Drive For Crippled Children Ends Sat.

THEY BEGIN EARLY

Barbara Ray Toller, three year old daughter of Hendrix Toller was a train bearer in the recent carnival held at the college. Naturally, like all good train-bearers of the feminine persuasion, Barbara Ray had to go to the beauty parlor to get a finger wave. And equally like all ladies, grown up or not, she was rather excited about her first appearance as train bearer.

She was seated under the drier at the Vogue and the squirmed around and fidgeted. Finally she burst out in truly feminine fashion, "Oh, dear! I'm getting so nervous!"

THE MAIN DRAG

The Main Drag of Morehead is torn up today almost as bad as it was ten years ago when the streets were being laid. But it is with a feeling of pride that the old timers and some of those not so old look on the present day tear up of the street, as ten years ago, we looked with pride on the new ones that were apparently all-paving in this city.

For the torn-up streets indicate progress. They indicate that Morehead is becoming a street of the times and a Belle ahead of them. She is going forward. Her attitude is in tune.

JUST A COMPARISON

Speaking of streets, when it was decided to pave here ten years ago, there was considerable discussion as to the width of the Main Street, whether it should be made twenty feet or thirty feet. The general opinion was that twenty feet was wide enough, there would never be enough traffic to justify a street thirty feet wide. Some even thought that they would be unable to see to the other side of the wide, wide thoroughfare if they made it thirty feet.

And scarcely had it been laid, after long hours of argument had won out for the wider street, than it was suddenly discovered that it was not wide enough. Good streets brought traffic and more traffic until it was scarcely possible to get through the block with the cars parked on both sides. Then came the widening of the street and now a forty foot street, is not wide enough. It should have been made from curb to curb.

Thus does Morehead grow. May she continue to grow thus.

AND SPEAKING OF TRAFFIC

A few years ago it was almost a novelty to see three cars parked on the street at one time. "There's quite a crowd in town," someone

Roy Caudill Is Back From St. Joseph's

Roy "Percy" Caudill, who was taken to Lexington for an appendicitis operation several weeks ago, and who returned home about two weeks ago, was taken again to St. Joseph's hospital on Monday of this week, suffering from an attack of gall stones. Roy was center on the Morehead Teachers College Baseball team but was unable to make the trip to

Obeys Demand State Inspector By Consolidation

Discontinue Many Schools In County And Abolish Sub-Districts

Considerable comment has been stirred up by the action of the County Board of Education in consolidating a number of the schools of the county and in doing away with all sub-districts in the county. The following is the statement issued by the Board:

The Rowan County Board of Education in regular session today adopted the following resolutions regarding the consolidation of schools in the county on the recommendation of O. J. Jones, Public School Supervisor for the State Department of Education, Frankfort, Kentucky.

It was moved, that, whereas the College Association and Accrediting Committee of the State of Kentucky refuse to give credit to high school students for work done in high schools that are maintained with fewer than forty-five students, and whereas the State Board of Education refuses to appropriate the per capita to maintain the schools of Rowan County until the following program is inaugurated:

1. That the Bluestone School be reduced to a two-teacher school and that the seventh and eighth grades be transported to Farmers.
2. That the Gayhart and Robburn Schools be discontinued and that the students of said schools be transported to the Morehead Consolidated School.
3. That the Glenwood School be discontinued and that these pupils be transported to the Haldeman Consolidated School.
4. That the Sharkey School be discontinued and that the lower grades

JOHN BIRCHFIELD DIES AT HOME AT ROBBURN

John Birchfield passed away at his home at Robburn last Friday night at 10:30 after an illness of over two years. For the past ten weeks Mr. Birchfield has been confined to his home. He was at the time of his death 51 years old.

Corn-Hog Contracts Closed On Monday

According to the announcement of County Agents Chas. L. Goff, the signing of the Corn-Hog contract for the 1935 season closed on Monday of this week, with eighteen more signers than last year. In the past year thirty contracts were approved in this county, out of thirty one applications. This year 48 applications have been received. It is expected that after examination and investigation of these applications several will be disapproved for various reasons. However the total is expected to be greater than in the previous season.

Applications for Special Tobacco contracts will close on April 15, according to Mr. Goff. These applications for special contracts are available to those who raised tobacco in the stipulated years but who for some reason did not raise it last year or who were not signers of last year's contract. Full details may be obtained at the office of the County Agent.

Applications for regular tobacco contracts will be received for some time yet, as no date has been set their final closing.

Enrollment in College Again Passes Previous High Figures

With an unprecedented mid-semester enrollment of 190 the already large enrollment at the Morehead State Teachers College soared to new heights before unrecruited and again established a mark far above that of the same term last year.

The total enrollment of the college today was 1196, a mark far in excess of that of last year when the previous high mark was set.

