

THE MOREHEAD INDEPENDENT

"ONE OF KENTUCKY'S GREATER WEEKLIES"

VOLUME IV. MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1937. UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY LIBRARY. Number 13

Cozy Theatre Site Of Independent's School On Cooking

May 25-27 Dates Set For Showing Of Picture
NEW FEATURES IN SET-UP ARRANGED

A welcome invitation to the wise is sufficient. Evidently the Morehead Independent will not have to get out engraved announcements for that reunion of home-makers May 25, 26 and 27 in the Cozy Theatre.

No door cards, coupons, printed invitations or cast will be needed; just the counterpane of all alert housekeepers, who are due to say "Show me the latest home ideas" when they come on the Cozy theatre at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 25, 26 and 27.

Showing every person in every theatre set the triumphant new 1937 Cooking School, direct from Hollywood, will no problem, for motion picture ingenuity has joined forces with scientific homemaking to produce an original laboratory course that really combines romance, sprightly humor, originality and profitable instruction.

All of the popular features of the former Cooking School are here: The free recipe sheets, the stamper of congenial informality, the wise counsel, the hints on clever short-cuts, the up-to-the-minute suggestions for entertaining, the demonstration of delicious and nourishing dishes, the array of modern kitchen equipment and the distinction of dainty gifts and real surprises.

All those elements of fun and profit have been retained, and all are made doubly welcome because every guest of the Independent will have an individual clean-up of every process.

This scientific new laboratory of ideas has graduated out of the class where hundreds of women attempt their needs in the kitchen to see what was happening on the stage, or assailed the lecturer with plaintive cries of "I don't know" or "I don't understand."

Now the camera will make the course truly fascinating and valuable, with remarkable close-ups of each process in a series of model, conveniently equipped kitchens: real working kitchens, not the synthetic, false-front variety, where trained homemakers will plan, measure and execute complete baking appetizing cakes, pies, salads and meat dishes that look as though they could be picked right out of the picture and eaten on the spot.

Keeping pace with the baking, roasting and frying, a series of plates and frozen trays will parade in and out of the adaptable electric refrigerator, which will reveal its inner workings in the Province of Ontario, Canada, it has made recommendations which have resulted in two new specializations and the addition of thirteen physicians to the institutional staffs.

Jury Deliberating Fate Of Denhardt In Taylor Slaying

General Pleads LaGrange Woman Shot Herself On Lonely Road Near New Castle

COMMONWEALTH ASKS FOR DEATH PENALTY

11 Farmers, 1 Filling Station Operator, Hear Conflicting Testimony

The trial of the love between Brigadier General Henry H. Denhardt and Mrs. Garry Taylor, the course of the bullet that ended her life, the disconnected strands of the story of what took place beside a lonely Henry County roadside the night of last November 6, led last night into a locked jury room.

Behind the closed door, 11 farmers and an oil station operator studied the life of General Denhardt, the death of Mrs. Taylor, and all the other fragments that had been placed in their care, and tried to piece them together into a verdict.

The state asked the jurors to find that General Denhardt murdered his fiancée, and to send him to the electric chair.

The defense asked them to find that she ended her own life, and to turn General Denhardt free.

The case went to the jury at 5:15 p. m. at the end of the fifteenth day of the trial.

Three days of trial were devoted to the preliminary of a fight for a change of venue, and in the selection of the jury; eight days were devoted to the hearing of testimony, and the last two days were devoted to the summing-up arguments by counsel.

The jury took with them Judge Charles C. Marshall's instructions that they could find:

First, that Mrs. Taylor's death was the result of Denhardt's use of the electric chair or to prison for life.

Second, that her death was the result of voluntary manslaughter, done in "sudden heat and passion or sudden anger" and impose a two-to-twenty year term in prison. (Continued on Page 4)

Morehead Swimmers Meet Wildcats May 11

Coach G. D. Downing's swimming team will close their regular season here May 11, meeting the University of Kentucky tank stars at Sentz Natatorium. Kentucky holds a close decision over the Eagles, but the Blue and Gold is confident that they can reverse the decision this time.

TO COMMEMORATE LIFE'S WORK

The accomplishments of Senator Allie W. Young and Dr. Frank C. Button, during their life-time in the promotion of education at the Morehead State Teachers' College and in Eastern Kentucky will be commemorated Thursday morning with appropriate ceremonies in the auditorium of the college.

At that time portraits of the two men, who did more for the Morehead institution than any other individuals, will be unveiled.

One Arrested After Several Shots Fired; Other Arrests Made During Week

A 150 gallon copper moonshine still, complete, 5 gallons of whiskey, 300 gallons of beer mash and 6 fermenters were confiscated and one man arrested in a running gun battle between Federal Revenue Agents and illicit liquor manufacturers near Elizabethtown Monday night.

Scott Brown was apprehended and brought before United States Commissioner W. Riley where he executed $5000 bond for his appearance in Catlettsburg Federal Court. Two of 3 others charged according to the reports of the Federal agents, but warrants have been issued for their arrests.

D. R. Keeton Federal Investigator, arrested Bob Williams of Seal Branch, near Vevay, on an indictment for the possession of a still, possession of non-tax paid whiskey, the execution of $5000 appearance bond. Keeton said he found two gallons of r-conshine on Williams' premises.

Six gallons of whiskey were confiscated at the home of William Murray of Newland, Elliott County, Commissioner Riley said. Murray was arrested and fined a $500 bond here.

Stuart Back, Chester Carroll and Wesley Griffith, all of Carter County were brought before Commissioner Riley charged with manufacturing and selling bootleg liquor at Catlettsburg jail. Later they all 3 filled bonds. They were arrested by J. H. Haney, chief of police of Olive Hill, Kim Co. U. H. Patton and R. T. Burchett, constable.

Arthur Hogge Is Judge Candidate

Enters Race For Important Office; Other Announcements Expected

Arthur Hogge, of Morehead, today announced his candidacy for County Judge on the Democrat ticket.

Mr. Hogge, who has been a lieutenant on police for a previous term as County Judge. Four years ago he was nominated for the place on the Democrat ticket, but was defeated in the final election.

U. F. Peirce is seeking the Republican nomination for the same office.

Although Mr. Hogge has no opposition thus far on the Democrat ticket, the candidacy of Dave C. Caudill, Morehead, is expected within a short time. Last week Mr. Caudill said that he would be a candidate for the post.

Mr. Hogge's announcement was the only one of this week, although there were rumors of many prospective aspirants. Judge J. W. Riley will be a candidate for County Attorney, it was definitely learned today. J. Jennings, Republican, is a probable seeker of the position of Representative from Bath and Rowan counties.

