GOVERNOR CHANDLER TO OPEN CAMPAIGN IN COUNTY TONIGHT; TO TALK ON ISSUES OF ELECTION

Large Crowd Expected To Gather At Court House To Hear Lieutenant Governor; Plans Are Made For Reception; To Arrive in Afternoon.

Delegations from surrounding counties as well as numerous citizens from Rowan county, are expected to fill the court house here tonight when Governor A. B. Chandler, Lieutenant Governor of the State of Kentucky, opens his campaign locally. Governor Chandler will arrive in Morehead during the afternoon and will spend some time meeting his friends and supporters. He will be entertained at dinner together with his party and a few friends at the home of Jack Wilson. It was first planned to entertain Governor Chandler and his party at the home of Mrs. Allie W. Young, but due to Mrs. Young's illness which necessitated her going to the hospital, the plan was altered. Governor Chandler will bring with him a small party of his campaign managers and a few friends and supporters.

According to advance information, delegations will be in Morehead from Fleming, Bath, Carter, Elliott, Montgomery, Mason and Menifee counties, in addition to the large number of local citizens who have signified their intentions of being present. Weather being favorable the prospects are for a packed audience of friends and supporters of Gov. Chandler in his race for the nomination to the office of Governor.

Governor Chandler plans on departing from his usual campaign speeches when he speaks in Morehead. He is and has been a disciple of Judge Allie W. Young and is an earnest follower of his teachings.

CONSIDER OURSELVES SPANKED

We have been slapped on the wrist, not once but three times. And it makes us mad. We have been spoken of in terms of opprobrium. (Consult Wee Snooks we did.) And we don't like it. It seems that in announcing the fact the Governor A. B. Chandler was to speak here on Thursday, used the title by which he is best known, in the headline of the paper, Snooks took exception to the title. Frankly we take all the blame for Snooks' social error. We had thought that we had "learned" him better. We were proud ourselves on the thoroughness of our "School of Journalism" but we now make adject apologies.

It seems that Snooks failed to learn that a Lieutenant Governor is always addressed as "Governor". Just as you never address a Second Lieutenant in the army as "Second Lieutenant Jones" but as "Lieutenant Jones". It would be really funny to step up to Governor Chandler and say, "How'do you do, Lieutenant Governor." No, Snooks, old chap it was not a social error, neither was it an indisposition. We were not counting our chickens before they were biddies". We were merely "rendering to Caesar the things that are Caesar's." Governor Chandler was addressed as Governor, not because of what he may, and we sincerely hope, will be, but because of what he has done and is.

One should learn the niceties of speech and title, before one begins to correct his betters. But that to one side, we do strenuously object to having terms of that said opprobrium heaped up.

JOE PEED IMPROVING FROM GUNSHOT WOUND

Reports from Lexington indicate that Joe Peed who was seriously and, it was at first thought, fatally injured in a fight staged as the result of a card game in the People's Hotel on May 12, is well on the way to recovery.

It was first believed that Mr. Peed could not recover from the effects of the wound, as the bullet had entered his abdomen and punctured his intestines in nine places. Only his unusually good physical condition, it is said, made his recovery possible.

CITY COUNCIL TO ASK FUNDS FOR GAS ROUTE

Appoint Attorneys To Draw Up Application And Fill Out Forms.

At last definite action with regard to the proposed gas system is possible with the reception of forms and instructions for making application to the PWA board for the appropriation of funds for construction. At the meeting of the City Council held last Tuesday night, arrangements were made with City Attorney Lester-Hogge to fill out the necessary forms and get them ready to forward with the application.

It will be remembered that the gas system proposition was first advertised by W. H. Rice as councilman. Mr. Rice's position was that the city borrow the funds necessary for the construction of the gas system in the city and that they purchase gas at wholesale prices from the producers and sell it at retail to the consumers in the city. Funds to be borrowed are in the nature of a combination loan and grant, seventy per cent of the total amount borrowed being a loan which is to be repaid over a long term of years, thirty percent being a gift or grant which is not required to be repaid. It was estimated at that time that if the arrangements could be made, eventually the city would be able to carry on its government with a greatly reduced taxation, as the estimates conservatively made indicated that the city would have a growing source of revenue.

The plan as advocated by Mr. Rice and the city council would produce not only money needed to repay the loan but would build up a cash reserve fund for the city free and self supporting.

At that time considerable interest and enthusiasm was built up in the project, as well as a small amount.

Bill Keeton was released under $5,000 bond Saturday for his appearance at the June term of the Rowan Circuit Court to answer to a charge of shooting and wounding Joe Peed.

Bill Lane was released under $500 bond for his appearance at the June term. Lane was charged with assault and battery on a warrant obtained by Keeton, as an outgrowth of the same fight that resulted in Peed's wounding.

The entire affair took place in the People's Hotel on Railroad Street and is the result of a card game staged in a room on the second floor of the hotel, only a short distance from the rooms occupied by the County Attorney of this county, according to reports.