There has been and continues to be, a remarkable feature of the growth of the enrollment in the Morehead College. Never has a semester opened in the local school, but that the enrollment has shown a decided increase over the corresponding semester of the previous year. Every fall semester has seen a steady growth over the preceding fall semester. Every spring term has shown a real increase over the preceding mid-year. Every spring term

City Council Buys 600 Feet Of Hose

At the adjourned meeting of the City Council held Monday night at the city hall, the council voted to purchase six hundred feet of new fire hose. The purchase was made at the suggestion of the fire chief, Ed Hall. Three firms were bidding on the hose, all of them local. The contract was divided between them, each to sell two hundred feet of hose.

Firms entering bids were Roland Armstrong, representing the Ben Williamson Hardware Company, Ray Perry and E. E. Maggard. The hose was in the opinion of the council of equal quality and value and since all firms were local it was agreed to apportion the purchase between them.

Using the concrete from the curbing on Main Street, which is being torn out, a retaining wall is being built along the water way of the branch at that place and a road way is being built. The new roadway will lie alongside of the old, which passed through the branch and which during high water was entirely impassable. The City Council at their meeting Monday night appropriated $75.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a lady that run a theatrical boarding house in New York that had a sad experience with one of her boarders. The lady served meals to Mr. and Mrs. Downum in their room all the time these boarders had a little extra for the room service. They always paid their board in advance, and so she hated to say anything, but one day she just thought she'd mention it.

The silverware has been missing from your tray the last three days, when we bring out the dirty dishes before you, a little extra she says. "Of course, I wouldn't mention it, but I know you don't want to rob a widow too much all at one time. Just come across with the knives and forks now, and I won't call the cops."

"Hot!" says the gentleman. "Don't we pay you what you ask for board here?" "You do. But I don't bill you in advance for knives and forks." "But look! I'm a sword swallower, and knives and forks are my dessert! Call the cops because I've got an extra benefit performance on tonight, and I want to feel fit!"

Quota Of $200.00 Is Set For Rowan In Drive To Aid In Work

Under the direction of Miss Ezra Robinson of the Morehead State Teachers College, the drive for membership in the Crippled Children's Society of Kentucky, the funds raised are being used for the purpose of treating those children who can be aided by operations. Rowan County's quota in the drive is $200. During the rest of this week the drive will be carried on, and with a number of interested citizens making personal calls. It is hoped, to more than fill the local quota.

If you can't take out a membership, at least, buy a few seals so that you will be working in the interest of the crippled children of Kentucky.

In 1934 the Kentucky Society joined the International Society for Cripple Children in sponsoring a sale of "Crippled Children Seals" at Easter time; $27,000 was raised in this way and has been used by the Commission to bring into the hospitals little cripples who could not otherwise have been treated. Delay in treating crippled children is serious, as some deformities cannot be corrected at all unless cared for early in life.

This year the Kentucky Society is sponsoring a combined membership campaign and sale of "Crippled Children Seals". The state is divided into 26 districts under the leadership of district and county chairmen. Governor Laffoon has set aside a week designated as "Crippled Childrens Week", and during that period individuals and clubs are asked

Morehead Baseball Team Organized

The pennant chase is on! The Morehead Champions are ready to hop in the saddle and start the hustling of the East Kentucky State League like nobody's business.

With the reorganization of the league recently, there was some talk of discontinuing the Morehead club and dispose of the franchise. Now As—Then Thirty Nine years ago Morehead was possessed of a number of progressive citizens who published a special edition of the Morehead Advance...

It has been said that the world moves in cycles and that every so often the same things happen and the same opportunities come around.

We print the following, a copy from the "Voice of the Past" because it is of considerable interest to our present day readers...

Morehead is a beautiful little mountain town of about 1,000 inhabitants. It is situated within the limits of the far famed mountains section of Kentucky.

Four church denominations are represented here, three of which have elegant modern churches, and the Methodist have a fine building under construction...

In educational matters she ranks second to none. Her splendid Normal School has a reputation as wide as the state...

The physicians are J. Wilson, W. L. Banfield, L. P. V. Williams, T. W. Banfield and J. A. Bewen.

Morehead railroad facilities, furnished by the C. & O., but it is only a question of time until a road from West Liberty be here to Maysville will be built.

In mortality the town leads the state. The best of order is always maintained, and for a delightful place to reside—none better could be had.

The city officials are energetic, progressive men, and no effort is left undone to advance the interest of the town in every way.

When the city was founded, charly-brooded above its humble beginnings, and abides with her citizens, to guard and bless the poor. Here the sick and afflicted never want for attention.

The city lies in a valley, surrounded by beautiful mountains. If you would see Morehead and its surroundings to advantage, let us stand on the summit of a hill to the East, of a June evening, just at sunset—from which hill-top one can look down upon the Advance office and view as happy, busy and prosperous a crew of typographers as there is in the Eastern section of the grand old Commonwealth.

