolled on Monday of this week, swelling the total enrollment to 1,000 college students. At noon Wednesday the total had increased to 1006 students in the college, with 380 in the training school. This gave the total enrollment a new high of 1386 for the semester, to date.

Legion To Present Play Here, Tonight

A play put on successfully by the Olive Hill Post of the American Legion at Olive Hill is being brought to Morehead Thursday night where it will be shown at the Morehead Public School gymnasium under the auspices of the Corbie Ellington Post of the American Legion. Funds derived from the show will be applied to the benefit of the Morehead High School athletic fund, which has been running behind this year. The show is said to be one of the best home talent plays that has been staged in this section for some time and should draw a capacity house. Everybody is invited to attend and help the high school clear up some of their expenses.

College boys will meet the debate team of the Middle Tennessee State Teachers College at Murfreesboro, Tenn., on Tuesday night. Wednesday night they debated with the team of the South Western College at Memphis, Tenn. Friday and Saturday they take part in the tournament and start home immediately. En route home they meet with the Murray State Teachers College team at Murray on Monday night of next week. They will return to Morehead on Wednesday of next week.

The News Provides Great New Features

We want our readers to look over this issue of the News for new features. We have made arrangements to carry three of the best features that can be bought regularly. First we have a feature that will appear each week on the front page, a Will Rogers story. Will Rogers, perhaps the highest paid columnist in newspaper work. His feature appears in all the leading dailies but in only a few weeklies. There is also the feature by Kentucky's own, the one and only Irvin S. Cobb. Cobb is a humorist of the first rank, and is a Kentucky product, from Paducah, and is one of the most widely known Kentuckians. We are particularly proud of this feature. And then, just to make it complete, we will carry a weekly comic strip by a nationally known cartoonist, the "Kiddie" strip. This strip has proved to be one of the most popular of the numerous "Kiddie" strips and runs in many of the big dailies. And just for good measure, don't fail to look at our new column, a calendar column carrying notices of lodge and club meetings, church notices and items of various interest.

Council Submits Proposed Plan FERA Project

Among the projects submitted the F. E. R. A. at Louisville for the city of Morehead were the gas pipe projects, the completion of the sewer project started last year, the construction and surfacing of Knapp street, and the repairing and re-decorating of the city hall. First among the projects was the gas pipe system, since it was felt that it was most important, both to the laboring man, and to the city. The sewer problem was listed second and stand a good chance of getting through. It will be remembered that last year the sewer project was started under the CWA. It was almost half finished when the government withdrew all CWA projects, and discontinued them. Almost ten thousand dollars had been spent at that time on the purchase of material and labor, which has been lying idle since that time and of no use to anybody. The project calls for the building of a pipe line from the present end of the city sewer and the establishment of a sanitary plant to purify the contents. Its purpose is to do away with the present open sewer which is contaminating the waters of Triple Creek near Clearfield and to render the water safe for use.

Council Rescinds Phone Resolution

At a meeting of the City Council held Tuesday night a resolution was adopted rescinding the previous resolution adopted in November by which the franchise sold to the Kentucky State Telephone Company was revoked and rendered null and void. Since that time the telephone has fulfilled its franchise contract and installed a common battery service as they had agreed. In view of the fact the council voted unanimously to rescind the resolution and reinstate the franchise with its reservation. The extra policeman who has been added to the force temporarily has been continued in service for an indefinite period, or until such a time as the council has an opportunity to figure out ways and means of maintaining the force as it is. It was suggested that the two policemen, John Adams and Ed Hall plan their time so that the city will have police service at all times day and night.

MAD DOG SCARE CAUSES KILLING OF MANY DOGS

A mad dog scare caused the issuance of a proclamation by Mayor Harlan Blair, ordering all owners to see that their dogs were tied or that if they ran loose, that they wear muzzles of sufficient strength to protect the citizens. The scare originated with the killing of a dog last week after it had indicated all systems of rabies. It is not known how many dogs were killed.

Debate Team Off For Tournament

Taking the place of Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, who is confined to his bed with an attack of flu, Mr. Linus Fair, of the Morehead State Teachers College faculty accompanied the debating team from the college when it left Tuesday morning for Conway, Arkansas, where the team will enter the debating tournament being held there on Friday and Saturday of this week. The team is composed of Melvin Hudson, "Burr" Hadden, Earl Dean and Elijah Monroe Hogge.

Corn-Hog Contract Ready For Signing

According to an announcement made by County Agent, Chas L. Goff, Morehead County farmers will sign a part of the National Corn-Hog program of the Agriculture Department Administration. While the 1935 program differs in detail from the 1934 program, in general effect it is practically the same. Contracts may be signed at the home of any farmer or at the office of the County Agent at any time during February. A new association will be formed in 1935 made up of the farmers who have signed the contracts for the coming year.

