ONLY THREE WEEKS IN WHICH TO ARRANGE FOR HOME LOANS SAY NATIONAL AUTHORITIES

Opportunity Given To Redeem Mortgages By Government.

(Distressed home owners have less than three weeks to apply for HOLC loans) Urban home owners who are in involuntary default on their mortgages are warned to file their application for relief loans from the Home Owners' Loan Corporation by June 27, less than three weeks away when the 30-day extension period for new applications will expire.

Under the law, loans can be made to home owners in genuine danger of losing their homes through tax sale or foreclosure. The Corporation cannot consider the applications from persons who are able to carry their present mortgages or to obtain refinancing elsewhere.

The same general tests of eligibility apply to newly filed requests for loans as are applied to earlier applications now in process of closing or rejection.

The home must have a value not exceeding $50,000, and must be occupied by the owner or held by him as his homestead.

For the redemption of the home from forced sale or involuntary surrender.

Daugherty Invents New Flexible Scale

C. B. Daugherty, manager of the Morehead Ice Company, is hard at work on a manufacturing device, that he believes will be a winner. Mr. Daugherty has worked out the plans for a new scale which in his opinion will revolutionize the scale business.

While it is impossible for us to give you an idea of the working of the scale or the principal on which it is built, it would be worth a visit to the Morehead Ice Company plant where Mr. Daugherty or some of his helpers will be glad to explain its principle to you.

College Advertises Bids For New Plant

In another column of this issue will be found a "Notice to Contractors" which is the answer to the question, "when will the work be started on the power and light plant at the Morehead State Teachers College?"

Without going into detail of the proposed building, which may be found in the Notice to Contractors, it may be said that the plans are complete not only for the building itself but for the lines and other appurtenances necessary to the operation of the plant.

It will be recalled that the college proposes to build a light, heat, power and water plant of its own, for the purpose of furnishing its electric current, heat and water. The plant will be built with funds obtained from the PWA and will be built under the specifications with regard to labor, laid down by that organization. A fund of $255,000 has been borrowed by the college for that purpose.

Will Rogers Pick A Story For This Spot

By Will Rogers I heard about a doctor that had a rich man for a regular patient. But this rich guy never paid any bills that he could help paying. Some times he didn't even pay his help. One night when there was a terrible storm going on, the doc had to get out of bed and go to this guy's house. The patient was the chauffeur.

Enrollment Well Over The Thousand Mark For First Term.

A new story that has almost ceased to be news, and come instead to be the expected, is that which has been run in the News every semester for the past ten years. That is the story to the effect that again the enrollment of the first summer term has shown an increase over the previous term of last year. The final news will break if and when the papers are able to write a story saying that the enrollment of Morehead has not increased or that it is at a standstill. Naturally citizens here hope that story is never written.

Word from authorities at the college states that this summer term, as in the past, the enrollment is increased. However, they have been more than agreeably surprised at the size of the increase. Whereas they had expected a slight growth, the enrollment has exceeded the most optimistic of their predictions. Up to Wednesday morning the total college enrollment was 314 students; the training school enrollment was 340, making the total enrollment up to that time 1196. As there are still several days in which students are permitted to enroll for last year, this will probably be further increased.

These figures place the total increase in the college proper at two hundred, over the total enrollment for the summer term last year when the college enjoyed its previous greatest summer enrollment. At that time the total for the term was 650 college students. In the high school the enrollment last year lacked 15 of equalling that of this summer.

In view of the unexpected increase it has been necessary to make several additions to the faculty, in order to provide for additional classes. Six new members have been added this year.

Supt. Arville Wheeler, of Paintsville, Superintendent of the city schools of that place is assisting in.

MRS. HATTIE COOPER DIES AT LOCAL HOME

Mrs. Cooper has been in ill health for some time and was brought here from her home in Frankfort about a week ago. She was before her marriage, Hattie Hardin and lived here a number of years ago. As we go to press, all funeral arrangements had been made.

Circuit Court To Open Session Here

With the June term of Rowan Circuit Court, "just around the corner," beginning Monday of next week, the prospects for a light docket remain unusually bright, according to Joe McKinney, Circuit Court clerk. Out side of the cases already announced as ready for trial the only case of moment likely to come before the Grand Jury, is that of Mrs. Bernard Day who was released under bond of $10,000 last week. This case will probably receive early action before the Grand Jury and will probably be brought up for trial, providing the attorneys are ready for the hearing. Out side of that possibility there is little to interest the average court goer.

Cases of particular interest to citizens are on the civil docket, according to Mr. McKinney, as the paving cases which have been hanging fire for several courts are slated for trial. In these cases a special judge will occupy the bench providing they are tried, as Circuit Judge D. B. Caudill, is interested in the cases and is not eligible to (Continued On Page Four)

AND NOW IT'S BANDITS!

Three little boys, but they were big!

They pulled out their wooden guns, they slipped up behind the trees slowly and quiet without even the quiver of an eyelid to betray their stealthy approach. They surrounded the bold bandit who was serenely unaware of their approach. The lawmen had him in their power, they had only to press the trigger and he would be a man no longer. He whoop and a dead bandit.

Then with a whoop and a shout they burst from their concealment and grabbed the bold bandit before he had even a chance to retrace. For his six guns. They had him without even firing a shot. They arrested him and socked him in jail and there he remains. Well, no he doesn't remain, for the game had to be played over again. One of them slipped up and whispered, "We know where there are two bandits hiding, they said "and we want to show the cops where they are so they can get them and we can go out and play again."

BETTER HOUSING CAMPAIGN

June fifteenth marks the opening of a "Better Housing" Campaign not only in Kentucky but in the Nation at large. Morehead has a small part in the national movement, when in reality, considering the needs of the community for expansion particularly in the building of new homes, it should be a large part.