The dead children were 6 months, 18 months and 3 1/2 years old. Their bodies were found by police, who identified their mother as a habitue of tawdry dives.

How's Business?

POSTAL RECEIPTS

One of the interesting stories of the week is the report on the sale of stamps at the local post office. Eleven Hundred dollars in stamps were sold at the local office during the month of March. If that rate of business continues for a twelve month period, the total would reach $12,000 in stamps alone.

A few comparisons will not come amiss, as illustrating the gradual growth in the post office receipts here during the past few months. It has been said you know, and justly, that the postal receipts are an indication of the trend of business in the community. This is probably true with the exception of the Postal Money Orders, which are almost a true indication of the amount of business being done with mail order houses.

In December of last year, the month which is popularly supposed to bring in the heaviest receipts in the post office as in other businesses the stamp sales amounted to $792. In January they ran up to $880. Receipts for February amounted to $871. March then ran up a total stamp sales of $1104.02.

There are good possibilities that if the stamp sales for this office were to continue to increase to an average level of over $1000 per month, that a new federal building would be the offering. In other words the erection of a federal building will undoubtedly come, when and if it does come, through the needs of the office. Consequently, if the office continues to grow, it will unquestionably entitle Morehead to consideration when the federal building's program is being considered.

men of Morehead held a little called meeting at the office of the Morehead Lumber Company, to listen to a man who had been invited to address them, Mr. Ried, who is head of the Ried Company, of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Mr. Ried did not make an appointment, nor did he, in any way solicit the business men of Morehead to meet him. He did not ask them for permission to submit a proposal to them. Quite the opposite was true.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Ried was here on another matter entirely, but was asked by several business men to explain the methods and systems of going about interesting factories in our community. He did not pose as a magician, who needed only to reach in his hat and pronounce a few magic words, and lo, a factory would be drawn out. Quite the contrary. He did not offer to serve Morehead in the capacity of Gen'l, at all. He did not ask for a job getting a factory a year for Morehead, at five hundred dollars a year. He was asked by the business men assembled to bring to this community a factory to serve Morehead, or, and he replied that his services were worth $500 per year, and that if he were retained, he would immediately set about organizing for the purpose of bringing to this community a factory during the first year of service.

Mr. Ried expressed the most progressive business men of the community as a man of intelligence and drive, and many of them felt that it would be the proper course to follow. However, a committee was appointed to interview Mr. Ried and to obtain credentials from him. It is the opinion of the News that Morehead needs factories. It is also our opinion that they cannot be obtained by the wish-bone method. Neither can they be obtained by a local organization, since no local organization has national contacts with the sort that puts them in touch with the situation.

It appears to us that Mr. Ried's proposition was a business proposal from the start. He did not propose to wave the magic wand and see a factory spring up. He proposed to act as contract man between the factories that might be interested in locating in Morehead and the business men of the city. He proposed to put the business men in touch with factories that might be interested and give them an opportunity to make contracts and arrangements.

We personally have no interest in Mr. Ried as an individual. He submitted a proposal that sounded good to us for a program. Whether or not he is the man to be employed by Morehead is not the question. The fact remains that Morehead needs factories, and before she gets them, she is going to get someone who can contract these factories and help go through the arrangements, and she may just as well make up her mind, first as last, that if she does get such a man to serve her, he is going to have to pay that man a salary for his services.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kazee, Pastor of the Baptist Church.

SUBJECT, THE FATHERHOOD OF GOD, JOHN 14: 8-24. Golden Text: "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him," Psalm 103:13.

The fatherhood of God is a much debated question. God's Word clearly teaches that God is not the Father of all men, but only of those who are born from above. The lesson is to help those who have been born again know their Father.

2. Verses 12-14 tell us of the Father's power. Jesus had done great works in the world. But, said He, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do."

3. Verses 15-20 teach us of the Father's great promise. Jesus did not say, "I will send you another Comforter." Rather, He said, "I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever."

this just like a father who loves his children? When the Son could no longer be with us to comfort and help us, He tenderly tells us that He will have the Father send another helper, the Comforter. So have we been blessed with that presence since the day of Pentecost. He is available to all who believe on the Son, for to this end the Father gave the Comforter.

Laughing Around the World With IRVIN S. COBB

Naming No Names But --

"This one has been doing prison service for a grand many years. But I have recalled more than that, the age of a glory in sailing against it. It's been ordered through the penitentiary it must give land merit. As I heard it first, the name was a frontier town in the early days."

The town had one street and every other building along the street was a saloon with either a dance hall or a gambling room or both, in connection. It was on a Sunday afternoon, and in the rear room of one of these saloons a poker game was in progress.