Chain Letters Are "Taking" Morehead

There are at present more wealthy people in Morehead than there has been for some time. The topic of the day is the creation of new wealth via the Chain Letter route. The question of the day is, "Have you bought your chain letter today?" The newest fad is not to mail the letters but to sell them direct to the consumer. Everybody is a potential consumer. You buy a letter by sending one dollar to the name at the head of the list, and then sell two letters to two others. The idea is that you watch your chain and see that it is not broken.

There is only one trouble that we have found so far with the scheme. It has been impossible to carry on a connected conversation on any subject without either being interrupted by some Salesman Sam selling his letters, or in the midst of the conversation the conversationalist interrupts himself to say, "Have you bought your chain letter today?" No, we haven't fallen yet. We don't know when.

Rodburn School Is Stopped By Board

The Rowan County Board of Education met in special session Saturday for the purpose of taking necessary action with regard to the consolidation program which was rescinded at the previous meeting.

As nothing definite had been heard from the Methodist Church at that time, action was deferred until such time as a report is obtained. The Board did discontinue the Rodburn school and consolidate that district with the Morehead school.

There is a possibility that the Board as a whole will make a trip to Frankfort to settle the question of consolidation.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS THE professor at one of the colleges was getting his classes ready to be promoted. "Mr. Cain," he says, "have you read the book on Darwin that I gave you to read last week?" "Yes," says the student. "Sure. Cover to jacket, Prof." "Then give it back to me!" The fellow did. "But look here, Cain, the book ain't cut," says the Prof. "You can't slip that up, says the bright student. "What if they ain't?" You can cut them yourself. If you want 'em cut. I read the book mighty careful and I don't want to disturb it too much because I wasn't mine, and besides, I was in a deuce of a hurry."

HOME BUILDING SHOWS BIG GAIN

NEW YORK — The F. W. Dodge Corporation announced that April contracts for residential construction in the 37 States east of the Rocky Mountains were larger than for any other month since the close of 1931.

The corporation called the factor the most favorable "in the otherwise relatively drab picture of current consumption activity."

The total of residential contracts for April reached $42,000,000, as against $22,635,000 in the same month last year. They do not keep records west of the mountains.

Coming on top of the substantial gain in March and an increase of about 23 percent for the initial quarter of 1935, as compared with the corresponding period of 1934, the April figures are even more encouraging, said L. Seth Schmitman, chief statistician of the corporation.

The April residential total reached $42,000,000 in 37 Eastern States as against only $22,635,000 for April 1934, and $32,209,000 for March of this year.

"The April total for housing facilities were about one-third of the total contract volume for all classes of construction. This also is a significant development, since, in the recent past, residential building has formed far smaller a proportion of the consumption volume than is customary for this branch of activity."

The total volume of construction in the 37 Eastern States approximated $124,000,000 for April. This contrasts with $122,940,000 for April of last year. Of the April total this year, a far greater amount was private construction than was true of either the March total or for April of last year. This, too, is an encouraging note. In fact, private construction contracts during April were higher than for any other month since the beginning of 1932.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING SEEN AS SUCCESSFUL

Gordon Selfridge, American, who went to London to build the great department store business which bears his name, startling British merchants by his lavish newspaper advertising, believes his knowledge and use of this medium for reaching the public is as great a factor in his success as his expertness in merchandising, according to a recent interview with North American Newspaper Alliance.

AN INVITATION TO THE CORNER

Your chances of being involved in a fatal automobile accident are much greater on highways than anywhere else. Bad as the urban accident rate is, the death toll is mounting fastest in rural territories even though traffic is less dense.

Last year 167,000 accidents occurred on highways. The result was 166,000 injuries and 13,000 deaths. By contrast, 286,000 city accidents caused 8,000 deaths. In 1934, the rate of death per accident on highways was more than 100 per cent greater than the average for all accidents combined.

The reason isn't hard to find. The modern highway is wide and smooth, rarely congested. It looks as safe as your own back yard. And, as a consequence, thousands of drivers relax behind the wheel, and step hard on the accelerator. When a crisis arrives, they react too slowly, or are going too fast to avoid a smash, and death follows.

That is especially worth remembering now, with the appearance of summer. Most motorists will be making trips into the country, and they should keep in mind the unhappy fact that somnolence on the highway is an invitation to the coroner.

CAN'T ALWAYS BAIL OUT

A story which recently appeared in a popular weekly magazine contains a between-the-lines moral.

The hero of the story is a test pilot for an airplane company, who attempts a power dive from ten thousand feet. Half way to earth, the plane begins to go to pieces. At that instant, with death literally grinning at him, the pilot remembers that his life insurance is to expire in a few hours and that he has forgotten to mail in his premium. He is one of the fortunate pilots who obtained a policy before taking up flying. The author saves the situation however, by having his hero "bail out," land safely and have his premium in the mail, postmarked before the dead line.

The moral to the story is, Don't run the risk of leaving personal affairs that have to do with the welfare or protection of your family, in disorder or unattended to. There is no "author" to protect the everyday man in real life. And seldom the mail box.

is there time, in case of accident, to "bail out," and run for

AND NOW ALASKA

It has often been said, during the past five or six years, that the way to solve a depression is to develop new frontiers. The only trouble with that solution in the present depression is the lack of frontiers to develop.

