WARREN LAPPIN AGAIN WINS HONOR IN SCHOOL

Warren C. Lappin of Morehead, Ky., is carried on the scholastic honor list of Indiana university for the second semester of the school year, according to the announcement today of Registrar John W. Craven.

"Gathering Up The Fragments"

CONGRATULATIONS

Rowan county has been receiving congratulations from all sections of Kentucky over the magnificent majority the free voters of the county citizens of this county piled up for a free and un purchasable candidate for the office of Governor. Happy Chandler received a majority of 413 votes in the county, a majority that came as a surprise to the Rhea supporters who in most cases expected to carry the county by a small majority. In the case of the Chandler men, it was not nearly so much of a surprise as some would have you believe. They had felt the pulse of the people, they had learned how the citizens felt about the Sales Tax, they had faith in the integrity of the voters, and when the returns began to come in they only saw their predictions verified and their faith justified.

It has been said that Happy Chandler was this man's candidate and that man's candidate. As a matter of fact Happy Chandler was no man's candidate. He was no citizen's candidate. He was no gang's candidate. He was no grand himself to be the candidate of the free people of Kentucky.

Money did not and could not purchase his vote. The people who supported him did so for the very definite reason that they believed in him, believed in his platform. They were opposed to the Sales Tax first and all the time. They were attracted by the clamor of the school teachers who thought they saw their salaries going by the politicians who saw their power, raising by the employees who were afraid of their jobs. They were not fooled by the promises of roads and highways paved with gold. Too long have they accepted those promises only to find that they were only promises. They were no, even fooled by the numerous surveying crews which reared about the county sipping up every dollar.

Republican Primary Is Finish Without Runoff

The Republican party will not have a run off primary, according to the returns from the recent primary. Every Republican was nominated by a sufficient number of votes to give him a majority.

The primary election to be held on September 7 will be solely a private family affair between Democrats.

Labor To Be Selected From Relief Rolls By Federal Service.

With four contracts awarded on the new power, heat and light plant for the Morehead State Teachers College, the work of getting ready to start construction began Monday morning. Contracts for four of the nine separate projects involved in the construction have been awarded to the following contractors:

Dams and reservoirs: J. C. Coddell of Winchester, Ky.
Building: Sullivan and Cosar, Louisville, Kentucky.
Tunnels: W. H. J. D. Jennings, Louisville, Kentucky.

The plant when completed will cost $225,000. According to the requirements of the PWA, all common labor will be done by men taken from the lists of the Reemployment offices and from relief rolls. "The registration of men in this community who wish to apply for jobs is now under way, with the men being taken from the relief rolls, with the exception of foreman and carpenters. According to W. B. Rice, supervisor of buildings and grounds at the Morehead State Teachers College, the selection of workmen will be absolutely impartial, and will be conducted under the close supervision of federal "G" men. No politics will be permitted to enter into the selection of men. It will be decided out strictly in accordance with the rules and regulations laid down by the federal government for work on this project. The hiring of men, and labor will be done solely by the Reemployment service. The wage scale will be controlled and set by the federal scale of wages as will the number of hours of work.

Coaching School Wins High Praise

The coaching school at the Morehead State Teachers College which was in session last week, was one of the most successful ever held in this section, when considered from the viewpoint of the instruction. Both McMillin and Adolph Rupp, who were in charge of the instruction gave valuable instruction in the departments and the coaches in attendance got value received for both their time and their money.

Asked about continuing the school in succeeding years, Coach G. D. Downing stated that the continuation of the school would depend entirely in the demand. If the coaches of the section which the Morehead College serves desire the continuation of the school, it will become a regular institution in succeeding years.

Considering that it was the first major attempt of the college to carry on work of this type, the school both from the viewpoint of attendance as well as interest was a complete success.

J. B. Mauk Leaves On Trip To Washington

Our Courier-Journal and Louisville Times carrier is on a well earned vacation. Mr. J. B. Mauk, who has delivered the two papers for the past several years, has been built on a route that is his pride and joy. Monday night with 300 hundred other new boys of the state for a week's trip to Washington and Baltimore and other points of interest in the East.

Fiscal Court Has Interesting Meeting At Session Held Tuesday Of This Week

At the meeting of the Rowan County Fiscal Court held on Tuesday of this week a number of important actions were taken according to the records. Among them was the allowing of a claim for $386 and some cents to the Morehead Independent for the printing including the publication of the county financial statement, which according to law must be published in the paper of largest circulation in the county. No effort was made by the fiscal court or the county treasurer, whose duty it is to have the statement published to determine the circulation of the Rowan County News, whose circulation in spite of the donation made by Tom Rhea to the Independent is still larger by far than that paper.

According to reports the county treasurer has an interest in the Independent which he published the statement. The entire proceeding was of the high handed order which indicates the lengths to which politicians will go to gain their ends.

Among other actions of the fiscal court was the employment of Fred Sapper of Farmers as county engineer to survey and plat the county road system proposed by WFA. Mr. Sapper is a brother in law of Russell Burrows, magistrate from the Farmers district.

News Celebrates Tenth Birthday

Today marks the tenth anniversary of the Rowan County News under its present ownership and management. It was ten years ago today that the present owners of the News took charge of a little paper that had less than two hundred subscribers. The plan, at that time was located in the room, a present occupied by the Model Laundry. Later it moved to the McKinney building and for the past six years has occupied its present location.

It is noted that the plant has grown to such an extent that only the surplus of machinery remains in use, that was here when the present management took charge. Every other piece of machinery has been replaced to modernize the plant in keeping with the growth of the community it serves.

The present management of the News is rather proud of the record made by the paper during the past ten years. It has been a record of growth and improvement. Incidentally, the News modestly believes that it has had a definite part in every movement that has been for the interests of the people whom it serves. The management also believes that in the next ten years, its position in the community will be as in the past an interest of service to the people at large instead of selfish interests and personal gain.

