Morehead is dead. Morehead died at 2:45 o'clock Monday afternoon, in St. Joseph's Hospital in Louisville, when Judge Allie W. Young, the greatest friend of any citizen in Morehead, the greatest benefactor of Eastern Kentucky, the greatest political power in the commonwealth of Kentucky, died.

THE LOWDOWN ON TAXES

It is quite generally agreed that everyone pays taxes in some form or another. The owner of visible property is the hardest hit because he not only pays direct taxes but indirect as well.

Speaking of indirect taxes, the National Investment Transcript gives a summary of some of the methods by which this revenue is derived.

The purchaser of a loaf of bread pays 17 kinds of taxes when he lays down his coin in exchange for "the staff of life," says this periodical.

If he walks home on leaving the store, he is wearing out shoes which are taxed 23 times.

If he rides in an automobile, he is paying 42 different taxes. If he takes a subway or an electric car, the total number of visible taxes which are part of the cost of his fare runs to about 58.

There is not a thing in the world that isn't taxed. The house we live in represents a legion of taxes—running all the way from taxes on standing timber to taxes paid by the store which sold the finishing paint and the manufacturers which produced it.

It is obvious that these indirect taxes—which provide the bulk of governmental revenue—fall more heavily on persons of moderate means than on those with higher incomes. A loaf of bread will last a millionaire as long as it will a laborer—and the tax is the same on the loaf each buys.

TOBACCO AGAIN PROVES STATE'S "MONEY CROP" If anyone doubts that tobacco is Kentucky's "money crop," T. P. Middleton, tobacco inspector for the state department of agriculture, has some figures that should remove all misgiving.

In Middleton's record books are figures showing that from December session started, up to the including January 26, when sales began tapering off, 1,242,672,804 pounds of the golden weed were sold over the floors of the state's warehouses and brought Kentucky farmers $25,501,265.

SMALLEST SALE MARKS WEEK'S TOBACCO CLOSE. The tenth week of sales ended on day with the auction of 55,913 the Maysville tobacco market Friday brought for $6,058.46.

Only one crop offered on the market went above $20 and this was sold by Ed Utter and James Utter, of Bracken county, at an average of $28.95.

Big Feature At The Cozy

In the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "The Band Plays On," which opens Wed. and Thurs. at the Cozy Theatre, a select group of up and coming young screen players go "strictly collegiate" for the theatre public.

The romance is supplied by Robert Young, who has been climbing steadily toward stardom for three years, and Betty Furness, who makes her first appearance as a Metro Goldwyn-Mayer leading lady in "The Band Plays On."

Leo Carrillo, who scored so successfully in "Viva Villa" again gives his delightful Latin accent another airing in the new picture as Angelo, the campus tailor.

ANIMAL HEROES—GUEST TICKETS FOR REAL FEATS OF BRAVERY!

Hundreds of times during the year, dogs save people burning homes, drowning, attacks by hostile strangers, etc. Other species of the animal and bird kingdoms perform equally heroic acts.

If you have a pet—any species or kind—mail in today some real act of courage that it has engaged in to save lives, prevent accidents or disaster of some sort.

For the shortest, as well as the most thrilling accounts, the Daily Star, in cooperation with Russell Theatre, will award one pair of Guest Tickets to each winning narrator.

The picture is "Sequola" (pronounced SEE-QUO-TAH), coming to that theatre for a special week's engagement, Thursday and Friday.

Here is one of the most startling and extraordinary productions to reach the screen—a girl's struggle for existence in a primitive lonely forest, high up in lofty mountains, peopled only by mighty and savage beasts, over whom she exerted a strange, weird influence.

