MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Dr. Mohammed Sabie, Morehead State University professor of health, physical education and recreation, has been appointed by Gov. Martha Layne Collins to the Kentucky Games Committee.

Sabie is soccer chairman of the games committee which recently met at the Executive Mansion in Frankfort. His job will be to recruit Kentuckians age eight and over who are interested in soccer. He will also coordinate local and regional soccer tournaments throughout the state.

The state games are sponsored by the United States Olympic Committee to promote health and fitness and to encourage interest in the Olympic Games. New York was the first to host a state game competition, and the number of participating states has increased to 15.

The games will follow an Olympic-type format, including opening ceremonies and the awarding of medallions representing Olympic medals. Since this is Kentucky's first year in the games, only six sports will be included: track and field, bowling, equestrian, tennis, soccer and softball. "We hope to have more sports next year -- maybe cycling," said Dr. Sabie.

Because of the widespread and growing interest in soccer, there will be four divisions: elementary, secondary, high school and college/university. There will be other breakdowns in age and sex. By Aug. 2, when the finals are to be held, Dr. Sabie hopes to have over 1,000 competitors. A collegiate exhibition game will be held during the games "so that kids can see high-caliber soccer," Dr. Sabie said.

Dr. Sabie, a native of Baghdad, Iraq, established MSU soccer in 1966, when MSU had the only varsity soccer team in the state. He has led the women's soccer team to four state championship victories since the team's five-year existence.

MSU graduates who played soccer travel throughout eastern Kentucky promoting soccer. Because of MSU's dedication to the program, Dr. Sabie said, "We have become missionaries for soccer in Kentucky."

Dr. Sabie was the first president of the Kentucky Soccer Association and has given over 100 clinics. In 1965, he wrote the book, "Soccer Skills," and later wrote a textbook entitled "Manual for Teaching and Coaching." He contributed an article, "Educate the Feet," in "Coach and Athlete Magazine."

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- The seventh annual "Great Clean-Up," sponsored by Morehead State University's Appalachian Development Center, is scheduled for April 13, with a rain date of April 20.

The "Great Clean-Up" is a cooperative community service project for Morehead, Rowan County and the Cave Run Lake area. Anyone may contribute their efforts to help clean up our community. This includes individuals as well as organized group effort, according to Shirley Hamilton, ADC assistant director for human services.

The Great Clean-Up is not only an effort to clean up Rowan County, but sets an example for other communities.

Hamilton recently worked with Pike County officials to help them design a clean-up program. Pike, like many other eastern Kentucky counties, must deal with rugged terrain and narrow roadways which hamper collection.

"An annual clean-up does help, and more participation is better," Shirley Hamilton said. "There can never be enough help with a project like this." All citizens are needed and those who contribute their time are greatly appreciated.

"This is one project," Hamilton added, "which involves everyone-- students, clubs and anyone willing to pitch in."

Tools for the clean-up will be supplied by MSU. Anyone may register by contacting Shirley Hamilton at the Appalachian Development Center, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351. The telephone number is (606) 783-2077.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- If you are planning to enroll in summer school at Morehead State University as a graduate student and hope to receive a Guaranteed Student Loan to help cover your expenses, it's time to start on the paperwork.

Dr. Ron Walke, director of financial aid at MSU, advises that summer GSL applications should reach his office in early May in order to meet the processing deadlines of the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

"We are required to have the paperwork in Frankfort by June 3 and will need at least a month to get the material ready," Dr. Walke stated.

KHEAA administers the federally-backed GSL program in Kentucky.

Dr. Walke said applicants must complete the application, return it to MSU for processing and then pick it up for delivery to the bank making the loan.

"The GSL program is helpful to several graduate students in our summer sessions and we don't want anyone to lose that support because of a missed deadline," Dr. Walke added.

Specific questions should be directed to the MSU Office of Financial Aid. The telephone number is (606) 783-2011

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Dr. George E. Dickinson, professor of sociology at Morehead State University, has been appointed interim dean of Graduate and Special Academic Programs, effective Monday, March 18.

He succeeds Dr. Wanda D. Bigham, who resigned earlier this month to accept the position of executive assistant to the president at Emerson College in Boston, Mass.

A member of the MSU faculty since 1978, Dr. Dickinson served until last October as head of the Department of Sociology, Social Work and Corrections. When his administrative position was eliminated through reorganization, he returned to full-time teaching.

Dr. Roberta T. Anderson, vice president for academic affairs, announced that Dr. Dickinson would serve until the deanship is filled on a permanent basis. A national search is expected to get under way this spring.