Christian Church Will Observe Mothers' Day

Mothers' Day will be observed at the First Christian church next Sunday beginning with the Bible School at 10:00 o'clock. At the church service the choir will render special music, and Marion Louise Oppenheimer will sing a solo.

Appropriate flowers will be worn. A special offering in honor of her honor will be observed at the Bible School hour. The Bible School is breaking records for attendance. The Men's Class taught by W. F. Lappin and directed by Virgil Wolford and V. D. Flood rolled up a great attendance last Sunday. The attendance in the school last Sunday exceeded the largest attendance on special days.

415 Students Here Have N. Y. A. Places

Federal Assistance Being Given In Rowan County, Report Shows

The National Youth Administration has provided part-time employment for 412 young men and women residing in Rowan County since its establishment in June 1935, Robert K. Salyers, Deputy State N. Y. A. Director, announced today.

Of this number 227 were enabled to remain in school and continue their education through the NYA educational aid program.

NYA work projects, which are designed to provide occupational training and experience for out-of-school young people, have employed 185 local youth workers.

In the state 3,393 young people, -18,156 under the high school age and 1,718 between high school age and 18,065 on work projects.

The NYA educational aid program is designed to enable deserving high school and college students, who otherwise might not be able to remain in school to continue their education. High school pupils earn up to $6.00 monthly, and college students are paid up to $15 monthly average. Local school officials are responsible for the selection of students to be aided and in determining the types of work to which they are assigned.

NYA work projects for out-of-school youth employ young people between eighteen and twenty-five years of age who are certified by local agencies. In addition to enabling youth workers to secure training and a small regular salary. (Continued on Page Four)

J. Dan Talbott To Speak At College Auditorium Today

Elijah Hogge, Morehead Attorney, Will Speak: On Life Work Of First President Of Institution

FOSTER CHORAL CLUB, ORCHESTRA TO HAVE LEADING PART IN CEREMONIES

Hon. J. Dan Talbott of Frankfort, former State Auditor and Hon. Elijah Hogge, Morehead Attorney, will deliver the principal address at the Morehead State Teachers College, this morning at the unveiling of portraits of the late Senator: Allie W. Young and the late Dr. Frank C. Button.

Mr. Talbott, who was closely associated with Senator Young in politics prior to the Senator's death 2 years ago, will sketch the life work and achievements of this benefactor of the State.

Mr. Hogge will deliver his speech at Dr. Button, the first president of the institution.

President H. A. Babb will preside at the ceremonies. The College Orchestra, directed by Prof. Keith Davis, and the Foster Choral Club, directed by Prof. Lewis H. Horton, will give the music for the occasion.

People from all sections of Kentucky are expected to be present in the Morehead chapel for the exercises. All Morehead townspeople have been invited.

Bernice Button and Jane Young will be in charge of the program at the end of the program revealing the face of 2 of Morehead's greatest citizens as painted on canvas.

"We have learned from the addresses of Hon. W. H. Babb at the beginning, God created the Heaven and the earth. He created the air, the water, the earth, and the fish of the sea. And God created man in his own image and gave him dominion over all living creatures upon the earth."

"And God planted a garden in Eden and placed man in it to keep it. But man was lonesome in the garden of Eden and God saw that it was not good for man to be alone. And God created woman, the most lovely creature of all the earth to be help meet for man. And so, from that day on, woman has been admired and adored as the most lovely creature of God's creation."

"One wonders if Kentucky were not the original garden of Eden fashioned by the hand of the Divine creator. For throughout the world Kentucky is noted for its beautiful women. It is no easy task to select a Kentucky beauty for all normal Kentucky women are beautiful."

"This college campus is daily beautified with scores of charming college girls. For your charm and beauty, Miss Tempa Keene, you have been selected by the student body as Queen of May. I, therefore, place this crown upon your head and declare you May Day Queen of this campus."

COMMEMORATING THE WORK OF TWO GREAT MOREHEAD MEN

The unadvised work and the many accomplishments of the late Senator Allie W. Young and the late Dr. Frank C. Button are to be appropriately commemorated today with fitting ceremonies in the spacious auditorium of the Morehead State Teachers College.

Speakers will stand upon the same rostrum that Dr. Button spoke from many times. One of the beautiful buildings that stand on the Morehead Campus, Dr. Button often times expressed his preference for the Auditorium. A tear will drop from many an eye in that chapel this morning as the life story of this man, probably the greatest benefactor to education and to mankind in eastern Kentucky is unfolded by a life-long friend.

Dr. Button was loved during his life by thousands in the mountains of Kentucky. In death his memory is cherished and the work that he did remains forever a monument to his thoughts of progress and the energy with which he carried them out.

Today, a life-size portrait of Dr. Button will be unveiled in the auditorium which he loved so well. It will hang there, according to administration plans, so long as the Morehead State Teachers College exists. He will gaze down from that canvas with kindly and knowing eyes upon the thousands of students who shall pass through the halls of that chapel in the years to come.

Perhaps if that painted canvas could show expression there would be one of Dr. Button's well known smiles upon it. He would know that others have carried on the battle in the mountains which he started before the turn of the century.

Thus, will the same old deeds of Morehead's first president, be preserved. In another portion of the auditorium will hang another life-size portrait—that of Senator Young. This distinguished Rowan Countian, whose influence in state government was at times almost unlimited, perhaps would have the same smile as Dr. Button. He could likewise gaze upon the flowing line of eager students with the knowledge that the "work is being carried on."

The benefits that "Judge" Young, as he liked to be called, brought to Morehead College are often discussed but never exaggerated. Without his influence it is doubtful if the college would ever have been located at Morehead. It was his influence and knowledge that brought appropriations to Morehead to start it growing when the institution was young and struggling for existence. It was his wisdom that made the Board of Regents wisely operate the school during those years.

Even the political enemies of Judge Young were his friends in life. They knew that his influence and his efforts were the very foundation of the Morehead State Teachers College during those years. There will likewise be a tear falling from the eye of many a man and woman today as the forceful features of Senator Allie W. Young shall radiate from the painted canvas.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN ALREADY UNDER WAY This is clean-up week in Morehead. Although the real drive for cleaning-up and painting-up starts today and continues in the effective agency of a cleaner and more beautiful city are already noticeable. Many citizens used the first three days of the week to start their cleaning-up.