Candidates Express Gratitude To Voters For Majorities Given In Primary Vote

To the voters of Bath and Rowan Counties.

I wish to thank the voters of my district for their loyal support in helping me win the nomination for representative on the democratic ticket. As the voters of Bath and Rowan Counties know this is Bath County's time to send the representative to the legislature and I take this means to ask the support of each and every voter in my district in the November election.

The platform upon which I run my nomination is well known to the people of my district and on that same platform I beg your support in helping me win the election. Respectfully yours, J. J. Thomas.

Although defeated in my race for the Democratic nomination for Representative, I wish to express my sincere thanks to the voters of Rowan county for their efforts in my behalf. I am sincerely grateful to each and every person who cast their vote for me and have no ill feelings toward any of you. I am grateful for others of my late supporters. Respectfully, Van Y. Green.

I wish to express my Thanks to the voters of Rowan county for the splendid manner in which they endorsed my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of

MR. AND MRS. C. L. GOFF ROSE INFANT BORN DEAD

Last Summer Term To Close College Year

Beginning Friday of this week the most successful school year ever to close at the Morehead State Teachers College will be brought to an end. Friday morning will see the August Commencement exercises take place and the school year definitely ended.

The past year, in every respect has seen a vast increase in the number of students enrolled over the same semester of the preceding year. For the first time in the history of the college, the enrollment passed that of Murray State Teachers College, in the second semester of this year. So great was the increase that the town was hardly able to accommodate those who came, and many were forced to enter in other colleges.

It is hoped that by the second semester of next year, there will be many more houses built in this city so that the visitors may be taken care of to the last one.

State Representative from the Rowan-Bath District.

I hope to go into the general election in November and ask that my friends both Republican and Democratic aid me in that election with their vote and influence. Troy Jennings.

I wish to express my extreme gratitude to the people of Rowan County for the vote and majority they gave me in the election of August 3.

I pledge to them that I will do my utmost to deserve the confidence they have reposed in me and will see them before November to tell them in person just what I feel about their vote. Very sincerely yours, Walter Allen Cocklett.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS:

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the Republican voters who supported me in the Primary. I also want to thank the workers who gave me such splendid cooperation and help. That cooperation and kindness will be an incentive to me in the November race. I certainly feel no ill will toward those who did not see fit to support me in the Primary; and I shall be grateful for any consideration given me this fall. Yours sincerely, Mrs. Ethel Ellington.

Republican Nominee for State Senator, 31st, District.

CHANDLER TRAILS 13,533 VOTES BUT CARRIES JEFFERSON OVER FOE; RUN-OFF ON SEPTEMBER 7TH.

As we go to press a message of great importance arrived. Senator Allan W. Barkley stated that the Postoffice department had approved of the construction of a new Post Office building for Morehead. No details were available.

JACK ELLIS IS YOUNGEST IN BAKERY CONTEST

Little Jack Ellis, the 8 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Ellis is the youngest contestant in the new bicycle to be given away on Sept. 15 by the Midland Baking Company. Jackie keeps a careful record of the wrappers saved by each of his 100 friends and promises the first ride on his "new bike" to the one contributing most.

Rowan Teachers Hold Meet Here

The Rowan county teachers meeting held Saturday at the Morehead High School gymnasium was one of the most successful ever held in this county, according to all reports. The meeting opened early in the morning and adjourned about 1:30, in order to permit the teachers to check out their free text books for the children in their schools.

One of the most interesting and instructive parts of the program was the demonstration lessons offered by two representatives from the Silver-Burdette Text Book Company, two of whose new texts have been adopted by the state. The first public school demonstration of teaching that was fully appreciated by the teachers of the county.

The second demonstration was the use of the newly adopted text book in Geography. The two demonstrations occupied considerable time but were exceptionally valuable to the teachers in view of the new texts. Mrs. Mabel Alfrey, teacher in the primary grades of the Morehead Public School gave a demonstration of the art of teaching beginners to read. Mrs. Alfrey has taught in the local public schools for several years and is regarded as one of the best primary teachers in the work.

Her demonstration was unassisted, freshening and instructive. Mrs. Beulah Williams closed the meeting with a discussion of the unit method of teaching, following which the balance of the time was spent in open discussion. In the afternoon the teachers of the various rural schools checked out the text books needed for the lower grades in their respective schools.

D. B. CORNETTE SHOWS SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

D. B. Cornette who has been seriously ill for several weeks, is apparently somewhat improved at present, according to reports. Mr. Cornette was such a serious condition last week that his life was despaired of, but at present hopes are held out for his continued improvement.

Bill Scroggins "Makes" Broadway In 4 Weeks

The News is in receipt of a postcard from W. D. "Bill" Scroggins, freshman coach at the Morehead State Teachers College, who is at present enrolled at Columbia University for the summer term. Mr. Scroggins stated that he made Broadway in less than four weeks. He further requested that we omit mention of the details, which we very thoughtfully do. It has something to do with a horse. But as Bill will be back among us in a few short weeks, we leave the harrowing details to him. Far be it from the News to spread scandal in any form; much less about Bill.

Mr. Scroggins is later up work in the university that he will further prepare him to carry on his work in the college here next fall.

Carries 5th District By 600 In Exciting Finish Of Count.

With the vote count completed in Jefferson county Monday night, A. B. Happy Chandler trailed Rhea by 13,533 votes in the state, while the big upset of the election was taking place in Jefferson itself. Chandler carried the county and district by a plurality of 600 votes over his opponent. The Jefferson county vote is regarded as not only the major upset of the election, but as the greatest victory for the E. Lehman Taylor organization in that county ever. Rhea's campaign managers in that county claimed that they would run up a majority of over 15,000 in Jefferson. Instead they ran -- less the district of 600.