GAS PIPE PROJECT OFFERED BY CITY COUNCIL GETS PRAISE FROM MANY LEADING CITIZENS

Brady of the State Tax Commission was in Morehead on Monday of this week. Mr. Brady will return next week to make a thorough examination of the books of the county for the purpose of determining whether or not any taxes are due the state for the past five years. If any are found unpaid or unassessed, an attempt will be made to collect them. While he is going over the books he will also try to locate any unpaid taxes due the county. Reaction to the Gas Pipe system story which appeared in the Rowan County News last week, was of the type that brought considerable satisfaction to W. H. Rice who may be said to have fathered the project. Practically every leading citizen of Morehead has expressed his gratification and endorsement of the plan as evolved by Mr. Rice to install a gas pipe system, purchase the gas at wholesale and retail it to the consumer as a municipal project. While it is impossible to include in the space of one article the expressions of all those who stated their position, the following men furnish an idea of the trend of thought with regard to the proposed plan. D. C. Caudill, cashier of the Peoples Bank, was the first to let Mr. Rice know what he thought of the plan. Mr. Caudill was enthusiastic in his endorsement. He stated that he thought it was a wonderful plan and that he was glad to see it in its realization by every citizen of the community. "It is wonderful, not only from the viewpoint of revenue, but from the viewpoint of service to the community and decrease of the heat, gas, oil, and coal and cooperation of every citizen of Morehead," said Mr. Caudill. "I am for it without reservation," said N. E. Kerrel of the Kentucky Hardware Company. "Gas is cheap in a community at the price he worked out by Mr. Rice, it will not only be cheap, but every citizen who uses it will be serving his community and himself by reducing taxes to a minimum." W. C. Swift, manager of the Morehead Lumber Company, said: "It's a great idea. I would like to see the consumer money, furnish employment to laboring men, and produce revenue for the city. I'm sold on the idea." E. B. Lykins, manager of the Merchants Hardware Store, said in endorsement in the following words: "I'll be glad to see it installed. It will mean real economy to us." Arthur Blair, and Luster Blair made it a point to see Mr. Rice and said the word of congratulations for a progressive suggestion, they were heartily in favor of it. A. B. McKinney, proprietor of the Hotel Hotel, said: (Continued On Page Five)

MEETING OF PROPOSED HIGHWAY IS CALLED

A number of cars filled with Morehead citizens left early Wednesday morning for Frankfort where they will attend a meeting of those interested in the building of the National Park to Park Highway. The proposed highway will be a four lane road passing through the state to Louisville from Ashland and circling around to join back to Washington where it is proposed to originate. Every citizen in this section is interested in the construction of such a highway. If it is done it will mean an expenditure of over one million dollars.

Many Republicans At Lincoln Banquet

The Lincoln Day Banquet held at Olive Hill Tuesday night under the auspices of the Carter County Republican Club was well attended and the speaker of the evening proved to be entirely satisfactory. Among those from Morehead to attend were: Judge and Mrs. Chas. E. Jennings, Joe McKinney, Senator S. M. Bradley, Dr. and Mrs. Ellington, Dudley Caldwell, Miss Olive Day, Joe Stewart, Fred C. O. Perrett, Sidney Alfrey, Clarence Allen, Elwood Allen, and Miss Jessie Allen. Senator Hatfield of Huntington, who was scheduled as the speaker of the evening, was unable to attend on account of illness, and his place was ably filled by Hon. Claude L. Smith of St. Albans, West Virginia. Department Commander of the American Legion, W. H. Rice, made his address from the viewpoint of Lincoln the American. About three hundred fifty were present.

WHEN ECONOMY RULES — OR DOESN'T

Here's one for your Comic strip, and to be pasted in your memory book for future reference. At least it would be a Comic if it were not really serious from the viewpoint of the taxpayer. After his unexpurgated edition of a two column article in the Rowan County News last June, scoring the County Board of Education for expending money for teachers salaries, and calling such expenditure gross waste, this man Proctor who thus constituted himself the Custodian of Economy, who thus went on record as the apostle of Saving and the disciple of Less Expense, as well as the Guardian of Low Cost to the County, this same Proctor has the colossal nerve and the unexampled gall, the intestinal fortitude to purchase without authority, a battleship linoleum rug for his office floor at a cost of $106.02, and expect the County Fiscal Court to pay for it out of the County Funds.

One Hundred Six dollars and two Cents for a rug for the dancing feet of the County Attorney to tread, when two Cents should have been enough! One Hundred Six Dollars and Two Cents to be paid out of the county's coffers to gratify the silly pride of the Economy Preaching but apparently not practicing C. A. One Hundred Six Dollars and Two Cents of YOUR hard-earned money, Money that YOU scribbled and saved to pay your taxes, Money that represented the actual sweat and blood of the citizens of Rowan, to be paid to gratify the vanity of a man who preached economy for the school, when such economy would have meant injury to the school system and the future generations, but who, when it comes to his own selfish wants and desires insists on gratifying them, regardless of expense, providing the other fellow pays them.

Fortunately there were a few men who refused to fall for it. The Rowan County News wishes to commend the members of the Fiscal Court, Squire Burrows and Squire Hamm, and County Judge Jennings for their stand in refusing to allow the bill submitted. They demonstrated that they were interested in the welfare of the county, and that they would not endorse a raid on the treasury, by allowing a claim that they felt had been made unnecessarily. Their motion when they refused to allow the claim should be mentioned by every citizen of Rowan County.

"Motion made by Squire Fred Burrows, seconded by Squire Ben Hamm, that the bill for the Foster-Thornburg Hardware Company in the sum of $106.02, for a linoleum rug purchased by the County Attorney for his office, be refused payment on the grounds that the County Attorney and no authority to purchase and that the cost is all out of the bounds of reason."

The Rowan County News is proud to endorse the action of the Fiscal Court and of Judge Jennings in refusing to pay this claim.

WHY? NOT TRAFFIC CARDS FOR ALL?