The Admiral Richard E. Byrd fam' Los Angeles to sail for Dunedin, N. Z., to greet her husband, whom she has not seen for more than a year. Friday February 22nd, will bring you a pair of actors whose very names are a trade-mark for comedy Wheeler and Woolsey. In the story of "Kentucky Kernels" we get to see a blue grass feud in full blast, instead of a mountain feud. It has a great many authentic Kentucky bluegrass background scenes. This hilarious and nonsensical comedy is all the funnier because it is so propouderous as to be impossible in a real world. When Wheeler and Woolsey bring Spanky McFarland back to Kentucky as the heir to a bluegrass estate, the fun begins. You will want to see them court a Southern beauty, lap mint juleps, take to cover when they unwittingly receive a feud, and generally wiser-crack their way through some of the best light entertainment that has come to Morehead. There is gay music, rousing dances by Kentucky beauties led by Mary Carlisle, and the merry antics of "Spanky" McFarland of the "Our Gang Comedies."

"Baby At Sea" is a technicolor that features the shorts. "The Nerve of Some Women" features the daring and athletic prowess of women. There is another of the "Dumb Bell" letters; and the excellent Fox News.

At 2:30 p. m. Sunday (and then only) the College Theatre will present Miriam Hopkins, Joel McCrea, Fay Wray, and Reginald Denry in a romantic comedy-drama that is chock full of sentiment. It is called "The Ripest Girl In The World. It is the story of a girl who had every thing that money could buy, but she found out that she couldn't buy love nor a great many other of the most satisfying realities of life.

Graham McNamee will announce the Universal News, Easy Aces of Radio fame will present the most unique travogue yet, to come to the screen, called Phranah Land. There will be another technicolor cartoon called Pastry-Town Wedding and for many persons the high light of the shorts will be another of the technicolor Musical Moods.

The Car Without Experiments. THERE'S never any doubt about value when you buy a Ford car. You know it's all right or Henry Ford wouldn't put it out. One thing that never changes is his policy of dependable transportation at low cost. That's the biggest feature of the new Ford. The reliability and economy of its V-8 engine have been proved on the road by upwards of 1,400,000 motorists. Owner cost records show definitely that the Ford V-8 is the most economical Ford car ever built.

Part Five, Hatchability in Hen Eggs 7. Hatchability in Relation To Temperature

A. Effects Of High Temperatures.
Incubators vary in the proper temperature at which they are operated. The mammoth type is operated at 99 degrees F. while some of the sectional types are run at 102.5 degrees F. The circulation of air seems to be the controlling factor. Each type of incubator should be operated according to the Manufacturer's direction. However, it is interesting to know what is likely to happen if the incubator is operated at different temperatures above what is recommended. The range in temperature above that considered normal at which eggs will incubate or, survive, is much more limited than the range below. There seems to be little opportunity for eggs to become overheated when the eggs are incubated by the hen. The danger is really from underheating. In the machine incubator the danger may be from overheating. Suppose this happens, then, what takes place? Three effects have been noted according to Lippincott (1927), namely, (1) marked speeding up in the rate of development, with an accompanying increase in carbon dioxide output; (2) the production of abnormal embryos in the early stages; and (3) the lowering of the percent of the fertile eggs which are hatched. Dargatz (1891) reported that his results were in accord with many other investigators when he observed that the embryos attained in 24 to 30 hours at a temperature of development corresponding to that of three days at 100.4 to 102.2 degrees F. Dargatz (1891) seems to think that development ceases in the shell after the temperature passes 103 degrees F. Phillips and Brooks (1923) operated incubators at different temperatures and secured results. When the temperature was held between 100 and 103 degrees F. they secured a 72 percent hatch, 17 percent of the chicks were dead in the shell and 11 percent of the germs found were dead. When the incubator was run at a temperature below 100 degrees F. and secured a hatch of 57 percent, 30 percent of the chicks died in the shell, and 13 percent of the eggs had dead germs. This proves that high temperatures may spoil a hatch as well as too low temperatures.

B. Effects of Low Temperature.
Dargatz (1891) reports that high and low temperatures both produce the same classes of abnormalities with one exception. Low temperature may produce doubling of parts.

twining of cerebral hernia and the like. Harvey (1851) noticed that pulsation of heart beats lessened as the temperature became lower and rose as it became higher. Phillips and Brooks (1923) conclude that eggs hatched from 95 to 100 degrees in sectional type incubators do not give as good results as those hatched between 100 and 103 degrees F.

