The past and present position of the original Convention men.

Every man who was seriously in favor of a State Convention to remodel the Constitution of Kentucky two and a half years ago, will recollect distinctly that one of the charges brought against the Convention party, by those who opposed it, was the existence of a design, upon the part of the Reformers, to agitate the question of Slavery, and bring about (if possible) its removal.

Indeed, the positive assurances which we had, at that time, from the Convention party generally, and from the most prominent and influential members of it, in particular, were such that we did not hesitate to believe them sincere; and knowing, as we did, that the agitation of the prominent question, at any period previous to the passage of the law authorizing such Convention, would most likely defeat it entirely, we determined, after the most mature deliberation, to oppose any and every movement which might be made, either upon the part of friends or foes, that might be calculated to arouse the feelings and prejudices of the people of this State on a subject of such vital interest to their future peace, prosperity, and happiness.

This we understood then to be, and still believe is, the true position of the original Convention men, as a party, and still adhere to it, until we have good and sufficient reasons to believe that we are in error, and do not reflect the sentiments of a vast majority of the people of Kentucky.

There is a principle involved in the controversy which is like to be forced upon the people, through the influence of certain men, which is too binding in its obligations upon the original friends of Reform, ever to permit them to abandon the position which they took when the Convention question was first agitated, and we cannot believe they will do it, whatever may be their notions as to the propriety of the abolition of slavery at a future period.

Mr. William E. Hodson, The accredited Agent of the Washington Monument Society is now in this city, for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions and money to aid in the erection and completion of that magnificent structure. He will wait upon our citizens, during the few days he may remain with us, and it is hoped that no one will suffer him to depart, without a suitable manifestation being made of their willingness to contribute to this splendid tribute to the memory of the illustrious Father of American Liberty.

Every man must be sensible that had the people of Kentucky understood this dangerous matter was to be logged into the Convention, at the time the question was submitted to them in 1847, the Convention bill would have been defeated at the polls, by an overwhelming majority on its passage.

In the agitation of the Convention question its friends were actuated by higher motives than a disposition to stir up strife and animosity between different classes of our citizens, as governed by a more noble impulse than that which stimulates the Emancipationists to action, in the present crisis.

Then, were there no other motive for opposing the suicidal course pursued by the Emancipationists at this day, we consider that the reasons we have above given, are all sufficient, and that no man who has due regard for the binding obligations of a pledge can, consistently, advocate Emancipation, after having protested against any such measure heretofore.

We have made that pledge, and still adhere to it; not that we are the advocates of slavery, but because we honestly believe that the discussion of the question now, is premature and will be attended with evil consequences to the people of Kentucky, and that we should be acting in bad faith to the public were we to abandon the position we took in the beginning.

We are aware that there are many who differ with us in sentiment upon this subject, and that our views are opposed by some of our readers; but we cannot and will not change the ground we occupy, for it is the same upon which the original friends of the Convention first planted themselves, and it is our duty to defend it to the last. Our old convention friends are at once the propriety of the course, and appreciate the motives by which we are governed; and if new proselytes, after hunters, and Abolitionists cannot prove it, we only ask them that liberty which we intend to enjoy—the right of speaking and writing just what we please in relation to the subject, and we are willing to be cut out from the original position, if we are not; and if the evil which the Anti-Convention men so much feared, two years ago, should be visited upon the people, they may charge it to the account of "weak-kow proselytes and the exertions of those who have always opposed a convention."

The accredited Agent of the Washington Monument Society is now in this city, for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions and money to aid in the erection and completion of that magnificent structure. He will wait upon our citizens, during the few days he may remain with us, and it is hoped that no one will suffer him to depart, without a suitable manifestation being made of their willingness to contribute to this splendid tribute to the memory of the illustrious Father of American Liberty.

Mr. Hodson bears with him letters from the Hon. J. T. Morehead and Major J. P. Gaines, and is a gentleman of agreeable manners and amiable deportment. He has with him the most beautiful receipts, bearing an engraved representation of the Monument, which are graduated in size and price, to suit the contributors.

The partnership heretofore existing under the firm of Puz & Russell, in the publication of the KENTUCKY FLAG, and the Printing business generally, having expired by limitation, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

AMUEL PIKE, R. R. RUSSELL, Mayville, Jan. 29, 1849.

To the patrons of the Flag. In consequence of the above dissolution, the undersigned has again taken upon himself the entire responsibility of conducting the Daily and Weekly Flag, and will continue to do so, according to the best of his knowledge and ability.

AMUEL PIKE, Mr. R. R. Russell, hitherto a partner in this office, will immediately commence the business of collecting the outstanding debts of the establishment, and we hope both patrons and friends may be ready to discharge their dues, when he calls upon them.

California Gold! DISCOVERED BY Signor D'Alvarez's Goldometer! The Gold Seeker's Guide, or secret art of finding Mines of Gold, Silver, Iron, Lead, Copper, Coal, and other Mineral Ricks.

THE first discovery of Gold in California was made by DON JOSE D'ALVAREZ, an eminent Spanish Geologist, Chemist, and Natural Philosopher, by means of a newly invented Magnifying Glass, called the GOLDOMETER, or GOLD SEEKER'S GUIDE.

Signor D'Alvarez first arrived at New York from the gold regions of California, by way of Panama, California, and New Orleans, bringing with him very large quantities of Gold ore, valued at nearly one million of Dollars, which he collected there, before the existence of the Gold Mines became known to the residents of California generally.

History of this Discovery. Signor D'Alvarez went out to California nearly two years ago, in consequence of certain insurrection which had broken out in the gold region of that country, with the firm belief that vast mines of precious metals were hidden there, upon careful investigation.

He was encouraged in this enterprise, also by his confidants (which were, Don Manuel Magre, an instrument which he had invented, called by the "Goldometer," by whose aid he expected to be enabled to find all the precious metals, which had never been located, but which he had previously discovered, by his own experiments, and which he had also found in truth and profound wisdom, and his new instrument, the "Goldometer," fulfilled his expectations.

Signor D'Alvarez is in possession of the request of numerous scientific gentlemen, has commenced the manufacture of his new Magnifying Glass, and is now in the city of New York, where he offers for sale, in the United States, at the remarkably low price of $8 each, accompanied by full instructions for use, and a variety of Philosophical hints, drawn from the ancient and modern history of the world.

FINDING MINES OF GOLD! Silver, Platinum, Quicksilver, Coal, Iron, Copper, Lead, Zinc, and other precious metals, which being given in a publication called the "Gold Seeker's Guide."

Farmers and Land Owners. Throughout the United States, who have reason to suspect the existence of any kind of mineral resources, in any part of the land, may be enabled to find them, by the use of this instrument, at once with perfect accuracy and without any debt contracted.

Testimonials. Signor D'Alvarez does not deem it necessary to publish testimonials, inasmuch as he has, in his own possession, in proof of the value of his GOLDOMETER, and GOLD SEEKER'S GUIDE—several thousand dollars worth of fresh veins of Gold, Silver, and other minerals, which he has discovered, by his own experiments, and which he has also found in truth and profound wisdom, and his new instrument, the "Goldometer," fulfilled his expectations.

Advantages to California. Persons going to California, to conduct the business of the Gold Mines, which will not only be worth fifty times the cost of the instrument, but will also be indispensable to those who go in search of Gold, as has been proved by the success of the experiment, and the success of the discovery.