One frontier is still left, however, Alaska. Only a minute portion of its food is produced within its boundaries—the rest must be imported from Continental U. S. As a result, a scheme which FERA officials set upon in January, is now getting underway.

In Southern Alaska is the Matanuska Valley, with 76,000 rich acres, which now houses but 117 families. FERA plan is to transplant bankrupt farm families to the valley from U. S. farming regions, put them to work producing necessities. Winter temperatures in the valley are higher than those in Michigan, Minnesota, etc., so there is no climate problem. Each family will be given equipment, livestock, a house and forty acres, worth $3,000, which they can repay to the Government with 3 per cent interest over 30 years. First families started for the valley a fortnight ago.

Report On Credit Association Here

Loans closed on April by the Flemingsburg Production Credit Association equaled 125 per cent of an entire number closed during January, February and March, according to announcement of J. M. Berry, Secretary-Treasurer. His monthly report shows that 31 loans for $8,290 were closed in April, while during the three preceding months 25 loans were closed for a total of $10,555. "At the close of business on April 30," stated Secretary Berry, "we had 56 loans for $18,745 outstanding which have originated since the beginning of the year. In addition, of course, a liberal percentage of our 1934 loans are still outstanding and are not yet due.

"The April credit requirements of our farmers reflect the seasonal needs for crop production credit as well as a considerable number of general purpose farm operation loans. Applications are passing through our office in liberal volume at the time, and are being handled promptly through the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Louisville, which is our source of discount. There is very little delay in closing of loans, and in urgent cases we are able to advance the money immediately upon approval of the application by drawing upon our revolving funds which is maintained for this purpose.

The farmers of this territory are turning more and more to their own cooperative credit organization for funds to finance crop production, livestock feeding and general farm expenses. The Flemingsburg Production Credit Association serves the farmers of ten counties of northwestern Kentucky, including Rowan County. Its function is to furnish credit to farmers for production purposes and to meet general farm operating expenses. There are twelve such associations in Kentucky operating under the supervision of the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville as local units of the Farm Credit Administration. The associations are self-governing corporations, each borrower becoming a member and owner of voting stock to the extent of at least 5 per cent of his loan.

Production credit associations obtain funds for lending to farmers by discounting borrowers' notes with the Federal Reserve Bank of Louisville. The discount rate at present is so favorable that the association are able to lend to their farmer-members at an interest rate of 5 per cent a year.

Platform On Which A. B. Chandler Is Making The Race For Governor

The following is the platform on which A. B. Chandler seeks the nomination to the office of Governor of the State of Kentucky. I promise the people that if I am nominated and elected as Governor of Kentucky I shall honestly and fearlessly advocate and carry out the following platform:

1. I shall oppose the reenactment or continuance of the present sales tax law which taxes the necessities of life at a time when the people can least afford to pay and when thousands of citizens of this State are struggling to earn a sufficient amount of money to feed and clothe themselves and their families. The repeal of this law will save the taxpayers of the State ten million dollars per year.

2. I shall oppose any increase of taxes on real estate.

3. I favor reducing the tax on gasoline 1c per gallon, which will save the taxpayers of the state one and one-half million dollars per year.

4. I shall reduce the expenses of the State Government to the lowest possible amount consistent with efficient service. I shall see that useless and unnecessary offices are abolished and that unneeded employees are taken off the State payroll. I shall enforce strict economy and budgetary control of expenditures, and require the state to live within its income. I shall urge the Legislature to pass a real law reorganizing the Government along the lines recommended by Griffenhagen and Associates in 1934. By this means I will save the State at least one million dollars per year.

5. I shall require the various departments and agencies of the State Government to operate the State's business on the most efficient business basis; and shall require them to establish and maintain a system of purchasing by which they can obtain cash discounts on purchases. By these methods I can and will save approximately two million dollars per year in the operation of the State's business.

6. I shall see that honesty and fair dealing are restored in the State Government, and that business of the State shall be so economically and efficiently managed that it will not be necessary for the Federal Government to establish and maintain separate agencies for the expenditure of Relief Money.

7. I shall see that a Relief Money appropriated by the Legislature is promptly applied to that use. I believe in the ideals and the leadership of our great Democratic President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and I shall support his administration and uphold his hands in his efforts to bring about greater prosperity and greater social security for the masses of the citizens of this State and Nation.

8. I shall treat as one of the major problems of my administration the correction of the deplorable conditions of the penal and eleemosynary institutions and the establishment of proper and adequate facilities for dealing with these institutions.

9. I shall drive the pardon sellers and brokers from the State Capitol, and no application for executive clemency or for pardons will be granted by me except after careful scrutiny of the record of the convict and then only in cases which, in my careful and deliberate judgment, deserve executive clemency. I shall not hesitate to grant executive clemency in such cases as I may deem proper after full and careful consideration of the records of the applicants.