C. Ventilation in Relation To Hatchability.
As the embryo develops during incubation carbon dioxide is given off and oxygen is required in increasing quantities. Jull (1930) mentions that ventilation requirements in the incubator satisfactory for normal developments of the embryo during the first part of the incubation period may not be satisfactory for normal development during the latter part of the incubation period. Eylesmyer (1907) demonstrated clearly that the percent hatchability depends considerably upon the degree of ventilation in the incubator. He secured a hatch of 85.7 percent given special ventilation as compared with 44.3 percent in one given no ventilation. Agins, Graham (1908) found that a hatch of 85.7 percent given special ventilation as compared with 44.3 percent in one given no ventilation. Agins, Graham (1908) found that a hatch of 85.7 percent given special ventilation as compared with 44.3 percent in one given no ventilation.

Atwood (1922) found that by feeding sprouted oats and green feeds to breeding stock, the percent hatchability of the eggs was increased. Buckner, Martin, and Peter (1929) relate that a restriction of green feeds in the diet of confined birds in the winter is one of the causes of low hatchability in the eggs. Kennard and White (1924) state that they have increased the hatchability of the eggs from the Ohio Experiment Station flock from 30 to 40 percent to 50 or 70 percent by allowing the breeding stock to range upon rye or bluegrass pasture during the winter and eliminating close housing.

Martin (1925) points out that when breeding hens receive whole grain and run on well sodded lot (green feed) there is little difference in the hatchability of fertile eggs whether meat scrap or skim-milk is the source of protein. When skim milk was fed in place of dry mash, no apparent effect was noticed on the hatchability of fertile eggs. Martin and Insko (1933) mention that under Kentucky conditions bluegrass range and sunning provide ample supplement to the basal ration to assure high hatchability.

Stewart (1929) points out that alfalfa leaf meal and alfalfa tended to improve hatchability of the eggs laid by birds given these feeds as compared with birds not receiving them. Heggan (1933) found that alfalfa leaf meal produced a much greater percentage of hatchable eggs than the group that received similar amounts of alfalfa meal. He also found that alfalfa leaf meal in amounts sufficient to maintain life, and fresh alfalfa were superior to cod-liver oil for egg production.

Byerly, Titus, and Ellis (1931) mention that there is a positive and significant correlation between hatchability of an egg influenced by a constant supply of protein in the diet and intensity of production. Hens that are able to lay at a high rate on a particular diet will, in general, produce a higher percentage of hatchable eggs than those able to lay only at a low rate on the same diet.

Berry (1930) at the Mexico Experiment Station states that cottonseeds lowered the hatchability of the eggs.

Farmers Of Rowan Approve Contract

Rowan County Corn-Hog producers are expressing their approval of changes made in the new corn-hog adjustment contract. The contract is designed to prevent a large expansion of either corn or hogs in 1935. The new contract does not limit the number of acres a farmer may plant of other crops or the number of hogs he may buy as it did in the 1934 contract.

Meetings to explain in detail the terms of the contract are now being held by the County Agent, Chas. L. Goff. A meeting was held at Farmers Saturday, February 16th. Meetings will be held in the following communities this week: Cogwell, Cranston, Bluebank and Elliottville.

Farmers who expect to sign corn-hog contracts should do so without delay. It is often necessary to spend considerable time in obtaining required sales evidence for hogs sold during the base years, which are 1933 and 1933. It is planned to handle the County's contracts in much less time than was required in 1934. The County Agent's office is open every day and corn-hog contracts may be signed there any time during the next few weeks.

The Household Corner

Whole Grain Corn

WHOLE grain canned corn has come into its own. Dietitians have devised many dishes to contain corn in this delicious form, and housewives are adding a page to the vegetable section of their personal books of pot recipes. Here are a few:

Corn Fritters: Chop the contents of a 10-ounce can whole kernel Yellow Mountain corn or put them through a food chopper. Add two well-beaten eggs and one-fourth cup milk. Add two-thirds cup flour, one teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon baking powder. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat of a dripping in a skillet, and brown on both sides. Makes sixteen fritters.