In Oregon the sheriff of one of the major counties has had cards issued for distribution among children. They carry point in any state and it may be recommended that attention of children hereabouts be called to the following:

- 1—Don't ever ride with strangers.
- 2—Always walk on the left hand side of the road, and get clear off the road when you meet an automobile. Give them plenty of room.
- 3—Don't ever cross a road or highway until you are sure there are no cars coming from either direction.
- 4—Don't attempt to cross an intersection until you are certain that there is plenty of time.
- 5—If you see an accident go for help quickly.
- 6—Keep clear of the wreck. Let grown people give aid to the injured.

While the sheriff is doing good work in the interest of the smaller citizens, the Oregonian of Portland suggests that he might get out another card directed to adults to read:

- 1—Don't ever pick up strangers.
- 2—Always drive on the right hand side of the road, and when you meet a pedestrian give him plenty of room.
- 3—Maintain a look-out for persons crossing the road.
- 4—Have your car under control when entering an intersection, and recognize the right of pedestrians to cross ahead of you.
- 5—If you see an accident, offer help.
- 6—If you cannot be helpful, leave the wreck. Don't block the highway out of courtesy.

With one or two exceptions the points in each apply to the grown ups as well as the children. It will hurt no one to read what the Oregon sheriff has to say, and what the Oregonian thinks he might add.

Less Than 1,000,000 Eligible for Pensions.

The Administration today set the Capitol an estimate that less than 1,000,000 persons would be eligible for old age pensions and that the total cost to the States would be about $111,000,000 annually.

Some Congressmen have estimated that the pension plan would cost around $450,000,000 yearly.

The table, drawn up by the Economic Security Committee, was based on the number of persons above 65 who are receiving relief in the States, plus those who are getting old age pensions in States that have pension systems.

The committee's figures showed 736,342 persons above 65 on Federal relief plus 179,457 who are receiving old age pensions from the twenty-one States in which the laws are in effect. Laws have been passed in seven other states but are not yet in effect.

Census figures for 1920 showed 6,824,000 persons in the country over 65. Some witness before the Congressional Committee have estimated that half of these would be eligible for pensions. Some members of Congress figured that on this basis the yearly cost to the States would be around a half billion dollars.

DOWNWARD TREND IN BANK LENDING HALTED

The downward trend in commercial lending operations of the country's banks and trust companies, which has been apparent since the middle of last October, seems to have been arrested, at least temporarily. There are indications, in some districts, of another upward tendency since the beginning of the year, particularly in the Boston, Atlantic and Cleveland districts. A canvass of New York banks disclosed a mixed situation. Several observers point out that the pending gold clause decision, which has retarded commitments in certain lines of business, also had had an adverse effect of uncertainty, especially as to purchases and sales of goods and materials in foreign markets.

12 KILLED, 70 HURT BY TEXAS TORNADO

Tornadoic winds, ripped an erratic trail of destruction through East Texas and part of Louisiana, left twelve persons dead Saturday night and more than seventy injured and untold property damage.

A driving rainstorm, extending into other parts of Texas and accompanied by thunder squalls, was raging last night when a funnel shaped cloud vented its fury on a Negro plantation community on the Trinity River, bottoms fifteen miles west of Grapeland.

How's Business

BLAIR'S SALE

One of the most successful sales ever held in recent years is in progress at Blair Brothers and Company's store in this city. The sale opened Friday morning with a steady stream of customers throughout the day. Saturday's business in spite of the bad weather which kept people in doors, was even better than the previous day. The good business continued over into Monday and Tuesday, and apparently is going to stretch out into the rest of the week.

In this issue appears the advertisement of this firm of merchants who are offering real bargains to their customers as big savings.

THE GAS FRANCHISE

Considerable comment has been created by the article which appeared in the last issue of the News, with regard to the possible installation of gas pipe system for the city, to distribute the gas at retail. Among all the comment heard there has not been one objection. Everybody who expressed an opinion, said that he believed the plan was one of great possibilities for the city of Morehead and that they would support such a plan in its last detail. Late word received from Louisville, stated that Morehead would be on the list and that the local gas project would be one to receive consideration first when they were ready to act.

WEED BRINGS $15,49 IN LEXINGTON SALE

The season's total is 57,594,860 pounds for $1,832,505.14, averaging $18.81.

DILLINGER DOCTOR'S LICENSE IS REVOKED

The physician's license of Dr. Clayton E. May, serving a Federal prison term for harboring the late John Dillinger, was revoked by the Minnesota Board of Medical Examiners Saturday.

Dr. E. J. Engberg, secretary of the board, said the revocation was the result of a conviction on a felony charge involving moral turpitude.

BYRD EXPEDITION QUITS ANTARCTIC CONTINENT

LAFFOON CALLED FOR TRIAL

Sheriff's office in Frankfort received a summons for Gov. Ruby Laffoon to appear Monday in Casey Circuit Court in the trial of Houston Jeffries, 20 years old, whose sentence to death for the slaying of John White and Clay White was commuted to life imprisonment by the Governor. Jeffries is being tried on the second indictment in the killings. The summons was not served on the Governor this afternoon as he could not be found.

LIGHT FLOORS OF LEAF UNTIL MARKET CLOSES

Buyers will find small volumes as tenth week gets under way. Dollar a pound Tobacco makes appearance Bracken Crop sells highest last week. Sales total 19,394,870 pounds with distribution amounting to $3,256,024.92.