10. I shall put a stop to the system and practice of assessing State employees and contractors for political campaign funds. The salaries of State employees shall be fixed on the basis of their qualifications and the duties performed, and no employee will be required to contribute out of his or her salary to any campaign fund in order to hold his or her job, and no contractor will be required to contribute to any political campaign fund in order to get contracts with the State.

11. I favor good roads and the administration of the State Road Fund on a strictly business basis and the elimination of graft and waste of money. I shall see that the farm-to-market highways receive their share of construction in the expenditure of the State Road Fund. I shall ask the Legislature to authorize the State Highway Commission to accept for maintenance the public county roads, in addition to the roads now embraced in the State Primary road system. The State Highway Commission with trained engineers and proper equipment can maintain the county roads better and much cheaper than can the counties. This will relieve the taxpayers of the Counties of approximately four million dollars per year which is now collected by the counties for the maintenance of these roads.

12. I shall ask the Legislature to revise the present State Highway Commission districts to make the road districts conform with the Congressional districts, thereby giving to each Congressional district a member of the State Highway Commission.

13. I shall have too much respect for the schools and colleges to drag them into politics. I shall advocate fair and reasonable salaries for the teachers and adequate financial support for schools. Much progress has been made during the past few years in developing a constructive school program for the State. I shall advocate and insist upon continued improvement in the public school system. I shall also advocate and insist upon the Legislature continuing to appropriate sufficient money for the State to furnish free text books to the children attending the public schools.

14. Before advocating or approving any new tax law, I shall first see that the cost of Government is reduced to the minimum amount necessary to operate and maintain the Government under rigid economy. If, after repaying the sales tax law and reducing the cost of the Government to the minimum, it be necessary to raise additional money or the support of the Government, I shall advocate a tax system that will fairly and equitably distribute the tax burden; but before advocating the passage of any new tax laws I shall consult with the leaders of labor, agriculture, business and industry with a view of formulating a tax program that will produce only a sufficient amount of revenue to meet the necessary requirements and which will not discriminate against or work an undue hardship upon any class of taxpayer.

15. I shall take the Fish and Game Commission from the control of politicians and restore it to the sportsman of the State who are sincerely and earnestly interested in protecting and increasing the game and fish in Kentucky and who pay the license shall cooperate with these organizations in advocating the passage of a law to accomplish these objects; and shall consult with these organizations before appointing the Fish and Game Commission and then appoint a Commission that will be in sympathy with and qualified to promote and carry into execution these principles.

16. I favor legislation which will make fair and adequate provisions for the benefit of the ex-service men of Kentucky, of all wars, and their widows, orphans and dependents.

17. I shall appoint honest and capable men and women to the various offices; and shall exercise great care in appointing to office only men and women who are qualified to perform their respective duties efficiently and well.

18. I shall make no promises during this campaign except those that I shall fulfill if nominated and elected. I shall keep the faith and endeavor to justify your confidence, continued support, and respect.

LIME PROFITABLE

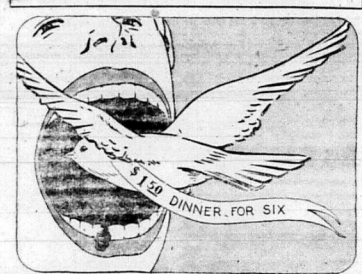

Tests have been under way at the Western Kentucky Experiment Substation at Princeton since 1927 show that limestone used in low rate applications is highly effective. A trial of a ton of limestone per acre of four grades of fineness, ranging from 10 mesh to 100 mesh, was applied each time when wheat was sown in a rotation of corn, wheat, and mixed legumes and timothy. Seven crop crops, eight wheat crops and seven hay crops have been harvested. The limestone was used in addition to fertilizer. Compared with fertilizer used without limestone, the limestone has produced, since the experiment began, a total increase for the four grades of 55 bushels of corn, 19 bushels of wheat and 4.5 tons of hay per acre. At 50 cents for corn, 75 cents for wheat and $10 a ton for hay, the limestone already has been worth $29 per ton with another crop yet to be harvested before limestone is applied again. Applied in this way one ton per acre is used in 9 years. Two tons per acre applied when the experiment was begun has been worth $20 per ton. The 40 to 50 mesh limestone was most effective, but all grades of fineness were quite effective. Limestone ground so that all of it will pass a 10 mesh sieve will be quite effective. These tests indicate that it would not be necessary to try to grind it any finer.

Where one is able to use two tons per acre over all his land that needs it rather than the smaller rate but liming, it is more profitable to use land limed at the smaller rate than it is more profitable to have all the put the same amount of lime on smaller areas. However, for alfalfa it best to lime at the heavier rate.

Lime and Mites Coming. Lime need mites multiply rapidly in warm weather. No hen can do her best and no chick can mature properly if these pests are taking part of their blood day and night. Clean the house thoroughly, removing every trace of litter and other materials. Then spray the house, roosts and nests with coal-oil, creosol, nicotine or crank case oil sprays.

Put the drained contents of a No. 2 can lima beans and two cups canned tomatoes in a baking dish, and season with salt and pepper. Brown the veal birds on all sides in a little fat in a hot skillet, then place them on top of the vegetables. Bake for one hour in a moderate—375 degree—oven.