Corn and Pea Kernels on Toast: Make a sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one and a half cups milk and one cup grated cheese. Drain one cup of whole kernel corn and the contents of an 11-ounce can peas, and sauté a few minutes in two tablespoons butter. Season to taste with salt and pepper and serve on toast. Serves six to eight.

Symposium for Salads

Corn Salad: Marinate the contents of three 12-ounce cans whole kernel corn and one and a half cups grated or finely-chopped raw carrots in one cup French dressing for an hour or so in refrigerator. Add one cup shredded ripe olives, and serve in a nest of lettuce. Serves twenty-four.

Corn and Pepper Salad: Drain the contents of a No. 2 can whole kernel corn peas, and sauté a few minutes in two tablespoons butter. Season with salt and pepper, and marinate in 3 line-fourth cup French dressing in refrigerator until very cold. Serve on lettuce leaves. Serves six.

Eagles Lose To Richmond

In a hard fought contest, featured by the stubborn defensive work of both teams, the Morehead Eagles were noosed out in their final game of the season by the Eastern Maroons, 22 to 18, at Richmond, last Friday. This game was also Eastern's last encounter this season and probably the last encounter they will ever participate in under the direction of Coach Charles "Turkey" Hughes whose resignation will go into effect at the end of this basketball season. In previous meetings, Morehead swamped the Maroons 44 to 20 so their clash in the K. I. A. C. tournament at Bowling Green, Friday, February 22, will be the "rubber" game of this season's series between the two teams.

The game last Friday was close throughout with Eastern, a Percy Hinkle, Fullerkson and Hal Rossop spruited to a four point lead in the opening minutes and although hard pressed held it at the half in half the two teams fought on even when they tied 12 to 8. In the second half each team scored 10 points to leave the final score 22 to 18.

Percy Caudill and John Shuey were best offensively for the Eagles with 6 and 5 points respectively, brilliant defensive performance by the entire Eagle team pulled in a hold the Maroons to 22 points but could not rally enough offensive power to win. Fullerkson, former Morehead student and a powerful center on the Maroon quintet was best for Eastern as he turned in a smooth floor game and garnered 4 points. Hale, Hinkle and Settle also scored four points for the Maroons.

In a preliminary contest the Morehead freshmen Eagles, minus the services of their great center, "Carbide" Carter, were no match for the powerful Baby Maroons and dropped a lopsided game, 41 to 11. Carter who is confined to his bed with pneumonia is the key man of the Eagles offensive and with him out, it was not powerful enough to penetrate the stubborn defense of the Eastern yearlings. This was the Morehead frosh's second loss this season. They bring their season to a close with a game with the University of Kentucky Kitchens this week.

The line-up: (1) Morehead (18) Adams (22) Eastern Adams (18) F (2) Hinkle Parsley (3) F (4) Settle R. Caudill (6) C (4) Fullerkson Ryan (2) G (3) (1) Young Shuey (5) G (3) (4) Hale Substitutions: Morehead - Rossin (2), Oxley, Eastern - Settle (4), DeMoisey 2.

Eagle Squad Prepared To Defeat Traditional Enemy In K. I. A. C. Tournament At Bowling Green Next Friday

The Eagle Team which plays Eastern in the second round of the K. I. A. C. tournament at Bowling Green, Friday, is composed of players from all over Eastern Kentucky with one man coming from southern Indiana. Carr Creek, Mayville, Ashland, Olive Hill, Hazel Green, Columbia and Delphi Indians have done a one man apiece.

J. B. Parsley, forward is 20 years old, six feet tall weighs 163 pounds. He played four years high school football and basketball. He was all-state team one year. He was a member of the strong freshmen outfit of last season.

Roy "Doc" Adams, Eagle guard, comes to us from Olive Hill where he played four years high school football and basketball. He was all-time Eight guard two years. He stands 5 feet eleven inches, weighs 180 pounds and is 22 years of age.

