"Pied Piper" To Be At College, May 9

"Gigantic, stupendous, colossal," those over-taxed and over-worked actors to impress the public that a great spectacle is available for witnessing are most appropriate in connection with the operetta which the Department of Music of Morehead State Teachers College is to present in the College Auditorium on Thursday night, May 9. The music, by Joseph Clokey, a famous American composer, is full of gay melodies and lilt and charm which will run through your head for weeks after the performance.

The plot is concerned with the old legend of the town which was infested with rats and which led of these rats by a piper whose melodies lured the rats to the river where they were all drowned. The mayor, finding that the rats are successfully and completely exterminated, refuses the promised reward. What happens then drives to the chief excitement of the play until finally an offer of a sacrificial nature makes to the happy ending which makes possible a chorus of rejoicings before the curtain falls.

The part of the Piper will be played by John Paul Shickel, tenor. Murvel Blair, bass, plays the pompous and scheming Mayor of Hamelin

Testimonies from scores who attended these meetings indicate that something unusual in the manner of preaching and the impressive content of the messages was brought to the people. There was no intense

Dr. Estrem has been a member of the faculty of the college for the past ten years and during that time he has never missed meeting a class until his recent illness. Which makes his percentage almost perfect.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

ONE farmer out in Oklahoma was showing some eight-seers from town over his farm, and they come to a place where they was potatoes growing on one side of a little road, and corn on the other side. But there was a sign on the potato patch that said "Sweet Corn," and on the other side where the corn was the sign said, "Potato Patch."

"Got your signs mixed, ain't you?" said one of the city kids. "Nope, they're thataway a-purpos."

Streams Stocked With Bass Draw Attention Of Officers

While the fishing season closed on Tuesday night at midnight, it is bound to linger long in the minds of a few fishermen of this community if reports are true. Five suckers and two frogs was the net result of a gigning party, but the party cost the signers the sum total of $29.95. They decided that fish weren't worth it.

The story goes several boys decided to go on a gigning party Sunday night. In fact, according to reports several parties were out. Unfortunately for them, somebody locally notified about the proposed drives and learned the federal game authorities who have been stocking the streams since they have established the Cumberland Forest. The warden, W. H. Howerton of Danville, arrived on the scene with several assistants to investigate. Swinging reel and stalking the creek bank Mr. Howerton proceeded to investigate. He came upon one party and caught them red-handed. There was no possibility of escape. He very calmly and kindly took them in tow and took over their bag. Asked where they wanted to go they decided to take the shortest course to the closest "law", the magistrate court of Squire Jim Rose. There Mr. Howerton preferred his charges and the fine of $15.00 and costs of $14.95 were assessed. Mr. Howerton then returned the fish to the boys who felt that they were eating gold fish the following night.

Mr. Howerton explained that the government since they have established the Cumberland Forest, have been stocking local streams with game fish and that they plan on establishing a careful watch to that none of the federal fish and game laws are broken. He said that had the boys in the party captured any bass in their catch, he could not have released them.

RICH POOR FOLKS

Outside of a very few, there is apparently no great wealth in Morehead. That is only apparently, however. You are not really likely to learn how rich you are and every other citizen of Morehead is until and unless someone your family falls ill. Then you learn that you have wealth unequalled by Croesus, wealth that would make Midas look like a piker.

Friends flock in. Friends perhaps you have thought of only casually friends you have just taken for granted. But they are friends, and friends are wealth. So, taken by and large, there are really few poor folks in Morehead. Most of them are rich, rich in friendships, rich in neighborliness, rich in the fellowship that makes human society a fit place for human beings.

There's a certain atmosphere about Morehead and Morehead folks as a whole that makes you glad to be here. Or if you have been away, it makes you glad to get back. There's a certain hearty ring to their welcome or to their greetings, that makes you feel that it is meant that they are sincere in what they say.

Last week we had occasion to realize those facts more forcefully than usual. Our mother was ill. That is when neighbors prove themselves neighbors and friends prove themselves friends. And they did.