The better housing campaign includes not only the erection of new homes, but the repair and remodeling of homes already built. The movement is in connection with the general program for the relief of unemployment and is a part of the PWA program.

Many Kentucky cities are planning on the erection of model homes. Others are making efforts to interest citizens in borrowing the money from the local banks and financing through local firms. The government in these instances will guarantee a portion of the loan, the balance to be carried by the bank under a mortgage system. However the bonds which are issued are capable of being used as collateral to the banks.

Although the movement is one that has the earmarks of a permanent system, that will eventually permit more tenants of today to become home owners.

With its great need of more houses and more homes, Morehead should be one of the first cities in Kentucky to take hold of the plan offered by the Federal Government to build new homes and repair those already built. Terms of payment arranged so that they may be extended over a long period of time, and so that no great difficulty will be met in payment. It is certainly a matter which will bear looking into and merit.

In this connection it is not amiss to remind local home owners Loan Corporation will be in Morehead Thursday and part of Friday of this week. If you are at all interested in the proposal, it might be well to call on him at Lester Hogg's office while he is in town. He will be able to give you first hand and reliable information as to just how to go about getting the necessary funds to carry out the building program you may have in mind.

THINGS ONE REMEMBERS

While driving east of San Diego recently, I overhauled and passed what seemed to be an old-time prospector in a small wagon drawn by two burros.

I stopped just ahead to buy some grape juice from a farm lady at her roadside stand.

I was ready to leave when the "prospector" drew up and stopped. On closer observation, he looked more like a dime novel hero or bad man, with all the traditional trappings, including a 45 calibre revolver hanging with approval sag on his left hip.

This style of dress has not been the fashion for either cowboys or prospectors in the west for many years, so I concluded he was advertising a patent medicine show, please, and one cent state sales tax.

Imagine my surprise when he said to the lady, "I'm a Federal man, a Federal prospector, I want to buy a jar of honey. She handed it to him and said, "Twenty-five cents." "Oh, no," said he, "I don't pay that tax. I'm a Federal man. I'm tax exempt." With that he swaggered out, leaving the hard-working rancher's wife to pay the penny tax.

This was such a glaring case of official power and privilege to escape the obligations of citizenship, that I was astounded. If this public servant's salary—which is paid in part by the taxes of the hard-working woman to whom he refused to pay the penny tax—is exempt from taxes, it is bad enough; if he uses his official position to bluff his way out of paying taxes, it is that much worse.

The moral of this incident is simple: In these days of exorbitant taxation it is unjust, unfair and undemocratic that any government office holder be granted any exemption from taxation not granted to a private citizen who pays the wages or salary of the office holder. It is no harder for a public servant who pays the wages or salary of the office holder. It is no harder for a public servant to pay taxes out of his income, than it is for a private citizen to pay it out of his own earnings.

Special privileges for officialism at public expense, must be curbed or the common citizen will become nothing but a tax slave to dig up money for the tax-exempt bureaucrats.

A KEEN OBSERVER'S VIEW OF ROOSEVELT

"Each time you see Roosevelt you are more deeply grateful that in these times, under these conditions, there should be in the White House a man absolutely honest intellectually as well as in less important ways, and fearless, with no false front for the crowd that elected him, no back door entrance for the select few that think they own a president.

NEWS FLASHES OF INTEREST

CREEK DISAPPEARS

During a hard rain recently, the bottom of the creek-bed dropped out down in the lower end of Grish near the home of Gordon Paynter. All the water of the creek goes down thru the hole, thru an underground passage and comes out near Aden. It makes a roaring noise where it goes in, and shoots up where it out. The question is, is there a cave under this section like other caves in Kentucky? The workmen at Aden Tunnel were perplexed to know what had happened to the water supply when the water ceased coming. On examination, the cause was found.

Dear friends, weep not for me, for I am at rest now. There is no pain and no smothering—I am asleep in Jesus.

Your Child And The School

By Dr. Allen G. Ireland

THE SWIMMING HOLE

Children should never be deprived of the pleasure, the exercise, or the safeguard which swimming affords. Although the familiar plea, "May I go swimming?" makes up a little squabble, there are few parents who don't see the importance of granting that wish.

It's folly to be always saying "No." And it's worse to scare the child. Probably the sensible move is to get acquainted with the swimming hole. Enlist the aid of other parents. Call upon the health department to test a sample of the water. There may be other departments that will help you rid the bottom of old tin cans, broken glass, and rocks. If not, organize a group of fathers to tackle the job. But if the hole can't be made healthful and safe, petition the police or town council to close it.

There are many instances where that "swimming hole" has been transformed into a place of beauty and a cause of community pride. Some of the worst places are now public parks where the whole family may enjoy a daily frolic in the water and a picnic supper. No one believes it can be done, until they try it. Many believe there is no such place near their town, until they look around. The effort will more than repay you.

Should a child's summer meals differ from those of winter. Next week Dr. Ireland will give advice on the problem.

DO YOU KNOW

That arson, "crime of crimes," is responsible for more than 50 per cent of the lives of firemen lost in all fires?

That one arson fire is said to cost more than a dozen unpreventable fires?

That many losses of suspicious origin not yet proven incendiary when reported, are classed as "unknown" or "miscellaneous"?

That arson fires swell the total losses, thus offering the cost of insurance protection to everyone?

That, to combat arson, special agents of the National Board of Fire Underwriters are aiding state department and cities in the organization of arson squads and that many cities now have such squads?

That the model arson law has been enacted in 24 states?

That suspicious fires are thoroughly investigated by experienced arson detectives and that many of them result in convictions of the guilty persons?