Tommy Ryan hails from Mayville where he played three years for the Mayville Bull-Dogs. He is 21 years of age, weighs 145 pounds and is 5 feet eleven inches tall. He played freshman ball here in '33 and varsity ball last year. This is his junior year.

Walter Rouschi is another Mayville product playing basketball as an Eagle. He played basketball and football on the Mayville Bull-Dog team.

Willard "Sprout" Johnson, a member of the Carr Creek clan of basketballers, is playing his fourth year on an Eagle team. In high school he was a member of the famous Carr Creek "Wonder team", state finalists a few years ago.

Lus Oxley comes to Morehead from Ashland where he played basketball on the nationally known "Tom Cats". This is Oxley's fourth year as a star on an Eagle basketball squad. In former years he was best known as a member of the famous Combs-Oxley combination.

Wade Hall who joined the Eagle team between semesters hails from McDowell, Kentucky. He played high school basketball at McDowell, Knott county and Berea Academy. He played freshman ball here last year. He stands five feet eleven, weighs 154 and is 21 years of age.

John Francis comes to the Eagles from Carr Creek. He is another veteran as he is playing his fourth year on an Eagle team. He and Johnson were team mates at Carr Creek.

Regional sites for the state have been selected as follows: Reiland, City, Western State Teachers College at Bowling Green, Sonora, Bedford, Horse Cave, Stanford, Dayton, Eastern State Teachers College at Richmond, Union College at Barlowville, Paris, Hazard, and Morehead State Teachers College.

Teams to play in the 55th, District Tournament at Olive Hill are: Prichard High of Grayson, Olive Hill, Haldeman, Morehead, Breckinridge Training School, Denton, Grann, Soldier, and Sandy Hook, Grayson, Olive Hill and Soldier are the outstanding teams in the tournament with Grayson, coached by "Frenchy" De Moisey, the favorite to cop the district crown.

Training School Loses Two Games
The Breckinridge Training School basketball team lost both games of their invasion of Western Kentucky last week; to Western State Teachers College training school 33 to 12 and to Burgin high 32 to 38.

Against the Western training school team Breckinridge was clearly outclassed as they received their worst beating of the recent season. In the Burgin encounter they showed to a greater advantage but accuracy in sinking numerous foul chances permitted Burgin to win. In this contest Burgin connected with 18 out of 27 free throws and 10 field goals while Breck was sinking 4 out of 15 gratis shots and 14 field goals, Johnson and Davis were outstanding for Breckinridge in both games.

Breckinridge meets Soldier here, Thursday, in the first game of their last home stand before meeting Denton high school in the district tournament at Olive Hill, Friday, March 1.

Eagle Netters Name All-Oppon't Team

Campbell, Berea Forward, Is Unanimous Choice Of Morehead Squad

The Eagles basketball squad chose two men from Berea, two from Louisville and one from Wesleyan to make up their mythical all-opponent basketball team, Campbell, Berea forward, and Wright, Berea center were the unanimous choices for their respective posts while Long, Louisville forward received three out of four votes for his berth. Shelton of Wesleyan and Threlkeld of Louisville each received two votes out of a possible four.

Percy Caudill, Eagle center, chose the all-opponent center, Lus Oxley, J. B. Parsley, Fred Caudill and John Rossin. Eagle forwards chose the guards, and John Shuey, Willard Johnson, Roy Adams and Tommy Ryan chose the forwards. Caudill named Wright of Berea and Masterson of Louisville respectively as his first and second choice for the center post, Parsley chose Shelton of Wesleyan and Threlkeld of Louisville to fill the guard berths, while Rossin chose Clark of Georgetown and Shelton of Wesleyan, Oxley named Turner of Georgetown and Roberts of Berea and Fred Caudill chose Threlkeld of Louisville and Inorde of Louisville. Adams and Shuey chose Campbell of Berea and Long of Louisville for forwards, while Ryan named Campbell of Berea and Hinkle of Eastern.

In the two games Campbell played against the Eagles this season, he garnered 26 points. Long scored 8 points in Louisville's first game against Morehead and Threlkeld ran up 6 points in the same game. Shelton scored 17 points and Wright 13 in two games against the Eagles.