- Fine Banana Fritters
Beat one egg well, and add three-fourths cup diluted evaporated milk. Sift together one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt, and add with one tablespoon melted butter. Cut three bananas in thick slices and add to batter. Drop by spoonfuls into hot—375 degree—deep fat and fry golden brown. Or you may cut bananas in halves crosswise, dip in batter and fry as above. Meanwhile cook one cup sugar, two-thirds cup water, one tablespoon butter and a two-inch stick cinnamon, together until syrupy. Cool slightly and serve over the fritters.

Elaborate Plans for Liberty in Bermuda

DURING the Boer war the British decided to send the more belligerent prisoners to certain remote English possessions from which there was no immediate possibility of escape. Bermuda was selected as a proper spot to ship a few of these captured South African captives.

One night a vessel flying the English flag arrived off the fort and six prisoners of war were discharged under cover of darkness and placed within the compound. Not a mother's son of them had the slightest idea where they were. They remained in captivity for general prison, headquartered as to their whereabouts. The regulations for their detention were so strict that the united six escaped from their quarters one early morning hour and climbed over the wall. In the great dark they were able to discern land half a mile away and with out further delay plunged into the semi-tropical waters and swam to liberty. Upon reaching the alluring shore where they were met by a resident bent on some early morning fishing. "Where are you gentlemen going?" he asked. "One of the escaped prisoners who spoke English put up a good line of talk and announced that he and his comrades were prepared to sell their lives dearly. "We have freed ourselves from yonder dungeons and are now on our way into the interior," said he desperately. "Well, you are going to get a great shock," volunteered the fisherman. "The one thing we haven't got here is the interior. A mile in any direction will land you in the Atlantic ocean six hundred miles from the mainland. Now if I were you boys I'd swim back to the fort in time for breakfast. You are guests on the island of Bermuda. Thanking him kindly, they did the trudge across the narrow estuary and got some hot coffee and mush. Shortly afterward the war captives and they were returned to their native South Africa, where the walking is good and the distances first-class. Also the interior is one of the best.

THE GARDEN

Peppers. — Whenever it becomes warm to start warm, peppers should be set in the garden. In order to hasten fruit-setting, and to make setting heavy, the same fertilizer should be recommended for tomatoes several weeks ago should be given. The plants should be set in the row from 18 to 24 inch apart, and the rows should be at least 30 inches from other upright crops, and 5 feet from tomatoes and other crops that tend to "run".

No insects of any consequence bother peppers, but they suffer, sometimes, from black rot of the blossom-end. This is caused generally by their standing in poorly drained land or land in which extremes of moisture and drought alternately take place. In this they resemble tomatoes.

eggplants. — At the same season that peppers are set eggplants should be set. Soil and fertilizer requirements are similar. Many persons have difficulty in bringing their eggplants to fruiting, because of the blight disease and because of the activities of the black fly beetle. Both these pests are controlled by thorough application of Bordeaux Mixture, of the strength of 1-4-50. Although a gardener may use the prepared form of Bordeaux which it is necessary merely to stir into water, a better product results when the original ingredients, bluestone, lime and water are used. An easy way to make Bordeaux was described in these columns several weeks ago, that removes the difficulty met in mixing small quantities, such as home gardeners generally use.

Because the effectiveness of Bordeaux spraying depends on the coverage, gardeners who anticicate growing eggplants should see to the condition of their sprayers. New York (purple) and the old favorite, Black Beauty, are the eggplant varieties to use.

Okra. — With the warming of the ground comes the time to start okra. The seed is uncertain in germination, and therefore a good way to sow okra is to sow it in clusters of two or three and thin to one seedling. The plants should stand 18 inches apart in rows 2 feet apart. Sow early vegetable. Fertilizing with phosphorus, as for tomatoes, is suggested. Do not make pods set freely and early. No pest is trouble okra, and the varieties are White Velvet or Green Velvet.

Beans. — Bi-weekly plantings of beans, 5 feet of row per member of the family should continue through May. Toward the end of the month, gardeners who have not yet tried the Horticultural shell-bean, should try 50 feet or so. Used shelled-out after the beans are fully formed. Horticulturals tend to break up the monotony from using ordinary beans. Two kinds are offered, Dwarf and Tall. Where the Mexican Bean beetle is not so destructive, the Tall Horticultural makes an excellent "roll" cornfield bean.

Clean Brooders Pay. Brooder houses are harder to keep clean as the birds grow. Damp, dirty houses breed coccidiosis and attract flies, which spread tapeworms. A flock of undamaged pullets will more than repay for the extra trouble in preventing diseases and pests. Clean range, which is essential to healthy chickens, is ground that has not been used for poultry for at least two years.

Late hatched chicks need special care if they are to be developed. In addition to clean range, it is almost necessary, for instance, to feed them away from the older chicks. Extra attention also is needed to see that they have clean quarters.