The city is providing trucks to haul away garbage and rubbish during the remainder of the week. Citizens are urged to place this refuse in a place where it may be easily picked up by the trucks. This clean-up, paint-up campaign is an annual affair with Morehead, operating along with a nation-wide drive. The results in the past have been great, but this year promises to surpass the success of past years, with more energy and activity displayed. Let us all work together to put this drive across. It means much to all of us to make Morehead cleaner, healthier and more beautiful.

"GUARDIAN OF THE PURSE" More than thirty years ago, Charles Evans Hughes, now Chief Justice of the United States, said this: "Life insurance is the effective agency of thrift. The best guardian of the purse that has ever been discovered is the life insurance policy." At that time, life insurance was more or less in its infancy. The amount outstanding in the light of present day figures, was relatively insignificant. Now the American people own policies totaling more than a hundred billion dollars—and insurance per capita in this country is several times as great as it is in any other nation.

Millions of Americans have found, through personal experience, the truth in what Mr. Hughes said long ago. Not the least of the virtues of life insurance is that it makes us save—to put aside for the future, when dollars may come hard, money that we earn with comparative ease today and that otherwise might be frittered away.

HEED THIS WARNING Vigilant property owners would do well to keep a careful eye on the rising tendency of construction costs, if they want to avoid serious loss. As Frederick P. Walther, Chief Engineer of the Continental Fire Insurance Company, has pointed out, "It rarely happens that valuations as recent as January, 1936, would be inadequate to cover losses at present values."

During the years of declining costs and values, thrifty property owners periodically reduced insurance coverage to compensate. Now that the cost trend has reversed itself they should reappraise their property and, whenever necessary, increase coverage. Under-insurance can be far more costly in the long run than over-insurance.

To quote Mr. Walther again, "Since January, 1936, construction costs increases have been greatest in the Eastern section of the country, ranging from 6 per cent for fire-resistive types of building to 12 per cent for frame joist construction."

"Since January, 1933, however, the Western part of the country registered some of the greatest increases, brick types rising 34 per cent in cost, frame joist 33 per cent and fire-resistive construction 31 per cent."

Here is a timely warning, that should be heeded without delay. As the old adage says, it is useless to look the stable door after the horse has escaped. It is a far more prudent plan to insure developed property even when the fullest possible insurance coverage is carried. If inadequate coverage is carried, replacement may wipe out the savings of years, and plunge you heavily into debt.

TEACH THEM HOW The most dangerous group of drivers, according to statistics, is the group which ought to be the safest: The so-called "teen-age" class. When a person of eighteen or younger has an accident it is almost always a serious one. It is 42 per cent more likely to be fatal than if an older driver were involved. In the opinion of authorities, the chief difficulty is that the driver people lack both training and judgment. They have no formal instruction behind the wheel. Usually they learn to drive by watching older persons or a young companion. In this way they learn bad practices along with good ones, and, being young, they are apt to exaggerate from the bad to the good. As one bad practice contaminates the barrel, one poor driver can create dozens of worse ones if he attempts the role of teacher.

Fortunately the high schools of the nation are recognizing a responsibility for these facts. According to the safe production division of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, some five thousand high schools in more than half the states are now giving instructions in the principles of traffic safety. Some schools are actually teaching their students to drive by giving real road training in real cars. Three states, California, Indiana and North Carolina, have made such instruction compulsory, while state departments of education in 23 states have issued modern courses of study in traffic safety. The subject of good driving has become the fastest growing movement in the history of American education.

Already there are significant results. In Rhode Island, more than a thousand high school boys and girls were taught to drive in a course sponsored by the Motor Vehicle Department of that state. Their driving records were kept in a special file for a period of three years. In all that time not one of the youngsters was involved in a reportable accident and no one was convicted of a traffic violation. Outstanding educators say there is no greater function for education than teaching children how to do better, the things they may expect to do in life. Certainly, teaching them how to drive motor cars so as not to kill themselves or others, fits neatly into that definition.

SEVEN MONTHS OR SEVEN YEARS? From a Kentucky town, not long ago, came word of an accident that befell a penniless boy in the local railroad yards. His neck was broken. A newspaper account stated that the youth "remained at the depot seven hours before arrangements could be made to remove him to the hospital." Tragedy, indeed.

We do not know the circumstances responsible for the delay in this particular case, but we do know that it was ONE BOY AND ONE TRAGEDY. If our hearts are out to this helpless lad, as surely they must, will the word of 15,000 tragedies (there are that many crippled boys and girls in Kentucky; at our very doorstep) move us, to sympathetic action? Move us, to help in a practical way thousands of "Tiny Tims" and "Crippled Prates" who will serve Kentucky prominently in the future if we do something about it today?

Seven hours of tortured waiting. Too long! But what about seven months of waiting or, unless we do something about it, seven years of waiting for crippled children whose names are being added daily to the lengthening waiting list of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission?

How can you help? That's easy. Write to the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, Heyburn Building, Louisville, Ky., for details of their membership campaign. Men and women, boys and girls, civic clubs, farm groups, Sunday school classes, 4-H clubs, women's group and other organizations, stores, shops and offices—all of these and more, can help.

—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

Morehead -- This Week

INCOME TAX: Attention is called to the deadline for the filing of state income tax reports, falling on May 15. Under the original set-up April 15 was the last day, but acting Governor Keen Johnson granted a 30 day extension after reports came from all sections of the state that people were having difficulty in making the report. This situation was very apparent in Morehead. As April 15 approached many were in a quandry regarding the payment. The forms were new and fairly complicated. In addition there is the usual animosity towards paying a new state tax, with the result that many are making payments reluctantly and therefore at a late date. The income tax law is now in the higher courts. Asked to rule on it the Kentucky Court of Appeals gave a statement that they would not consider making a decision, since the law affected the salaries and earnings of state employees, and therefore applied to them. A special court to hear the case has been appointed by Governor Chandler, with a representative from each precinct. Bernard Coughlin of Maysville will represent this district. Another member of the court is Henry R. Frawitt, Mt. Sterling, who served 14 years as Circuit Judge of the 11th district of which Rowan is a part. There seems little question but that this special court will declare the income tax law valid. The men appointed by the Governor are administration supporters, and as such, it appears an almost certain that their decision will favor the administration or, at the least, be designed to increase the revenue of the state.

CHANGES: That Rowan County's official family will be somewhat changed next year is certain.

Mort May, democratic sheriff, will under state law, not be permitted to succeed himself. Mr. May is seeking no other office. County Judge Charles E. Jennings, Republican, is not seeking re-election. Whether W. E. Proctor will campaign for County Attorney is not known.