Cardinals Lead 19 To 17 At Half But Eagles Pull Ahead After Rest

After a shaky start the Morehead Eagles, bolstered by three substitutes, rallied their forces to overcome a nine point lead, and submerge the Louisville Cardinals, 40 to 32 in a mild upset, here, last Wednesday. When his starting quintet failed to click effectively during the early minutes of the game, Coach sent in Ryan, Rossin, and Adams and this trio took the entire offensive burden on their shoulders to score a total of 33 points, one more than the entire Louisville team. In a previous meeting, Louisville defeated the Eagles, 34 to 28.

Masterson opened the scoring with a crisp and then a few seconds later scored a foul to put Louisville in the lead 3 to 0.

Percy Caudill scored a pivot shot for Morehead's first score. Louisville, paced by Long and Masterson, began connecting on one handed shots and after five minutes of play led 10 to 5. At this point Ryan Rossin and Adams were inserted into Morehead's lineup and the Eagles led to cut down on Louisville's lead until at the half the Cardinals led by only 19 to 17. At the beginning of the second half the Eagles went into a 24 to 20 lead. Louisville rallied at this time to recapture the lead at 27 to 25 with nine minutes to play. At this point the Eagles with Rossin, Adams and Wright heartened by their impressive 10 to 32 victory over Louisville Wednesday night, the Morehead Eagles will begin Monday, a week of intensive preparation for the K. I. A. C. tournament at Bowling Green, February 21 to 22 and 23. Coach Downing announced last Friday that the squad will leave Thursday for Bowling Green and play their first game, Friday at 4:30 p. m. The Eagles 1934 semifinalists, drew a bye in the first round but received a tough assignment in the quarter finals in the strong Eastern quintette which they meet Thursday at 4:30 p. m.

The Western Hilltoppers will seek their third straight K. I. A. C. title and are favored to repeat, Western drew Berea in the first round and is favored to win since it holds two victories over the Mountaineers this season. The winners of the Berea-Western tilt will meet the winners of the Union-Georgetown game and the winners of these two games will meet the winner of the Morehead-Eastern go in the semi-finals.

In the lower bracket, Transylvania and Louisville drew byes and will meet in the second round. Transylvania has defeated the Cardinals twice this season, once by a one point margin and again by six points.

Center's strong sophomore crew drew a bye in the first round but will meet the winner of the Wesleyan-Murray contest in the second round. Murray is favored to represent the lower bracket in the final, however, Centre has an excellent chance to pull through.

According to pre-tournament dope, Western, Murray and Centre rank as prime favorites, with Morehead, Georgetown and Wesleyan as possible dark horses.

Ryan blazing the way, shot into the lead and pulled away to win 40 to 32.

Morehead sank 15 field goals and 10 out of 17 foul tries, Louisville connected with 10 field goals and 12 foul tries. The game was tough throughout, with Shuey and Ryan, Eagle players, leaving the game on personals. Masterson, Louisville center, was also ejected on four fouls.

Ryan, Rossin and Adams were the offensive high-light of the game with 12, 11 and 10 points respectively for a grand total of 33 points. This trio aided by Parsley and Shuey also turned in one of the most brilliant defensive performances of the season as they held the high scoring Louisville team to 22 points after they entered the game early in the first half. For Louisville, Long and Masterson were the whole show as they garnered 14 and 6 points respectively.

In a preliminary game the "Fats" pounded the "Lean" into submission by 17 to 16 in a jolly, (nothing barred) the strange hold) free for all. The high-light of this game was Jarrel Vinson's scintillating, triple omsersault.

The line-up: Morehead (40) (32) Louisville Parsley (2) F (14) Long Oxley (11) F (3) Doll R. Caudill (2) C (6) Masterson Johnson (3) G (2) Inorde Shuey (3) G (3) Threlkeld Substitutions: Morehead - Ryan, 12, Adams 10, Rossin 11, Francis F. Caudill, Louisville - Wedking

Men's Club Banquet Sons

The annual Fisher and Son Banquet of the Morehead Men's Club, took place Monday night in the basement of the Methodist Church.