It would be hard to say just how many inquiries were made in person and by phone. It would not be so hard, if one could count the inquiries, to say how many offers of help were made, as they were as numerous as the inquiries. Fortunately it was not necessary. But it was encouraging. And it proved what we had not known before, that without riches we were rich, because we were possessed of that nameless and unmeasured riches, friendship of our neighbors.

LOOKING AHEAD — YEARS AHEAD

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., head of General Motors, in a recent article, says that amazing changes and extra-ordinary wealth and prosperity lie ahead. It will come he says when people start to adopt the changes which science has wrought in the last five years. Economic conditions have diverted their attitude. They have ignored what is going on in the way of scientific progress. Changes in houses—the homes in which we live—which are as great and as revolutionary as the change from the buckboard to the automobile are at hand.

Air conditioning in homes, shops, factories and office buildings. Temperatures and humidity can and are being controlled by new devices. Disease breeding dirt and dust can and are removed from the air one breathes. Many of the causes of discomfort and ill-health can be controlled.

Houses of fabricated materials which will be built in factories and shipped to the user in sections represent another revolutionary change. Not only can substantial and vastly improved houses be obtained this way, but the time element required in present day buildings is largely eliminated. Also, it is claimed, the cost of homes can and will be materially reduced.

The type, speed and comfort of railroad trains is another revolutionary change which Mr. Sloan believes is coming rapidly. Already new type trains are being used in an experimental way. The changing of this equipment in itself will provide a vast army of workmen employment.

Science has not stood still in the last five years. Changes for better things have been planned. The upset in economics has merely postponed some of these changes which would have been well on their way to adoption. Mr. Sloan believes. One has only to know the population of the U. S. is 130,000,000 people and that there are about 30,000,000 homes together with the fact that American people adopt changes for the better more rapidly and readily than any other in the world to realize the significance of these statements.

Private industry and private initiative which have so courageously carried this country to leadership in the world will again lead it out of the economic doldrums if given a chance. There are interesting days ahead. Our children and their children will accept as commonplace what we are now shaking our doubtful heads over.

PERVERTED SPORTSMANSHIP

Sometimes we wonder whether people haven't let their sporting attitude toward everything warp their judgement in such serious matters as crime and the pursuits of criminals. The notion that the fugitive from justice is entitled a sporting chance, that it is a game between the officers of the law and the criminal, in which everybody is entitled to take the part of either side, accounts in large measure, we think, for the maudlin sympathy often exhibited toward offenders.

Boys are taught that it is not good sportsmanship to shoot birds except on the wing. But certainly that does not apply when the quarry is not "game" but vermin. One is taking no unfair advantage of a skunk to shoot it sitting, or of a rat to entrap or poison it by any means that can be devised.

We think a great deal of good would be accomplished if there were some way to impress upon young folk that flagrant violators of the law, murderers, kidnapers and robbers, are not "game" but vermin. The principle that every criminal is entitled to a fair trial has been warped, by a sort of perverted sportsmanship into the feeling that every criminal has a right to his liberty as long as he is smart enough to keep out of the clutches of the law regardless of the means he adopts, even killing to evade his pursuers.

We do not think that crime will ever be well controlled so long as criminals are made to feel that they have any measure of public sympathy back of them, or believe that they are taking part in a sporting adventure.

If I'm able to find what I'm looking for, we'll be a little farther along.

He walked to the mantelpiece and stood before a large blue-green vase.

A beautiful example of T'ui se, he said, running his fingers over the glass. He put his fingers over the neck. Too small, he commented and moved to another vase, a bottle shaped, darkred specimen, at the farther end of the mantel.

"One of the most perfect examples of Lang yao I've ever seen, ox-blood figured the vase lovingly and held or sangde bouef, as we call it, He held it toward the light.