That you can do your part to stop this crime, committed against society?

That you should report any suspicious fires to the authorities?

That the lives of many innocent persons are endangered by this lowest type of criminal? Help bring him to justice!

Kennel Murder Case

Are you sure you can't help us? Vance gazed at her steadily.

(She became thoughtful; a curious change came over her, and she looked at Vance with a questioning steady stare.

I've been thinking about that door for several hours, she said tensely. And I can't find an answer to it. Uncle Brisbane and Mr. Wrede and I often talked about these tricky criminal devices. We worked out various ways and means of doing seemingly impossible things; but bolting the door from the outside was something we could never figure out.

Vance took his cigarette from his mouth with slow deliberation.

You mean to tell me that you and Brisbane and Mr. Wrede actually discussed the possibilities of bolting this door from the outside, Oh, yes. She appeared quite frank.

Many times. But we decided it couldn't be successfully done.

Vance hesitated, and a strange kind of chill ran over me. I felt as if we were approaching something particularly pertinent and, at the same time, sinister.

Did anyone else—Vance's cool voice brought me back to reality—ever hear these discussions?

No one but uncle Archer. Hilda Lake had become frigid and indifferent again. He always ridiculed our speculations.

What of Liang? Vance asked casually.

The cook? Oh, I suppose he heard our idle chatter. I believe we talked over our dire plots at dinner occasionally.

And you have the problem that troubled all of you has been solved. Vance rose and strolled meditatively toward the door. Very sad. — He opened the door and held it ajar. Thank you, Miss Lake, I say, you will miss remaining in your room till dinner time, will you?

If I did mind it wouldn't do me any good, I suppose. She spoke with obvious resentment as she walked toward Vance. May be permitted to get a book from Uncle Brisbane's room to while away my hours of detention? Her eyes were narrowed, and her lip curled in an ugly arc.

Vance's calm gaze did not alter. I'm dashed sorry, and all that sort of thing he said politely, but I'll send you up any book you'd like later. I've a bit of browsing to do first.

The woman turned on her heel and walked away without a word.

Vance waited until he heard her close the door with a bang, then he turned and came back into the room.

Not a sweet, Victorian, clinging vine, he lamented, but a lady of parts none the less. Curious, her telling us of her discussions with Brisbane about the possibilities of bolting the door from the outside. There was something back of that. Markham, the young woman had ideas. Now why would she have tried to be so helpful? And that suggestion about rigor mortis and the revolver—again.

If you want my candid opinion, Markham commented, she knows, or suspects, more than she's telling us; and she's trying to throw us off the track.

Vance considered this for a time. Yes, possibly, he agreed at length. On the other hand, Markham was patently puzzled. Any suggestion? he asked, what's our next move.

Oh, that's indicated. Vance sighed deeply. Painful as it may prove, I simply must run my eye over Brisbane's books.

Markham also sighed deeply, and rose.

We went into Brisbane Coe's room which was at the front of the house on the west side. On the north wall beside the window was a series of built in book shelves extending to the ceiling. There were, I estimated between three and four hundred volumes on them, all neatly and meticulously arranged.

Vance went up to the window and threw up the shades, and began running his eye systematically over the volumes.

For a small number of criminological titles Brisbane Coe's collection was unusually complete. If surveying the titles one got the impression that, had he gone in for crime, he would have been highly practical rather than subtle. He glanced over the books rapidly but carefully.

It should be here, y' know, he murmured, as if to himself, unless it's been taken away.

Vance got up and began to check the volume numbers of the various sets of books. When he came to a red and gold set of the Aussenreiter der Gessellschaft he gave a nod and stepped down to the floor.

A volume missing he announced. He scanned the upper book shelves carefully. I wonder, then he dropped on his knees and began going more thoroughly over the section of fiction.

When he had come to the lowest shelf he reached forward and took out a thin red-and-gold volume. He glanced at it and leaned forward again to inspect the books on either side of the space from which he had extracted the missing volume of the Aussenreiter der Gessellschaft series.

Oh, I say! he exclaimed. That's deuced interesting. Markham, it's significant that the missing volume of the Aussenreiter der Gessellschaft should be found cheek by jowl with a book dealing with a pin.

Markham took his cigar from his mouth, stood up, and faced Vance with a serious face.

I see what you mean, he said. You think that Brisbane, by the help of these books on criminology worked out some way of bolting Archer's door from the outside by the use of those pins and string.

Vance gave an affirmative nod. Either Brisbane or some one else, it was quite a technical operation. He picked up the Aussenreiter der Gessellschaft volume. I think I'll do a bit of prying—if you could bear to wait for me a short while.

Markham made a gesture of acquiescence.

The sergeant and I will wait for you downstairs—I've got some telephoning to do.

The three of us left Vance alone in Brisbane's room, and as I closed the door I saw Vance stretch himself out on theavenport with the two books.

Here's a Jump-Out-Of-Bed Breakfast

WHEN he wakes up in the morning, does he feel about half dead, and alarm clock clamor scolding, pull the covers over his head? Does he want to sleep still longer, to stay cocooned in his nest, and ignore calls of hunger, try to get a further rest? Well—then, try this on the follow, and you'll surely make a bit for yourself and he'll wake up "yellow" and not hesitate a bit. But he'll fling away his covers and jump out of bed with zest, if the sweet aroma hovers of this breakfast at its best.

Other two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt, and add with one-third cup melted butter. Add one cup finely-chopped cooked ham, and fold in three stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake as any waffles. This recipe makes eight of them.

