NEXT CALL IN FEBRUARY

"SELECTIVE PRINCIPLE WILL BE CARRIED OUT IN ITS LOGICAL CONCLUSION."

Says President in Statement Explaining Measure—New Plan Can Be Put in Operation in Sixty Days.

Washington, Nov. 15.—President Wilson formally put the new machinery for the carrying out of the selective draft bill into operation tonight by the publication of the forward he has written to the regulations under which the second call will be made. The regulations themselves and the questionnaires which more than 9,000,000 registrants themselves will be required to fill out are being forwarded to local boards, but have not yet been made public.

War department officials estimate that the whole process can be completed within sixty days. This means that no second call will be made until after the middle of February. The President describes the new plan of dividing all registered men not already mobilized into five classes, subject to military service by classes, as being intended to produce "a more perfect organization of our manpower."

"The selective principle must be carried to its logical conclusion," the President said, and he will be made there must be made a complete inventory of the qualifications of each registrant in order to determine "the place in the military, industrial or agricultural ranks of the pattern in which the manpower of the nation can best be used to serve the common good."

Will go Deep into Qualifications. The inquiry projected in the questionnaires will go deep into the qualifications of each of nearly 10,000,000 men. The success of the plan and its completion within the estimated time rests absolutely upon wholehearted support being given by the people, especially by the doctors and lawyers of each community and the President calls upon them for that unstinted aid.

The President's forward follows: "The task of selecting and mobilizing the first contingent of the National Army is nearing completion. The expedition and accuracy of its accomplishment were a most gratifying demonstration of the efficiency of our democratic institutions. The swiftness with which the machinery for its execution had to be assembled, however, left room for adjustment and improvement. New regulations putting these improvements into effect are, therefore, being published today. There is no change in the essential obligation of men subject to selection. The first draft must stand unaffected by the provisions of the new regulations. They can be given no retroactive effect."

"The time has come for a more perfect organization of our manpower. The selective principle must be carried to its logical conclusion. We must make a complete inventory of the qualifications of all registrants in order to determine, as to each man, not only whether he is fit for military service, but also the place in the military, industrial or agricultural ranks of the pattern in which the manpower of the nation can best be used to serve the common good."

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

FOR EVERY SOLDIER AT CAMP ZACHARY TAYLOR.

Louisville Newspaper Lumbermen Plan to Play Santa Claus to Boys in Khaki.

Santa Claus is going to "do his bit." He is formally pledged to help win the war by distributing good cheer and gifts on Christmas eve among the soldiers from Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois stationed at Camp Zachary Taylor in Louisville. Official cognizance of his enlistment has been taken by Maj. Gen. Harry C. Hale, commanding officer of the big camp at the fall of the Ohio River.

The Courier-Journal, of which Henry Waterson is editor, has volunteered to act as Santa Claus's bank to that portion of the National Army located at the Louisville cantonment and has given pledge that every officer and private, numbering over 30,000 men, will receive a gift. Gen. Hale has accepted the generous offer and promised cooperation in making the Christmas celebration a noteworthy and unusual event in military history.

The Louisville Herald has united with the Courier-Journal and the other leading metropolitan and rural newspapers of the three states in the movement and will work for a splendid representation of this community in the effort to furnish the gallant sons of the United States with the "back home" presents they are thinking of.

The plans provide for a mammoth Christmas Tree in front of each regimental headquarters at Camp Zachary Taylor on Christmas eve. Friends and relatives of men stationed at the camp are urged to send their gifts by mail or express in care of "Santa Claus, 84th Division, Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky." Packages should be mailed forward early. Extreme care must be taken to write plainly the name, company and regiment of the man for whom the gift is intended. An immense warehouse in a fire-proof building has been engaged for the storage of gifts prior to placing them on the trees.

If any officer or private has received no gift just before Christmas, presents will be supplied for him by the Louisville Herald. The gifts will be hung in place under the joint supervision of the newspaper Santa Claus and the officers of the 84th Division. Shortly after dusk every man in each regiment will be presented with his regimental tree. The lights will be turned on, the bands will play and every soldier at Camp Zachary Taylor will step forward as his name is called out. He will find that Santa Claus has not forgotten him.

AMERICA'S FIRST DEAD

ARE BURIED DRAPED IN THE FOLDS OF AMERICAN FLAG FOR WHICH THEY GAVE UP THEIR LIVES.

American Field Headquarters in France, Nov. 7. (Delayed)—An American soldier was the victim of a shell whistling over to Rochelard today as a farewell volley marking burial of America's first dead from the firing line. It was fitting in the opinion of those whose eyes glistened with tears throughout the simple, but dramatic services that the volley which was the last farewell, should have been fired, not by a squad and with blank cartridges, but by American gunners shooting the great French seventy-five and speeding each shell with a prayer that it would find its mark among the enemy.

The coffin of America's first dead in action was draped in the folds of the American flag, for which they died. Comrades bore them to the center of a hollow square formed by American soldiers and veteran French troops. From the massed ranks there stepped a French general. He walked straight to the three coffins, reverently hesitating at the first. Then he stiffened to the salute, doffed his cap, bowed, his face lit as though his thoughts before him were of his own children.

"Private Bourget" he said softly as he bowed before the nearest bier, "and Private Gresham"—and he turned to the second—"and Private Hays"—as he turned still further, he faced the third coffin—"in the name of France I bid you farewell. Of your own free will you left your happy prosperous country and took your place on our side.

France has accepted the mortal remains of these young men be left with us forever.

We will inscribe on your tomb, "Here lies the first United States soldier to die in France and the thirty-third American soldier."

The Food Administrator Writes Us:

"The use of baking powder brands made of corn and other coarse flours instead of patent wheat flour is recommended by the Conservation Division of the Food Administration. The wheat needed for export is thus conserved, and at the same time healthful food for our own people is provided.