As interim dean, Dr. Dickinson will be responsible for administering graduate studies; continuing education; Honors Program; research, grants and contracts; and TRIO Programs.

A native of Shreveport, La., Dr. Dickinson holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Baylor University and the doctorate from Louisiana State University. He is a former faculty member of Penn State, Memphis State, LSU, Gustavus Adolphus in Minnesota and Thiel College in Pennsylvania.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- The first Northeast Kentucky Beef Improvement Federation sale of performance-tested bulls will be held March 22 at Morehead State University's Derrickson Agricultural Complex.

Thirty bulls, representing five breeds, have been on-farm tested in a cooperative program between MSU and the Northeast Kentucky Beef Improvement Federation (NKBIF), and will be sold at auction at 6 p.m., Friday, March 22, in the Richardson Livestock Arena, according to Phil Kenkel, agribusiness specialist for MSU's Appalachian Development Center.

MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard praised the cooperative effort involved in creating an organization and testing program to upgrade eastern Kentucky beef production.

"We are proud to be a part of this cooperative effort," Reinhard said. "This working partnership, between the university and the people of eastern Kentucky, is an example of the way a regional institution can directly serve its constituency."

Sales catalogs with pedigree and test data are now available, and final performance information will be provided on the day of the sale.

NKBIF is a regional, non-profit organization created and operated by cattle producers with technical assistance from MSU's Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the Appalachian Development Center.

For sale information or a copy of the catalog, contact Phil Kenkel, Appalachian Development Center, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351, or phone (606) 783-2077.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- "One Spectacular Sensation" is the theme of the 1985 Miss Morehead State University Scholarship Pageant to be held at MSU's Academic-Athletic Center on Thursday, March 28.

The pageant is sponsored by the MSU Panhellenic and Interfraternity councils and will feature such entertainers as Kelly Brumagen, Miss Kentucky 1984, and Karen Parks, Miss MSU 1983.

The 12 finalists from the preliminary talent competition held last fall will participate in evening gown, talent and swimsuit categories. The winner will represent MSU in the Miss Kentucky Pageant to be held in Louisville this summer. The Miss Kentucky winner will go to Atlantic City, N.J., to compete in the Miss America Pageant.

Vocalist Noel Weaver and the Rowan County High School Concert Choir will entertain along with Brumagen and Parks.

Brumagen is a University Breckinridge High School and University of Kentucky graduate. She attended MSU before transferring to UK as a pre-med/music major, and is the daughter of MSU's Dr. David Brumagen, professor of biology, and Janice Brumagen, assistant professor of nursing.

Brumagen has received numerous awards, including the 1984 Ralph McCracken Award for outstanding work in musicology. Through various pageants at state and national levels, she has received scholarships totalling $12,500.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Consumer activist Ralph Nader will be the featured speaker for Morehead State University's 1985 Founders Day on Thursday, March 28.

He will address a 10:20 a.m. convocation and awards ceremony in Button Auditorium as part of the observance of MSU's 63rd anniversary as a state institution.

The program is free and open to the public. Included will be the presentation of the 1985 Founders Day Award for University Service.

Nader, regarded as the founder of the consumer protection movement in the U.S., is based in Washington. A graduate of Harvard Law School, he first gained national visibility in 1965 with the publication of his first book, "Unsafe at Any Speed," an indictment of the U.S. auto industry's lack of safety concerns.

In addition to auto safety, Nader and his associates have been instrumental in the passage of dozens of pieces of federal legislation dealing with meatpacking, food processing, gas pipelines, coal mines, water quality, radiation controls, occupational safety and consumer product safety. Nader also has supported deregulation of the airline and trucking industries.

He has founded several consumer-oriented organizations, including the Center for the Study of Responsive Law, Public Interest Research Group, Public Citizen, and the Corporate Accountability Research Group.

The day-long celebration starts at 7 a.m. with a Fellowship Breakfast featuring former MSU President Adron Doran. Other events include a luncheon honoring those who have made financial gifts to MSU and open houses at two academic buildings, Breckinridge Hall and Baird Music Hall.

"Founders Day is an important occasion in the life of the University and we invite our friends to share our hospitality," said Dr. Broadus Jackson, professor of history and chairperson of the 1985 Founders Day Committee.