The final results in Jefferson county gave Mr. Chandler four out of the nine congressional districts, while Rhea carried five other districts. The Jefferson county vote is small majorities, with the three other districts carrying the balance of power in each. In other words, the second district where Rhea lives including the huge Logan county vote in which almost half of the population voted, gave Rhea a clear majority. In the First district Wallis cut into the Chandler vote to such an extent that Rhea carried the district but only by a small plurality.

In the Eight District with Fred M. Vinson, who represents the district in Congress fighting his utmost to pile up a lead for the Russellville candidate, the plurality was only around three thousand. Boyd county, in which Mr. Vinson lives, showed their preference of his activities in the Morehead county vote, which amounts to a real victory for Edgar Phipps and Chandler. Rhea had named Boyd county by 1,500 to 2,000 votes the day before the election.

Bath county gave Chandler a splendid majority of over 800. Fleming county gave him over 700 majority. Morehead county gave practically every so called leader with the exception of W. C. Hamilton and Judge Henry R. Prigitt giving supporting the administration candidate gave the Versailles candidate a majority of 340.

The only county in this judicial district which gave Rhea a majority of any kind was Menifee where the Chandler vote, the plurality was only a Plank precinct is still the banner.

ALL OVER AGAIN

And this week the over heated campaign just closed will be done all over again, according to the election returns just completed. Neither Happy Chandler nor Thomas S. Rhea was the victor in the last primary, as neither obtained a majority of the votes cast. In spite of the huge vote piled up in Logan county, Rhea's home county, which equalled half of the census population of the county, he was unable to build up the majority his forces confidently expected until the end.

There is something smelly about that Logan county vote. Even though the Rhea headquarters have sent out an appeal to the voters of Kentucky in defense of the Logan county vote, the man of average intelligence cannot see any justice in the claim.

Logan county's vote will go down in history. It has been and will continue to be the butt of ridicule throughout not only the state but the nation. How the vote in any county can equal half of the total inhabitants is a problem for the mathematicians of the world. It must be that the babies are born with whiskers, and the old men never die.

It is a sad condition of affairs when a candidate for the office of governor, the highest position in the state, is willing to stoop or permit his friends to stoop at such acts in order to win. It is certain that such a man is not fit to be the governor of a commonwealth such as ours, the proudest of the nation.

If it had not been for the Logan county vote, the militia at Harlan would have received more consideration. Two such acts in one campaign should be sufficient and more than sufficient to turn the electorate of the Commonwealth against any candidate.

It is unquestionably a weak defense made by a weak cause, that defends an indefensible position such as that of the Rhea forces in Logan county. They claim that such was the popularity of Thomas S. Rhea that the people turned out en masse to give him their support. That may be true. But there are still election laws in Kentucky. Those laws fix the age at which a man or woman may vote. They have been in force and existence for a hundred years and more. Never in that hundred years has any county votes half of its population. The Courier Journal, through its ace reporter, Howard Henderson, has been publishing some interesting facts regarding the Logan county vote. Never before has the vote there being 54 percent less than that of August 3, even the Roosevelt vote nearly 58 per cent less. Others were in comparison.

There is no explaining that vote other way by saying that it was love. Love may be blind, but it is not dumb. Love might account for a hundred or two votes, but it can hardly account for several thousand votes.

The Rhea forces in Kentucky need not boast of their conquest. They should not try to out over their fourteen thousand plurality. As a matter of fact, if the Logan county vote were pared down to normal and the Harlan county vote raised to its normal level, there would probably be an advantage in favor of Happy Chandler.

It is our honest opinion that when the vote is counted on September 9, following the second primary, the voters of Kentucky will in no uncertain manner, demonstrate that they are not for Rhea, that they cannot be brow-beaten, that they cannot be robbed of their rights to hold an election. The people of Kentucky will say it with ballots, not bullets, on September 7. They will cast their votes for clean government, and clean elections. They will vote for Happy Chandler.

News of Yesteryear FROM THE FILES OF THE "NEWS"

8 YEARS AGO, AUGUST 1925 On last Friday Mrs. G. W. Prichard entertained a number of children in honor of the birthday of her son, Charles Frederick. Games were played and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. A number of cases of typhoid fever have been found in the city recently. At the present Miss Elizabeth Davis is suffering with a light attack of the fever. E. A. Martin was seriously injured Sunday night when he was struck by a car from W. Va., as he stepped from behind a wagon near the Millard Moore Garage. Announcement is made of the birth of Doris Geraldine to Mr. and Mrs. B. Runner, of Midland. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Messer, a boy, Charlie Jr. Mrs. C. U. Waite, and daughter, Mildred and son, Wilford, left Wednesday for an extended visit through the west. While gone they will spend some time in Kansas and California, where they will visit relatives.

5 YEARS AGO - AUGUST 1930 Mr. and Mrs. Stoner Clarke of Haldeman are the parents of a baby boy born August 5. The little man who Stoner plans on bringing up with a basketball in his hand, has been named John Ewing.

The Morehead State Teachers College has secured the services of Mr. Lewis H. Horton, of Dayton, Ohio, as head of the Department of Music, to succeed Mr. Dale Havon, who recently tendered his resignation.

A nine and one half pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Fralay on Sunday morning. The baby has been named William Lee.

1 YEAR AGO, AUGUST 1934 John Calvert, manager of the Model Laundry in Morehead, was severely burned about the legs and arms Monday when a tub of near-boiling starch turned over on him.

The flood damage done in Carter, Rowan, and Grant counties this week is estimated at more than $1,500,000, and the death of two children of Hitchens, Marvin, 4, and Harold Damron, 8.

The Morehead Pirates advanced within a game of the top of the Kentucky State Baseball League here Sunday as they whipped Brookville easily 12-0.

Miss Margaret Davis, talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Davis, of this city and Mr. Ray Gibson, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Gibson, of Stone, Ky., were married in a quiet ceremony at Huntington, W. Va., last Sunday.