J. L. Lewis is a candidate for re-election as Tax Commissioner. Mr. Lewis, who comes from Elliottville, is a Republican.

C. V. Albery, present county clerk, checking the Republican nomination for the same office, and politicians feel that he is as good as "in" so far as the primary is concerned. Joe McKinney, Circuit Clerk, holds office for 3 more years. The Circuit Clerk, Commonwealth Attorney and Circuit Judge are elected for six years. These races will come off in 1938.

The entire fiscal court is to be elected this year. Three of the 5 places on the Board of Education will also be at stake. City officers, from the Mayor to Council members, will also be contested this year. Most of the present council members have said they will not seek re-election.

The Board of Education and the city races are not contested in the primary but are decided in the November final election.

There were 32,000,000 acres under crops in India in 1934 of which 21 per cent was under oil seeds, 26,000,000 under cotton, and 24,000,000 planted to the other principal oil seed crops, linseed, rape, mustard, sesame, castor, copra and ground nut.

Girl Writes Notes Of Louisville Trip

Rowan Spelling Champion Entertained At Kentucky Spelling Bee

By Margena Ellington
On April 14, 1937, I went to Louisville to represent Rowan County in the Courier-Journal Spelling Bee. We spent the night in the Kentucky Hotel where Mr. McWain had reserved a room for us. The next morning we rode around town seeing some damages caused by the flood. At 9:00 o'clock we gathered at the Louisville Male High School for a 50-word written test (in which I was eliminated.) When we had finished yellow cabs waited outside to take us to the free banquet at the Kentucky Hotel.

There was a thousand of us including the champion and superintendent of each speller. At the banquet, Mr. McWain read the names of the ones making the highest grade and asked each one to stand. After I knew I couldn't spell orally, I wanted Hazel Wilson of Russell County to win because she ate at our table and I knew her. She won third prize which was $75.

Eight of the spellers had been there before. If we have a winner, we too must train a sixth grader and send him three years in prison.

Copyied the words down and brought them home with me.

CIGARETTE PLAYED CUPID TO FAMOUS MUSICIAN

Antonio Modarelli, Conductor Of Pittsburgh Symphony

Found Romance In Germany Through American Cigarette

AMONG the happiest couples in the world of music are Antonio Modarelli, the internationally known composer and conductor, who directs the famous Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, and his wife, Johanna. And—Mr. "Be-lieve-not-it" Rippy says— they were introduced to each other by a cigarette.

It happened on a June day in 1929, on a train between Berlin and suburban Zehlendorf-West, where Modarelli was living at the time. Born and brought up in Pittsburgh, he had gone abroad seven years before to study music and composition, and, by the time of this particular train ride, had already achieved considerable prominence on the continent as a composer and conductor.

As he sat in a second-class berth, Modarelli was scarcely aware of the presence of a fellow-passenger, an attractive young lady who was the only other occupant of the compartment. But he happened to glance up as she lit a cigarette. A look of particular interest flashed in his eyes as he noticed that her cigarettes were of a popular American brand. American cigarettes, of course, expensive in Europe, too much so for a struggling young musician. Modarelli, who did not include himself as such a luxury in a long time, couldn't resist the temptation to trade his fellow-passenger a German cigarette for one of the American ones.

Graciously she insisted on giving him the whole pack. A few minutes later she came to the window at Zehlendorf-West, and the musician discovered that the young lady was a close neighbor. Leaving the train, they found themselves marooned by a heavy snow. He suggested that they celebrate the day and wait out the shower by having a cup of coffee together at a cafe near the station. They had the cup of coffee. The rain continued and they had dinner. At ten o'clock the night, five hours after their meeting, they were engaged. Ten months later, they were married. Shortly after that, Modarelli brought his blonde bride to America, with an eye on work in Hollywood. But they never left the Hollywood for, while visiting in his own home town, Pittsburgh, Modarelli was offered the conductorship of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, a position which has since brought him to considerable national prominence.

Mrs. Modarelli, known to her friends as "Hansi", had a considerable reputation in her native

C. C. C. Youths Are Healthy, M. D. Says

Enrollees Between 17 and 23 Years Are In Good Physical Condition

CCC enrollees are healthier than other groups of young men, between the ages of 17 and 23 years, as a result of daily inspections made by medical reserve officers and contract physicians assigned to CCC duty, according to Lieutenant Roy M. Williams, Commandant No. 578, CCC, located near Morehead.

Common colds are the chief cause of illness in the CCC, he says, therefore every precaution is taken to air bedding and keep barracks properly heated and ventilated. Enrollees, who may become seriously ill, are treated at the nearest Army or civilian hospital.

Under the new CCC health program Dental Reserve Officers are being assigned to spend two weeks in each camp to give emergency treatment to the teeth of all enrollees.

Injuries on the job have been reduced to a minimum by regular lectures and by general courses on safety conducted by members of the technical staff, according to Supt. Bruce L. Vice in charge of the work project.

Each camp has a medical officer and first attendant in charge of the infirmary rather than run the infirmary on their own. Injuries which occur on the job in athletic contests in which enrollees to secure treatment for the most trivial scratch or injury are taken to air bedding and keep barracks properly heated and ventilated. Enrollees, who may become seriously ill, are treated at the nearest Army or civilian hospital.

78 Farmers Benefit From Federal Levy

County Agent C. L. Goff Says This Many In Agricultural Program

Seventy-eight Rowan County farmers took advantage of the Agricultural Conservation Program's offer to supply them with 43 per cent phosphate for their soil conserving crops. These farmers ordered 44 tons of the phosphate, one car has arrived and the phosphate delivered; the second carload will arrive in Morehead shortly after May 1st. This fertilizer is being supplied by T. V. A. and is shipped from Sheffield, Alabama. It is the highest grade ever used in the county, being more than double the strength of the 20 per cent phosphate which is the usual type sold.

The use of phosphate fertilizer on soil conserving crops is one of the soil building practices that is being paid for by the Conservation Program. The fertilizer will be paid for out of the farmer's building allowance and will be deducted from his check when payment is made in the latter part of the year. The offer was made to acquaint the farmer with the use of higher analysis fertilizer and to induce the use of fertilizers on grass, clover and lespedeza. It also makes it possible for a farmer to earn a considerable amount of his soil building allowance by putting up very little cash.

Billion Relief Cut Prediction Of Week

F. D. R. To Curtail Federal Expenditures, Prominent Legislator Says

An influential member of the House Appropriations Committee today said there was a strong possibility Congress might pass a new works relief fund to $1,000,000,000.

Representative Woodrum, Democrat, Virginia, acting chairman of a subcommittee which will start hearings tomorrow on a relief-deficiency money bill asserted: "With Congress in its present economy mood, I believe the President's figure may be cut to $500,000,000."