Morehead State was established by the Kentucky General Assembly as the result of a bill signed by Gov. Edwin Morrow on March 8, 1922. That legislation also created Murray State University. Previous to the creation of the state institution, originally called Morehead State Normal School, a private college had existed in Morehead since 1887 under the name of Morehead Christian Normal School.

The institution has had five names in its public history, culminating with university status in 1966.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- A Regional High School Art Exhibition will be on display in the Claypool-Young Gallery at Morehead State University, as part of the Kentucky All-State High School Art competition, March 18-29, according to Thomas Sternal, head of the MSU Department of Art.

Also, in conjunction with the state competition, students of the Seventh U.S. Congressional district will display their entries for the Fourth Annual Congressional Art competition, "An Artistic Discovery."

Stephen Tirone, assistant professor of art at MSU, is coordinator for the All-State competition. He and other faculty members will judge both exhibits on three basic points. "We will be looking for originality of the idea, execution of the idea and how the idea was finally presented."

The Kentucky All-State competition consists of 15 different art classifications: oils, watercolor, printmaking, sculpture, pottery, photography and others. Tirone says competitions like this one give students a chance to see the work of other serious art students.

The Seventh Congressional competition is for two-dimensional work only from one of the following categories: paintings, drawings, collages or prints. This competition is being coordinated by Thomas Sternal, and conducted by Congressman Chris Perkins.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Angela Doerger of Cincinnati, Ohio, was among the 29 Morehead State University ROTC students who visited Fort Knox recently for an Army Orientation Visit (AOV).

The students stayed in Army billets, dined and danced at the Officer's Club, spoke with four lieutenants serving active duty at Fort Knox, and "fired" a computerized M-16 rifle. Because of the trip, military science instructor Maj. Gerald Adams said that many of the students have decided to stay in the ROTC program and seek a commission as an Army officer.

Doerger, a sophomore, is a member of the MSU soccer team and is a Theta Chi little sister. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Doerger.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Deadline for applications for the fall, 1985, Associate Nursing Degree Program (ADN) at Morehead State University is April 1, 1985, according to Janice Brumagen, coordinator for the ADN Program.

Criteria for admission into the nursing program include a minimum composite score of 17 on the American College Test (ACT). Preference will be given to ACT minimum subscores of 20 in natural science, 17 in social science, 16 in math and 18 in English.

Applicants must have been in the upper third of their high school graduating classes and have a B average. Preference will be given to applicants who have taken a college preparatory curriculum in high school.

Transfer students from other colleges and universities must also have a 2.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. In order for the GPA to be considered, a minimum of nine semester hours of college credit in support courses relating to the Associate Degree in Nursing Program must be earned. Three of these nine hours must be credit earned in a biological or natural science.

Applicants who have not completed nine semester hours of college credit will be considered on high school credentials and on midterm college grades if currently enrolled in a college or university.

More information is available from Brumagen at (606) 783-2631 or Dr. Betty Porter, head of the Department of Nursing and Allied Health, at (606) 783-2632.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Miss Grace Crosthwaite of Morehead, a former president of the Kentucky Retired Teachers Association, will be recognized Thursday, March 28, with Morehead State University's 1985 Founders Day Award for University Service.

The presentation will be made by MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard during the Founders Day Convocation and Awards Ceremony, starting at 10:20 a.m. in Button Auditorium. The University will be celebrating the 63rd anniversary of its establishment as a state institution of higher education.

Crosthwaite is a retired teacher with nearly 50 years of public school service in Rowan County. She is a former president of the MSU Alumni Association and served for more than 30 years on MSU's Alumni Executive Council.

A two-time graduate of the University, she is the secretary-treasurer of the Morehead Normal School Club, the alumni group of the private institution which preceded MSU's founding in 1922.

"The University is proud to honor such a distinguished citizen and longtime supporter," said Dr. Reinhard, in announcing the selection. "Miss Crosthwaite has served the University with loving devotion for more than five decades."

Other major events of the observance will be a 7 a.m. Fellowship Breakfast, a noon luncheon and a 1:30 p.m. open house for new academic facilities in Breckinridge Hall and Baird Music Hall. Former MSU President Adron Doran will be the breakfast speaker and consumer advocate Ralph Nader will be featured at the convocation.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- A small business workshop on "Selling To The Government" will be presented April 17 in Ashland by the East Kentucky Small Business Development Center, according to Robert Justice of Morehead State University's Appalachian Development Center.

Designed to help small businesses learn government procurement policies and procedures, the workshop will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the 2nd floor conference room of the Chamber of Commerce building.