Vance set the K'ang Hsi mirror back vase back on the cabinet, and let his eyes run over the other ceramic specimens in the room. But he did not linger over any one of them. He gave them merely a casual inspection. He seemed to be searching for some particular type of vase, for he would hesitate here and there, shake his head as if in rejection, and pass on to other pieces. At last he completed his rounds and halted. There was a distinct look of disappointment on his face as he turned back to us.

"I'm afraid my theory is a mere broken reed, he sighed. I certainly haven't been hearing on it, retorted Markham. He was annoyed at Vance's secretive manner.

Neither have I, for that matter, said Vance a little sadly. But it furnished a starting point to reason from, provided, of course, I could verify it. He came back slowly toward the center of the room where we were grouped about the davenport and on the murderer's part, the circular table. As he reached the end of the library table, he halted and looked down at a small rosewood stand on which stood a cornucopia-shaped white vase. A set of books piled high on the end of the table almost obscured it. Vance approached the vase.

That's dashed interesting, he murmured. A piece of later Ting yao from the Yung Cheng era, I should say.

He picked up the vase, and began inspecting it. A rather thick biscuit, and decent bronze. Angular crackling in orated in relief: copied from an ancient piece, which is brittle and glossy. A very beautiful and perfect specimen.

As he talked, he moved toward the window and held the vase to the light in such a manner that he could look inside it.

I believe there is something here, he said. Moistening his finger on his tongue, he put his hand deep into the vase. When he withdrew it there was a red smear on the end of his finger.

Yes, quite so, he said, looking closely at his finger. What have you found? demanded Markham.

Vance held out his finger. Blood! he said, and that vase was also near the davenport, only a few feet from where the Sing Ting yao stood. Both vases were used!

See here, Vance, Markham spoke quietly trying to curb his annoyance just how were those vases used? And where did the blood on them come from?

As I see it, Markham, those two Ting yao vases were used to divert suspicion from the real murderer and to focus it on another person; and they were employed as symbols in order to create a false motive.

You mean we were to regard the crime as being connected with Archer's collection of Chinese ceramic?

Yes, nodded, I feel sure of it. But in just what way I don't know. It would probably have been perfectly clear if there had not been a gross miscalculation on the part of the murderer's part,

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kasez, Pastor of the Baptist Church, Subject: The Forgiveness of Sin. Luke 15:11-24.

Golden Text: "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." 1 John 1:9.

Forgiveness of sin is as old as sin itself. The story of God and man is that man has always sinned since his fall and God has always been forgiving him as he repented. The story before us, which brings the true repentance and forgiveness into focus, is the familiar story of the prodigal son.

1. Like every young fellow who feels that the old people are behind the times, he requests his part of the possessions and starts out to make the world "sit up and take notice." His friends praise him and he spends money on them. He wastes his life and money in riotous living. He thinks he is having a good time. It is old-fashioned, he thinks, to be good. He lives the sophisticated life.

2. He next finds his money gone, his friends have left him, his clothes are now filthy rags, and he is without a cent.

We were, you think, supposed to find the blood in the vase? Where did that blood come from? From Archer Coe's body! Vance's answer sent a chill up my spine.

But there was no external bleeding, Markham reminded him. True, Vance leaned against the back of the davenport and lighted a cigarette. But there was blood on the dagger when it was withdrawn from Archer's ribs.

As I see it, Markham, the bloody dagger that killed Archer was thrown into the fragile Ting yao vase that was on the table there, in order to indicate, by a subtle and devious symbolism, the motive for the crime. But the steel and gold of the dagger broke the vase, it was almost eggshell delicacy, and so the dagger was then placed in this other Ting yao. In clearing up the broken pieces of the first vase, the murderer overlooked one small fragment, out even a chance for employment. He takes the only job offered him, feeding hogs. He gets nothing for it, to satisfy his hunger he would gladly eat the husks which the hogs pass over, "but no man gave unto him."

3. He comes to himself. Gathering his senses about him he gets a view of himself as others look at him. Then he is ashamed, and thinks of the decency, comfort, and self-respect of even the servants at home. Home! A name he had almost forgotten! Father! Yes, father is there! He loves me! He will take me back! And so, he arises and goes back to the father.