With the end of the marketing season near, Maysville warehouses begin their tenth week of auctions Monday offering buyers the small lot volume of leaf that has been on the floors since the opening of the season.

HIGHWAY MEETING

Yesterday at the call of the governor, citizens from all parts of the state, especially those along the proposed Park to Park Highway were invited to meet in Frankfort with the view to discuss the project.

Unquestionably the proposed four lane highway connecting the national parks through this section would be one of particular interest and value to every citizen and every city along its route, and there could be no question but that they would all aid in putting it over.

Morehead would lie directly on the route and be one of the cities of the route. In the tourist traffic alone it would naturally reap a great benefit.

And with the present construction of trails in this section there could be no doubt in any mind that this section will in a few years become a center of tourist traffic.

The light descended; and then we saw the thing that Vance through some process of obscure logic had

There, in a huddled heap, his glassy eyes staring up at us, lay the dead body of Brisbane Coe.

Though the sight was not altogether unexpected, in view of Vance strange action and even stranger comments, I received a tremendous shock as I gazed down into the closet. Even to an amateur like myself the fact that Brisbane Coe was dead was apparent. The stiff, unnatural post of the body, and the hideous fixity of his gaze, together with the drawn bloodless lips and the waxen pallor of his skin, attested to violent and unexpected death.

And as I looked at it, temporarily petrified by the horror of this new development, I could not help comparing the death of Brisbane with that of Ayher, whereas Ayher had died with a peaceful expression on his face, and in a natural and comfortable position, Brisbane, had a shocked, almost wild, look in his eyes, as if he had been startled and frightened at the moment of death.

The discovery of Brisbane Coe's body affected all of us strongly. Heath started down with hunched shoulders. The blood seemed to have left his face, and he was like a man hypnotized. Markham's jaw was set, and his eyes were mere slits.

"Vance spoke, and his voice, usually so calm, sounded strained and unaccustomed.

"It's worse than I thought. I had hoped he might still be alive, a prisoner perhaps. I didn't altogether expect this.

"It's very strange, he murmured, looking at Markham yet past him. He is without his hat tonight; and yet his stick is hanging here in the hall. And he is dead in the closet. Why not in his own room? or the library? or anywhere else, but in there nothing fits. Markham. The whole picture had been painted by a crazy man.

Markham said in a dazed voice, "I can't follow any of it. Why did Brisbane Coe return here last night? And who knew he was going to return.

"If only I could answer those questions! Burke and Gamble were sitting on a hall bench near the drawing room door. The butler had not seen the dead man in the closet, for our bodies had shielded him. But it was obvious that he suspected the truth. Vance went to him.

What kind of topcoat and hat did Mr. Brisbane wear when he went to the station last night? The man made a desperate effort to pull himself together.

As a tweed coat, sir, he replied huskily, black-and-white tweed. And a light gray hat. Vance returned to the closet, and presently emerged with a hat and coat.

Are these the ones? Gamble swallowed hard and nodded his head.

Yes, sir. Vance replaced the coat and hat in the closet, and commented to Markham:

They were hanging up so neatly. Is it not possible, asked Markham that just as he hung them up after returning to the house, he was killed.

Possible, yes, Vance nodded slowly. But that would not explain the other things that went on here last night. It's more reasonable, I think, to assume that Brisbane was killed as he was preparing to leave the house. But then again, there's the time element.

Heath had already gone to the hall telephone and was dialing a number. "I'll soon get the time element for you, he growled.

A moment later he was speaking to Doctor Doremus.

Laughing Around the World With IRVIN S. COBB

Inquiry Regarding the Angelic One

By IRVIN S. COBB A VISITING archdeacon of the Episcopal church was the guest of a southern household. He would remain over the week-end and on Sunday hold services for the local parish. So his hostess sent his vestments off with the family laundry after explaining to her colored wash-woman that the owner of these garments was a dignitary of importance. On the following morning she was summoned to the telephone. At the other end of the line was the laundress.

"Mrs. Harrison," she asked, "do de colored want his clothes washed?"

most of us following. We had scarcely seated ourselves when a tall, slender, scholarly looking Chinaman of about forty steps briskly through the door between the library and the dining room. He stood beside the door with relaxed immobility, and, after one quick glance at us lifted his eyes uneasily above our heads. Though I felt he saw everything.

Vance asked, "What is your name?" "Liang," came the soft and almost inaudible response.

"Your whole name, please?" "There was a slight nod, and the man gave Vance a furtive glance. "Liang Tsung Wei."

"And understand you are the Coe cook?" "Yes, cook."

Vance smiled, and a faint smile overcame his face. "Be so good as to forget the pudding, please. Mr. Liang, it will hinder our conversation terribly. And please take a chair."

The chinaman, with a faint flicker in his eyes, moved his gaze till it rested on Vance's face. Then he bowed and sat down in an arm chair between the door and the book shelves.

"Thank you," he said in a finely modulated voice, "I suppose you desire to question me regarding the tragedy last night. I deeply regret I can throw no light upon it."

"How do you know there was a tragedy?" Vance inspected the end of his cigarette.

"I was preparing breakfast, Liang returned, and I heard the butler impart the information over the telephone.

"Ah yes, of course. Have you been long in this country, Mr. Liang?" "Two years only."

"Interested in the culinary art of America?"

Not particularly—although I am a student of occidental customs, Western civilization of of great interest to certain of my countrymen.

"As are, also, I imagine," added some pronounced and soft, "many of Chinese art that have been buried from your temples and graves."