Speakers will include Jim Alexander of the Louisville SCORE chapter, who will discuss selling to federal government. Alexander is a retired procurement officer from the Naval Ordnance Station in Louisville. A representative from the Kentucky Department of Commerce will discuss state government procurement procedures. Several consultants will be available for individual discussion with workshop participants.

The cost of the workshop is $10 per person.

Co-sponsors are the U.S. Small Business Administration, the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), the Kentucky Department of Commerce, and the East Kentucky Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at Morehead State University, in cooperation with the Boyd and Greenup Counties Chamber of Commerce.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Writers throughout Appalachia may enter a competition sponsored by the Appalachian Writers Association at Morehead State University. Winners will be chosen in three categories, with separate judging for students.

First ($100), second ($50), and third place ($25) cash awards will be given, in both regular and student categories, to winners in short story, poetry and essay competitions. Authors may enter in all three areas. Judging will be done by the Appalachian Writers Association advisory board, and winners will be announced during the AWA conference June 28-30 at MSU.

All applicants must join AWA. Dues, good through June, 1986, are $10 for regular membership, $5 for students. Members also receive a newsletter and are eligible to attend the conference and workshop. Harriette Simpson Arnow, author of "The Dollmaker," is one of the conference speakers.

Writing entries must be typed, double spaced, on white paper. Submit three copies of each entry. Enclose a title page giving name, address, phone number, and -- for students -- name of school and classification. Entries will not be returned. Plans are being made to publish the winning manuscripts.

Entries must be received by May 24, 1985. Mail to Appalachian Writers Association, UPO 907, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351

For more information, contact Garry Barker, communications coordinator, MSU's Appalachian Development Center and acting chairman of AWA, at (606) 783-2077. ###

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Local free lance artist Sam McKinney, Elliotville, is exhibiting his work in the Claypool-Young Alternative Gallery through April 20 at Morehead State University, according to Thomas Sternal, head of the MSU Department of Art.

McKinney is a native of Letcher County and a 1973 art graduate of MSU. His work has been exhibited in Kentucky and surrounding states. He was featured on "Visions," a show on WTVQ Channel 36 in Lexington last year.

In addition to his painting, he sculpted the "Praying Madonnas" in front of the St. Claire Medical Center, Morehead.

The works featured in this exhibition are oil portraits, which are his specialty, and watercolors, which he does for his own enjoyment.

A reception will be held Wednesday, April 10, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the gallery. The reception and exhibit are free and open to the public. The Alternative Gallery is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.. More information is available from Thomas Sternal. The telephone number is (606) 783-2766.

MOREHAD, Ky. --- Dr. William Weikel, professor of education at Morehead State University, will conduct a one-day workshop on how to improve the quality of life for older persons and their families on Friday, April 26, at MSU's Adron Doran University Center (ADUC).

The workshop is part of a national training project sponsored by the U.S. Administration on Aging. "We want to train 3,000 professionals nationally. . .60 from each state," Dr. Weikel said.

Dr. Weikel was chosen to participate in the project because of his background in the study of aging and his experience in rehabilitation. Dr. Bill Braden, executive secretary of the Kentucky Association of Counseling Development, will conduct the workshop with Dr. Weikel.

Topics to be covered include physiological changes in aging, special concerns of the elderly (loss, sexuality, retirement), and goals for purposeful living. Drs. Weikel and Braden have conducted a similar workshop at Kentucky State University, and will later conduct workshops at Murray State University and Western Kentucky University.

There will be no charge for the workshop, and six contact clock hours will be awarded to each participant, as well as a certificate of attendance from the American Association for Counseling and Development, the national professional association for counselors.

The workshop will be in ADUC's West Room A and lasts from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. More information is available from Dr. Weikel at (606) 783-2537.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- "Burns: A Catastrophic Injury" is the title of a one-day workshop sponsored by the Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences at Morehead State University for Thursday, April 4, according to Pauline Ramey, R.N., who coordinates the program at MSU.

Two staff members from the Shriner's Burn Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio, will be the featured speakers at the workshop. Carolyn Brinkerhoff, R.N., who is the associate director of nursing services, and Theresa A. Betts, R.N. and clinical coordinator, will present discussions on nursing management of the person with severe burns, functional rehabilitation, wound care and psychosocial concerns.

Target group for the workshop is all registered nurses practicing in small community hospitals.