A. B. Chandler Makes Statement

Mr. Chandler's statement said: Mr. Rhea has proposed that we stop political discussion during the remainder of the campaign. For three years he has been building a political machine, now it is wrecked. He wants an armistice.

Why, Mr. Rhea proposes is that we quit discussing what he and Governor Laffoon have been doing at Frankfort for more than three years, that we agree not to talk about the fraud he practiced in Logan County's vote last Saturday, about the soldiers he sent to Harlan County to hold the election at the point of a bayonet.

Mr. Thomas S. Rhea is disappointed because the campaign he has been making for three years has failed. Mr. Rhea is fearful that the voters of Kentucky, in September, will pass judgement on what he did or caused to be done in Logan and Harlan Counties and elsewhere on August 3. Mr. Rhea fears the people will pass judgement on the vote of 19,875. I imagine Mr. Rhea is also worried because the people of Kentucky whether they want their elections in Kentucky conducted by the armed militia. If Mr. Rhea has not read into the results in Harlan County a rebuke of his and Henry Denhardt's high handed military tactics, he ought to look at the returns from Harlan County again.

If the Russellville candidate has not seen something wrong in the returns from Logan County, he ought to look at them again. If Mr. Rhea has no, found any rebuke of his and Denhardt's tactics in the vote in Warren County, he ought to look at it again, for I carried Warren County in spite of the fact that it was Henry Denhardt's home county and Mr. Rhea's neighboring county, the county in which he opened his campaign, in his Congressional District. If Mr. Rhea is not concerned about his and Henry Denhardt's tactics, he ought to read again the results in Campbell County, which I carried by 3,869 votes. That county is where General Denhardt started his bayonet rule in 1921. If Mr. Rhea is not impressed by the rebuke of General Denhardt, he ought to read again the returns from Jefferson County, where in spite of their much boasted political machine, the people have rebuked General Denhardt's efforts to use armed State police to control the election. Mr. Rhea knew what was going to be done in Logan County and he

NOTICE For Coal And Wood Bids

Bids will be received at the Rowan County Superintendent's office to supply coal and wood to the rural schools of Rowan County, hereinafter enumerated. Coal must be free from slack and must be delivered when ordered.

Wood to be of good grade hard-wood, cut in proper lengths. It must be rick on the school ground by the contractor and measured by the teacher. Contract to furnish not less than 6 cords.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Coal to be furnished to the following schools: Farmers, Morehead, Haldeman, Elliottville, Clearfield, Minor, Bluestone, Alfrey, Seas Branch, Old House Creek, Open Fork, Bradley, Pine Grove, Little Ferry, Glenwood, Dittney, Ramey, Raser, Moore, Cavy, Gayhart, Dry Creek and Bratton Branch.

Wood is to be furnished to the following schools: Clear Fork, Waits, Holly, Mt. Hope, Sharkey, Poplar, Oak Grove, Wes Cox, Craney, New Home, Adams Davis, Slack Camp, Home, Gads, Lower Lick Fork, Resedale, Hardean, Perkins, Clark, Cranston, Christy, Three Lick, Island Fork, Back Fork, Big Brushy, John McKennie, Bull Fork and Upper Lick Fork.

For my part, I am opposed to the use of armed militia to control elections in Kentucky, but if Mr. Rhea wants to protect the sanity of the ballots in Harlan County by the use of fair elections, like honesty and begin a home.

I want the Democratic voters of Logan County to vote for the home county of Mr. Rhea, and those from my own home county of Woodford. In Mr. Rhea's county the Democratic vote was 54 per cent, more than was cast for President Roosevelt in that county and his machine leaders.

As school time approaches, the conscientious parent faces several responsibilities. Perhaps the most important of these concerns health protection. Now is the time to act. Don't wait until school opens, when it may be necessary for your child to lose school time.

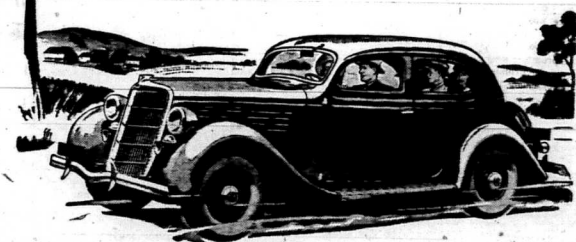

To frequently, we are guilty of postponing health essentials. Probably this is due to a parental sympathy which we foolishly permit to overrule common sense. In such cases, it is well to remind ourselves that the child is the loser in the end. Neglect on our part deprives the child of a protection which he cannot provide for himself.

Did your child suffer from diseased tonsils and large adenoids last winter? Did he have frequent colds and sore throats? Did you have his throat and nose examined? Colds, you know, are the most common cause of school absence.

Another cause of unnecessary suffering and loss of school time is tooth decay. Do you know the condition of your child's teeth? Have you taken him to the dentist lately?

How about the eyes and ears? Education is received largely through the special senses of vision and hearing. If these are not working properly, the child is handicapped in learning. Perhaps your boy or girl has never complained, but there may be something wrong without pain. It will pay you to find out now, for neglect can be very, very expensive.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO 'BREAK IN' THE FORD V-8

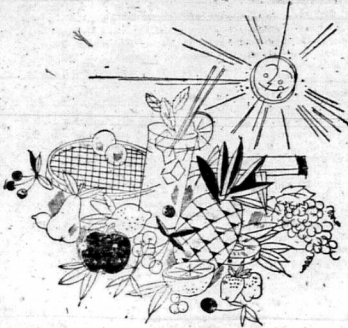

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

The Ford V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles, as can be done in an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire. That means greater motor enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important for motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip—to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

FORD V-8

For That Royal Thirst

This world is so full of a number of things
That I think we should all be as thirsty as kings!
But we've lots of drinks—fizzes and rickys and slings
And cordials and punches to give our thirsts' quings!