Fresh Coffee

One of the great points of this breakfast, and of all breakfasts, is to have your coffee fresh. That means that it must be made from coffee that has been vacuum-packed because that is the only modern method of keeping coffee absolutely fresh until the can is opened. There are many brands of coffee that are vacuum-packed, so you can choose the one you like best and make a hit with that husband of yours with this appetizing better breakfast.

WHOSE WORD WILL YOU TAKE FOR BLOWOUT PROTECTION?

Low wheels, larger tires, and the high speeds of today make blowout protection in your tires vital to your safety as never before. Are you accepting exaggerated and unsupported advertising and sales claims — are you accepting the judgment of men who risk their lives on their tires and know from experience the tire that gives them the greatest blowout protection?

Thirty-three race drivers and their mechanics lined up for the dangerous, grueling grind of the 500-Mile Race at the Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. Firestone Tires were purchased and used on every one of the thirty-three cars.

Kelly Pettilo won the race at an average speed of 106 miles per hour. Willbur Shaw was second, finishing across the finish line just behind the winner. Both drivers broke the track record without tire trouble. In fact, not one of the thirty-three drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

Gum-Dipping is one of the outstanding reasons why Firestone Tires give such amazing performance. By this process every cotton cord is soaked and every strand is insulated with pure liquid rubber, preventing internal friction and heat, the main cause of blowouts. Gum-Dipping is a patented extra process not used in any other make of tire.

When you consider that there were 322,000 automobile accidents in the United States last year, and of these, 43,000 were caused by blowouts, punctures, and skidding, you will more fully realize how very important it is for you to protect your life and the lives of others by equipping your car with Firestone Gum-Dipped High Speed Tires—the safest tires built.

It will be worth your time to read these three questions and their answers:

QUESTION 1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

ANSWER—Leading university tests show Firestone High Speed Tires stop your car 15% quicker than the best of other popular makes of tires.

QUESTION 2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"

ANSWER—Unequaled performance records for sixteen consecutive years prove that Gum-Dipping gives you the greatest blowout protection ever known.

QUESTION 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

ANSWER—Thousands of car owners report unequaled mileage records—evidence of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

Better Breakfasts

FRUITS for breakfast are part of the start of a fine day. They make you feel fine, even if the weather isn't. The following breakfast contains so many kinds of fruits that it ought to make you feel extra fine. It will make sunshine inside of you whether the weather is cloudy or not. Here it is:

Fruit Appetizer
 Creamed Kidney Beans
 Cranberry Jam
 Coffee

And here's the recipe for the dish which contains several kinds of fruits in addition to the gooseberries in the gooseberry jam:

Fruit Appetizer: Combine three-fourths cup pineapple tidbits or sliced pineapple cut in wedges, three-fourths cup white grapes, halved and seeded (either fresh or canned), one-fourth cup syrup from the canned pineapple and one cup orange juice. Chill over night, and serve in glass dessert dishes. Serves six.

 First Coffee

But even this breakfast will be a failure if the coffee you serve is not fresh. Fortunately it is easy nowadays to be sure of the important fact that your coffee is fresh. All you have to do is to make a practice of buying one of the many brands of coffee that are sold in vacuum packed cans. Oxygen is the enemy of freshly ground coffee, and these vacuum packed cans absolutely exclude all oxygen, so that the coffee is sure to be fresh when you open them.

If you use vacuum packed coffee and plenty of fruit in all the breakfasts you serve you'll find that it makes a great difference. Ask your own doctor about it and he'll tell you that these two elements in every breakfast will go far toward keeping you in good health.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kaseo, Pastor of the Baptist Church.

Subject: Christian Stewardship. Deut. 8:11-18; 2 Cor. 9:6-8. Golden Text. It is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful. 1 Cor. 4:2.

(Read the text from the Bible). The passage from Deuteronomy brings us the obligation of stewardship. Before we study it let us remember these things: (1) In the law of Moses stewardship was emphasized, declaring that God gives man the power to get wealth. (Deut. 8:11-20) (2) In the Prophets Malachi magnified stewardship arranging those who robbed God of tithes and offerings. (Mal. 3:7-12). (3) In the Gospels Jesus illustrated a true stewardship in the parable of the talents. (Matt. 25:14-30). (4) In the Epistles Paul urged Christian stewardship upon his readers to make the church offering each Sunday. (1 Cor. 16:2), to abide in the grace of Christian giving (2 Cor. 8), and by cheerful liberality to show their gratitude to God for His unspeakable gift. (2 Cor. 9).

1. The obligation of stewardship. (1) We notice the solemn warning not to forget God. "Beware" is the word of warning with which the writer begins. It is "most awful. Beware that you forget not to keep His commandments, etc., "lest when thou hast eaten, and art full... then thine heart be lifted up, and thou FORGET the Lord thy God." Then he goes on to remind them of the mercies of God in bringing them up out of bondage, and of leading them through peril and difficulty until they have safely come into the rich promises of God's possessions. Beware that you do not think it was by your own power that you came through all this into these possessions. "But thou shalt remember the Lord thy God: for it is He that giveth thee power to get wealth." So the stewardship of money is here apparent. In other words, He says "The cattle on a thousand hills is mine; the gold and silver is all mine;

I have simply entrusted it to you for holy uses and blessing to the world. Beware, lest you forget that I gave it to you; for it is still mine. I can take it away as quickly as I gave it. Don't get your mind on your wealth to the exclusion of your God; for 'thou shalt remember the Lord thy God,' not your wealth. You have been dependent on me through all your trouble; you are still dependent." (1) He adds the solemn duty of stewardship. We owe Him the duty of honoring Him with "thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase." And the Lord Says, "So shall thy barns be filled with plenty and thy presses shall burst forth with new wines."