Approved for six contact hours, the workshop is $30 which includes breaks and handout materials. Pre-registration deadline is April 2.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. in the East Room of the Adron Doran University Center. More information is available from Pauline Ramey, R.N., UPO 853, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351. The telephone numbers are (606) 783-2635 or 2632.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Twenty-two performance-tested bulls were offered to an estimated 300 potential buyers during the first Northeast Kentucky Beef Improvement Federation (NKBIF) sale March 22 at Morehead State University.

Buyers from 10 cities paid an average of $873 for the bulls, which represented five breeds and posted an average yearling weight of 1,038 pounds. The average daily weight gain recorded by the tested bulls was 2.98 lbs; with a high of 4.01 lbs. per day gained by a Polled Hereford owned by Rowan County beef producer Earl Reynolds.

The NKBIF on-farm performance test, conducted with technical assistance from MSU's Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources, was organized by NKBIF members to create a testing program more accessible and more directly beneficial to Eastern Kentucky beef producers.

According to Phil Kenkel, agri-business specialist in MSU's Appalachian Development Center, the test and sale are results of an unusual cooperative effort between the University and area beef producers.

"We responded to a request to help organize NKBIF," Kenkel said, "and to get a performance test and auction started. The Appalachian Development Center and Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources have contributed much staff effort -- both in organization and promotion and in the actual testing -- and we're very pleased with the results. The program could not have come so far so fast without a lot of cooperation."

NKBIF is a non-profit, member operated organization. For information, call Phil Kenkel at (606) 783-2077.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Leslie Dawn McBrayer, Morehead, was crowned "Miss MSU 1985" from among 12 finalists at Morehead State University's "Miss MSU Scholarship Pageant" Thursday night (March 28) in the Academic-Athletic Center.

The new "Miss MSU" is a senior and a member of Rho Epsilon. She currently manages the Custom Corners Frame Shop in Morehead and is the daughter of Jack and GeorgeAnn McBrayer. The award for "Miss MSU" is a $1,000 scholarship.

A business major, McBrayer was first runner-up in the 1984 pageant. For her talent in this competition, she sang "Come Rain, Come Shine" and "Mr. Melody."

First runner-up and the recipient of an $800 scholarship was LaToye Montgomery, a senior from Louisville. She is president of Brotherhood Service Organization and a Lambda Chi Alpha little sister. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery Sr. For her talent she sang "Love Is Where You Find It." She was second runner-up in 1984.

Penny Lynn Childers, a Hindman senior, was selected second runner-up and received a $600 scholarship. She is a member of the Student Home Economics Association and is a Sigma Phi Epsilon Goldenheart. She sang "Over the Rainbow." Childers is the daughter of Orbin and Joyce Childers.

The 1985 "Miss MSU Scholarship Pageant" was sponsored by the MSU Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic and is a preliminary event for the "Miss Kentucky" and "Miss America" pageants.

Guest performances were presented by Miss Kentucky 1984 Kelly Brumagen, Miss MSU 1983 Karen Parks, and the Rowan County High School Choir with Noel Weaver as soloist.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Morehead State University has the human resources capable of building an even greater institution to serve Eastern Kentucky and the state, MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard told a Founders Day audience.

"As we celebrate the University's 63rd anniversary, we express our sincere gratitude to those who founded and built this institution and, at the same time, we must dedicate ourselves to honoring that heritage by continuing to develop a stronger Morehead State University," he said.

MSU's ninth president challenged his luncheon listeners to "join hands with bright, ambitious students, dedicated, talented faculty and staff members and loyal, loving alumni" in helping the University reach its full potential.

"We have the foundation to build on and the human resources which can take this institution to new levels of achievement in teaching, research and public service for the benefit of Eastern Kentucky," Dr. Reinhard stated. "We must do no less."

He characterized the University's plans for the future as "a quest for excellence" in all areas of endeavor.

The luncheon was sponsored by the Morehead State University Foundation, Inc., for the primary purpose of recognizing those who made private gifts to MSU in the past year. Three persons were singled out for awards.

Morehead businessman Harold Bellamy received a plaque for his volunteer service as chairperson of MSU's annual giving campaign in 1983-84 which raised more than $454,000. He also is serving for 1984-85.

Dr. Charles M. Derrickson, dean of MSU's College of Applied Sciences and Technology, was recognized as the faculty or staff member most active in support of the private giving program.

Retired Ashland banker Boone Logan received the "Most Valuable Giver" award in honor of his personal gifts and others he encouraged as the private citizen most active in support of MSU's giving program.

Dan Lacy, director of public relations at Ashland Oil, Inc., and president of the MSU Foundation, served as master of ceremonies.