The father, having watched these long months for the return of his son, eagerly rushed to meet him. The son bursts forth in an apology. The father stops him, falls on his neck and kisses him, speaks forgiveness for his sin, and prepares a great reception in his honor. They kill the fattest calf, put the robe of the son, a ring on his finger, shoes on his feet, and he is recognized as one who never had been gone.

This is indeed strange procedure. That son who stayed at home could not understand. "Why, Father," said he, "I have been here all the time, obedient to your every wish. But you have never set a dinner for me that I might invite my friends and banquet them." The father tries to show him: "Son, don't you understand? You have never been lost. This boy has been lost and is found. He might never have been found, for few who are lost are ever found. But he has come back and that is something to rejoice in. Certainly, Son, you are worth more to me than he is. But it is not his worth that we are to consider. It is that he was lost, and it is a terrible thing to be lost. Now he is found. Rejoice!"

Thus, I presume, the father reason ed with his son. For thus it is with God in the forgiveness of sin. God doesn't forgive because we are worth forgiving or saving. He forgives because He knows how terrible it is to be lost, and He is trying to save us from that terrible condition. He thinks it so terrible that He is willing to give His only Son to die to save us. He loves us and wants us to recognize His Son before the world as our Savior. Then, after all sin is forgiven, He provided daily cleansing in the golden text: "If we confess our sins (Confession is the law of cleansing) He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

Cozy Presents Murder Drama

Motion picture producers are now turning to the most recent phenomenal discoveries in the scientific world for their newest murder mysteries to give another added thrill to the theatre public.

The latest of these scientific revelations provides the inspiration for the baffling plot in the new S. S. Van Dine mystery, "The Casina Murder Case," produced by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer with Paul Lukas, portraying the scientific detective, Philo Vance. The picture is showing at the Cozy Theatre Thursday, May 2.

The discovery was — Heavy Water. The story involves a prelexing murder plot, in which three persons collapse and one dies after drinking a mysterious water.

S. S. Van Dine, the noted author, says Director Edwin Martin, found the idea for his story at the national meeting of the American Chemical Society at St. Petersburg, Florida, over a year ago.

'Laddie' To Be At College Theatre

"LADDIE" at College Friday only. A Love story as thrilling as a romantic dream come true, a drama that is rich in human interest and emotional power, comedy of the laughter-compelling variety, are the ingredients of RKO

Radio's "Laddie," hailed as a worthy successor to "Little Women," shows masterpieces by the same producer. Based upon Gene Stratton-Porter's world famous story, "Laddie" brings to the screen one of the greatest of all romances, of real life or fiction.

For Friday, May 10th "Star Of Midnight," will be brought to the stage. Something entirely new in love stories is said to be brought to the screen by William Powell and Ginger Rogers in "Star of Midnight," current RKO-Radio Picture woven around New York's society and night life.

Romance in this modern, drama follows no charted course. The red haired girl, in the role of a young society beauty, takes the aggressive, is a willing victim, or an apprehensive clinger to the standard of what it's hard to tell whether Powell bachelorhood.

A sinister mystery adds the thrills of suspense to romance and subtle comedy, with Powell and Miss Rogers joining forces to track down the clues to a strange disappearance and a fatal murder.

Special Saturday, May 4th, Nivatori Club sponsors return of an old favorite, "42nd Street."

FISHING LAWS

turned the fish to them, and that they would undoubtedly have paid much better prices than they did, had he given them an outline of the government works and the laws which they would violate.

Shooting or dynamiting fish draws a penalty of from one to five years in a federal penitentiary, according to M. M. Howerton. Taking game illegally draws a fine of from $50.00 to $100.00. There is only one legal way of taking a fish, he said. That is with one line and one hook. A burr hook is not permitted.