2. The practice of stewardship. In the passage from Corinthians we have the condition of the harvest. (1) There is the law of the sower. If you sow sparingly you shall reap sparingly. Every farmer knows this. Liberal sowing will bring a rich harvest, both in liberality of giving and good deeds. (2) There is the law of the harrow. The purpose of our giving should be formed in the heart, and the only part of our giving that can become a spiritual blessing is that which is given from the heart. Money is valuable to God only as it represents a dedicated portion of life. (3) There is the law of the happy. A cheerful giver, one who gives not grudgingly, but with gladness, he is the kind who will be happy in his liberality. A stingy man can't make himself happy by giving. (4) There is the law of Grace. God is able to give you anything you need. He who seeks first the Kingdom of God will have these things added. He will have a sufficiency of material possessions and also abound unto every work. "Let God reach into your heart and do what He will with your possessions, and He will let you reach into His heart and do what you will with His possessions."

LATE POTATOES

Last week the general requirements for soil and soil preparation, and fertilizing and for general management of late potatoes were discussed. Today, the discussion is finished.

Going back to seed, no grower of potatoes can afford to omit seed treatment to control scab and black scurf. This is more important with regard to scab, for summer grown potatoes are, peculiarly subject to this disease. Either the standard treatment of the quick dip, both described in Kentucky College of Agriculture Circular 202, may be used. The seeds should be cut into pieces having about the volume of a pullet's egg, and bearing at least one eye, and bearing at least one eye; more eyes do not matter. As contrasted with the practice one may follow in the spring, namely, planting the seed as soon as it is cut, the seed pieces for the summer planting should undergo "soaking-over" so that their moisture is held within them and not lost through being absorbed by dry, warm soil. The seed should be cut from 48 to 96 hours before it is planted, and sown in crates or other ventilated containers in a relatively cool place through which there is not much movement of air.

The seed should be planted in rows from 30 to 36 inches wide, and the pieces dropped 15 inches apart, for cobbles, and 18 inches for all other varieties.

The depth of planting should be greater than for the spring crop, because in mid-summer and even late into the fall, rains are frequent, making it necessary for the crop to depend largely on moisture that is already in the soil. If potatoes are planted deeply enough for the roots to reach soil moisture reserves, they will succeed better in carrying over until the fall rains start. Deep soil is cool, soil, as well, potatoes are a cool crop. Five inches is a proper depth to make the furrows but they should not be filled when the seed is covered, but only an inch or two. As the potatoes come up, which they will more quickly that if they had to penetrate through 5 inches of soil, the furrows should be filled, and the field made level.

The cultivation of late potatoes should be shallow so that no weeds are injured, and level, so as to give the little evaporation surface possible.

Planting time depends on the varieties used. For McCormick, the standard July potato, planting time should begin June 15 in the Kentucky to July 15 in the southern part of the common line; for Solway, fluke, a favorite in the Purchase, the date is from July 1 to August 1, in southern Kentucky, and about 2 weeks earlier in the counties that abut on the State of Ohio.

For the French variety, a newcomer, our best information is that it be planted June 15 in the northern part of the state and as much as 3 weeks later in the southern counties. In the Mountain counties, where summer rains are assured, Green Mountains may be successfully grown; planting date is between June 15 and July 15. When Irish Cobbler is the variety, seed that has been kept on cold storage must be used; planting extends from July 10 to August 10, depending on the latitude, north to south.

The arch-pest of late potatoes is the Colorado beetle, and sometimes blister beetles are troublesome; both these insects are controlled through the use of arsenicals. Sometimes, potato lice and potato leafhoppers come; they may be stopped by applying tobacco extract. Frequently the crop is cut short by blight; applying Bordeaux is the control. In fact, all potatoes, no matter what the variety, are benefited by systematic spraying with Bordeaux mixture, to which arsenical and copper extract are added, when for these materials is apparent. A program of at least three sprayings will certainly pay for itself.

BEAN BEETLES

A circular dealing with the control of the Mexican bean beetle, published by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, says spraying or dusting should be started as soon as beetles or signs of their injury appear. The poison should be placed on the underside of the leaves where the beetle feeds, which means that clusters of sprayers with upturned nozzles should be used.

The spray is made of two pounds of magnesium arsenate to 50 gallons of water or 2 ounces of 50 per cent level talc to 3 gallons of water. A gallon of spray covers 100 feet of row; 150 gallons covers an acre. Application should be repeated in a week or 10 days. Three or four applications may be needed, but usually two thorough applications are sufficient.

Either of the following dust mixtures is effective: a pound of calcium arsenate and 7 pounds of hydrated lime or a pound of calcium arsenate, a pound of sulphur and 5 pounds of hydrated lime. The dust should be well mixed, and applied at the rate of 25 to 35 pounds to the acre or one pound to 500 feet of the applied only when the plants are dry.

POULTRY PROSPECTS GOOD

The way things look now, egg prices should be good next fall and winter, says J. E. Humphrey of the University of Kentucky College. He, therefore, advises extra care of pullets, to insure growth and health, so that good egg production can be had when prices are high.

Move pullets to clean ground, away from the old flock, where they can be kept free from worms and diseases.

Keep an abundance of growing mash before the birds. A good growing mash, starting when the birds are 10 to 12 weeks' old, is made of 200 pounds of mixed wheat feed or shipstuf, 100 pounds of ground yellow corn, 100 pounds of meat scrap or high grade tankage and 5 pounds of salt. Grain should be kept in the hoppers with the mash.

Clean water and milk troughs and scald them once a week. Provide low roosts when the chicks are three weeks old. It is best not to remove the source of heat until the birds are roosting. Inch-mesh poultry wire nailed to the under side of the roosts will keep the birds off the droppings.