More frumers each year are using temporary pastures to supplement permanent grass during the late 100 to 150 pounds of grass a day, summer, and early fall. Cows estimate the pasture is good. Unless they get this grass, or grain to eat it, their production will drop. The fight against the pests must, of course, go on. The Mexican beetle may be particularly troublesome on late beans. Properly handled, the pasture is good. Unless the summer-started beet seedling, the black flea beetle may be bothersome, but a spraying or two through the critical time.

Late tomatoes are almost free of insect pests, except, possibly the beetles, the control for which is Bordeaux. The tomato fruitworm, troublesome on the first tomatoes, generally leaves the later ones alone, seeming to prefer corn. To control on corn, dusting the newly-formed silks with arsenical is advised. Successful poultry raisers know the value of plenty of good feed. They start chicks on a good mash, add small amounts of grain when they are 4 to 5 weeks old, and increase the grain until they are getting equal parts of grain and mash when 10 to 12 weeks old.

ABOUT TOWN

(Continued From Page One) More than the criticism of our command of English do we resent being called a "Nefasaper." We don't exactly know what a "Nefasaper" is, but we believe it is something not mentioned in polite society.

If it were not for the fact that smoking is prohibited in Kentucky, we would immediately send our second no smoking sign a demand for satisfaction. As it is, well, we insist that we are not a "Nefasaper," and we insist on giving Governor Chandler the title he is which he is addressed over the entire state by both his friends and his political opponents.

GAS FOR MOREHEAD

(Continued from Page One) of opposition. Some held that the supply of gas from the North Fork field would be insufficient to furnish a constant supply or the consumers. Engineers have inspected the field and believe that there is a sufficient supply for all needs for many years to come.

However, it must not be imagined that work will be started in the immediate future. First the application with the required information must be drawn up and filed. Then action by the PWA Board must be awaited. If the loan and grant is made, then plans and surveys must do their work of engineering and a contract must be advertised and let. Altogether, it will be some months even if the grant is made before consumers in Morehead will be ready to use gas.

There are also some legal questions to be settled before that time. However it is safe to say that the project will be pushed as rapidly as possible, and that if it is put over, Morehead will take another step forward.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kasez, Pastor of the Baptist Church.

SUBJECT: The Meaning Of The Lord's Supper. Matt. 26:17-30.

GOLDEN TEXT: "This do in remembrance of men." I Cor. 11:24.

The Lord's Supper is not the Passover meal, some who are confused believe, but is the simpler ordinance instituted at the close of the Passover Supper which Jesus was eating with His disciples. The Passover was the observance of the deliverance of Israel from Egypt hundreds of years ago, when the death angel passed over and killed the first born of every house. This was one of the ancient plagues. The Israelites were delivered from its curse by killing the lamb and sprinkling the blood on the door posts for protection. For food they were to eat the flesh of the lamb.

Now comes Jesus, the fulfillment of the Passover; for He is the Passover. Through His death he brought protection to all who will cleanse themselves in His blood, that is, who will by faith rest in the hope that His death has satisfied the demand of a righteous law. Hence He fulfilled the promise made to Israel, which was kept alive through the observance of the Passover. Jesus here institutes the simpler supper of the bread and wine to commemorate His death. As the Passover looked forward to Him in His death for sinners, so does the Lord's Supper look back to His in that same death for the lost.

The bread, He says, represents His body which was broken for us. The wine represents His blood which was shed for us. If we have faith in His death we have thereby entered into the blessings it brings. We are saved by His atonement, for us because we trust it. Having entered into that experience of saving grace having known the forgiveness of sin because we have believed God's Word that He will forgive us, and has forgiven us if we have confessed our sins to Him. Jesus wants us to keep in our memory the Sacrifice which has provided our escape from destruction. And so, He institutes the Lord's Supper with its fitting symbols of bread and wine (or, the fruit of the vine) to remind us of the sacrifice. He first commits this institution to the Apostles. He gives it to them personally and makes every explanation of its meaning to them. We walked through the invigorating autumn air to a small French restaurant in West, Seventy-second street near the Drive. Vance talked at length of dogs in general and of Scottish terriers in particular. Finally he smiled waggishly at Markham.

I know I'm boring you. But you've all the forenoon. Your brain needs a little relaxation—and what could be better thinking such too strenuously be more soporific than my cackle about dogs? And while I'm on the subject, I want to tell you Markham, that the little wounded Scottie Gumble discovered behind the library portieres is a beautiful specimen of what a Scottie should be. Poor little devil. She certainly didn't deserve that wound, and I hope she'll have her revenge by helping us find the murderer. I think I'll phone and see how she's getting along.

He was especially the address of the owner—who will give us something pretty definite to work from. The higrations of the dog last night and throw much light on the movements of the person who came to the Corbett house.

But Archer might have seen the person who injured her. If he had, he would not have left her behind the curtain beside the library door; he would have thrown open the front steps to the street.