Both men disappeared, and the cops realize, he said, Brisbane Coe sergeant went to the drawing room has also been murdered. Wrede sank heavily into the nearest chair. Brisbane? But why? Why, indeed? Vance spoke harshly, questioning look in his eyes. Mr. Wrede was stumped in the back with a curly shaped instrument. Wrede stared straight ahead. His lips moved, but no sound came from them.

60 with which to construct a bridge across the branch at that place. The new road and bridge will serve all the residents of the branch and will be a great improvement to that part of the city.

In order to provide the proper width for the road without closing the waterway, Mr. D. C. Cassidy, who owns the lot along the street has agreed, according to members of the city council to donate the necessary land from his lots.

succeeded in the past two seasons in carrying off the honors both times, the first time in the Central Kentucky League and the last year in the Kentucky State League which grew out of the older organization. This year, with the nucleus of the team built around such men as Lawrence Fraley, Duck Carter, Bob Day and Claude Clayton, the prospects are good for a repeater.

According to the managers, the pitching staff of the revamped champions will be second to none in the league. The boys have lined up the old reliable Bob McKenzie who pitched himself to fame in the service of Morehead last year, and Jim Bob Fugate who has many games laid up to deliver this season. In addition they are dickering with Feedback who starred with Owensville last year and the previous season and who is regarded as the leading pitcher of the league. For good measure they will have the services of Woodson Dife a youngster who is a freshman this year, but who comes to Morehead with good recommendations.

Behind the bat taking all offerings there will be none other than the venerable Claude Clayton, who needs no introduction to the local fans. Claude worked with Flemingsburg last year, due to one of the squirts of the game, but will not only be with the champions this season, but will serve as co-manager with Bob Day.

Needless to say Bob will pass time around first sack. He also has seen considerable service in the Morehead uniform.

Duck Carter who is rightly regarded as a star second sacker, will be right there when the Champs take the field. Duck, in spite of his size is one of the best stickers in the league.

Larry Fraley is another local boy who will be used either in the outfield or at third, where he is equally good. Larry is without question the best all-around ball player in the league, and knows how to slap the apple when it is needed.

Taking it all around, the Morehead Champions will, when they line up against Mt. Sterling in their first game on April 14, be able to show plenty of class. They should be contenders this year as just and the year previous.

The team is working out every day at Jayne Stadium field. They will have their first regular practice on Sunday at the field at 1:30.

has shown a great growth over the preceding spring term. Every summer term has done likewise. The only limit that has been placed on the number of students in the college is lack of rooms. Every room available in the city, as well as every room in the dormitories is full. Many of the dormitories rooms are housing four students where they were built to accommodate two. Many of the girls have doubled up in order to take care of the excess.

Out in the city rooms are at a premium. Four and sometimes five students are being cared for in one room. Some homes have been turned over to students, several of them overflowing of students, who because they were unable to find lodgings either in the dormitories or in the homes were forced to find leave and take up their studies in other schools. It is roughly estimated that over one hundred students were forced to leave Morehead this term and enter other colleges in other parts of the state, due to lack of accommodations in this city.

It is hoped that in the future there will be ample housing facilities for the students, since Morehead is enjoying a building program that should relieve the condition in the city.

One of the features of the largely increased enrollment is the fact that the administration and class room building at the college is proving entirely inadequate to care for the large classes and the greatly increased curriculum. Practically every classroom at the college is in use every period of the day. One class files out and another class files in. In the basement and the two main floors are both crowded and congested.

The large enrollment is the direct answer to the argument of certain legislators that Morehead is an unnecessary institution. It is rapidly becoming and already the biggest institution in Eastern Kentucky.

University of Minnesota.

The Eastern State Teachers College glee club will open the program with a 45 minute musical program. Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, has been scheduled to speak at the second session of the association meeting, Thursday morning at 9:15. Dr. John Howard Payne will also be heard on the program as he delivers a short speech to the educators. Secretary of Agriculture H. A. Wallace will be the feature of the session as he makes the principal address. The Western State Teachers College and the Georgetown College glee clubs will supply the music for the morning program.

At the third session, Thursday evening at 8:00, Henry Hitt Crane, noted Boston lecturer, will speak on "The Five Lamps of Education." Dr. Tunis E. Gowens, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Louisville, will deliver the invocation. The University of Kentucky glee clubs has been scheduled to supply the music.

"Education in the Present Crisis" will be the subject of an address by Dr. Edward Howard Griggs at the fourth session, Friday morning, beginning at 9:00. Superintendent of Public Instruction James H. Richmond will also speak. The Berea College and the Western State Teachers College glee clubs will sing. The discussion contest winners will be announced.