Supply an abundance of water and shade during the hot months. Watch for lice and mites on the weather gear's warm. Use sodium fluoride 50 percent nicotine for lice, and drainings from the crank case diluted with kerosene for mites.

All cockers, except a few of the largest and most rapid feathering ones, and the cul pullets should be sold as broilers.

Write to the College of Agriculture or see a county agent for Leaflet No. 4, "Producing Profitable Pullets."

Timely Suggestions About Peas

SOMETIMES you get tired of recipes with a multitude of ingredients and many different things to do. But unless you taste varies widely from that of other part of the public, you never get tired of peas. So it occurs to us to collect some simple ways of preparing this popular and excellent vegetable, and here they are:

Peas in Cream Sauce: Make a white sauce of one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour and the liquid from a 1/2 pound can of peas with enough milk added to make a quart. Add one fourth can of peas with salt and pepper and add the peas. Heat and serve. Serves four.

Scrambled Eggs and Peas: Turn one cup of canned peas into skillet. Season with salt, pepper and a few grains of sugar. Cook gently until all the liquid is gone. Add one tablespoon butter and, when melted, pour in two eggs and let them cook until the yolks are firm. Cook ten minutes, stirring until creamy. Serves four.

In Salads, Too

Peas and Lettuce Salad: Drain a cup of canned peas and marinate them in two tablespoons French dressing for at least an hour. Add one fourth cup chopped walnuts, one-fourth cup crushed lettuce and one-fourth cup mayonnaise and mix lightly together. Serves four.

Here's a Buzz About Early Spring Fruits

If you feel that you simply can't wait for spring fruits and control yourself and stay your appetite with some dishes made from fruits in cans. Model yourself on the unshakable who would often rather buzz around an open can of fruit than around fruit hanging on a limb.

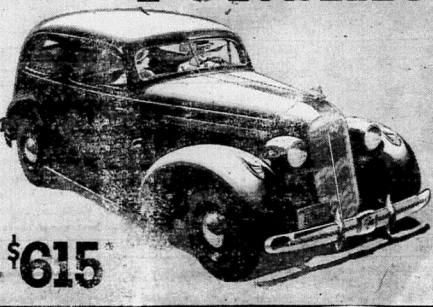

Can't you see—and almost hear—the bumblebees, for instance, buzzing happily in an apple orchard? Well, here's a dish that would make him forget the orchards and fly right in through the window if he caught you making it. Recipe is for:

Fruited Spanish Cream: Beat two egg yolks slightly with one-third cup sugar and one-cup scalded milk and cook in a double boiler until it comes to the boiling, stirring constantly. Soak one tablespoon gelatin in one tablespoon cold water, then dissolve in the hot custard. Cook the custard and add one cup apple sauce, one-half cup mayonnaise and one tablespoon lemon juice, and let stand until almost set. Then fold in one-half cup strawberries, cut in halves. Chill. Serve in sherbet glasses with a dash of berries for garnish. Serves eight.

Buzz Around This

And here's another dish that would lure a bumblebee from his busiest activities outdoors: Apricot and Plum in Glaze: Drain one cup canned apricots and one cup canned plums, place in a buttered casserole and add one tablespoon flour and then thin cream. Add one-half cup chopped walnuts, one-fourth cup fruit syrup, and pour over the fruit. Bake in a hot oven—400 degrees—for thirty minutes. Serve either warm or cold as a compote. Serves six.

Morehead Wins Second Row 2-1

Morehead Goes To Paris For Tussle Sunday; May Jump To Upper Level As Result Of Game

Teams Bunched For Lead Of League; Games May Alter Standings.

Sunday's games in the Kentucky State League should prove of more than ordinary interest as a great deal depends on the results of those games. With the teams bunched as they are, a game lost or won will have all the bearing in the world on the final results of the first half of the season which is not so far off as it was.

Morehead meets the tailenders in a game to be played at Paris Sunday. A win for Morehead will place them in a statistical position with four won and four lost for an average of .500. Paris has slowly dropped to the bottom from a good start, while Morehead has reversed the order and seems to be going places.

Brooksville, occupying at present the seventh place, meets Owingsville at Owingsville. Brooksville upsets the dove Sunday, to win from Paris and may set Owingsville up as well.

Flemingsburg who was defeated by Mt. Sterling Sunday must Vanecburg and anything can happen. If the Stumbers are going good, it is likely to prove a Waterloo day for Vanecburg, as a loss by Vanecburg and a win by Owingsville would change the standings materially.

Mayville, who have been steadily dropping from first place to occupy fourth meets Mt. Sterling with whom they are at present tied up. Which ever team wins will drop the other to the lower round of the standings.

Another of the games Sunday are likely to furnish a number of lightning changes, with Morehead, if she wins, stepping up into fourth place. Sunday's schedule: Brooksville at Owingsville; Mayville at Mt. Sterling; Flemingsburg at Vanecburg; Morehead at Paris. Only two and one half games separate the league leaders and the hill-climbers in the Kentucky State League, after Sunday's games are accounted for has dropped, not from the lead, but close to Owingsville in second place, as the result of losing to Morehead, Owingsville has a death grip on second place; Mayville and Mt. Sterling are tied for third and fourth; Flemingsburg by dropping Sunday's game to Mt. Sterling are tied for third and fourth; Flemingsburg by dropping Sunday's game to Mt. Sterling is now in fifth position leading Morehead by a scant part of a game. Brooksville took seventh place in the rating and Parks is in the cellar position.