A ROYAL thirst is the kind that develops on a hot, dusty day after a long hike, a protracted set of tennis, a tanning game of baseball, or something like that. On that principle many of us who are far from being royalists, can develop many a royal thirst these torrid summer days.

How to Make a Punch: However, as the above parable points out, we have many more means of alleviating those thirsts nowadays than even the mightiest monarchs of the past.

Fine Fizzes: Four Fruit Fizz: Have the juice from a No. 2 can of fresh prunes, one cup orange juice, one-fourth cup lemon juice and two bottles charged water ice cold. Mix together and serve over cracked ice. This makes sixteen punch glasses.

Cooling Cordials: Sour Cherry Cordial: Simmer one cup of sugar and one cup of water to make a syrup. Add two cups tea, one cup orange juice and one-half cup lime juice. Press the red pitted cherries from a No. 2 can through a sieve or run through a food chopper. Add both the cherry pulp and juice. Just before serving, add one quart sugar ale. This makes about three quarts.

Tomato and Cucumber Cordial: Slice a medium cucumber thin with the peeling left on. Simmer together for thirty minutes, three cups strained tomato juice, two cups water, one clove garlic, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar and a few grains of pepper. Strain and cool the juice. Serve cold in cocktail cups. Serves eight.

Summer Punch: Lime Punch: Dissolve one cup sugar in one quart tea infusion while the tea is hot. When cold, add one-ounce bottle lime juice, the syrup from a No. 2 1/2 can apricots and the syrup from a No. 2 1/2 can grapes (reserving the fruits for salads, cocktails, etc.). Just before pouring ice cold into thermos bottles to serve wherever you want outdoors, add three ice cold pint bottles charged water. This makes twelve large glasses, or about twenty-four punch cups.

Prune Punch: Mix together the juice from a No. 2 can fresh prunes, one-half cup bottled lime juice and two cups water. Pour over ice and serve in punch glasses. Makes ten glasses.

Peas Plus

Of course you serve peas often, but has it ever occurred to you to serve peas plus other vegetables in one dish? They are delicious that way. If you want to try it, here are some recipes:

Peas and Celery in Tomato Jelly: Boil the contents of a No. 2 1/2 can tomatoes gently for five minutes; press through a sieve, and measure of two cups (if necessary, add water to make two cups). Dissolve one package lemon gelatin in the boiling hot tomato juice, and season if necessary. Cool. When it starts to stiffen, add one cup canned peas and one-half cup crisp, sliced celery, and pour into small wet molds or into a flat pan and let harden in refrigerator. Unmold and serve garnished with water-cress and mayonnaise. Serves eight.

In a Broth or Baked: Vegetable Broth: Combine 3 a large stew pan one onion, one cup diced turnips, one cup diced potatoes, one-half cup canned peas, two diced carrots, one cup cabbage, three stalks celery, diced, four cups water and four teaspoons salt. Cover and boil for half an hour. Add contents of a No. 2 1/2 can tomatoes and boil half an hour longer. Strain and season more if necessary. Serve either hot in cups or chilled in glasses, in either case with a spoonful of thick sour cream on top of each. Serves eight.

Baked Carrots and Peas: Slice or dice two carrots and put into a buttered baking dish with one-fourth teaspoon salt, a few grains pepper and one-half cup of liquor from a No. 1 (1 1/2-ounce) can peas. Cover and bake one hour in a moderate—375 degree—oven. Fifteen minutes before removing from oven, add the drained peas. Add two tablespoons butter just before serving. Serves four.

We expect to keep on friendly relations with the entire medical profession until and if it issues a warning against the eating of roast-cars liberally soured with butter.

If it be obtainable, perhaps the snappiest reading one might run across in many a day would be provided by some such tale as "The Private Life of the Village Gossip."

SALMON is smart

This Good Fish Is Good For You—Nutritious and Inexpensive

SALMON is being served more often than ever before, not only because it is smart, but because it compares favorably in nutritious qualities with meat. You can safely serve salmon as the main dish of a meal, as it provides an adequate protein. In fact, canned salmon contains more protein than round beef, roast veal or roast lamb. It can also be counted upon as a fast or emergency producing food, as it contains a high percentage of fat.

Calcium: that indispensable bone and teeth-builder, is also found in significant quantities in canned salmon. In fact, it contains much more calcium than whole milk. It is also an excellent source of phosphorus which is likewise needed for building bones and teeth. Finally it contains a generous amount of iodine and some Vitamin A, and is an unusually good source of Vitamin D and of the pellagra-preventive vitamin G.

Salmon Serves: But, with all these good nutritional qualities, salmon would not be smart if housewives had not learned how to make party dishes with it. Here is one of their secrets which they are willing to share with you:

Salmon Burekites: Mix gently the contents of a 1 1/2-ounce can salmon with one and a half cups white sauce. Slice two hard-boiled eggs and use them in the individual buttered molds. Pour salmon mixture into the middle. Cover with three-fourths of a cup of chopped, salted peanuts, and set in a can of hot water. Bake until hot and the nuts are crisp. Serve right from the ramekins.

FOR RENT: 5 room house furnished, in good condition. Located about 400 yds. down the pike in Thomas Addition. Inquire of J. T. Ratliff, Morehead, Ky.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kase, Pastor of the Baptist Church.

SUBJECT Martha (A Home Maker) Luke 10:38-42; John 11:17-28.

Golden Text: Now Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus. John 11:5.

The story of Mary, Martha and Lazarus is familiar to every Bible reader. Read it again before these comments.