Fifty persons sat down to the splendid chicken dinner served by the ladies of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church. After the meal Dr. J. G. Black, president of the Morehead Men's Club introduced T. F. Hogge as toastmaster for the evening. He, in turn, presented Roy, B. H. Kaeze who led the group in informal singing.

Prof. M. E. George, Scoutmaster of the Morehead Boy Scout Troop was next presented. Professor George was given a raising vote of thanks and appreciation for his generous and painstaking work as scoutmaster. He then rehearsed the official requirements and activities of scouting, mentioning that the scout movements, twenty-five years old this month, extends to forty seven different countries and numbers over a million members.

Dr. A. W. Adkins then reviewed the history of Troop 76, the Morehead Scout Patrol, paying tribute into C. E. Jennings who organized the troop fifteen years ago; to May, A. R. Perkins who carried on the work while he was a pastor in Morehead; and to Professor George the present scoutmaster.

The college brass quartet, consisting of J. M. Marshall, B. C. Guth,

Jean Thomas has become recognized as a scholarly authority on the mountain ballad type of music, and all of the historical lore that goes with it. Miss Thomas and a group of her outstanding performers will present a program of outstanding music of this type in the College Auditorium at Morehead on Saturday evening of this week. Everyone in the city and county who can do so should attend this performance.

In addition to the actual production of genuine mountain music, Miss Thomas will show a moving picture of her annual mountain music festival that is held annually in her cabin near Ashland, Ky. This will be a rare treat for any person who has not had the privilege to attend one of these festivals in person.

The College Theatre will help to round out a full evening of entertainment by showing one of its regular feature attractions. The admission for the entire program is $1.00.

The College is glad to cooperate with Miss Thomas in bringing to what she considers her "home" people the cream of her work in the musical productions of this section of the county.

Miss Allen Receives Injury Again In Fall

Miss Thelma Allen who has so far recovered from the injury to her knee, suffered in an automobile wreck last spring, has been able to be out on crutches, but suffered a serious strain to her injury last week when she slipped and fell on the porch at her home here.

While no permanent damage was done, Miss Allen is again confined to her bed for a period of three weeks.

W. S. Woodmansee and Paul Young, played two numbers. At the conclusion of this group the party assembled stood bowed heads while a bugler blew "taps" as a tribute to Senator A. W. Young the announcement of whose death had come during the afternoon.

E. V. Hollis, Jr., highest ranking scout of the Morehead troop next made a splendid talk on "What Scouting Has Taught Me".

After which three new members were formally inducted into the troop. These new members are Billy Black, Buddy Judd and Orville Redwine who were presented with the scout insignia by Dr. J. C. Black, president of the Men's Club and Chairman of the local scout committee. Dr. Black concluded the ceremonies by presenting to the troop a sum of money which the club has started to assemble to furnish equipment for the scout club room. Contributors consisted of members of the club and other interested citizens. A canvass of the business and professional men of the town is to be undertaken in order to gain a sum sufficient to further furnish and equip the scout headquarters.

The occasion was concluded approximately with the singing of "America" by the entire group. Mr. Robert S. Bishop and Prof. L. H. Horton have been appointed a committee for further solicitation of funds for for the scout troop.

Revellers To Stage Play Wednesday

On Wednesday, February 27, at eight o'clock the auditorium stage of Morehead State Teachers College will grace the famous English drama, "The Two Pines." A sparkling, sophisticated comedy, this is the greatest play of a great living dramatist, A. A. Milne. Without exception, this is the most ambitious and spectacular production the Revellers have ever staged. In humor, colorful in characterization, it has also an emotion at power of great depth.

Olivia, around whom the keen emotional problem centers, is sensitively presented by Nell Cassidy. Miss Cassidy is well-known for her work at the local high school, and bids for high recognition in all her acting.