"We of course regret their loss," the man answered mildly.

Vance nodded understandingly, and was silent for a moment. Then "How did you happen to seek employment with Mr. Coe?"

I had heard of his collection of Chinese antiquities and of his great knowledge of oriental art, and I believed that the atmosphere might prove to be congenial.

"And have you found it congenial?"

"Not altogether. Mr. Coe was a very narrow and selfish man. His interest in art was purely personal. He wished to keep his treasures away from the world—not to share them with humanity."

A typical collector, observed Vance. "By the by, Mr. Liang, when did you leave the house yesterday?"

"About half past two," came the low answer.

MOTHER! don't experiment with your Child's Cold

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing," which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—softifies irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Head Of Agriculture Department, Morehead College

4. Moisture in Incubation in Relation to Hatchability
Many authorities have demonstrated that during incubation eggs lose from 10 to 17 percent of their original weight. Not all loss is water as carbon dioxide is given off and oxygen is absorbed in proressive quantities. Eylesmeyer (1907) believed that eggs should not lose more than 13 percent of their original weight during incubation. Dryden (1907), Graham (1908), Lewis and Clark (1913) and others demonstrated that the addition of moisture to the egg chamber in the incubator resulted in increasing hatchability. Palmer and Dykes (1925) secured best hatchability in incubation when the relative humidity was 60 percent.

Atwood (1901), Lamson and Kirkpatrick (1918) and Murray (1925) believe that relative humidity is of greater importance in incubation than absolute humidity. From this one can conclude that humidity is of paramount importance in operating the incubator and directions in supplying it should be followed.

5. Ventilation in Incubation in Relation to Hatchability

It is stated that as the egg proceeds in incubation the amount of carbon dioxide given off increases. The incubator should be in a room properly ventilated in order to supply air to remove the excess carbon dioxide and provide oxygen for yolk absorption. Eylesmeyer (1907) hatched 55.7 percent of the fertile eggs in an incubator given special ventilation and only 44.3 percent of the fertile eggs in an incubator not given any ventilation. Graham (1908) noticed that when lamp fumes were permitted to pass into the incubator, which in turn increased carbon dioxide content, hatchability was adversely affected yet the chicks that did hatch were quite strong. Lamson and Edmondson (1914) found that carbon dioxide 100 parts to 10,000 parts air did not affect hatchability. On the other hand Rogalski (1925) found that excess carbon dioxide in the egg chamber injured the development of the embryo and caused lesions. Atwood and Weakley (1924) in their work recommended that as the hatching process proceeds there should be a corresponding increase in fresh air circulating through the incubator. As the air is increased the humidity and temperature should be closely watched.

6. Frequency Of Turning Eggs During Incubation in Relation to Hatchability

Turning of eggs during incubation prevents the embryos from becoming stuck to the shell membrane and thus becomes necessary. The setting hen turns her eggs many times during the day. In fact, Payne (1921) observed that the hen turned her eggs as frequently as every four days and night. The turning process in instinctive, and is done by the use of the beak and muscular movements of body, legs, and feet.

In artificial incubation, it is not necessary to turn the eggs as many times a day as is done by the hen. Daresse (1885) and Jackson (1912) observed that eggs not turned did not hatch as well as those turned. Daresse noticed that the embryos in the eggs not turned stuck to the shell membrane and development ceased. Daresse (1892) noticed that eggs rotated at the rate of ninety revolutions per minute hatched normally but never beyond the stage at which the allentosis appeared. Hanna (1920) turned eggs twice daily from the first to the nineteenth day and found this to give much better results than when the eggs were not turned. Lamson and Kirkpatrick (1918) noticed quite an improvement in hatchability of eggs turned five times daily over those turned twice daily. The twice per day turning gave a hatch of 55.4 percent as compared with 61.1 percent for the five times per day. Payne (1921) carried out a similar experiment except that he turned the eggs four to six times per day and found these turnings gave a higher percent hatch than any of the less number of turnings. Bourges (1925) corroborated the work of others in finding that turning eggs twice daily was much better than not turning them at all. Chattock (1925) turned eggs two to five times daily and concludes that the increased number of turnings gave from 6 to 10 percent higher hatch over less turnings. Martin and Insko (1933) working at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station studied the effect of frequent turning on the distribution of embryo mortality and hatchability in the hen egg. When eggs were set in a forced draft incubator there was a direct relationship between the number of times the eggs were turned and the hatchability of the eggs. When eggs were set in a sectional type incubator or in every case the per cent hatch of total eggs set and fertile eggs set was greater when the eggs were turned four times than when two times. They also found that there was a decided tendency toward the decrease of embryo mortality during the first three days of incubation as the number of turnings increased. Frequent turnings seemed to have little or no effect upon mortality from the 4th to the 18th days of incubation. During the remainder of the incubation period there was a slight reduction in mortality as the number of turnings increased. The increased turnings tended to lower the percentage of malpositions in the developing chicks.

In summing up the work, it might be said that higher hatchability in eggs might be had if they are turned at least four times a day from the first to the nineteenth day of the incubation period. It is best to turn them early of morning and late at night as to lessen the time between the night and morning period. Most incubators are equipped with turning devices now which facilitates the turning of the egg and does the work efficiently.

The Household Corner

Culinary Jingles

Fit to Dad is sheer delight. To Junior, just a stomach-ache. Why not please them both tonight with Daddy home-made omelet?