Mr. Howerton found a small boy fishing Sunday morning at a burr hook. He watched him for a short time and then told him that he must cut the burr hook off and throw it away and put a single hook on his line. The boy had no other hook and said he had no knife. Mr. Howerton supplied the knife and the boy cut away his burr hook and threw it in the creek. He fished no more that day.

Sportmen and fishermen here, even those who were caught in the act to their own expense, are agreed that the enforcement of the law will react to the benefit of the fisherman who fish for the sport of the thing. Many of those who have violated the law have done so largely because others have been doing it, which of course is a lame excuse. However, the majority of them are sincerely willing to cooperate with the law to preserve their catch into a fish preserve, and to make it into a permanent attraction for the fishermen of the state.

Mr. Howerton and his men expect to keep a close eye on this section as it has proved already to be an ideal hatchery for bass. Several of his assistants are still here and will remain for sometime to come. With the closed season started they will be even more watchful of violators of the fish law.

Mrs. E. E. Elam of Clearfield left Sunday for a weeks visit. She will visit relatives in Wood County and her mother, Mrs. Pratt at Hazel Green, also will return by Mt. Sterling and visit her daughter, Mrs. Huff and family.

Mr. Jesse Maxey who has been in the Hospital in Lexington for quite awhile was brought home Saturday very much improved.

FARM NOTES

Early Tomatoes. To have early tomatoes is the desire of every gardener, for early tomatoes are generally considered a luxury, and properly so. Producing this luxury is possible for any person who will go to a little extra trouble. In fact, it is surprisingly easy.

First, of course, an early variety should be used. Such a variety could be Earliana or Bonny Best, or, in the event tomato wilt may be expected to be present in the soil as it frequently is in old gardens, Marglobe. The plants or "slips," as they are often called, should have been started in time to be 10 weeks old when they are set in the garden. Furthermore, they should be set as early as it is safe to set them, and, in order, to give them protection from chance frosty nights some means for covering them should be at hand. This need be merely two or three thicknesses of newspaper to pin about them.

Next, in order that the plants may concentrate their efforts in ripening the first fruit clusters set, they should be pruned to a single stem, or, at the most to two. Pruning consists merely in removing the suckers that form between the base of each leaf and the main stem. The earlier these suckers are removed, the better. When pruning is to be done to "double-stem," the first sucker is left. Further to enhance earliness, the "stems" should be headed at the fifth blossom cluster. It is best to support pruned plants with stakes, although many gardeners omit them, but let the plants lie prone on the ground. An important advantage in staking them, however, is that the fruit is kept cleaner and there is less from rotting.

Pruning reduces the bearing surface of the plants and, obviously, their yield. Not all should be pruned, accordingly, but only part; and the rest from which the main crop is to be expected let produce beans.

As suckers finally become, as acceptable "budget" for a family of 5 consist of 15 pruned early plants, and 35 of a later variety, to furnish fruit until frost.

Thinning. Even with the best of care, parsnips, salsify, carrots, beets, turnips and even radishes are sown too thickly. Ultimately, and in rich gardens, they may reach satisfactory size, but if earliness is sought particularly of carrots, beets and turnips, the seedlings should be thinned, and promptly.

The best way to do it is to remove the extra seedlings, in at least part of the planting, by cutting them off with a sharp potato paring knife. A proper stand for parsnips, beets and turnips is 2 inches; that for salsify and carrots, 1-1/2 inches. Radishes usually take care of themselves, though even here, thinning to an inch is of advantage, particularly if the late spring varieties of Icicle or Lady Finger, or the winter sorts of Rose or White Chineses, are used.

Cultivation. For garden crops, in general, only shallow stirring of the soil should be done, but particularly so for the root crops. Deep stirring about them may result in their becoming malformed, because of the forming of side-roots.

Cleanliness is the best way to fight poultry diseases, or rather to prevent them. Be sure that all water and feed containers are clean and so constructed that chicks cannot get into them. Moving chicks to clean ground once a week is a wise precaution.