President Roosevelt recom-

mented an additional $1,500,000,000 works-relief fund. Congressional leaders said he resisted suggestions that 500,000,000 be topped from the total on grounds a reduction merely would mean more money must be appropriated later.

Even if it were necessary to provide additional funds later, Woodrum said, economies might be realized by compelling the Works Progress Administration to spend cautiously on a basis of $1,000,000 rather than $1,500,000,000.

Statement for a $500,000,000 reduction has been evidenced in some Senate quarters. The House committee will open hearings tomorrow. Woodrum said, with a discussion of a proposal to continue the Public Works Administration. On Wednesday, the subcommittee expects to take up the $1,500,000,000 works-relief recommendation.

Woodrum, who has been arguing for economy and against "economy hysteria," said that the proper way of approaching a reduction in public expenditures is by having the individual items considered by the Appropriations Committee.

Appropriations bills passed by the House already have been trimmed more than $100,000,000 under Presidential recommendations, he noted.

The Virginian yesterday asked the heads of thirty-two independent Federal establishments to resurvey money requirements for the next fiscal year and help

GROCERY SALES BETTER

Daily average sales of grocery chain stores for March showed an increase of about 8 per cent in dollar volume as compared with March, 1936, and were 9 per cent above the same month in 1935 according to recent department of Commerce estimates.

Sales increased about two and one-half per cent from February to March in contrast with a usual slight decline at this season, as shown by a comparison with the average change between these two months during the past year.

Third, that it was a case of involuntary manslaughter, and fine General Denhardt any reasonable amount of money, or send him to the county jail for any reasonable length of time, or both fine and sentence him to jail.

Fourth, that her death was caused in self-defense, and liberate Denhardt;

Fifth, that her death came as result of accident, and liberate Denhardt, or Finally, that Denhardt did not kill her at all, and thereby acquit him.

Denhardt was technically in custody from the time the jury went out, his liberty under bond being at an end when the case went to the jury, but arrangements had been made for him to remain merely under guard while the jury deliberated.

The last day of the hearing was devoted to three final arguments, two by the prosecution and one by the defense. As John Marshall Berry, New Castle defense attorney, made the last plea for him, Denhardt's soldierly composure broke for the first time in the trial and he wept.

This incident took place when Berry charged the entire story had not been told to the jury. "Mr. Clark (J. Ballard Clark, Berry's prosecutor) and Mr. Turner (Wirt Turner, New Castle, another special prosecutor) and Captain Kinsolving (H. B. Kinsolving, Jr., Commonwealth's attorney) all know that I know of a fact—Mr. Clark could not know of a fact that placed a perplexing question in the mind of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor—something she was not responsible for—a fact that no decent man would discuss and that no decent set of men would listen to."

"They say there is no motive for Mrs. Taylor to have committed suicide," Berry asserted. "We come back and say, what have you shown as a motive for killing her?"

"Locked in the closet of every man heart hangs a skeleton to haunt and pursue you. What it is, Mrs. Taylor's heart no one has said and I won't say."

Again, as Berry pictured Denhardt as a man 61 years old, seeking to retire to the hills of Oldham County, leaving behind the turmoil and strife of his political military career, to walk hand-in-hand down the sunset slope with the woman he loved, Denhardt wept again.

On both occasions he quickly regained composure and he appeared to doze, his head tilted back, his eyes closed, while Kinsolving excoriated him in the state's final argument.

Mrs. Taylor's death, as Kinsolving said, was brought about "when she broke with this defendant and sought to return to her home."

"Possibly in a fit of jealous rage," Kinsolving said, "he pulled out this gun and killed her and she fell, or he shot her while she was down, because the bullet rangles upward. Her body was pulled by the head or shoulder into the ditch and placed there."

"That body, after she was killed, was moved, because there was no blood under it."

Some months ago, I announced my intentions, of being a candidate for Representative, from the Bath-Rowan District in this paper.

Having served during the three previous sessions of the Legislature I feel that I am well qualified to handle your interests and the interests of the district.

Naturally when important legislation is presented in the General Assembly there is a difference of opinion, both among the legislators and their constituents. Some of you may have differed with me on some measures that I supported, but I can assure you that every vote I cast was what I believed to be the best for my district and the people who elected me represent them and with the advice of leading citizens of Rowan and Bath Counties.

Between now and the August 7 primary I expect to see each of you personally and will be glad to confer with you on any legislation which might be helpful for this district.

I seek no political favors either for myself or family. My one ambition, if nominated and elected to this important office, will be to have you say after my term has expired that I have made you the best Representative you have ever had.

Mae West comedy, "Go West Young Man," is already established as one of America's greatest comedians, and the screen's favorite depicter of a brow-beaten husband. He soared to stardom in these roles opposite Mary Boland, with whom he last appeared in "Wives Never Know."

Miss Brady is the daughter of a famous theatrical couple, has been a Broadway stage favorite and film star for many years. She enacts the role of a well-meaning wife in "Mind Your Own Business," who takes it upon herself to do her husband's job with results that make this film one of the outstanding laugh hits of the year.

Others in the cast are Lyle Talbot, who also appeared with Miss Brady in "Go West Young Man," Jack La Rue, Bennie Baker, Francis Darro, and many others.

Charles Boyer Has Lead In New Film

"History Is Made At Night" Coming to College Theatre On Friday

Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur, the newest team of film romancers, come to the College Theatre Friday, May 7th, in Walter Wagener's "History is Made at Night."

This smart, fast-paced romance casts Boyer in the role of a man-about-town and the most popular head waiter on the Continent, while Jean Arthur plays a lovely New York mannequin. They meet in Paris under thrilling circumstances. The pair become involved in a gay, ultra-modern romance which carries them from France to America against a series of changing moods, settings, including a crack luxury liner and the smartest restaurants in New York and Paris.

Leo Carrillo and Colvin Clive are featured in the supporting cast which also includes Ivan Lebedeff, George Egan, Lucian Prival and Georges Renevent. For Friday, May 14th, the feature brings Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in "Shuffle Along." Featured also is the cast and Edward Everett Horton, Eric Blore, and James Cawton and Ketti Gallan.

Refreshing as an April shower—Exciting as a fire—the world's gay dancing sweethearts, stepping to town higher, brighter than ever in their grandest show of all. Fred and Ginger are surrounded by the screen's greatest modern cast and three score of Hollywood's hand-picked glamour girls.

These Gershwin songs will make the audience want to dance: "Let's Call the Whole Thing Off," "Blag That Bass," "We Got Beginners' Luck," "They All Laughed," "They Can't Take That Away," and "Shall We Dance."