Delicious Desserts.
Desserts for the family should be ones that every member of the household can enjoy. Such a dessert is made from sponge cake, for this is a kind that is allowed even to the little youngsters.

Some women shun the baking of sponge cake because their experience with it at home has not been satisfactory. Possibly one recipe did not seem to have enough leavening with a resulting heaviness, and maybe another time it was tough because of the use of the wrong kind of flour. Sponge cake requires a delicate touch, and it requires not only leavening from the air, beaten into the egg whites, but from gas supplied by leavening to insure perfection.

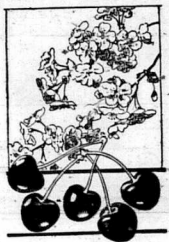

Self-rising flour meets both of these needs, because it is a soft wheat flour combined by the miller with just the correct amount of a neutral leavening agent, made of soda, and mono-calcium phosphate.

The following recipe served with crushed fresh fruit, and a garnish of whipped cream, gives a party air to the pleasant of dinner.

Sponge Cake.
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/4 cup egg sugar
1/4 cup boiling wa-
1 1/2 tsp lemon extract
1/2 cup grated lemon rind
1/2 cup self-rising flour
1/2 cup milk

Beat egg yolks until thick, add 1/4 cup sugar, then boiling water, leavening and remaining sugar. Beat until sugar is dissolved. Add flour and lastly fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a floured deep pan and bake about 50 minutes at 325° F. Turn on upside down, after baking, and do not try to remove cake from pan until cool.

Red Cherry Tomatoes
Strap from a No. 2 can pitted red cherries into same pan, add the cherries in quarters and scrubbed cup sugar. Boil gently until very thick, add a little grated orange peel and cook. Roll paper into 4-inch rounds, and put a large spoonful of cherry mixture on half of each round. Roll up, then with cold water, fold over and pinch edges firmly together. Bake twenty to twenty-five minutes in a hot oven. This makes eight turnovers.

Our National Tree

WHY haven't we a national tree? Many flowers that grow on trees are used as State symbols. Arkansas and Michigan swear by the apple blossom, Delaware the peach blossom, Florida the orange blossom and Virginia the dogwood. What's the matter with the cherry blossom for our national flower, and the cherry tree associated with George Washington for our national tree?

And we can do more than make this our national tree. We can also eat the fruits of it. Perhaps there aren't any cherry trees where you live, but there are cherries in many everywhere. Try some of the following recipes, and you'll quickly become an enthusiastic advocate of this plant.

Recipes to Make Converts
Orange and Cherry Shells? Cut two large California oranges in halves and remove pulp carefully so shells remain in perfect shape. Discard all pulp and white fibre from oranges, and sweeten slightly if necessary. Return orange and juice to shells. Remove pits from a cup of canned black cherries, and mix in halves or quarters. Spread these over the orange in the shells so that only the black cherries show. This is an excellent breakfast dish that serves four. Be sure to have it well chilled.

Training School Draws Ticket To Regional Go; Hooks Denton In First

Soldier Draws Grayson, Morehead High, Hitchins; Haldeman Gets Grayn

Morehead Training School drew a free ticket to the Regional tournament in the 54th District drawing held at Olive Hill on Sunday of this week. They play Denton Thursday night, the opening night of the tournament at Olive Hill, February 28. In their second game they meet the winners of the Morehead High School-Hitchins contest and the hope gives them a straight shot to the finals. The winner of the tournament and the runners up both go to the tournament, it is practically assured that they will participate in the regional to be held here the following week.

Other games in the district are as follows: Sandy Hook meets Olive Hill Thursday evening; Haldeman meets Grayson and Soldier meet Grayson. The latter two games will be played Friday night.

The winner of the Haldeman-Grayson and Soldier-Grayson games meet on the date that will play Olive Hill in the semi-finals of the bracket.

The winner at the semi-finals will meet the winner of the upper bracket in the finals to determine the tournament winners.

Officials for the meet were selected from the referees committee: Bill Hickey, of Lexington and C. B. McCullough of Morehead, Ky., Mr. Hickey, however, had already contracted a tournament at Georgetown, so the next choice will go to Paul Jenkins of Oakland, who will probably be the other referee.

In another column of this page will be found the bracket of the drawing for the district tournament. The tournament will be one of the outstanding district tournaments of the state, with some excellent teams represented. Judging from here it looks like a four way fight for tournament honors with Soldier, Grayson, Olive Hill and Morehead Training School in the running. Morehead Training has a pass to the regional which they win the district or not, and their opposition is probably the weakest in the tournament. Of course that could be upset but it is not likely. On the other hand the other three strong teams are grouped in one bracket and must meet each other before they get a chance at Morehead Training. Roy Holbrook's team can coast through their first two games and have plenty of reserve left for their final battle.

The two feature games of the tournament outside of the finals will be the Soldier-Grayson contest and the Olive Hill game with the winner, Soldier, coached by Alvie Holbrook and Grayson coached by Frenchy Demoisie are outstanding teams that should be a high light of the tourney.

Morehead will be represented by two tickets so that whichever wins they will undoubtedly be represented in the finals of the tournament on Saturday night, March 2.

Basket Ball Menu For Coming Week

A meagre menu of basketball will be dished up for the local fans this week with only two games scheduled on the local courts, Breckinridge Training School met Olive Hill on Tuesday night. Tuesday night is a game that is already history. Last night the University of Louisville played a return game with the Eagles on the local college court.