At the Friday night session at 8:00 Dr. Robert A. Millikan, celebrated physicist and head of the Norman Bridge Laboratory at the California Institution of Technology, will deliver the principal address. The Junior High School boy's chorus of the Louisville Public Schools will sing at the opening of the final program.

led to take out memberships in the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children or to buy "Crippled Children Seal." Money thus raised will again be devoted to the care and treatment of the hundreds of little cripples on the waiting list.

The following letter will be of interest in giving you a picture of the need of this work.

Mr. Smith
Won't You Help Me To Walk?
I can't play with the other children cause my legs are crooked as if they weren't hold me up. I can't even go to school but ev'ry day I sit at the window an' watch the little boys and girls go by an' pray that some day I can be like them.

Last fall my Daddy carried me to a clinic that the Crippled Children Commission held an' the big doctor man said he could do somethin' to make me walk, but it costs an awful lot of money an' we haven't any money. . . . Just a farm that's mostly rocks.

There's a Society made up of folks like you, that raises money to help the Commission treat more little folks like me. The Society asked me to send you these "Crippled Children Seal" giving a penny apiece, $1.00 a sheet-to-use at Easter Time. When you buy the Seals an' use them I'll be so happy! An' if you send $2.00 or more you'll be a member of the Society. The more you give the more other little boys an' girls will be happy too with straight backs and legs.

I'll watch ev'ry mail for your answer. You'll sent it soon, won't you?
Trustingly yours,
MARY JANE.
P. S. See what was done for these little friends of mine. Don't they look diff'rent now?

Help Rowan County raise her quota of $200.00 so all the Mary Jane's can be helped.
Exer Robinson, Chairman.

were able to provide for their families. The law accepts, only one excuse for failure to keep children in school, that of sickness or some physical disability such as blindness. The children under consideration were neither; consequently the attendance officer filed the charges with the result that both Wilson and Barker paid their fines.

Evidently according to officers, the attendance law will be rapidly enforced in this county, and it is their opinion that the only way parents can save themselves not only grief but money is to observe the law and send their children to school.

The officers feel that the state and county are maintaining the schools at great expense so that every child in the county may be given an opportunity to get an education without cost to the parents. They have placed schools within a reasonable distance of every home in the county, and it is mainly failure on the part of the parents if the children are not given a chance to go to school. That being the case, the school and county officials state that they intend to do everything in their power to see that every child is given the chance to learn.

This is the first instance on record in Rowan County under the new law where a parent has been tried. According to officials it will not be the last if the parents are remiss in the performance of their duty.

MATURITY
Early or quick maturity with pullets has been found to be inherited. Constant selection for early maturity will lessen the number of days between the time the bird is hatched and when she lays her first egg. The earlier a bird matures the greater will be the number of eggs she will lay during her first laying year. There is a definite negative correlation between early maturity and total annual egg production.

Maturity is usually divided into two divisions. When a bird lays her first egg she is said to have reached sexual maturity. This does not mean that the bird has reached physical maturity. Some birds do not lay until they have reached their maximum size, thus, sexual and physical maturity fall together. Usually, a pullet reaches sexual maturity several weeks before she reaches physical maturity for her pullet year. The heavier bird at sexual maturity is more often the best layer during the year. Birds beginning to lay at too early sexual maturity often lay eggs small in size. It is possible to have them mature too rapidly.

Sexual maturity is closely related to winter production. It is more pronounced at this season than at any other. Different breeds and even strains of birds show quite a difference in the number of days from date of hatch until laying of first egg. The Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station (1930) showed that early maturity is inherited but it may also be influenced to some extent by feeding and management. Pullets that grow most rapidly consume feed the most rapidly. The fastest maturing pullets are the best ones and the slowest maturing pullets the poorest ones.

The following figures from the University of Missouri show that maturity is associated with total annual egg production.

Days of Maturity	Number of eggs for the year
150	to 175	174
175	to 200	170
200	to 225	148

constitutes a pause. Some say a bird "pauses in production" if she fails to lay on four or more consecutive days while others use seven or three days. The less a bird pauses in production the greater is the number of eggs laid. The best producers have Pause has been found to be inherited and thus can be largely eliminated from poultry flocks. Birds have been known to pause in production from two days to over two months.

7. BROODINESS

Broodiness has been found to be inherited. The more times a hen becomes broody during the year and the longer it takes her to get back into production the less is the total annual egg production. It is possible to almost eliminate broodiness from a flock by selecting broodiness that showed little or no broodiness while as pullets and mated to males from non-broody females. This accounts for the Leghorns being poor mothers and used very little in incubation of eggs. Broodiness can be largely eliminated from flocks of Rhode Island Reds, Bred Plymouth Rocks and other breeds if a good system of selection is used. It is a good plan to put a celluloid leg band on a pullet leg each time she becomes broody during the season. When breeders are selected the next fall, some idea can be had as to the number of times broody she has become during the year. However, it must not be overlooked that some birds are longer in overcoming broodiness than others. If broody birds are discovered early she can usually be easily broken up and be back in production within a few days. Feeding and management will have something to do with how soon the recoverers from broodiness.