The romance is supplied by two other local young people. A cowboy laddie and lassie helplessly in love are presented by Leola Coddill as Dinah Manden and John Paul Nickell as Brian Strange, the young painter. The latter role was interpreted by Leslie Howard in the first London performance.

George Marden is played by David Nickell. This role was played in the first American production by Dudley Digges, famed actor recently. Anne, a perfected English maid, finds perfection in Letty Pence. Anna K. Turley plays the role of the spinster, Lady Marden.

Mr. Pim, slim in body, slight in memory, indeliberate and unpretentious, is played by Paul Holman. The story of the play is this: Mr. Pim, a genial absent minded old codger, in passing the home of a staid Englishman makes things badly. This he accomplishes with some information and much mismanagement. Don't let Pim pass you by without seeing him. More than a famous character he is a peerless entertainer.

Students Given Dick Test Here

The inoculation for the prevention of Scarlet Fever has been completed in the Morehead Teacher's College. This work has been under the supervision of the County Health Department and not by the State Board as was published.

The work has been conducted by Dr. Evans, director of the County Health Department assisted by Miss Hackney, college nurse. Mrs. Raymond, County Health Nurse and Miss Grace Holliday, Ruby Cory, Catherine Williamson, and Kenneth Fern, students of the college, acted as clerks.

Most all students of the college and training school took the Dick test which determined whether they were susceptible to the disease or not. Out of eight hundred students given the test, one hundred and thirty three showed positive reaction. The students who showed positive reaction were given the inoculation for the prevention of the disease.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

A THOUGHT OR TWO For Sunday, February 24, 1935 By Buell H. Kaeze

Pastor of the Morehead Baptist Church.

Subject: "Peter Heals A Lame Man." Acts 3:1-10; 4:8-12.

Golden Text: "Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee." Acts 3:6. (Read the story in the text given.)

1. It was better for Peter to help the beggar to get up and walk than to give him money to sit there as he was. It would be well for relief workers to consider this. Money may be used to help a man get on his feet, and if so, it is more wisely spent than if it is used merely to prolong his existence in his poverty. Many a man prefers to sit in his poverty if he believes that God will send him some one to help him up to get up by a little help and advance himself.

Spiritually there is a deeper meaning here. The church can give man something better than money. It is not merely a charitable institution. Silver and gold are often sought at its gates in the sympathies of those who go up to the temple to pray, but these people have something more blessed to give than gold if the beggar will only receive it. Those who serve the Lord may be poor in this world's goods, but the beggar should give attention to what God has to give. "Look on us!" said Peter; to that life given by faith in Christ Jesus, which enables a man to walk off and leave the poverty of his sin and unrighteousness.

2. The beggar walked in the right direction for further blessings, he went to church. A man who receives a blessing from God's servants should press on to the source of that blessing. For God's servants give as they receive. And if they can give so graciously as did these one must believe there is a great storehouse back of their giving. One who has been touched by the Lord could do no better thing than to associate himself with God's people and go in to worship with them. In this atmosphere blessings will continue to come.

3. The people were amazed, the rulers were hostile but Peter and John were filled with the Holy Spirit. Let us demonstrate the new Dodge or Plymouth to you.

Dudley Garage Flemingsburg, Ky.

Mrs. Stephen Hook, Doris Penix, Gladie Walters and Arthur Ray Tatam, went to Olive Hill last Thursday evening where they attended the play "Girl Shy" which was given by the Olive Hill high school under the supervision of Miss Ruth Mapson Holbrook.

This work was organized by Miss Troemel, assisted by the college faculty. The County Health Department appreciates the services rendered by the faculty for their hearty assistance and cooperation in this work.

Ghost. Such is the usual situation with Christ servants here in this world. When the Lord's work is being wrought by the Spirit the people are amazed at the apparent weakness of the instruments and yet the startling results; the rulers of convention and society are hostile for it usually interferes with their shames and rings; but the Holy Ghost is able and willing to stand by God's servants, and to help them declare the truth. "Neither is there salvation in any other."

Let us quote you a price on your wrecked car. We can give you a factory job at little cost. Dudley Garage Flemingsburg, Ky.