But Brisbane? Ah! if it had been Brisbane, then the dog was already in the house, or else she followed him in. If she was in the house it was he who injured her, he was killed at almost the same instant; for if he had been able to, he, like Archer, would have put the dog outside. Therefore, in case the dog was there and Brisbane injured her, then it follows that the murderer or didn't see her or left her there with some definite purpose in mind. As for the dog having followed Brisbane in, I think it highly unlikely. Dogs do not sneak in front doors between strangers legs.

But she followed someone in, obviously, Markham argued, unless of course, she was deliberately brought there.

That is true, Vance admitted, and that is a point that puzzles me. She might have followed some one, even a stranger, into the house, provided he had left the door open; but the murderer could scarcely have left the front door open—in fact, I imagine he would have taken pains to shut it securely. And the vicious injury given the dog seems to indicate that her presence in the house was not accidental.

The person who found her was surprised and, perhaps, frightened. Being afraid he would be seen if he turned her out, he acted impulsively and sought to kill her least she should start barking and attract attention. My conclusion is that the dog's presence was not discovered until after the murder.

Your reasoning is clear enough, Markham told him, but I don't see in what way she helped to us.

Dr. Welter Speaks At Convocation

Biology Professor Talks On Snakes; Live Specimens Create Interest.

Dr. W. A. Welter, associate professor of biology, spoke at convocation yesterday on the subject of "Snakes." He was introduced by Dean W. H. Vaughan, who kept a safe distance from the box of snakes which had been placed on the stage.

Dr. Welter said that snakes are not as bad as they are painted. Most tales concerning snakes are not true, he pointed out, giving as examples the story of the hoop snake which is supposed to place itself in the form of a hoop and roll off when in danger, and the fable that snakes eat their young.

"Contrary to common belief, snakes are not slimy but cold," he said. It is easy to escape from a snake since the blue racer, the fastest of snakes, can only travel about 5 miles an hour.

At the conclusion of his talk, several students came up to the platform with various types of snakes coiled about them; Students were invited to come up and inspect them, and quite a few responded.

Cafeteria Downs Newsies To Stretch Win Streak To Three; Carter Trounces Historians

Chef Gammage's cafeteria aggregation continued unbeaten while Carter County ran its string of victories to three straight in this week's intramural soft ball league play. The Cafeteria downed the Newsies, 4 to 3, in its only league game. While Carter County turned back the Historians, 3 to 2, and the Outlaws, 9 to 8.

Carter County continued its sensational comeback by downing the second place Outlaws, 9 to 8, in the final game Wednesday. Carter County scored four runs in the opening inning and the Outlaws never regained the lead. The Outlaws tied the score up at 8 to 8, in the last of the sixth inning but Buc'ier furnished Carter County with its winning margin by poling out a homer in the first of the seventh.

Sparks on the mound for the Carter Countians, although, in a number of holes, bore down in the pinches and had the Outlaws at his mercy during most of the game. Fetrey and Kufahl were best for the Outlaws.

The Newsies repeated earlier performance by forcing the league leading Cafeteria team into an extra inning before succumbing, 4 to 3. The Newsies led, 3 to 2, at the beginning of the seventh but committed a number of errors this inning and allowed the Cafeteriamen to knot the score. In the eighth inning the Cafeteria scored another run to win the ball game, Lykins on the mound for the Newsies turned in an excellent pitching performance and received able backing from the entire infield.

The Outlaws downed a badly crippled Newsie team, 10 to 4, in the second game Monday. With Want and McKeelnie missing from the line-up the Newsie team could never hit its stride and was an easy victim of Kufahl's hustling Outlaws.

Carter County behind the steady hurling of Sparks, downed Earl Scott's history team, 3 to 2, in the opening game Monday. Both teams turned in a smooth brand of ball but the Historians weakened in the last of the game to give Carter County the victory.

Boxing Card Draws Small House For Excellent Bout; Lowder, Blouir Draw

Tarzan Blouir and Ray Lowder fought a six round draw before a disappointingly small crowd in the headline bout of the American Legion boxing program in the high school gym last Monday. Lowder scored three knockdowns in the second round but Blouir came back in the remaining rounds and out-pointed him decisively enough to earn a draw. Lowder tried throughout the match for a knockout while Blouir tried for points. The judges were Ellington, Laughton and the referee, Whitehead.

In the main-preliminary, Sherman McBrayer and Bob Seevera put on the best exhibition of the evening in a four round non-decision go. Both boys were fast and aptly and checked powerful rights. Their rallies, speed and a number of near knockouts kept the crowd on the edge of their seats throughout the bout.

To top the supporting card, Bud Tatum, Morehead High school athlete, decisioned Elwood Dillon in a four rounder. Neither fighter was in condition and the last round of this fight resembled an old maid's dancing class.

Burton and Begley, Morehead College fighters, put on a heated light in the second non-decision match of the evening. This fight was called a draw by the newspaper-men with each boy taking two rounds. In the opening bout of the evening Colgate and Williams, C. C. C. boys fought a slow non-decision three rounder.

Athletic Committee Completes Plans For School Of Coaching Headed By McMillan, Rupp

Leading Coaches Of County To Head Attraction At College.

