Government Finance

As the representatives of a free and civilized people, you have again assembled to devote your time and talents to the best interests of the people of the welfare and happiness of our common country.

The history of the last few years affords a striking illustration of the vicissitudes of life, and of the instability of human affairs, and for the same reasons of our dependence on the benevolence of our neighbors and the influence of our neighbors on our own destinies.

I regret to be compelled to inform you, for the year ending the 10th of October last, have exceeded the revenue collected and paid into the Treasury.

The Treasury, in virtue of the joint resolution passed at the extra session of the General Assembly, has been authorized to draw on the Bank in this place on three thousand dollars, to meet the current charges on the Treasury.

The receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year ending the 10th of October, and an estimate of those for the next year, will be laid before you by the Auditor.

In the message of my distinguished predecessor, Lieutenant Governor (Gov. Wickliffe), the attention of the Legislature is called to the fact that the subject of the correspondence between him and the Auditor of Public Accounts was submitted as a part of the message.

The Auditor of Public Accounts has submitted to me a report on the correspondence between him and the Auditor of Public Accounts, which has been read and approved by the Senate.

The Auditor of Public Accounts has submitted to me a report on the correspondence between him and the Auditor of Public Accounts, which has been read and approved by the Senate.

The work is being constructed of excellent materials, and in a manner substantial and calculated to afford the greatest security and will be greatly improved.

As requested by the Executive of the Virginia, I have before you the accompanying copy of a report and statement of the public debt, for which bonds have been executed.

The gentlemen employed by the Bank of Kentucky to separate the fraudulent from the genuine stock, has been for some months industriously engaged, and have certainly informed me, and have no doubt, and escaped many of the calamities that usually follow the disorganization of the currency.

The law authorizing the organization of the Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, directs that an annual report of the proceedings of the Board shall be made to the Legislature, accompanied by a statement of the amount of the Fund as may be deemed expedient.

The Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, in their report of the 10th of October last, have submitted to me a report on the correspondence between him and the Auditor of Public Accounts.

The Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, in their report of the 10th of October last, have submitted to me a report on the correspondence between him and the Auditor of Public Accounts.

The Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, in their report of the 10th of October last, have submitted to me a report on the correspondence between him and the Auditor of Public Accounts.

And I feel the profound gratification in expressing the most confident assurance, that the Legislature of this State, in authorizing the measures which may be deemed necessary to maintain the integrity of the credit, and good faith of the Commonwealth, has shown the most judicious consideration of justice to our creditors and to ourselves, and I may add, is expected by our constituents.

The Bank of Kentucky, by the issue of its ordinary promissory notes, has been enabled to advance the operations of the State, and to meet the ordinary expenses of the State, and to meet the ordinary expenses of the State, and to meet the ordinary expenses of the State.

Country of Spain

As the representative of a free and enlightened people, you have assembled to devote your time and talents in devising the best means of increasing the happiness of our common country.

I regret to be compelled to inform you that the expenses of the Government for the year ending the 31st of December 1833, have exceeded the revenue collected and paid into the Treasury.

The receipt and expenditures for the fiscal year ending the 31st of December 1833, will be laid before you by the Second Auditor. It is estimated by that officer that the amount of the deficit of the expenditures for the year ending the 31st of December 1833, will be about sixteen thousand dollars.

I submit to the Legislature the report of the Second Auditor, and the account of the money which has been collected to defray the ordinary expenses of the Government which are not provided for by the ordinary revenue.

The two hundred and fifty cells, and the enlargement of the prison, are being constructed of excellent materials, and in a manner substantial and calculated to endure for ages.

The political excitements, the country has witnessed, have characterized the times and paralyzed the energies of the whole country, are rapidly passing away, and we are again entering upon a period of repose.

I submit to the Legislature the report of the Second Auditor, and the account of the money which has been collected to defray the ordinary expenses of the Government which are not provided for by the ordinary revenue.

As the representative of a free and enlightened people, you have assembled to devote your time and talents in devising the best means of increasing the happiness of our common country.

And I feel the profound gratification in expressing the most confident assurance, that the Legislature will cordially unite with me in the most judicious and deemed necessary to maintain the integrity, credit, and good faith of the Commonwealth.

In consequence of the fraud practised on the Board of Internal Improvement, that institution has been compelled to make a temporary loan of $1,000,000 to itself, which will leave the sum of two millions seven hundred and eighty three thousand dollars, as the sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds.

Since the organization of the Sinking Fund, in October, 1833, the aggregate receipts from the sale of the public lands, and the interest on the bonds, have amounted to the sum of one million seven hundred and twenty six dollars and eighty cents.

The plan of incurring heavy liabilities for the purpose of carrying out the system of borrowing to be constructed, is a mean of extricating ourselves, is, in my opinion, a dangerous, if not a ruinous policy.