What about the story and what about the cast?

Some familiar Hollywood faces will be recognized in this production, which was filmed and directed in one of the famous West Coast studios. The heroine is a suspense bride, who shares the perplexities of many an older housekeeper. Actually the title should be "It Might Happen Here," for the human story has universal appeal. Ralph Wyatt Heads State Department

Danville Man In Charge of $4 Million Dollar Construction of Insane Asylum

Ralph C. Wyatt, of Danville, has been named assistant chief engineer of the state welfare department's $4,000,000 prison and hospital construction program. Frederick A. Wallis, director of the state welfare department, announced last night.

Mr. Wyatt's appointment was effective Monday. He will be assistant to C. R. Logan, former member of the staff of the engineering college of the University of Kentucky, who was named as chief engineer several months ago.

Mr. Wyatt is a native of Mt. Sterling. He later became a resident of Lexington and graduated from Lexington Senior High school. During the World War he served two years in the United States navy. He was graduated from the University of Kentucky.

with an engineering degree in 1927. Mr. Wyatt became city engineer and superintendent of waterworks at Danville in 1928. During his connection with the Boyle county system he designed the new $150,000 water intake system recently installed there. He served with the city of Danville until 1936.

From February, 1936, until October, 1936, he was connected with the inspection division of the Public Works Administration. From the latter date until his appointment to the state position Mr. Wyatt served with the engineering division of the Public Works Administration at Louisville. He will make his headquarters for state welfare work at Frankfort.

365-POUND AVERAGE FOR COWS ON TEST
 Three thousand cows, tested in seven dairy herd improvement associations in Kentucky last year, averaged 365 pounds of butterfat, according to a statement from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. The average Kentucky farm cow is said to produce about 138 pounds of butterfat a year.

Eight of the 141 herds on test last year produced more than 400 pounds per cow. For the second consecutive year, Hugh Gingles of Calloway county was top, with a record of 468 pounds of butterfat per cow. The Berea College herd of 69 cows averaged 459 pounds, as did the 55 cows in the herd of P. B. Gaines in Carroll county.

Other herds producing 400 pounds or more per cow were Walnut Hill Farm, Fayette county; Ewing-Von Allmen, Oldham county; M. D. Harrison, Graves county; the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington; and A. Moser and Son, Jefferson county.

The 1935 census reported 584,784 cows on Kentucky farms, an increase of 96,000 head over 1930.

RECONITION HOME AT SMALL EXPENSE

Inspired by project lessons in a homemakers' club, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thessen in Mt. Victor community in Warren county reconitioned their home at small cost, spending money only for paint, paper and curtain material. Refinishing furniture, they discovered that they owned several valuable antiques, made of rare walnut. Beds and other furniture were taken apart, refinished, paint removed and then left in natural finishes.

Miriam J. Kelley, the home agent, considers their work a demonstration of what might be done in many farm homes.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

The banks in Taylor county are helping to get registered cattle into the county. The farmer gives a note to the bank for the cost of the cow, and agrees to apply one-half of the income from the cow on the debt. It is believed that 300 to 400 cows will be placed under this plan.

Two tons of pork from one sow in one year: this is the record of Bill Ed and Robert Hendon of Hazel, Ky. The spring litter of 8 pigs were fed 186 days, weighed 1859 pounds and paid a profit of $93. The fall litter of 9 pigs were fed 187 days, weighed 2,235 pounds and made a profit of $86. The 25th anniversary of agricultural extension work in Christian county was celebrated by a banquet, which 140 persons attended. The officers of homemakers' clubs, members of the first 4-H club organization in the county, and state specialists were on the program.

The honors in dairy production in Washington county last month went to Leonard Whitley. A registered Jersey owned by him produced 41 pounds of butterfat from 1,001 pounds of milk. His herd also ranked highest for the month. A POULTRY RECORD: Mrs. Hugh S. Thomas, Jessamine county, gathered 1,588 eggs from 89 hens last month, selling them for $33. Mrs. Thomas also has 200 White Rocks that average 1 1/4 pounds at 8 weeks, and which will be sold as broilers.

Low prices for eggs have caused many Elliott county farmers to sell their flocks and buy baby chicks. Approximately 25,000 baby chicks were bought in March. Farmers have a three-point program: plenty of chickens and eggs for home use, high quality eggs to all to hatcheries, and early broilers.

HATCHERIES PRODUCING A LOT OF NEW FISH

The production of fish and eggs at Federal hatcheries in 1936 exceeded that for any previous year since their inception and exceeded by 60 per cent the production for 1935. These facts were disclosed in a report on the propagation and distribution of food fisheries issued by the Bureau of Fisheries, and just received by the Louisville District Office of the Department of Commerce.

More than 4,500,000,000 cod, haddock, pollock and flatfish eggs were handled by hatchery operators last year. The eggs were removed from fish taken for market by fishermen, fertilized, and returned directly to the spawning grounds. The output of game and pan fish, such as trout, black bass, etc., was greater in 1936 than in the preceding year by about 4,000,000 fish. Among the facts brought out in the report was that it requires three to five pounds of fish food, plus constant and painstaking care, to produce a pound of trout.

One way to increase the use of vegetables by members of the family is to grow more kinds in the home garden. While the average garden contains only a half-dozen vegetables, it should include at least a dozen, and many more kinds could be grown.

THE STORY THIS FAR: Nick Charles, whose wife, Nora, would not let him retire from detective work, becomes involved in the hunt for the murderer of Robert Landis, young San Francisco playboy. Among those under suspicion are Dancer and Lum Kee, co-proprietors of the Chinese night club Landis visited on the night of his death. Polly Byrnes, singer at the club with whom Landis planned to run away, and Phil, Polly's racketeer brother. The first arrest, however, is that of Selma, Robert Landis's wife, when it develops that she was carrying a gun near her husband's body. This revolver had been given to David Graham, Selma's ex-suitor, who admitted having disposed of it at the waterfront to shield her.

CHAPTER EIGHT

"Widow Grilled in Landis Killing" blared an early morning extra, hot off the press. "Landis Doctor hunts at insanity" shrieked a rival journal.

When Selma had been placed in custody, Lieutenant Abrams sent a squad of men to the waterfront with David Graham, to check up on his story of having disposed of the gun there.

Nick and Nora offered to give Abrams a lift from headquarters to one of the downtown restaurants. Nora, reacting from the night's excitement, dropped off to sleep. Nick could hardly keep his eyes open. But his mental processes were clicking in good order. He had ideas.