Coach G. D. Downing and the athletic committee of the Morehead State Teachers College has just completed arrangements for what they believe will be the "most popular coaching schools to be held in this section of the country. Announcement has been made that they will send the services of Bo McMillan, star of the Centre Colonels in past years and Adolph Rupp, basketball coach at the University of Kentucky for the school which will be held in from Monday August 5 to and including Saturday, August 11.

Coach Downing is rather jubilant over securing the services of these two outstanding coaches for the duration of the coaching school. McMillan, who several years ago started for Centre College in the team that proved to be national champion, is at present football coach at Indiana University, where he is already making an enviable record. He is recognized as one of the best coaches in the business, and is said to have not only the ability to coach his team, but to teach the game to other coaches as well.

Adolph Rupp, has been head basketball coach at the University of Kentucky for the past four years. Up that time, his teams have lost a very small percentage of games to their opponents. He has developed the greatest basketball organization in the South and has recently been signed as basketball coach at the University for another two years.

He also has a national reputation as a basketball mentor and the local college feels that they are particularly fortunate in being able to contact with two such outstanding men in their respective fields as Bo McMillan and Adolph Rupp.

In spite of the fact that they are offering the services of the two outstanding coaches during the term of the coaching school, The total fee to be charged for the enrollment is only $15.00. This is intended to cover every expense involved in the coaching school, with the exception of course of board and room. The plan is to place the school within the financial reach of every coach in the state.

PANTHER ROUT SEEN BY BEST SEASON CROWD

Eagles Batter 3 Wesleyan Hurlers For 20 Runs; Line-up Changed

The Morehead Eagles blasted out a 20 to 2 victory over the Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers in a slugfest ended at the end of the seventh inning, here, yesterday. Wesleyan downed the Eagles, 5 to 4, at Winchester last week but went to pieces in the contest yesterday and fell easy victims to the slugging Eagles. Driving the offering of three Wesleyan pitchers all over the lot, the Eagles out-hit the Panthers, 15 to 5, and had little trouble in scoring their first victory in three starts this year.

With the Eagles leading, 10 to 1, Coach Downing sent in two substitutes and shifted his line-up to three places, sending Oxley to first, Vinson to short, and Clayton behind the bat, and this combination proved as effective as the previous one and blasted out 10 more runs in two innings.

Dale who started on the mound for the Eagles held the Panthers to one run in five innings and Ison who replaced him gave up one more in the last two innings.

The Eagles scored four runs in the first inning, six in the fourth, four in the fifth and capped it off by sending six more across the plate in the final frame.

Oxley led the Eagles with three hits while Wooten, Vinson, Ryan, Varney and Dale got two safe blows apiece.

Elam, Panther catcher, led Wesleyan with two hits in three times up.

The Eagles turned in a neat fielding performance but the work of Wesleyan in the field was rather weak and their infield made a total of seven errors.

McMillan will convey each of football instruction with a two hour lecture course beginning at 8:00 a. m., each morning and lasting until 10:00. From 10 to 12 he will give practical demonstrations on the football field.

Basketball coaching under Mr. Rupp will take place each afternoon with the hours from 1:00 to 3:00 being devoted to lecture work while the hours from 3 to 5 will be devoted to demonstration work.

Sometime during the week, arrangements are being made to have nationally known officials in each game explain their conception of the new rule changes. Arrangements are also being made to have a showing of a picture of the New York Celtic, National champion professional basketball team at the College Theatre. The picture will be in slow motion and will be used to illustrate handling the ball, and in general, how to play basketball.

"Rain, Rain, go away. Come again another day, Little Johnnie wants to play." Might well have been the "wary cry of the restless Morehead baseball team Sunday afternoon. The locals are way down in the list so far as standings are concerned and their spirits are right, and they are ready.

The rain has held them back like it has the gardens and crops and a few more Sundays like the past three will put them in "ne dumps right."

Sunday's rain interfered not only with the games-in the Ky. State League but with the other majors as well. So far as we have been able to learn, the entire schedule was postponed on account of rain. That's the reason this sport page is light and this column is hardly worthy of the name.

However better days are coming, according to Claude Clayton, Claude takes the position that it can't rain them out every Sunday and they are bound to win sometime.

Game called on account of ... That's the record of the game indulged in by the local college team last Friday when they rolled over Wesleyan College here by the score of 20 to 2. The game went seven innings with the Eagles getting out the curves of three Wesleyan pitchers and knocking them out of the box. Finally after repeated requests from the visiting coach to wind up the game, Coach Downing decided that he had had sufficient revenge for the earlier 5-4 defeat handed to his lads, and cut the game short. If that had not been done, there is little doubt that only the rain of Sunday morning would have stopped the game.

RIO GRANDE, HOLBROOK ADDED TO SCHEDULE

Coach G. D. Downing is slowly completing his football schedule, having at present contracted with two additional teams to bring the total games scheduled up to seven. He now has but one open date.

Recently he schedule games with Rio Grande College and with Holbrook College. The Eagles will meet Rio Grande on September 28 in the season's opener and Holbrook on November 9. The only date left open at present is October 12, and he hopes to fill that date in within a short time.