Doubtless Martha was 'head' of the house. She manifests every trait of one who would naturally assume this position, and would fill the office well. The passage in Luke tells us of a home scene in which the traits of character are obvious. Jesus is in the home; Mary is sitting at His feet listening to every word He speaks, while Martha is busy trying to get ready a meal and serve it in style, which would exemptly, both good house-keeping and genuine hospitality. There is evidence that both girls love Jesus. We should not think Mary is the pious one of the two and that Martha is not religious. It is that they are two types, differing greatly. Martha thinks that the highest compliment she can pay Jesus is to make Him comfortable in her home. Mary thinks that her highest compliment to Jesus is to hear His blessed words, and Jesus feels that Mary has chosen the good part. For Jesus is not here "to be ministered unto, but to minister." He is the world's servant, and what He wants most is an opportunity to tell us of the wonderful things of the spiritual life. The house work is not so important as compared to these things.

Martha is a bit petulant. She complains that Mary is not sharing her part of the home responsibilities, and is "got on her nerves" to the point trying to make everything fit in that she burst out in complaint to Jesus, her guest. "Don't you care that Mary doesn't help with the work?" She was so careful that she would not let the servants of the house do the work, but honored herself by doing it herself to be sure it was well done. "Martha, Martha," said Jesus, "thou art careful and troubled about many things; but one thing is needful; and Mary hath chosen the good part: which shall not be taken away from her." The preacher must prefer that you go to church and listen to him than to go stay at home and cook a big dinner for him. The active Christian is useful, but there is a danger of being over-anxious about many things that don't matter.

In the passage from John, however, we find that Martha was ready to believe Jesus, just as Mary might have been. When Jesus explained that Lazarus might be raised from the dead, she said, "Yea, Lord: I believe that thou art the Christ." She had the peculiar characteristic of her own make-up, but the same faith that her sister had. Even when they went to the grave of Lazarus she was thinking of the physical aspects of the matter, and said, "Lord, my brother has been dead four days, and by this time he stinketh." She was careful that Jesus be not subjected to the stench of decay. With all her care and anxiety, Martha was a good woman, ready to serve, but without the true appreciation of spiritual values. The mediative, affectionate Mary, somewhat irresponsible in temporal things, but sweet, and sensitive to great spiritual associations, brings out the character of Martha more by contrast, and teaches us the need of seeing the things that the Marthas of the world are likely to overlook while trying to make everything fit in just right.

A good cigarette, too needs Balance—

And that's why the tobaccos in Chesterfield are carefully balanced one against the other . . . not too much of one—not too little of another.

We take the right amounts of the right kinds of four types of tobacco—Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish.

It is this balancing of tobaccos that makes Chesterfields milder and makes them taste better.

The Local Votes

Lieut. Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, on the face of nearly complete returns in Louisville and Jefferson County, appears to have a better chance than Thomas S. Rhea to carry the Third Congressional District in the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Less than one sixth of the precincts are uncounted. They number 101, and Mr. Rhea's lead, which at one time was more than 1,300, had been whittled to 261 votes. At one time Saturday, for the first time during the count, Mr. Chandler was out in front with a small lead.

After that, the counting at the Jefferson County Armory was confined to city precincts, leaving the county precincts uncounted for the remainder of the day. Mr. Chandler's superior strength in the county precincts was left in the uncounted boxes, which will be reached Monday.

The trend favorable to Mr. Chandler that set in during the last three days of the count in Jefferson County indicates that Mr. Chandler will capture the county by a small plurality over Mr. Rhea. If that develops, it will be one of the major upsets of the campaign.

Mr. Chandler was backed by the Leland Taylor organization, which was in control of the county patronage. The city organization, led by M. J. Eveson and Mayer Neville Miller, supported Mr. Rhea, and claimed for their candidate for weeks before the primary a majority of 15,000 in Jefferson county.

If Mr. Chandler captures Jefferson County he will have carried four Congressional Districts in the State and Mr. Rhea will have carried five. Three of the districts Mr. Chandler will have carried, if he gets Jefferson County, are sections that have not gone against the State Democratic organization in twenty years.

The fifth, for instance, with the urban Kenton and Campbell population, always had been a strong hold of the group that has dominated the Democratic Party in the state. The same is true of the Sixth, led by Fayette, which always gave majorities for the controlling State organization.

Jefferson County has in twenty years not given a primary margin to a candidate opposed by the State machine. Heretofore it could be counted on by the State organization for a margin running into several thousand votes.

Mr. Rhea obtained a plurality over Mr. Chandler in the first District usually anti-administration. This was brought about by the vote Frederick A. Wallis polled in the western end of the State. It cut sharply into Mr. Chandler's vote, when the Rhea organization turned every vote it could get for Rhea to Wallis.

In the Second District more than half of Mr. Rhea's majority apart from the unprecedented vote in Logan County, was piled up in the Republican counties of the district. Republicans voted in the Democratic primary in the Second District in such numbers that one newspaper in the district used an electric count headline reading: "Republicans carry both primaries."

Butler, Allen, Edmonson and Muhlenberg, normally Republican, gave Mr. Rhea more than 7,000 of the 12,000 majority he got outside Logan county. Mr. Rhea ran poorly in three counties that adjoin Logan, his home county. Warren went against Mr. Rhea by 300 votes. Mr. Rhea carried Simpson by the same amount, Todd lying west of Logan, gave Mr. Rhea 800 majority.

The three Democratic counties that touch Logan, all in the second Congressional District, gave Mr. Rhea 800 majority.

The three Democratic counties that touch Logan, all in the second Congressional District, gave Mr. Chandler, 7,180, Mr. Rhea 7,892. Out of a total vote of exactly 15,000 in the three counties Mr. Rhea polled 53 and Mr. Chandler 47 per cent of the vote.

In Logan, where the vote in the Democratic primary took an unprecedented jump from 7,972 for Roosevelt to 10,908 in the primary, the Republicans vote showed the largest percentage loss in the State. Hoover polled 2,778 in Logan in 1932. Lefoon 2,751 in 1931. Only 265 votes were cast in Logan County in the Republican primary.