Friday the Eagles meet the Maroons of Eastern State Teachers College at Eastern in a game which should be tense with thrills, as the Easterners try to avenge their one and only defeat at the hands of the Eagles in their last contest. It will be remembered that in the seven years that the Eagles have been playing basketball they have defeated Eastern but once, that in their last game played here, when they swamped the Maroon 44-20 in an early first quarter. The Maroons have not had since taken a side and are near the bottom of the heap.

However, when these two teams meet, regardless of hope, there is always a chance for the underdog. Eastern is by no means in that class, since their season's record is better than that of the Eagles but the grade battle they are certain to be out to do or die.

The Eagles, on the other hand, will undoubtedly be on edge to repeat their victory of last week. This contest should be a real one from the first whistle.

Breckinridge will have a go with the Western State Teachers College Training School team on Friday night of this week. It will be the longest trip the Eagles take when the Western boys this year. On Saturday night they will play Everett Coeanauger's Burgin High team at Burgin in a return game. Burgin defeated the Eagles here by a small margin in previous encounters.

Morehead High School goes up against their stiffest opposition this week when they have three games scheduled. They met Soldier Monday night at Soldier, and are scheduled to entertain Hitchins here tonight if the game is not postponed. On Saturday night they are hosts to Olive Hill. The Comets hold a one game decision over the Vikings which they gained in the last minute of play at Olive Hill. It is possible the Kings may show their fight and carry off the honors.

Edged out Morehead "Vikings" 22 to 15, and the Soldier "Independents" trimmed the "Alumni" 29 to 13. In the first game Caudill was star for the "Vikings". In the second game, Riddle was a consistent scorer for Soldier.

The Eagles lost to the Maroons 44-20 in an early first quarter. The Maroons have not had since taken a side and are near the bottom of the heap.

SPORTS ENLARGES

What has become of the stove league headed by Cave Man Rice? Last fall the Stove League was organized and promised to survive and revive baseball throughout the winter, so that it would be ready to pick and spread the alarm as soon as spring opened up. However it is not late and as soon as the basketball tournaments and clubs are out of the way there is little doubt but that baseball will begin to revive. It is not dead, but probably only taking a much needed rest.

And speaking of tournaments, beginning next week the basketball tournament season will be inaugurated with the K. I. A. C. tournament in Bowling Green under the auspices of the Western State Teachers College. Due to the fact that it is such a distance and so inconvenient to reach it is not likely that a great many fans will accompany the team to Bowling Green. However the fans will all be hoping that the team will strut their stuff and hit a hot streak and so please, preferably to the S. L. A. A. tournament the following week. If they are hot they can't be beat, but if they are off, well, it'll be just too bad for Morehead.

Roy Holbrook must have covered himself with horse shoes before he started for Olive Hill last Sunday. Judging by the result of the drawing for place, Roy rubbed his rabbit's foot and reached in the hat to draw out the weakest team in the entire tournament, according to the dope.

Denton is a small school and is handicapped in other ways. He also landed in the first bracket, along with Hitchins and Morehead High which is suffering an off year and are not rated as contenders in the least. His team is expected to coast through two practice games and be ready to try their wind up to take on the winded winners of the other bracket who have some real battles in front of them.

One of the high lights of the drawing in the district tournament was the feature of both Frenchy Demoisie and Alvie Holbrook when they saw the result of the drawing. Austin Riddle wasn't worried. He just drew as did Larry Praley. Olive Hill drew the softest berth possible in that bracket. But Demoisie and Alvie, gasped. They are both afraid of each other and just before the game it would hardly be safe to say who will be either of them. They drew real assignments.

There is no doubt in the minds of any one that Morehead is the center of sports in Eastern Kentucky. Last fall football teams kept the gridiron hot with their games. During the present basketball season four basketball teams have completely filled the schedule without leaving time for any other amusements. In addition the advent of the CCC has brought boxing to the fore. Taken all in all Morehead has sports and more of them than any other town of its size in Kentucky, or we believe in the United States.

EAGLES RALLY IN LAST STAGE TO EVEN SERIES WITH BEREANS

As the thunderous roars of a capacity crowd shook the gymnasium to its foundation, the Morehead Eagles fought the Berea Mountaineers off their feet throughout the last half of an exciting game here, last Wednesday, to overcome a six point lead and down the visiting team, 31 to 28. Committing numerous fouls in a vain effort to stem the Berea fast-break attack the Eagles allowed the Mountaineers, by capitalizing on their many free throw chances, to forge out in front, 19 to 13, at the half. After the second half by sheer fight over the Eagles cut down on Berea's lead and finally won out in a thrilling, stubbornly contested finish.

With Berea's zone defense slowing up its passing attack, Morehead resorted to long shots and Shuey brought first blood for the Eagles by sinking a long one from the center marker. Both teams tightened their defenses at the post and Berea gradually drew away by virtue of its greater accuracy in sinking gratis tosses, to lead at the half, 19 to 13. The Eagles returned to the fray after the intermission, shaking their eyes and cut away at Berea's lead until with five minutes of play left they captured the lead themselves at, 28 to 27. In the last five, thrill-packed minutes the Eagles scored three points and held the Mountaineers to one free throw to win, 31 to 28.

The Eagles connected with 13 field goals and five out of twelve free tries. Berea sank eight field goals and twelve out of fifteen gratis shots.