The less tender and cheaper cuts of beef have a good flavor and are as nutritious as the more expensive cuts. If cooked for a long time at a low temperature in moist heat they can be made tender. Less tender cuts of beef are round, neck, brisket, flank and shank.

Churning should be stopped when the butter grains reach the size of wheat kernels. If the butter is over churned and forms large lumps, too much buttermilk is incorporated. This often results in off flavors in the butter.

Free Educational Chiropractic Clinic

Arrangements have been completed for a free educational Chiropractic clinic to be held in Morehead May 10. Special examiners from the national office of Educational Chiropractic Clinics, Macon, Missouri, will have charge of the clinic. Dr. R. L. Larson of Souix City will be the chief examiner in charge.

These periodic educational features bring to the towns and cities where they are held the latest in Chiropractic techniques and equipment. A complete Chiropractic analysis is made of each case attending the clinic. The examinations are of a very private nature.

The examiners will have special equipment, including a portable x-ray laboratory. Since the work is of an educational nature, no charge is made to the public for examinations and consultations. If the patient desires x-ray work, there will be a minimum charge for this service.

The clinic lasts only 1 day. Therefore the appointments must be limited to a very few patients. Those making arrangements first to attend will be given attention on the clinic dates.

Morehead Drops Sunday Thriller 2-1

Double Bill With Paris To Be Offering Sunday; Ladies Day At Jayne Stadium Ball Park

Games Expected To Give Fair Rating Of Strength Of Morehead.

Sunday's baseball menu will be offered to the local fans and should give them something to chew on. A double-header is on the bill at regular prices, a double bill for the price of one.

Paris comes to meet Morehead's best with a record of one won and one lost and hopes to fatten their average considerably before they go home. Eades will hurl the first game for the locals and Dile who was making an excellent showing in the season's opener will be on the mound in the night-cap.

It is expected that Fowler who was out of the Vanceburg game due to contract worries will be back in the lineup. Fowler is one of the best sticklers in the league and covers the position of left field like nobody's business.

There are apparently no weaknesses in the Morehead lineup and they have just as high hopes of bringing home two victories as Paris.

The management of the Morehead team is anxious to have a good turnout for the games as they hope to be able to finance the season's play without digging too deep in anyone's pockets for the where-with-all to pay the bills.

With this in mind they have decided as an opener for the first double-header to have "Ladies Day." It's done in all the leagues and the local management hereby invites all ladies to attend the first double-header of the season at their guests.

Letters Awarded To Athletic Squads

A special chapel was held Friday, April 26, to award the letters and sweaters to the football and basketball squads.

Mr. Van Antwerp praised highly the coach, Mr. Holbrook. He said the coach had put more fighting spirit into the games than had the boys. He said he hoped that eventually there would be a chance for spring athletics, but next year there will be a two sports program, football and basketball. The younger boys should keep in training in order to contribute fine work toward the teams next fall. He awarded football letters to Crawford Adkins, Sam Redwine, E. V. Hollis, Camden Young, Clinton Tatum, Robert Egan, Bob Fraley, John Mobley, Volney Skaggs, Claude Miracle, and J. T. Daugherty.

Flemers' Stumbos Ruin Mt. Sterling

The Stumbos of Flemingsburg put the official Indian sign on Mt. Sterling Sunday afternoon at Flemingsburg, the final score being 11 to 3. Led by Buck Stumbo, who was closely followed by Las Oakey, the Flemers, pounded away seventeen hits and scored in every inning except the first fourth and seventh. Mt. Sterling in the meantime was gathering six hits off the delivery of the Flemingsburg hurlers.

They made three runs in the sixth and eighth, two each in the third and ninth and one in the second. Buck Stumbo got five hits in six trips to the plate and Oakey three out of five.

Mt. Sterling's only serious threat came in the fifth inning, when, Cloyd doubled, Pearson walked and South hit into a perfect double play. Troy Stumbo nudged the ball to fill the bases, Rhodes walked, sending a runner home, and Craddock flied out to deep center. Pearson scoring after the catch. Cox hit into a double play to end the inning. Mt. Sterling tallied its final run in the eighth.