B. Management Factors

Good management has a lot to do with birds doing their best. There are probably many good layers in flocks in eastern Kentucky that do not lay the number of eggs they are capable of laying because they do not have the opportunity of showing what they can do. There are too many poultrymen content with the average or below the average in management. Some of the factors that might be discussed here coming under this heading are as follows:
1. Hatching And Raising Young Stock
The date of hatch for each breed may determine what month the pullets will mature in, or the number of days required for them to lay their first egg. This has been particularly discussed under previous headings and will be discussed more fully next week in a separate article.
2. Nature Of Feed.
Improper housing and improper methods of feeding cut down on egg production. A good egg mash or a good balanced ration should be fed from the time the bird is a baby chick until the bird is disposed of. A chick may be stunted in its early growth and thus never become a good layer.
3. Housing
Improper housing cuts down on egg production. It does not cost so much to have modern poultry houses. The county agent should be consulted as to the proper type house. There are too few good houses on poultry farms in Eastern Kentucky.
4. Disease Control
Birds usually cease production when showing a lack of vigor or become diseased. Practice sanitation at all times. Keep them healthy at all times.

There are probably other factors which cause some hens to lay more eggs than others but these listed are probably of greater importance. If you have a problem that you would like to have discussed, write it to the Rowan County News. We are receiving many nice compliments on the helpfulness of the articles published so far and this is the only way we know whether we are making them practical or not.
O. M. Farrington, state compliance officer for adjustment programs, urges all tobacco growers who have been unable to obtain allotments to see members of their local control committee about signing a special base contract.

8. SPECIAL BASE CONTRACT

Nine sprays, five of which are considered absolutely a necessity, comprise the spray program for Kentucky apple growers. More may be needed if codling moth develops. Write to the College of Agriculture, Lexington, or see a county agent for spray leaflet No. 19, "Apple Spray Schedule."

To Control Flea Beetles

Prof. W. A. Price of the College of Agriculture says flea beetles may be excluded from the tobacco plant bed by using a close fitting frame covered with tobacco cloth attached to the frame by lath and nails. If a tight frame is not used, dust the plants with a mixture of 1 part of paris green and 5 parts of arsenate of lead. Apply at rate of a half pound to 100 square yards of bed. This dust also controls horn worms.

Kentucky State League Opens Season On Sunday April 14; 35 Game Schedule Is Planned

League Managers Get Together To Settle Plans; Ready To Go

The Kentucky State League is again established fact, according to Lonnie Barnard, Mt. Sterling, who has been re-elected president of the circuit, and will play a 35 game schedule during the season, to be divided into a first and second half. The season is scheduled to officially open on Sunday April 14. The schedule was adopted by club managers in their last regular meeting.

Morehead, League champions last year, will open at Mt. Sterling on April 14. Other opening games will be as follows: Brookville at Vanceburg; Flemingsburg at Owingsville; Maysville at Paris.

A $50 player permit salary per game was officially adopted. Three Flemingsburg players, Baker, Plym and Martin, all of Portsmouth, O., were barred from further play in the league by President Lonnie Barnard, who said he "had sufficient evidence in his own mind that they were guilty of selling out to gamblers" in the play-off series last year, which Morehead won from the Flemers, 3 games to 1.

It was announced at the meeting that J. C. Richardson will manage the Owingsville club and the Mayville franchise has been taken over by a group of business men, who replace co-managers John Rudy and Paul Cline. Other league managers are: C. D. Thompson, Paris; O. P. Tannian, Vanceburg; Bob Day and Claud Clayton, Morehead; J. C. Richardson, Owingsville; Tom Dillon Brookville; Tom Hall, Flemingsburg. The Mt. Sterling club, owned by a stock company, has not named a manager.

With the opening of play the league season will be launched to continue until the end of the drive in September. The first half will be brought to a close on July 4 and the second half will open the following Monday.

Soft Ball League Games Planned

Soft ball at the college is already claiming considerable attention, although the season will not start until after the close of spring football practice on April 27.

Teams are being organized and arrangements perfected so that they will be ready to go at the starting whistle.

Considerable rivalry is being developed, some managers having been working on their outfits for several weeks. It is rumored that one team in particular will be outfitted from top to toe in brand new uniforms, caps, uniforms, and all the essentials.

Sixteen teams are expected to take part in the hottest schedule that has ever been arranged. From an exercise point of view, the soft ball league will take care of more boys than any other sport on the campus, according to Coach Downing.