Rossin was high point man for Morehead with 8 points, scoring chiefly on "follow-ups" under the basket. He also played a good floor game as he stopped Berea's fast-break time and again by his unceasing interception of passes. Percy Caudill and Doc Adams both played good games for the Eagles to garner seven points each. Ryan and Shuey turned in sterling performances, at the guard berths as they held Berea's All-S. I. A. A. forward Campbell to eight points. Oxley played a good floor game for the Eagles. Campbell and Dennis were best for Berea with eight and nine points respectively.

In a preliminary contest the Morehead Fresh downed the Clearfield C. C. Camp team, 29 to 6. Carter blazed the way for the Eagles by scoring 12 points, all in the first half.

BOXING CONTEST DRAWS CROWD

An exhibition of a comparatively new sport to Morehead fans was held at Morehead High School gym on Saturday night of last week, when the boxing teams of the Clearfield and Frenchburg CCC camps met in four four round exhibitions. A fair crowd turned out to witness the bouts and the basketball game which followed, between the CCC teams.

Andrews 135 pounds, won a decision over his opponent, of Frenchburg in the first bout. The bout was a lack and the result was never in doubt.

In the second go of four rounds, Weightman of Clearfield lost to his opponent.

Lockard 155 pounds and Crenson 145 pounds succeeded in getting draw decisions in their battles.

The exhibition proved to be very successful from the viewpoint of interest developed and it is likely that other contests will be arranged under the same auspices. The entire funds were donated to the benefit of the Morehead High School athletic fund.

Wesleyan Turns Eagle Attack To Take Game 32-15; Eagles Weaken

Training School Loses To Russell

To the complete surprise of the Russell fans, the Morehead Training School which had received considerable advance publicity for their reputed "dirty" tactics following their game with Russell here the previous week, demonstrated that they do not play that kind of basket ball, and although they took a 16-31 beating at the hands of the Russell Red Devils on their own court, came off with a moral victory that was worth more to them than an actual win.

So true was this that following the game, members of Russell citizens, including members of the city council crowded into the dressing room of the Morehead team and congratulated them on the clean exhibition of basketball they had put on. At the same time they looked at the score book and learned that six men were not put out in the game here, as was stated in a paper.

The game was decidedly one sided as far as the scoring was concerned. With the Red Devils leading all the way, however the Morehead team enjoyed a good evening of fun, even though they did not score. Nobody was hurt and the boys came home with a much more friendly feeling among the Russell fans.

Defense Crumbles As Panthers Half Draws to Close; Panthers Pile Up Points

The Eagles took their usual drop after a win from Berea last week, when they met Wesleyan College at Winchester on Saturday night with the final result 32-15 in favor of Wesleyan. The Eagles were sluggish in all departments and the last few minutes of the first half saw the Panthers pile up an 18 to 5 lead, after the Morehead five held grimly to a precarious 5 to 3 lead during the greater part of the first half.

The Morehead Freshmen, however redeemed a part of the evening for the Morehead fans, by tripping the little Panthers 37-29. Carter proved to be a wheel horse in the offense and defense of Morehead yearlings.

Wesleyan jumped into a three point lead with a free throw and a field goal in the first two minutes of play. The Morehead defense tightened and held their scoresless while the Eagles were tallying five points on two field goals and a free throw. The action ceased for several minutes while the defense of both teams checked. For the next several minutes not a point was scored on either side.

As the half drew to a close, Wesleyan's center flipped in a crisp shot and the Morehead defense crumbled. In two minutes three centers, on the half, the Freshmen tossed in four field goals and five free tosses to run their score up to 18-5 as the whistle rang.

The second half was like a pantomime. The first, the Wesleyan Panthers got the Eagles goat and kept it. They practically scored at will. Coach Downing substituted freely to get a combination on the floor, but the boys just didn't click. It was an off night for the Eagles and when they have an off night, it is clear off the reservation.

The Eagles tossed in three tight goals and made good on six free pitches out of twelve, to run their score up to 15 for the evening.

Dean Vaughan Speaks At Chapel

"The best study of teaching is a study of the teacher," stated Dean W. H. Vaughan in his convocation address, Friday morning. "Pick out some great teacher, study their methods and follow them," he advised those students who wish to become successful instructors.

As an illustration of the study of a great teacher, Dean Vaughan discussed the fine points of the art of teaching he discovered in a study of one of his undergraduate teachers whom he considered great. He told of returning to one of the classes of this teacher ten years after he had graduated and how he analyzed this teacher's methods.

Under the teacher's good points he listed his explanatory assignments, the fact that he taught his lesson from the assignment, his knowledge of the subject under discussion, his method of determining whether the student studied or not and his personality. As bad points he listed the use of sarcasm, scoffing at modern ideas and the repetition of student's questions.

'Little Minister' Is College Attraction

Friday and Saturday, February 15th and 16th will be red letter days in the College Theatres, as they bring to the screen the one and only Katharine Hepburn in her latest photoplay, the "Little Minister."

This Sir James Barrie classic of the love a gypsy girl for the minister of the little Scottish town is really brought to life before your very eyes on the screen.

Will Rogers in a Travelogue, the Fox News, and some Negro spirituals make up the short subject attraction.

The Sunday afternoon and Monday evening show will again bring you the now famous dance team of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.

The customary procedure is to record one side at a time, no cues, matching them later. The new system, according to Van Dyke who discovered it, has the advantage of realism.