The Flemers star lineup was augmented by Lefty Taylor, of Robertson County, who went in on the mound for Kie Stumbo in the sixth and struck out seven men. Buck Stumbo was in the receiving end. McElmore and Rhodes pitched for Mt. Sterling, with Cox catching. Mt. Sterling, with Cox catching.

Both teams made two errors. meet Vanceburg on the home.

Next week Flemingsburg will dismold. Basketball letters were given to J. T. Daugherty, and Dorsey Long. Basketball sweaters were given to Franklin Blair, Murrel Hogge, Fred Prichard, James Johnson, Milton Davis, Billie Ramey, Ralph Holbrook, John Harvey Fitch, Eugene Calvert.

Well it looks from here like the Kentucky Derby has been transferred from Louisville to the Kentucky State Baseball League, especially since the return from the games Sunday have trickled in. It looks for all the world like a horse race of the first calibre. Mayville slips into the lead replacing Mt. Sterling, when the Mounties went down to an overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Stumbo aggregation from Flemingsburg. Mayville of course pulled themselves up as well when they knocked Owingville off the lead. Morehead went down to defeat by the slim margin of 2 to 1. Vanceburg winning, and Paris took Brookville by the same margin.

Outside of the Mt. Sterling-Flemingsburg embroglio, every game was a thriller, with a one run margin separating the sheep from the goats. One run does not indicate a one-sided show by any means. It shows, if it shows anything that the team are in for a good stiff race which will go to the team with the greatest endurance.

Those Stumbos from Flemingsburg are evidently all set to make a little baseball history in Eastern Kentucky, if their performance in the last two games is any sign. Buck poled out five hits out of six times up and the first four of them were for two sacks. Two others figured prominently in robbing the Mounties of hits and runs by making spectacular catches. Evidently the seven Stumbo

College Soft Ball League Starts Play

The squash of the soft ball against the bat was heard for the first time Monday afternoon when the official opening of the College Soft Ball League took place at Jayne Stadium. Five teams are entered in the league as follows: History, Cafeteria, Carter county, Trail Blazer and Outlaws, composed of boys picked in Thompson Hall.

The league openers were contests between the Cafeteria and the Trail Blazers, an extra inning game that went to a 15-14 count before the Cafeteria finally nosed out the Trail Blazers. Carter led before the Outlaws by a score that no body cared to report. According to information reaching the News desk the fire department was finally called to put the Outlaws, led by the incomparable Eddie Kufahl, out.

The Soft Ballers will play three times a week for the balance of the season, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Friday. Two games will be the Cafeteria meet the Outlaws and played each afternoon. Wednesday the History Dept. meet the Trail Blazers.

Flmingsburg, and Mt. Sterling are now tied for second place in the league standings. Morehead and Owingville are tied also with two lost and one won each. Paris has lost one and won one and Vanceburg and Brookville have lost two each. While just about gives the league standings as they are.

Spring football was brought to a close last week when the boys who have been out for the squad were divided into two teams and a full practice scrimmage was held. Still football until next fall.

Coach Downing however is still trying to schedule at least two more games in order to offer a full schedule for the fall swing.

Track has never been a recognized sport in Morehead, although it is one of the most logical of the spring time pastimes. It wouldn't be a bad idea if a little track and field spirit could be developed here, especially since practically every other college in the state is making it a part of their regular athletic diet.

It is possible that one or two men will be sent to the annual spring track meet being held at Berea College this spring. It would at least be a start in the right direction.

MAY MEET WESTERN HERE NEXT WEEK

There is a possibility that an extra baseball game will be arranged for the College against Western State Teachers College according to Coach G. D. Downing. The Western team is making a trip which will bring them up this way and if satisfactory arrangements can be made they will play the local college team here some day next week. Nothing definite however has been done, an act will be settled until the later part of the week.