Spring Football Practice Opened Last Tuesday With Thirty-Five Eagles Out

The Morehead Eagles shook the mud balls out of their helmets last Tuesday evening to initiate spring football practice. About 35 men have been turning out for the daily practice sessions. Coaches Downing and Scroggins prescribed a number of drills to get the first week, directing the squad in calisthenics, running, kicking, and passing. The brassy squad has been augmented by the addition of members of Coach Scroggins' freshman team of last fall. On the basis of the class of the players who have been issued uniforms so far, Coach Downing feels optimistic about the ability of the Eagles to do considerable high flying next fall.

The following men are reporting for the daily workouts which are expected to continue for the next three weeks. Four weeks completes the season with a practice game the last week of April.

Ozell Burton, Irvin Triplett, Guy Fultz, Jarrel Vinson, W. C. Freeman, James Noe, Woodson Dale, Clyde Alley, Joe Taylor, Herman Taylor, Sherman Taylor, Homer Taylor, Harry Adams, John Patrick, Frank Merritt, Lawrence Carter, Bruce Henderson, John Shuey, Douglas Sparks, Sterling Linden, Morgan Buckler, Harvey Pritch, Henry Ad-dington, Bob Parsley, Jack Leon, Lionel Duff, Herbert Pennington, Willis Davenport, Kenneth Hern, Gilbert Ashar, Phillip Hardin, Arthur McKechnie, Luke Varney, Paul Mitchell and Woodrow Gordon.

While too tennis courts have thus far been more or less of a sea of mud at the college, the 33 boys interested in the sport have been making efforts to get them in shape so that they could start regular practices. One of the plans of the athletic department is to develop the interest in tennis at the college by arranging matches with other schools. Thus far the entire interest has been centered in intra-mural contests. However Coach Downing is planning this year, if possible to arrange matches with teams from other colleges of the state. His arrangements will be placed in the hands of Earl King Senff who has considerable experience in this field and teams will be selected and developed by him. It is hoped by this method that in a few years Morehead will be in a position to meet the other colleges of the state on a par in this sport as well as in the other sports.

Morehead Teachers College To Have Baseball Team This Year; Arrange Schedule Of 8 Games

Hope To Arrange College Matches

Contrary to newspaper reports, Morehead State Teachers College is planning on sponsoring a baseball team this spring, according to Coach Downing. The Morehead mentor said that while the season would undoubtedly be short, and they could schedule only a few games, he felt that in justice to the boys who are interested in baseball, the college should do everything in its power to encourage the sport. Since a few other schools in the state are having baseball teams this spring, the Morehead School, which has always when a lead in the sport, has decided to encourage it also.

The team will not play under S. I. A. A. rules, since that would prohibit a number of men from taking a part in the activity. They will be known as the College Independents, and will permit every one interested to take part in the past time. None of the colleges of the state play under conference rules, when it comes to baseball, consequently, while the teams are made of bonafide students, they are selected from all ranks, freshmen as well as seniors, and spring term students as well as full-timers.

The plans at present are to play a series of six or eight games during the month of May, after the close of spring football drills. There will come to a close on April 27, according to present plans. In the meantime, practice sessions will be sandwiched in between spells of football practice, so that neither will interfere with the other.

Thus far no games have been scheduled, although letters have been sent to all the colleges of the state that are planning on developing teams this spring. Among these are State University at Lexington and Transylvania at Lexington.

SWEATERS, LETTERS RECEIVED BY TEAM AT CHAPEL PERIOD

Varsity, Sophomores And Seniors Receive Sweaters From College

Letters and sweaters were presented to ten members of the Eagle basketball squad, by Coach G. D. Downing at the convocation period, Wednesday morning. John Rossin, John Shuey, Luster Oxley, J. B. Parsley, Willard Johnson, Fred Caudill and Roy Caudill received sweaters and Roy Adams, Tommy Ryan, and John Francis were awarded letters.

In a talk, preliminary to the presentation of sweaters and letters, Coach Downing announced that athletics at Morehead were in the best condition they had known since the birth of the school and that this successful athletic condition was prevalent throughout the entire S. I. A. A. He also stated that the Eagle football schedule next year, the most difficult one in the history of the school, would include every school in the S. I. A. A. with the exception of Western. In explanation of this fact, Coach Downing explained that the Eagles should have their best team, as yet, next season and that a schedule such as they have would increase interest in football and therefore allow athletics to expand.

In closing, he discussed Morehead's spring athletic program, which will probably include track and intercollegiate tennis for the first time.

Others who are expected to be out for the team are Lus Oxley, Varney Vinson, Ralfeff and Wade Hall. In all Downing expects about fifteen or eighteen men to report for practice.

Arrangements have made with the C. C. C. camp to use their field for practice.

The queen leaves the king because she loves him, while the king goes to Vienna to brush up on his neglected education and leaves a charming double to win back the queen.