McNabb Wins Sunday's Game From Vanceburg By 2-1 Score In A Hectic Pitcher's Battle

Junior Merchants To Play Saturday

The Junior Merchants of Morehead failed to play their scheduled game here last Saturday, but they promise to furnish a real treat this coming Saturday, according to their publicity agent, Walter Carr. The Merchants, Jr., who for the past several games have been sporting their new uniforms bought by funds contributed by local merchants, will meet the Owingsville Juniors in a double-header, which will furnish plenty of thrills.

The first time the Merchants met Owingsville was in the green pastures surrounding that city, Owingsville took that game after eleven innings of struggle, 7 to 3. However, the Merchants have blood in their eyes and are looking toward a double win this coming Saturday. Just remember that these are your boys and be there to root for them. They claim they will give you something to root for.

College To Sponsor Summer Soft Ball

Plans are already under way for the organization of a Soft Ball League this summer. However, the plans this year will differ considerably from those of last summer, according to Coach G. D. Downing. They will be a part of the college athletic program, rather than an amusement center for the entire community. With this in mind, Coach Downing is planning for a six team league with four teams representing the students of the college especially those engaged in athletic courses. One team will be composed of faculty members and will be made up of business men, if they so desire. A schedule of two games each day will be arranged according to Coach Downing. The season will close with the first summer term.

BURLEY GROWERS RECEIVE BENEFIT CHECKS

A total of 20,858 second benefit payment checks aggregating $2,139,561 had been mailed from Washington to burley tobacco growers in 85 Kentucky counties by June 1. A total of 50,000 marketing cards for burley growers in 87 counties had passed through the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, and growers in at least 40 more counties were expecting to receive second payment checks not later than June 10. The second payments in all counties are due during the early summer, it was said.

The second benefit payment is based on the sales value of the 1934 crop, and involves the checking and auditing of the marketing cards. It is estimated that approximately $5,000,000 will be received by Kentucky burley growers as their second benefit payments for the 1934 crop.

League Leaders Bow Before Baffling Curves Of Former Eagle

Morehead dumped the league leaders Vanceburg 2 to 1 Sunday before a crowd that would have been much larger had the fans known that their home town boys were due for a win. McNabb, hurling a ball that was credited to him and his team, held the visitors to five hits, two of them coming in the ninth after two men were out. The win, while it failed to effect the leaders position, brought them down to within striking distance of the second team in the standings, Owingsville.

Steidel, for Vanceburg pitched good ball, but errors coupled with bunched hits gave Morehead the necessary one run lead and clinched the game. Steidel allowed seven hits while his teammates were garnering five off the McNabb delivery.

Vanceburgs lone run came in the fourth inning on a single by Woodward a stolen base and an error by Fraley. Morehead scored in the second on a single by Duck Carter, who was brought home by Nolan's clout to right field. Two errors followed a single by Carter through in the deciding run in the fifth. Both pitchers tightened and the game was on ice for Morehead.

The winning streak, it can be said to have developed to a streak, of the Morehead team will undoubtedly boost the game receipts here, as the fans are beginning to turn out and talk it up.

McNabb and Dale have apparently brought the local pitching staff out of the kinks and the team is apparently on its way ahead.

Other League Games Won

MT. STERLING TAKES ELEVEN INNING GAME

It took Mt. Sterling eleven innings to defeat Flemingsburg and their Stumbers Sunday, with the final score 3 to 2. The game ran 2 to 0 in favor of Mt. Sterling until the last of the ninth when Varney doubled scoring two men. The game then went into extra innings. Mt. Sterling breaking the tie in their turn at bat.

BROOKSVILLE DROPS PARIS IN SLUG FEST

Brooksville in the tail-enders tried to decide which would go to the cellar, threw Paris into that position for a lop-sided score of 7 to 2. The game was different from any of the other Sunday games, in that it was the only one in which the game was not won by one run.

MAYVILLE DEFEATS OWINGSVILLE 2 TO 1

Feedback, pitching for Owingsville was defeated by Keasley, hurling them over for Mayville Sunday, the score being 2 to 1. Both pitchers are left-handed. The game left Owingsville in second place while Mayville went into a clinch with Mt. Sterling for third and fourth places.

Donkeys; Donkey Ball And Donkeys

Probably one of the largest crowds ever to attend a baseball game here enjoyed a hilarious hour or so at the Burro Ball game here last Wednesday night, when a team heralded as a Legion team met a so-called business men's team. The fun was furnished by both the teams and the onlookers.

It is probable that Sam C. Candill furnished the most fun for the spectators, although there were several others who did their full share of entertaining. There is little point in attempting to describe the game in detail or whatever it might be called. The fact that the business men's team won is also merely an incident. They did, but regardless of who won or lost, the evening's entertainment was a success, if any side shows from roars of laughter and chorings of applause make a successful evening's entertainment.

Well, according to the standings of the teams in the Kentucky State League, Morehead is not as bad off as she might be in spite of the slow start. Vanceburg, league leaders, whom Morehead took into camp Sunday afternoon, with Edgar McNabb on the mound pitching superb ball, has won 6 and lost 3, while Morehead, in sixth place, has lost four and won three. Flemingsburg has won four and lost five to take the round above the locals, while Mayville and Mt. Sterling are tied up with five wins and four losses to drop behind and Owingsville who occupy second place. Vanceburg of course, still leads the race with six wins and three losses.

It looks like the postponed games of the schedule will have a lot to do with the final decision, as wins by any of the teams will change the standings materially. Mac Nab in his second start of the season for Morehead, again offered a brand of pitching that was invincible. This time, however, he succeeded in turning in a victory, unlike his first start when he had everything it took except a bobble behind him. Those are, however, part of the game, and come when least expected.