"I'll make you a sizable bet Selma is innocent," he said.

been taken up on the offer. In a minute Nora began to ramble on in a low monotone. "After all," she said, "if I want scrambled eggs, I can get them for myself."

Another pause.

"Of course," she continued, "I'm not as good a cook as you are, but that's all right."

A still longer period of silence. Then Nora spoke again.

"Nick," she said, "can you reach the water?"

Nick made a sleepy motion with one arm, groped over the side of the bed. He connected with the water carafe, and handed it to her.

"Oh, I didn't want any," said Nora. "I just wanted to be sure you could reach it."

Nick pulled his light on, searched for his slippers, and vaulted out of the covers.

"Come on," he said, "we'll fix those scrambled eggs!"

Asta gave a yelp of happiness when she was re-admitted from the hall. She looked at the culinary operations that were going on and licked her chops. But Nora, once she had become fully awake, put on a long face.

"What's the matter?" asked Nick, pausing.

"I keep thinking of Selma. Down in that jail."

"There's nothing to worry about," said Nick. "Tomorrow they'll find the gun, it won't have been fired, and Selma will be free."

"Then you don't really think she did it?" pressed Nora.

"No."

"Of course she didn't do it," agreed Nora. "She couldn't have." She paused a moment, looking at him. "I don't think I'd kill you if you ran off with another woman."

"Thanks, darling," said Nick. "I might though," added Nora with an afterthought, as she reached for a long kitchen knife. Nick involuntarily winced and drew back.

The ceremony of breaking the eggs was interrupted by a startling happening. Without warning there was a crash of breaking glass in the opposite corner of the kitchen. Something fell with a hard thud on the floor. Nick and Nora jumped. She was the first to catch the explanation of what had occurred.

"Look!" she cried. "It's a stone!" She stepped closer. "It's got a note tied to it!"

Nora bent over and was about to pick up the peculiar missile when Asta, darting in furiously and barking seized it in her mouth. Nora lunged for the dog, and the latter, thinking it was a new game, whined away in delight.

"Asta, come here!" cried Nora, getting up and pursuing. "Drop that! It's a clue!"

"Woof! Woof!" responded Asta happily.

"Nickie! Help me!" appealed Nora. Nick joined her in the living room. They tried to trick Asta into going behind an armchair but he was too smart. Then they tried to drive him into a corner of the room, but he was too fast. Finally he disappeared. When Nora discovered him under the table he skipped away safely. Nick tardily reached to close the hall door. Asta was out first.

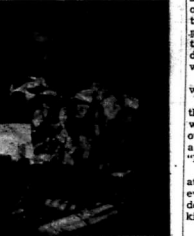

At last Nick, crawling on hands and knees through the hall doorway, resorted to cunning.

"Nice Asta," he said. "Nice doggie. Want me to throw it for you?"

He went through the motions of throwing a ball. Asta answered the invitation with a suspicious growl. Under pressure, however, he advanced slowly. Nick's hand went out. He clutched the stone. But victory was incomplete. Nora, standing behind him cried out.

"Oh, look!" she exclaimed. "He's chewing the note!"

Nick whirled the stone to divert the dog, and sent it spinning. It crashed through a hallway window pane. Asta looked up in approval. Nora dived across the room, catching him off guard, and grabbed the paper. She held up and read it aloud:

"Mr. Phil Byrnes alias Ralph West is an ex-con and was married to Polly in Topeka three years ago. He lives at the... the rest was missing. It had been chewed off."

"Bad Asta," said Nick. "You swallowing that address? And I've been boasting about what a smart dog you were."

She pried his mouth open. It was empty.

"What are we supposed to do?" asked Nick. "Send Phil and Polly an anniversary present?"

"Don't you see," cried Nora, "if Phil is her husband, then he shot Robert because he found out she was going around with Polly. You must phone Abrams."

Nick did so. Nora completed the cooking. She was so excited she could hardly keep her mind on her work, but she managed to turn out some eggs that looked presentable. When she dished them out on two plates she suddenly became aware that Nick was not with her.

"Nickie!" she called. No answer.

She looked in the living room, then went to the bedroom. Nick was peacefully sleeping in his own bed. Pinned to the cover was a sign taken from the outer door. "Please Do Not Disturb."

Nora picked up a pillow to fire at him. Then, hunger overcoming every other instinct, she put it down and hurried back to the kitchen.

HEAVY FEEDING OF MINERAL MIXTURES FOUND HARMFUL

An official report of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky covering the composition of mineral mixtures and their effect on livestock indicates that heavy feeding of mineral mixtures harmful to animals. The study of mineral mixtures followed continued reports to the Experiment Station of stock on farms over the state dying without symptoms of diseases or troubles commonly fatal to animals. It was observed that in many instances of such losses the stock had free access to mineral mixtures, such mixtures being placed in pastures, feed lots and barns. Samples of mixtures used on farms were fed to rats at the Experiment Station in varying amounts. Very small amounts apparently did not affect the animals, but where the ration was 3 per cent minerals the animals were clearly affected, and as the amount of the mineral mixture was increased the trouble became increasingly severe. Post-mortem examinations of the rats revealed serious intestinal disturbance.

A chemical analysis of mixtures showed them to contain large amounts of salt, ground limestone and finely ground rock phosphate. Rock phosphate contains calcium fluoride, a substance which the investigators at the Experiment Station say has a harmful effect on animals. The mixture also contained sand and silica, copperas, bluestone and other substances of doubtful value when fed to livestock.

Other than salt, it is probable that livestock in Kentucky need little or no mineral supplied to them, says the Experiment Sta-

Wyant Picked As Cincinnati Takes To Road In Hopes Of Winning Games

Note: This is the second of a series of articles dealing with football prospects at the Morehead State Teachers College.

One of the big questions in the minds of many Morehead Eagle football followers and supporters deals with "Tim" Wyant, the Russell finish of last year.

Will Wyant be able to perform in the same creditable manner that earned him an all-state berth last year?

Wyant, a substitute 2 years ago leaped into prominence last season by gaining more ground than any other member of the Blue and Gold team, besides leading the drives that brought touchdowns for the Morehead team.

In many cases a mere nite of a player as compared with Eagle opponents, Wyant used his speed and ability to break away in an open field, to earn him the title of the best ground-gaining back on the Morehead team last year.

It was all a comfortable surprise to Eagle fans and the Morehead coaching staff, who had not counted on Wyant so heavily prior to the opening of the season.

It is the writers opinion that Wyant will not only be able to duplicate his performance in 1936, but will improve upon it. He has a year's more experience—he has earned his spurs in addition to this Wyant is a clean liver. He loves football and plays the game for all there is in it.