If the game is played, it will be offered as the season's opener for the Morehead College.

Vanceburgers Nose Out Locals By Close Score In Exciting Battle Sunday; Eades Good

Maysville Topples Owingville Hopes

An up hill battle, which was not decided until the last man was put in the last of the ninth, definitely put Maysville on top of the heap in the Kentucky State League running Sunday afternoon when they finally defeated Owingville 6 to 5 after nine innings of gaveling baseball.

The game was played at Owingville and was a see-saw affair until the very last. Owingville scored first and Maysville was unable to tie it up until the sixth, when both teams scored.

In the eighth Maysville tallied four runs to boost their total to six with Roush and Keady driving in two runs each. In the final stanza of the last inning Owingville staged a rally that netted them three runs in the ninth, but snuffed out on a short of a tie.

Maysville had the same lineup they opened with the previous week and apparently they are ready to deliver.

WHITES BLAST GOLDS 13 TO 6 IN GRID FINAL

Petrey, Diminutive Fresh Back Stars For Winning Team.

A courageous "white" football machine fought the favored "gold" aggregation off its feet to win, 13 to 6, in the final scrimmage of the Morehead Eagle's spring practice here last Wednesday. The whites scored first in the opening quarter as Herman Taylor smashed through tackle and went over from the 12 yard line. The gold clad eleven came back in the second quarter to tie the score as Jarrel Vinson crashed the line and went over standing up from the six yard line. The Whites scored the final and winning touchdown in the third quarter as Moccabe scored from the four yard mark.

Two brilliant runs by Petrey, diminutive freshman back, placed the ball in scoring position. Taylor converted the extra point from placement.

The white team was composed of last year's varsity and a few freshman, while the gold team consisted entirely of last year's yearlings. The freshman crew had been winning consistently in the scrimmage sessions this year but couldn't get started against the inspired Whites Wednesday.

Neither team displayed any form as passes went astray, tackles were missed and blocks weren't even attempted. However, this was probably a result of the hot weather.

Vinson was out for the gold team, and his power drives through the line accounted for most of the gains. Triplett, Linden and Henderson stood out in the gold line. Petrey turned in some brilliant runs for the white team while Addington, Taylor, Harbin and Noe played well in the line. The lineups:

Gives Up Four Hits To Lose Out When Teammates Fail To Punch.

A pitchers duel, with Eades of Morehead, in spite of the fact that the locals lost 2 to 1, having the better of the argument, was the big feature of the game Sunday in which Morehead dropped the decision to Vanceburg at that stage. Eades allowed only four hits, and some of them were of the "fuke variety. On the other hand, the boys from the Rowan County metropolis granted five hits off the delivery of Steidel and consistently found him for long drives, but then superb fielding exhibition of his team mates saved him and rebuked the Morehead team of a fastened batting average.

Opening the first inning Clayton walked and scored on Day's double. Morehead decided to call it a day after that and rested on their laurels. Vanceburg however drove on a home in two runs and make it a home-town celebration.

Morehead hit cleanly five times with Day and Fraley driving doubles, L. Nolan two singles and E. Nolan one. They were unable to bunch them sufficiently to turn the tide.

Eades pitched superb ball and deserved to win. Vanceburg scored in the fifth inning on a hit by Brunfield, who was brought home by J. Steidel. Their second came in the hit safety, was sent to third on seventh when Eades led Steidel walked and scored a sacrifice hit.

Morehead was crippled by the absence of the services of Fowler in the outfield, Fowler is in difficulty with both Brookville and Morehead. He will be out of the lineup until the directors meet and decide his status.

The game Sunday demonstrated that Eades is likely to be one of the leagues leading pitchers. He has allowed seven hits in the eighteen innings pitched, not a bad record for any league. When the teams round into form it should have an interesting chess to go places mostly toward the top.

tempted. However, this was probably a result of the hot weather. Vinson was out for the gold team, and his power drives through the line accounted for most of the gains.