In Jefferson County the Rhea forces used a different "slate" from the one used in other parts of the State. The returns from Jefferson and Logan show the effects of the use of the different "slates."

Predicts Farm Loan Expansion

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — With marked improvement in agriculture already apparent and further improvement confidently expected, a greatly expanded volume of farm credit will be required, especially short-term credit, according to a statement here recently by W. I. Myers, Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D. C. He was speaking before the Graduate School of Banking, conducted jointly by the American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association and Rutgers University.

"Some people have expressed a fear that the Cooperative Production Credit Associations are threatening the best interests of country banks, but these institutions have neither the desire nor the resources to monopolize a field which is still in the infancy of development," Governor Myers said. "Farmers who get their credit—long-term or by charge accounts—have a basis for cash loans and should be buying their credit from a bank, production credit association or other institutions that sell credit on a business basis."

I sincerely appreciate the great effort put forth by the citizens of Rowan county in getting the vote out and in carrying on the campaign without any financial aid from state headquarters.

I realize that they had to fight money on every side and that it was only their extreme loyalty that brought me the great vote I received.

In the coming election on September 7, we can win, if only those who supported me in the August primary work as they have worked up to now.

This is a fight of the people against the interests. It is your fight and my fight, and we must not stop until we have won on September 7.

Yours for an honest election and an honest vote

I am particularly proud of the huge majority the good people of Rowan County gave me in the recent primary. They not only proved that they were loyal friends but that they knew what the people of the state had at stake precinct of Rowan county and the state with 26 votes for Chandler and none for Rhea.

In the Senatorial race, W. A. Crockett gained the nomination by a majority of 542 votes in the district. He lost two counties in the district, Powell by a small majority and Fleming, where Mr. Hart lived by over 1,500 votes. He carried Bath, Rowan, Mason and Menifee counties.

J. J. Thomas, candidate for Representative won the nomination by 101 votes over Van Green and J. Walter Bailey. All three candidates were from Bath county.

The following names will appear on the Democratic ballots:

For Governor: A. B. Happy Chandler and Thomas S. Rhea.

For Lieutenant Governor: J. J. Wise and Keen Johnson.

For Secretary of State: Charles Arnett and Maja Eudalay.

GATHERING UP

They were not purchased by the money that appeared in miscellaneous quantities to be ever ready.

We do not know how much money was spent in the Saturday election. If the amount was as great as appeared, here was plenty of cash changed hands. As stated in the News two weeks ago, there was no Chandler money on the ground except what little was contributed by loyal local supporters, an amount equal only to providing a few cars for the precincts. Evidently Chandler was able to get by without money in this campaign.

It is well to remember that the September primary in this case is fully as important as the August primary, if not more so. It is a race between two opposing wings of the Democratic party. In it will be answered definitely the question as to whether the Democratic party wishes to go before the people in November asking the endorsement of the Laffoon administration with its Sales Tax, or whether they wish to be represented by a candidate who has proved in the past that he is conscious of the needs, wants and desires of the people as a whole.

Every Democrat of the name should be at the polls on Saturday, September 7, to register his wishes. Say it with ballots, not bullets.

Help From on High

By IRVIN S. COBB

A CLERGYMAN, in a small parish, on a wet and dreary Sunday afternoon, when the rain was leaking in his more or less dilapidated church, received the hour opportunity for calling to the attention of his parishioners the obvious need of quick repairs. He followed with a appeal for contributions to a new roof. Responses were slow. Most of the congregation, outside of a faithful few, sat back and waited for some man of ample means in the community to make a subscription. He was scornfully told: "At last, however, he rose in his place, and said: "Mr. Pastor, I will be glad to give ten dollars." The hearts of the people fell. Ten dollars would be hardly a drop in the bucket of needed funds. But the rain had been getting in its work overhead. Just as the minister sat pompously down, a chunk of the ceiling was loosened to the point of falling down. And down it came, soaking the tight-wad brother squarely on the top of his inviting bald head. All quiet, he disengaged himself of the mass of dirt and plaster, and rising again had this to say: "Put me down, Mr. Pastor, for one hundred dollars. I didn't know that the work was so badly needed." Whereas an old deacon, ever in amon-cornet, falling hurriedly to his knees and tremulously facing heaven, besought: "O, Lord, hit him again!"

Kennel Murder Case

BY S. A. VANCE

Copyright by W. H. Wright

! He was a large man, around fifty, and he had little enough to say.

And the woman? She was young and not difficult to look at.

A blond? A blonde, perhaps? A shrewd twinkle came into the Scotsman's eyes.

I have me dots, was all he vociferated. Vance seemed in better spirits.

In any event, Vance said, we can now go ahead with a certain assurance of success.

The st. Judge turned out to be Marguerite Kirme, Karl E. Smith, Edwin Mcgaree, William MacBain, Morgan X. Kinney, and Robert D. Harshorn.

Vance glanced down the list of names he had made.

He turned to the telephone and kept it busy for the best part of half an hour. Then he rose and took the dog in his arms.

Now, Vance, our history begins, Mr. Harshorn, was the first in the dog and went over carefully.

But he could not remember having judged her in the show at which he had officiated.

He had been sure to have remembered her because of her outstanding qualities; but he was unable to give any help.

Mr. MacBain was not in his office that day and Mr. Karl Smith was unable to help us.

He was quite sure under him; so we went to call on Mr. Mcgaree.

But here again we met with disappointment, for he was not able to identify the dog as having been entered in the show at which he judged.

Things began to appear discouraging, and Vance was not in the best humor as we drove to the east side window studio of Mrs. Marguerite Kirme Cole.

But to no avail. Mrs. Cole was positive the dog had no been an entry under pupdisher.

It was past four in the afternoon when we arrived at Mr. William MacBain's Dickard kennel in Clover.