ABOUT TOWN

(Continued From Page One) would observe as he stood in front of his place of business, when he saw three or four automobiles in one block. And now... if he fails to see the streets lined with cars from one end to the other he wonders where everybody has gone or if there is a funeral in town.

Times do change. This is due to the fact that Morehead is now surrounded by good roads in every direction. Where a few years ago the rural people were forced to leave for early in the afternoon in order to reach there while they could yet see to avoid the ruts and mud holes that might well bury them, they are now able to wait late in the evening and then skim away took.

Incidentally the building of highways has meant almost double the number of cars in the county that were here a few years ago.

JAS. LEWIS

(Continued From Page One) 4 children were born, all preceded him in death. On November 13, 1896 he was married to Alice May Artis, daughter of James C. and Celia Artis. To this union were born 9 children. They with their mother survived him and were all at his bedside when he passed away. He is survived by 23 grand children, 3 sisters and a host of relatives and friends.

He joined the Latter day saints church when a young man and was a firm believer of that faith until death.

Funeral services were held at the Sarris Church house by Rev. Basil Hamm of Waltz, Ky. after which the remains were laid to rest in the Sarris Cemetery.

THE AUTOMOBILE RACE

The automobile race in the Bible school of the First Christian church made an exciting lay in the race last Sunday. Those riding in the Buick passed the group riding in the Ford for the first time during the race. At the close of the period the Buick was something over 50 miles in the lead. It was said, however, "look out for next Sunday."

ROY CAUDILL

He is one of the most popular students in the college and his friends are hoping for a speedy recovery from his illness.

NEW TEACHERS

(Continued From Page One) has been added to the English Department and will have charge of classes in that department.

Dr. J. B. Holtzclaw, Ph.D. from the University of Kentucky, has been engaged to assist in the work in the History Department.

H. L. Matthews, M. A. from Peabody College will assist in the Geography Department.

According to late reports the students are still coming in to further swell the enrollment. However, it is believed that no further increase in the faculty will be necessary for the term.

COUNTY BOARD

(Continued From Page One) be transported to the Little Bruary School and that the upper grades from both Sharkey and Little Bruary be transported to Morehead.

That the Bradley and Open Fork Schools be discontinued and transportation be provided to Seas Branch for the lower grades and that the upper grades from Bradley Open Fork, and Seas Branch be transported to Elliottville.

That the Sand Gap and Minor Schools be discontinued and that transportation be provided to Elliottville.

That the high school work at Farmers and Elliottville be discontinued and that transportation be provided to the Morehead High School.

That provisions be made for a temporary building in the Perkins district and that temporary permits be asked for to maintain all other emergency schools in the county.

Therefore, be it resolved by the Rowan County Board of Education that the said program of consolidation be put into effect in Rowan County, as of July 1, 1935.

On the recommendation of Mr. Jones the board also discontinued all sub-districts in the county. Mr. Jones stated to the board that this was necessary to better carry out the consolidated program which he outlined.

In speaking to the board Mr. Jones said that the primary purpose of this program is to give to the school children of Rowan County the educational opportunities that are rightfully theirs. The estimated savings to the taxpayers of the County will be between $2,500 to $3,000 per year.

It is generally known that a teacher in a one room school is handicapped by having to teach all eight grades, whereas in the consolidated school teaches only the one grade and is therefore more able to do an efficient piece of work.

College Feature "Folies Bergere"

For next Friday the most famous of the world's musical extravaganzas is brought to the screen for the first time in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Folies Bergere," starring Maurice Chevalier.

Merle Oberon makes her Hollywood debut as the seductively beautiful of the Barons while Ann Sothern is cast as Mimì, the jealous partner and sweetheart of Charlier.

Things begin to happen when Charlier is called in to impersonate the Baron in life as well as in the Folies, and a hilarious climax is reached when the Baron returns unexpectedly and tests his beautiful wife's fidelity by pretending to be merely Charlier's impersonation of himself.

Short subjects this week include one whole reel on the famous Dionne Quintuplets and a Mickey Mouse cartoon.

"DOG OF FLANDERS", SUNDAY - A story more than sixty years old, which has sold more than a million copies, reached many millions of readers, been published in many editions, and which was once produced as a silent picture with its elements of interest and appeal multiplied.

The story is "A Dog of Flanders", the classic novel of Louis de Ramere, "Quida", and is showing at the Colma Theatre with Frankle Thomas in the leading role.

Young Thomas who triumphed in his debut film, "Wednesday's Child" is said to offer a striking characterization as the little hero with an artist's yearning, one which will elicit greater plaudits from critics and movie fans alike. Similarly, O. P. Heggie, as the aged grandparent, is seen in a portrayal which promises to surpass that as Matthew in "Anne of Green Gables."

An excellent series of short subjects are always furnished.