The brand of ball being played in the Kentucky State League, is of an unusually high class, judging by the scores that are being turned in at nearly every performance. When the scores for today's play run 2 to 1, 2 to 1, 4 to 1, and 7 to 2, it looks like tight ball all the way round.

The most encouraging feature of the play is the fact that Morehead has taken two games played after a start that left them with one game won and four lost. They appeared to have lost both their religion and their batting eye. Pitching such as Eads turned in should have won several of their games if the boys had been hitting as they have in the past.

Morehead has five postponed games to be played off before the end of the first half of the schedule. It is probably lucky for the team that the games were postponed, as they are apparently hitting their stride and will undoubtedly have a better chance to do things now than they would have earlier in the season.

As the team picks up the crowds will pick up. Morehead has become so accustomed to having a winner to support that the fans here can't appreciate an off season or a loser. The attendance, according to Claude Clayton has started to pick up considerably since the boys turned in a couple of wins. If they can keep it up they may have a successful fall season after all.

Football Prospects Go Dim At College

The goblin of low grades is taking toll from the football prospects of Morehead State Teachers College, according to reports reaching this office. Many of the most brilliant football prospects from last year's freshman team have fallen by the wayside and dropped out of school due to the fact that they failed to make the standing required. The result is, that with the loss of many of the varsity players of last year, added to the number of freshmen who failed to make the grade for various reasons, the prospects are not nearly as bright as they were last spring and last fall, when Morehead produced a freshman team that had nearly every college team in the state backed off the map.

After all, the real purpose for which the boys are in school is not to play football, and if they are furnished jobs, and helped along, they are expected to realize that purpose. If they don't, well, football or no football, say the college authorities, the boys will either get their grades up and keep them up, or else. Several of them "or else."

FENCING REPAIRS TIMELY IN SPRING

The advent of warm weather provides an excellent time to build new fences and to repair old ones. Even the truck garden should be fenced to keep out chickens, deteriorated fence posts should be replaced with new ones, preservative treated, or of very durable wood, concrete, metal or other suitable material. Sagging wires should be tightened, and broken wires, fence bightens, and woven fences of various kinds which will no longer furnish adequate protection should be replaced with new, durable material.

Spring is also an excellent time to paint fences before grass or other plant growth becomes sufficiently high to interfere with this kind of work. A fresh coat of white paint on the posts not only serves as a guide to assist the automobilist who drives at night but white posts and fences surrounding verdant fields, farm woodlands, and orchards are beautiful and attractive landscape settings.

Loans for repairing and installing fences are available through private financial institutions cooperating with the Federal Housing Administration, the National Housing act.

A Voice Out of the Cotton Patches

A GROUP of country negroes, seized with the desire to emigrate to the North—that same contagion, by the way, which has kept the money ran out. In the hopes of raising funds sufficient to enable them to continue their journey, the stranded travelers sought an engagement.

One of them became acquainted with a white gentleman who threw several odd jobs in his way. But this scrappy employment, while it provided temporary food and lodging, did not serve to gratify the man's pressing ambition. Reaching his office on a certain morning, the citizen found the colored friend awaiting him at the door. "Mr. Blank," said the applicant, "you've been so good to me already, I hate to keep on pestering you, but I suddenly does need wuk mighty bad ag'in, an' I see hopin' you kin help me out ag'in same ez you done two-three times befo'."

"Well," said the manufacturer, "as it happens, you may be in luck at the Eagle Laundry."

"Thank you, sah," said the negro; "but, Mr. Blank," he added dejectedly, "I ain't never had no 'opence washin' eagles."

Musical Romance Featured At Cozy

Drama, romance, thrills and the gorgeous music of Victor Herbert's greatest operetta are blended in "Naughty Marietta." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular romance of Creole days in New Orleans, when brought to the screen Jeanette MacDonald, glamorous heroine of the "Merry Widow," and Nelson Eddy, eminent American operatic baritone.

Directed by W. S. Van Dyke, of "Thin Man" fame, it tells a graphic story of the settlement of New Orleans by the French in the days of "Merry Widow," and Nelson Eddy, eminent American operatic baritone.

The new photoplay is based on the Victor Herbert masterpieces in which Emma Trentini and Orville Harold still starred on the stage. The dramatic side of the adventure and perils of the period is stressed as a thundering background for the glamorous music.

Such song hits as "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "I'm Fallin' in Love with Someone," "The Italian Street Song," and all the original music of the operetta is retained with new lyrics by Gus Kahn, of the famous song team of Donaldson and Kahn. Naughty Marietta will be at the Cozy on Wednesday and Thursday June 19 and 20.

Hepburn Starred In Love Drama

Break of Hearts comes to the College Theatre Friday. It is a great Romantic Drama starring Katherine Hepburn.

In it Robert is a great orchestra conductor. Adored by many women, he meets and falls in love with Constance, a meek but ambitious composer who long has admired the great leader. Married, their life has every woman's dream until Robert, succumbing to temptation, blasts all Constance's hope and trust. Leaving Robert's Constance's road is rocky. Heartbroken at first, Robert goes to Europe, where, under the inspiration of Maestro Tlams, he gets a grip on himself.

Later, in New York again, at a New Year's celebration, Robert meets an artificial sophisticated Constance who spurns his plea for reconciliation. Turning up drunk at a concert, he shocks his sponsors and patrons, but does something to Constance's heart that causes her to lift him out of the gutter and lead him to a new and bright future.

Sold in a manner that convinces it is the pieturization of a pleasing, but sometimes heart disturbing story of two love hungry people; of a man who had to win the love and respect of his wife all over again, there is plenty to sell in addition to the two stars, Katherine Hepburn and Charles Boyer. Their names connected with the title and catchlines describing the story should prove a sufficient basis on which to work.