Wyant will have a much stronger team to support him in his touchdown gallops this year. Superior blocking should mean that he will be more effective in getting through opposing lines and in a broken field.

In answer to the question of whether Wyant will be as great a football player this fall as he was in 1936, we can but repeat that "in all likelihood he will be greater."

Almost all the tires sold in Canada are now produced in the Dominion.

MOREHEAD-EASTERN THE IN SWIMMING COMPETITION

Morehead and Berea tied in a swimming meet at Berea Saturday night. Charley Morris, captain of the Eagle team was defeated in diving for the first time. Previously the Eagle tank stars had defeated the Richmond team in a match at Semr Natatorium. G. D. Downing, coach of the Morehead swimmers has started getting his squad in shape for the state tournament to be held here May 15.

ITALY PLANS TO RAISE OUTPUT OF CASTOR OIL

Regulation of the production of castor oil beans in Italy with the view to increasing the national output is provided for in a recently enacted law, according to a report to the Louisville District Office of the Department of Commerce.

The castor oil plant grows naturally in many parts of south and central Italy.

While there is a substantial use of castor oil for medicinal purposes in Italy, its most important use is as a lubricant, largely in aeronautics. The possibilities of the cultivation of the castor oil plant in Ethiopia, have yet to be explored, but they are believed to be favorable in many parts of the country.

TATTOOING HELPS CHICKEN STEALING

The Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association announces that chicken stealing has almost ceased in regions where the tattooing system is being used. Twenty-two hundred farmers now are using a tattoo brand on the heads of their chickens. The brand cannot be removed, and makes the identification of ownership easy for buyers and law enforcement officers. Chicken stealing had become prevalent, especially in the vicinity of Morehead.

Reds Are Now In National League Cellar; Play Chicago At Home May 15, 16

The Reds are on the road again, tripping through the National League's eastern section of the spring that will keep them away from their home Crosley Field until Saturday, May 15. On that day they will return to meet the Chicago Cubs in a three-game set.

This is a tough early season schedule for Charley Dressen's group of battlers, due to their constant traveling. However, their new win will be their gain later, for the advantage will swing to their side when they settle down to better and longer home stands.

The Saturday homecoming to be followed by Sunday and Monday games against these same Chicago Grizzlies. Then will come the Boston Reds. A single game Tuesday will be followed by the opening night game of the season at Crosley Field Wednesday night, May 19, against these same Boston men.

A Sunday game against the Cubs, attraction of special attraction in this locality, and the season's opening night contests all in the same week should provide baseball fans with plenty to which to look forward.

Reserved and box seats for these two special events are now on sale at the Red's downtown ticket office in Straus' Cigar Store, 6th and Walnut Streets, Cincinnati. Reservations are being accepted there and at the club offices in the Union Central Building.

Prominent in a Cincinnati uniform at the homecoming will be Chick Hatley, one of the game's best right-hand hitters, who will be returning for a comeback try after two seasons out of action because of a sinus infection. Hatley recently agreed to terms

Security Numbers Now Available To Factory Employees

Workers Over 65 Years Of Age Will Be Cared For Under Plan

Employees over 65 in Rowan County, who work in factories, shops, mines, mills, stores, offices and other places of business not excluded under the Old-Age Benefits and Unemployment Compensation of the Social Security Board, now can get their Security Account Numbers according to an announcement made today by S. H. Outbacker, Field Representative of the Board in Ashland, Ky.

Explaining the reason for this new registration, Mr. Outbacker stated that the step was taken primarily as an aid to States in administering unemployment compensation laws. Application for an account number by an employee 65 years of age or over is voluntary in so far as the Social Security Act is concerned. However, the same type of account number card will be issued to the 65 years of age and over as has been issued to the workers.

"State unemployment compensation laws," said Outbacker, "cover workers of all ages. Since State agencies will use Social Security Account Numbers, such account numbers are needed for workers 65 years of age and over as well as for the younger employees. In order to promote efficiency and uniformity, therefore, we are allowing for enumeration by all workers on a voluntary basis."

Procedure to be followed by aged workers is the same as that for others. They should get their application blanks at the local post office or at the office of the Social Security Board, and after filling them out completely, transmit them to the local post office which will issue the number. No postage is needed in mailing applications to post offices.

Mr. Outbacker emphasized that information on applications for account numbers, by agreements between the official State unemployment compensation administration and the Social Security Board will be held as absolutely confidential and will be used by the State agencies as well as by the Social Security Board solely in administering Social Security laws.

Voluntary registration for the purposes outlined does not entitle an aged worker to regular benefits of the Federal program. Requirements for such benefits are established by the Act and are not changed by the new ruling. Those requirements are: A worker must have earned net less than $2,000 in covered employment in five different calendar years—that, date and before age 65, before regular monthly benefit payments can be made to him.

State Swim Meet Set For Saturday

On Captain Charley Morris will rest the main hopes of the swimming team of the Morehead State Teachers College to capture the Kentucky collegiate championship here Saturday evening.

This is the second time that the state tournament has been held. Last year, at Eastern the University of Kentucky won the state title with Morehead placing second.

In many respects this year's Morehead aggregation is stronger than the 1936 team. The club is better balanced and has one star, in Morris, who is almost unbeatable at some events.

Morris was defeated in diving for the first time at Richmond last week, but the Eagles and Eastern tied. However, the Morehead club was not very well satisfied with the method judging those dives, and the general opinion is that Morris will be able to annex the state diving championship with little trouble unless more opposition develops than other clubs have shown in the past.

Radjunas, who has been out of the Morehead lineup for several weeks because of illness should be in shape to compete in the state meet, although it is doubtful if he will be at his best. Ligon Kessler, Morehead youth, is counted on heavily for the long meets, principally the 210 yard free-style. Jackson is also a strong contender on the Morehead club.

Kentucky's decision over both Morehead and Eastern gives them the favorite spot. However, More-

AMERICA

Not even the truth shall stand
 Who North or South or East or Western Land.
 Nature's laws made so true
 Freedom for freedom love for love and God.
 For God, one, are in eternal youth.
 Speak with a living and creative word.
 This universal English and do stand.
 Its breathing, live, live, worthy of that grand, inspired, yet
 Herone utterance—parted, yet a whole.
 Far, yet unachieved—children
 brave and free.
 Of the great mother-tongue we shall be
 Lords of an empire wide as Shakespeare's soul.
 Sublime as Milton's immemorial
 theme.
 And rich as Chaucer's speech and fair as Spenser's dream.