N. J. Mr. MacBain showed an obvious interest in the dog that Vance had brought to him, but was unable to identify her.

Vance had drawn another blank in his investigation of the wounded dog's ownership.

He had succeeded in locating the New York office of Mr. Stinemetz, but on phoning, learned that he was not in the city that day but could undoubtedly be found at his country home.

This is almost our last chance. Vance observed dejectedly, unless the dog has been shown in New England or the south. But if that were the case, why is she here in New York now?

He was downcast; I realized for first time how much he had counted on this stray Scottish terrier to help him in the solution of the crime which was preoccupying him.

But it was just at the moment when things seemed darkest, that a ray of light was introduced into the situation.

It was Mr. Stinemetz—the last of the judges we consulted—who gave Vance the information he was seeking.

Vance showed him the little lost bitch and asked him if he had ever judged her.

Mr. Stinemetz looked at her closely for a moment, took her in his arms and stood her in the show table in his main kennel.

Yes, he said slowly, after a minute's inspection; I not only judge her, but I put her up; three weeks ago at Englewood. She won the pup-given her a first instead of a second by bitch class, and I would have in the novice class, if she had shown properly.

But, as I remember, some young woman with little or no experience brought her into the ring. Naturally, she could get no response from the dog. I tried to help her out, but it was hopeless; and I had to give the blue to a bitch that had the style and the ring manners, but who wasn't quite this one's equal in anatomy.

There was one slight fault in the mouth however. Mr. Stinemetz held back the dog's lips, exposing her teeth.

You see this upper incisor: It's out of place. But it's not a serious fault. There's many a champion with a much worse mouth.

Vance thanked him for his help and added: Do you happen to know what bitch this 's or who owns her?

No, I never saw her before—she must be a newcomer. I didn't see a catalogue of the show and there were no postmortems at the judge's table after the show.

Vance left, Stinemetz's kennels in much happier frame of mind.

Tomorrow, he said, as we drove home through the gathering dusk, we will know the owner's name.

Immediately upon their arrival in New York, Vance telephoned Markham's home, and learned that there had been no developments in the case during the day.

Great had returned to the Coe house at eleven o'clock that morning, evidently very little the worse for his experience of the previous night. He had wished to go to a hotel, but Markham had prevailed upon him to remain at the Coe residence until some light had filtered into the case, and Grass had reluctantly agreed to do so.

Wrede had remained indoors all day and had telephoned to Markham twice and offered to give whatever assistance he could.

Hilda Lake had gone out about ten o'clock, when Heath had asked her where she was going, she had told him nonchalantly that she was going to take a drive in the country.

The den window-sill had been gone over carefully for fingerprints but without results. A general routine investigation had been put in from this, nothing had been done. The case has me bogged. Markham complained sadly at dinner that night: I see no way out of the situation. Even if we knew who committed the crime, we couldn't show how they were accomplished—unless the guilty person himself chose to tell us.

And that attack on Grass; instead of helping us, it has only put us deeper into the wall. And there's nothing to the hold of. All the ordinary avenues of investigation are closed. Heaven knows there are enough people who might have done it—and there are enough motives for a dozen murders.

In the event the season continued wet, potatoes may need emergency treatment to prevent losses. Already from here and there, reports about the tubers beginning to rot are being heard. While potatoes are actively growing, and until they die down they need moisture in almost unobtainable quantity, but once the tubers are mature, only moderate moisture, or better still, almost wholly dry soil is preferred. Even though more moisture is present than is best, the damage may be small, for the tubers adapt themselves through the enlargement of their breathing pores, appearing as white pimples over their surface.

Sometimes, as in the present season, and in certain sections of the state, more rains are falling while the crop is developing than is good for it, with the result that the tubers will much too rapidly to develop firm flesh, but are water-soaked and of poor table quality. An additional eventuality may be that hollows will form in the centres and above these, decay may set in. In conditions persistent too moist, entire tubers may break down.

Nothing can be done about the weather, but much may be done to avoid the bad effects of unsuitable seasons. Obviously, inasmuch as excessive moisture, now, and perhaps more to come, is a potential cause of potato loss, means should be provided to carry it off. This is simply the rows to lead off excess rain at falls, and to drop the water between the rows in the hills. If the rows are as much as 3 feet wide, the likelihood is that no dangerous soil disturbance will take place. A single shovel or a wide bull tongue is a good tool to use, though a one horse plow will do, too. In fact, using the latter, but later, after the crop has been made, has the advantage of providing extra soil cover on potatoes left in the garden through the summer, thus insuring the tubers exposed to sun heat than if they lay more shallowly.

Another potato trouble that may come because of the continued wet weather is blight. With temperature low, in the main, blight develops slowly. If it comes at all, but as the summer advances, temperatures on clear days rise and with the evaporation from water-soaked soil proceeding rapidly (the humidity rises, too, under just such conditions, warmth and moisture, blight flourishes. to county committees if found improperly executed. Farmers are giving more attention to weeds in pasture. Weeds up plant food that grass should have, in addition to crowding and shading out the grass. They also give off flavors to milk, and sometimes poison stock. Mow the pasture now.

Most kitchens, even the large ones, are short of shelf space for proper storing of dishes and other equipment. As a result, dishes are stacked up in unhandy manners, adding to the task of putting them away and getting them again.

There is still time to sow turnips, carrots, beets, lettuce, radishes, cabbage and other vegetables. Well prepared seed beds are desirable, and manure and commercial fertilizer may be used to advantage, unless August is hot and dry.

Household garbage is a good hog feed, provided it does not contain kerosene or other washing powders, or glass. Dish water containing soap-suds or washing compounds should not be added to garbage intended for hogs. Glass is often fatal to hogs.

Children under 2 years should consume seven quarts of milk weekly, and older ones at least five quarts. One to three quarts weekly are considered sufficient for adults, other than nursing mothers, who should have a quart daily.
